rather than themselves going and doing the organizing. That is one of the reasons why it is very important, and also because we want to be able to give other people a chance to move around in leadership roles, so that when the United States and the CIA arms begin to assassinate leaders, there will be a lot of other people who have been playing a leadership role, so that the struggle will continue and not depend upon one man. As you know, it has been done in the past; lots of movements have been stopped for years because they were able to kill the leaders; we want other people to get a chance move around in leadership positions.

We have tried for four hundred years to peacefully coexist inside the United States; it has been to no avail. The oppression has not stopped. It is clear for us that we can only be on the side of those in the Third World who are for armed struggle; those who talk of peaceful coexistence, talk only of maintaining the status quo. We've already picked up arms; it's not a question any more for us of which way to go; it is merely a question of tactics. We are ready to destroy imperialism by any means necessary.

What We Want

by Stokely Carmichael

One of the tragedies of the struggle against racism is that up to now there has been no national organization which could speak to the growing militancy of young black people in the urban ghetto. There has been only a civil right movement, whose tone of voice was adapted to an audience of liberal whites. It served as a sort of buffer zone between them and angry young blacks. None of its so-called leaders could go into a rioting community and be listened to. In a sense, I blame ourselves — together with the mass media — for what has happened in Watts, Harlem, Chicago, Cleveland, Omaha. Each time the people in those cities saw Martin Luther King get slapped, they became angry; when they saw four little black girls bombed to death, they were angrier; and when nothing happened, they were steaming. We had nothing to offer that they could see, except to go out and be beaten again. We helped to build their frustration.

For too many years, black Americans marched and had their heads broken and got shot. They were saying to the country, "Look, you guys are supposed to be nice guys and we you beat us up, why don't you give us what we ask, why don't you straighten yourselves out?" After years of this, we are at almost the same point — because we demonstrated from a position of weakness. We cannot be expected any longer to march and have our heads broken in order to say to whites: come on, you're nice guys. For you are not nice guys. We have found you out.

An organization which claims to speak for the needs of a community — as does the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee must speak in the tone of that community, not as somebody else's buffer zone. This is the significance of black power as a slogan. For once, black people are going to use the words they want to use — not just the words whites want to hear. And they will do this no matter how often the press tries to stop the use of the slogan by equating it with racism or separatism.

An organization which claims to be working for the needs of a community — as SNCC does — must work to provide that community with a position of strength from which to make its voice heard. This is the significance of black power beyond the slogan.

Black Power can be clearly defined for those who do not attach the fears of white America to their questions about it. We should begin with the basic fact that black Americans have two problems: they are poor and they are black. All other problems arise, from this two-sided reality: lack of education, the so-called apathy of black men. Any program to end racism must address itself to that double reality.

Whites will not see that I, for example, as a person oppressed because of my blackness, have common cause with other blacks who are oppressed because of blackness. This is not to say that there are no white people who see things as I do, but that it is black people I must speak to first. It must be the oppressed to whom SNCC addresses itself primarily, not to friends from the oppressing group.

As for White America, perhaps it can stop crying out against "black supremacy," "black nationalism," "racism in reverse," and begin facing reality. The reality is that this nation, from top to bottom, is racist; that racism is not primarily a problem of "human relations" but of an exploitation maintained — either actively or through silence — by the society as a whole. Camus and Sartre have asked, can a man condemn himself? Can whites, particularly liberal whites, condemn themselves? Can they stop blaming us, and blame their own system? Are they capable of the shame which might become a revolutionary emotion?

We have found that they usually cannot condemn themselves, and so we have done it. But the rebuilding of this society, if at all possible, is basically the responsibility of whites—not blacks. We won't fight to save the present society, in Vietnam or anywhere else. We are just going to work, in the way we see fit, and on goals we define, not for civil rights but for all our human rights.

An article appearing in the "Washington-Afro American", dated April 23, 1968, captioned "Stokely Carmichael: How Beliefs Guide His Actions" is set out as follows:

Stokely Carmichael: How beliefs guide his actions

By MOSES J. NEWSON

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

WASHINGTON — Let militant Stokely Carmichael talk about his beliefs and the thing that's burning inside him is clear enough to be described.

It's like Paul Revere's "Redcoats are coming" warning, Patrick Henry's "give me liberty or death" militancy and George Washington's "fight if we must" courage, all churned up in a black and white kettle.

But that's the easy part, the less explosive part.

The unanswered questions are whether what the Howard University educated young black power advocate believes is true and whether the strategy he's pushing promises success or suicide.

"White people have been hypocritical. They hadn't expected black people to retaliate over Dr. King's

"Their reaction now is they realize the real threat that black people pose to them. . . enough to destroy their country.

"With that in mind I think they are going to prepare for the wipe-out now.

When Carmichael speaks of the wipe-out, he deals with something that is basic to his thinking and his actions.

"I start off from the assumption that white people intend to commit genocide against black people," Carmichael said.

The same day he discussed his position with the AFRO, former Congressman Adam Clayton Powell declared from Bimini: "... white racism is nothing but the attitude and framework for an ultimate policy of genocide against black people."

He asserted that with his "shoot looters" statement Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley "has made history as the first public official to lay the administrative ground floor for the extermination of black people.

"First, we shoot to kill looters; . . and finally, we shoot n-----s for just being n-----s."

THERE IS no question at all in Carmichael's mind that white Americans prefer genocide to equality of the races.

It is from this assumption that whites intend to resort to genocide that Carmichael reasons violence must be met with violence.

Unlike the Jewish people of Germany who meekly faced the Nazi horrors, colored Americans must retaliate, even if this leads to revolution, Carmichael feels.

"They (whites) can be successful (with genocide) only if black people don't believe they mean to do genocide," he said.

Everytime there are rebellions (such as the recent disturbances across the country), it raises the realization of black people to the reality of genocide.

"For the majority of blacks, while they know the white man is mean, they don't believe yet that he is that mean.

"He's had all the time in the world to do right but he is ingrained with that superior attitude.

"The white man is not God. We don't have to beg him for anything. He has no right to dole out rights.

"Quoting Rap (H. Rap Brown, chairman of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee), the only man holding up the world revolution is the black in the United States.

"This past weekend showed we are not far away from revolution in this country."

LOOKING AT the lopsided fatality figures and ghetto destruction of the recent outbreaks, Carmichael was asked if the colored man in this country indeed is ready for a revolution.

"I don't think people are ever ready until they have to be," he answered. "As we fight we will have to get ready. It has been this way in all revolutions.

"We have no choice. Black people will win."

Carmichael, who says what has been happening in predominately colored colleges is healthy and supported by SNCC, still feels too many students harbor fears of a physical nature.

"Most people don't know there is a bullet waiting for them. They have nothing to die for," Carmichael explained his lack of fear concerning possible death by violent means.

"I think that people who are fighting for their people have something to die for. We (Stokely and Rap) know there is a bullet waiting for us."

Carmichael, a former SNCC chairman, said he would not want that role again if it were offered him. He prefers to stick to his organizing.

HIS WORK, in organizing; his many speeches, are aimed at getting colored Americans in the mental frame of mind to start moving in the direction he feels they must go to be self reliant.

If Stokely Carmichael is assuming wrongly that whites are bent on a genocidal program, and if he is wrong about retaliation being the only way to stop such a plan, there is one other thing he said that has a message:

"One thing the white people don't know is that when they kill us (Stokely and Rap), others just like us or better will take our places."

The information hereinafter set forth is an introduction to and translation of an interview with STOKELY CARMICHAEL which appeared in the April 25, 1968, issue of "L'Humanite Nouvelle," a French newspaper:

WFO 100-43503

"Our ultimate objective: to attack the capitalist structure of the United States"

The Marxist-Leninist Communist Party of France lends its political support to the historic struggle being waged by the Afro-Americans against the capitalist and racist power of the United States that is exploiting and oppressing them. Even though it does not share all the present positions of the Black Power leaders, it does not thereby consider them any less authentic or valuable fighters in the worldwide struggle against American imperialism. The struggle of the American blacks is an integral part of the united worldwide struggle being waged by the peoples oppressed by imperialism and by the proletariats in the capitalist countries themselves, who are being oppressed by their own governments. It is in that spirit that we are pleased today to publish the following exclusive interview by one of our African friends, himself a militant, of the Afro-American leader Stokely Carmichael, given during his last visit to Paris.

The great wave of fighting spirit now spreading through the large American cities, arousing the great Afro-American masses in heroic combat against reactionary rifles, the victims of racism against the established capitalist order, marks, within the imperialist citadel itself, the beginning of the "final struggle." It also demonstrates the emptiness of the integrationist myth invented by the American bourgeoisie.

The outlook is now clear: Memphis has shown that non-violence by the oppressed cannot save them from the bloody violence of American capitalism. Memphis therefore marks an important milestone in the struggle of the peoples particularly the Afro-American people, which has realized that only revolutionary violence can break the bloody cycle of counter-revolutionary violence.

But imperialism, with its back against the wall, is attempting, in a last-ditch effort, to cast discredit on the just struggle of the Afro-American people by likening it coarsely to a "dance of fires and looting," and describing its leaders as "psychopaths publicly inciting to murder" (New York Times, April 12, 1968). But the capitalists' bad faith has its limits. They are forced to acknowledge, in impotent rage, of course, that "the voice of the Stokely Carmichaels is heard even louder in the land" (The Economist, London, April 11, 1968).

What is that voice saying? What struggle is involved? Is it a simple clash between two races, or is it important in some other way? Why must all Marxist-Leninists and other progressives support it and publicize it?

Some answers come to light in the course of the interview recently given to us by Stokely Carmichael, which we now publish for the first time. Sometimes, his answers were awkward; but they all express unshakable faith in final victory. Other answers will come as this struggle, now only beginning, develops. We wish to present the answers that were given in the course of the interview.

Stokely speaks as a leader. There is nothing extravagant about him, contrary to the suggestions of a certain segment of the press. He was very simply dressed. He hadn't had the time to comb his hair; we arrived just as he was getting up. On the night before, we had spent the evening together. We were five comrades in all; we spoke very freely. An Afro-American comrade, living in Paris, made sure the translation was correct. The interview lasted four hours.

Kimba

STOKELY: The situation affecting the Afro-American people appears to be mainly a new form of domestic colonialism. The situation is almost original, and it implies that our struggle has two main objectives:

Objective No. 1: To eliminate the colonial oppression that is directed at us as black people on the economic, social, and political levels;

Objective No. 2: To attack the capitalist and imperialist structure of the United States.

Obviously, objective No. 1 will basically be fought for by the Afro-Americans alone. Objective No. 2 will concern all American revolutionaries. It is a job for all.

The relation between these two objectives is expressed in two major problems, the problem of racism and the problem of exploitation.

I indicated before that objective No. 2 was a job for all, because it means solving a problem that isn't peculiar to black people--the problem of man being exploited by man. That isn't necessarily connected with skin color.

But we can say that the problem of racism is specific to the black man. We can even make the following equation: black = proletariat of the world. Just because of his color.

White Western man can't deny that he has made gains through the sweat of the black man. Take the French, Dutch, or British West Indies. They're all the same. Take the United States in past centuries. Take the United States today. Take Africa. History is eloquent on the subject.

White Western man finds his justification as a Western man in the negation of the black man as black man. They made the black man a sub-human creature so as to rationalize exploitation of the black man, so as not to be humiliated as men.

Yes, of course, there was Colbert's Code Noir (Slave Law). But all the same, the exploitation of the black man can't just be an example of applied psychology, since racism is clearly a manifestation of the class struggle. You have only to look at the examples.

STOKELY: First, there is an immediate problem, the awakening of the victim when he faces the executioner. We intend to fight as black men.

In the United States, even a "well-to-do" black man can't escape racism. You have only to read the American press to be convinced of that. In that case, the problem of a racism isn't necessarily connected with the problem of exploitation.

Racism is part of the ideological and practical arsenal of American imperialism. The black people are more exposed because White Western man has destroyed the African cultures of the black man. The black people of the world speak the language of their masters.

As Fanon says, culture is a "cohesive force." So they have to resist this imposed culture (Pidgin English, Pidgin French).

Among the Afro-Americans, it takes the form of Christianity. Christianity is an imposed culture--that is, essentially, an imperialist culture, because it is bound up with the idea of the universal worth of the master. You must know something about that in Africa, with your history of forced conversions.

In fact, cultural liberation is a very important thing. It must aim at duplicating the master's educational system (the final stage of imposed culture). Capitalist education is intended to renew and perpetuate capitalist society.

In practice, how can all that be achieved?

By organizing the black people. Historically, we all come from Africa. By dispersing us all over his world, white Western man has taught us--negatively of course, but he has taught us--to appreciate unity. We now know that unity is power. And it was in order to fulfill the imperative of unity that we decided at an early stage to fulfill ourselves culturally by rejecting Christianity (an imposed culture, bound up with the idea of the supremacy of white Western culture).

The problem ahead of us is to create black revolutionaries. For us, that means three objectives:

1. Adoption of an African national language, Swahili, for example;
2. The destruction of Christianity;
3. The rediscovery of Africa, but scientifically, in order to draw our own heroes from there, instead of accepting the white Western heroes.

In short, we want to re-create our culture in order to turn it into a cohesive force.

We want to develop a common political ideology. In this regard, the experience of the Chinese revolution is rich in stirring examples.

Our job is to struggle to acquire a correct ideology which can unify all black people.

The essential thing is to contribute to developing the awareness that will lead the American black man to resist. That awareness is necessary.

What kind of awareness?

It has to be a political awareness.

One of the objective limitations of the leaders who preceded us is this: they appealed to the oppressors, not to the oppressed. We appeal to the oppressed. We tell them: "If you want to be free, you must fight." Chairman Mao Tse-tung rightly states that "power is at the end of a gun." That's right. We will match our liberating guns against the racist guns of American imperialism in its own cities.

We will force it to fight as we want to fight, as our Vietnamese comrades do. If they want to use napalm and rockets on their own cities, we have no objection to that. But we will fight; that much is understood.

Do you see any connection between your struggle and the struggle of the Vietnamese comrades and of other peoples fighting imperialism, mainly American imperialism?

Obviously, every time that the bases of imperialism are undermined abroad, our struggle gains by that much.

We would like there to be one African country that developed by its own efforts, and not by begging from white Western man.

We would have used it as a psychological and tactical model for the mobilization of the masses. But no one can say that there is any revolutionary country in Black Africa now. That is why the O.A.U. is paralyzed. If American black people today had to go into exile to Africa, no African country would accept them, for the simple reason that all those countries are under the yoke of American imperialism.

All those counter-revolutionary petty bourgeoisies in power in Africa are vassals of Johnson, and exploit their own black brothers.

What is your main job now? What takes priority?

First, eliminate our enemies--I mean all the counter-revolutionary movements that want to become integrated into white capitalist society.

Then we must organize our people so that they will develop offensive drive, an essential condition to change the present status quo.

That is all that the defensive struggle of Luther King and others was.

To win, you must attack. That is the minimum.

Stokely on world issues and marriage

BY GIM OKOH

"Black Power is all the creative skills which black people can bring together for the good of the masses of black people."

Stokely Carmichael, Black Power advocate, in an AFRO interview said "James Brown will be black power, former Miss Miriam Makeba, now Mrs. Carmichael will be black power, Rap Brown will be blacker power, Muhammad Ali will be black power.

"ALL THE creative skills of colored individual persons working for the benefit of the masses of 'our people' — that is what I mean by 'black power,' he said.

"I am not concerned about how white people interpret black power. I am concerned about how important it is" he remarked.

CARMICHAEL SAID he knew of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee when he was in high school.

"I came down to D.C. to picket the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and I met a lot of other colored kids who were all with SNCC.

"Since then, I have experienced that nonviolence is not going to do anything.

"I THINK we are nonviolence preachers, morally. But we are not dealing with moral issues. we are dealing with political issues and you cannot deal morally within the line of politics. In politics, there is no morality."

The 26-year-old militant leader denied he has control over the man in the streets.

"It all depends on where you are. Most of the time we spend it in the streets, so we have formed the generation and we form the streets," he asserted.

HE SAID the only advantage he has over most people is that "we could talk to each other — that is, with mutual respect."

* * *

CARMICHAEL STATED one thing bad "in our community is that colored people make references to what white people will think about anything they are doing."

He said his marriage will not interfere with his activities.

"No—I just got extra worries on my side. My wife has already been a fighter. She has given her time to every African country fighting for freedom, devoted all her time to meetings of Organization of African Unity, gave her time in the Bahamas, her money to the South African Students Association to meet college expenses for some students and she has a very close tie with all the African Freedom Fighters."

CARMICHAEL humorously remarked, "I would think the man in the street will be happy because I have found someone that I love and who loves me."

Speaking about militancy, he said the "nation will have to yield to force."

He added, the Poor Peoples Campaign has little or no meaning. "We will support them morally and spiritually, but we cannot march with them," he asserted.

Carmichael is convinced that the murder of Dr. King was as a result of conspiracy.

"High officials of this country did not want him to bring the poor people's march to the District."

* * *

"BUT THE DEATH of Dr. Martin Luther King has made black leaders more determined. As things are, they are going to be killed and we must work harder to do what we want to do before the bullet reaches us.

Carmichael stated their role is to restore humanity to the world.

"I will continue to organize the man in the streets, make them warriors, and fight for the liberation of our people."

He remarked that it does not make any difference how the war will be fought. "I think colored people will have to fight—there is no alternative."

* * *

CARMICHAEL asserted he thinks that all reasonable hopes are already exhausted.

He said it was a pity that the middle class colored person is like any other white middle class person.

"YOU SEE what happened in Addis Ababa—the students stoned the USIS; when Humphrey went to the Congo they stoned him, of course the black people are moving ahead here—white people can't fight all these people at the same time. In addition to that Europe is breaking up.

"Now there is a break up in the white world. There is a split between China and the Soviet Union. Honkies can't help it. There will not be a world War — it will be a full fledged world fight."

Carmichael concluded by saying "I am thinking that colored people in this country will be the most important. But we live inside the beast and it is going to be our job to destroy it completely."

"BUT THE REAL soul brothers and sisters would like to see this country burned down — for what has been done to our people."

He said a lot of people would like to say burn the nation down, but they won't say—it so those who can say it let them do so.

"Death means nothing to me. If you just think what this country has done to colored people, you want to kill every white person you see."

* * *

HE SAID he thinks white Americans hate his words. "if I were white I think I would hate Stokely Carmichael and Rap Brown. I have to hate them because they will be destroyed because of what I am trying to do."

Carmichael said colored people are already educated.

* * *

"I THINK the education given to us by white people is to whitewash us and I think the smartest type of colored guys are those who drop out of high school ahead of time because they recognize what the high school is trying to do to them."

He said his high school was a waste and his college useless. "I can't use it because it is not going to do me any good."

CARMICHAEL stated that when he was in high school, he used to save up 25 cents to go to a movie to yell to Tarzan to beat up all those Africans — and I would yell—kill him, Tarzan kill him.

A LOT OF US went through that but then we are coming out of it. We recognize the whole game the white man has been playing in the whole world. Now I will yell to black men to beat up Tarzan and send him to the cage."

"I think the brain wash is going away more and more and Africa is becoming more meaningful to us."

middle class colored person is afraid because "for one reason, money has become everything to him.

To the average guy in the street, money is nothing."

He said they will try to bring them home—because, according to him, "the fight is going to be white vs. black. It is not going to be nothing else."

Carmichael warned that America will only allow so much rioting and looting "before they bring the troops in full scale — and when they do, people will fight just to live."

"I ALWAYS THOUGHT that the honkies were after Rap Brown and myself, but when they killed Dr. King they lost. There was no need to kill him — he preached peace and everything they needed.

"No matter what they do with their Poor People's Campaign, "it is going to make things worse.

"They are not going to get their demands and white folks will be pushing around all the poor people and the whole people are going to get mad and they will start blowing up all over the place.

"I think the country will be fed up with burning and looting this summer.

An article appearing in the "Washington-Afro American" dated May 21, 1968, captioned, "500 Share Joy With Miriam, Stokely" is set forth as follows:

500 Share Joy With Miriam, Stokely

By GEORGE W. COLLINS
ATRO Staff Correspondent

MT. VERNON, N.Y. — Black Power, national and international politics, and the "greatest human struggle in the history of the world" took a back seat to love and marriage here Saturday.

While these and other topics punctuated the multi-accepted words and phrases of nearly 500 people, an 'African lady' and an 'African gentleman' dominated the spotlight of a jubilation.

The 'African lady' was Miriam Makeba, a daughter of South Africa.

The 'African gentleman' was Stokely Carmichael, "a son of Africa living in America," as they were described in the original text of the unique ceremony.

They were married in an unprecedented wedding hosted by the palatial Tanzanian Embassy nestled in the bosom of Mt. Vernon, haven of New York's power elite.

Stokely and Miss Makeba were 'technically married' a few weeks ago, explained the Rev. Douglas Moore, who conducted the colorful ritual.

THEY REPEATED the exchange of vows Saturday because, Stokely said, 'we wanted our friends to share in our happiness.'

Their invitation said 'a few friends' were being invited to the 'private reception.'

Before the downpour of rain chased guests from the rambling lawn and into the mansion-like embassy, the collection of a "few friends" had grown to nearly 500 people, linked to nations from all points of the globe.

Stokely, the panther-like supreme commander of the Black Movement, cut a figure of African royalty as he greeted admirers. He was regal in a flowing, brilliantly white "grand Bubu," a gift from President Sekou Toure of Guinea.

Miss Makeba, the fiery songstress dedicated to liberation of South Africans was gowned in a radiant beige "Bu-bu," made by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mabel Carmichael.

TO THE howling approval of their guests, Stokely and Miriam embraced following the exchange of vows and tears trickled down the glowing ebony face of the bride.

Ambassador Marof Achkar of Guinea presented the couple to the Rev. Mr. Moore, a Methodist minister of Washington, who had earlier performed the "technical ceremony."

A hush fell over the miniature United Nations assemblage at 30 Oberhill Rd. as Tanzanian Ambassador His Excellency Akili B.C. Danieli, the host, opened the proceedings.

The ambassador lauded the "linking of two contingent in matrimony and prophesized that it would hasten the day of freedom for "all black people of the world."

Ambassador Achkar taking note of the large contingent of white guests, called the occasion the "beginning of human brotherhood."

"We have given a sister to an Afro-American and we have received an Afro-American as our son," Ambassador Achkar declared to thunderous applause.

The Rev. Mr. Moore, who said he founded the Washington chapter of the Student Non-violence Coordination Committee, SNCC — one chaired by Stokely, read the text of the ceremony written by the bridegroom.

IT FOLLOWS:

"Before the first black cargo of slaves bowed its head in the restless bosom of the Atlantic, a beautiful people had made their mark on the world.

"On those ships of agony, were the best of Africa's kingly lives, royal houses, delicate craftsmen, head men of the forest, plain coast, weavers, drummers, and strong black women.

"The young glory of Africa was sent into a new world of terror. Black men in the bush by the muddy rivers, near the edge of the deep forest lamented for those stolen brothers and sisters. Prayers for their return were offered, but to no avail.

"And in the midst of slavery, our wish to go back found expression in 'My Home Is Over Jordan.'

The blood lines of all our people flow through Stokely Carmichael from turbulent rivers; from mountains of sadness; from cities of despair.

"Now our seed of hope has come and stands before us. In him we see the beauty of our people; their comely blackness; their vibrant manhood; their audacious assault upon the order of tyranny; their indomitable spirit to survive and create new form. He is the veritable young prince, now destined to be our chief.

"He has lived and worked among us as a servant in the dusty delta of Mississippi and the black belt of Alabama. The waste places of Washington, are well known to him.

"He has seen the suffering of our people. He has heard their cry. He has felt their pain and his tears for the fallen have saturated the earth.

"Now he stands as the epitome of our black manhood. And he has found a wife from the daughter of Africa. She who stands beside him comes out of a noble tradition. "A tradition that has been brutalized by a cruel satanic system. Her journey to freedom has been long and torturous.

"Armed with only the gift of songs, she has kept the fire of freedom alive. Her struggle for her people and all black people is known.

"She has not forgotten the the insults, the cries of agony that come from the land of her birth. Now she comes to share a love with him and a sacred tradition with us.

"Her songs speak to us and her resources support the struggle on every front and now her love, her greatest.

asset, has found an intimate expression in Stokely Carmichael.

"And we, through her, with him, will rediscover and re-instate the beautiful ways of our people.

"This is a blessed day. A significant and sacred day. A day of remembrance for us — black people of Africa and America.

"It is significant for us as a people. Their love now serves as a link between black people of two continents.

"Our common suffering, our common capacity to survive, our common culture have provided us with enduring links.

"This link of love will strengthen the unity of black people on two continents.

"In the presence of this gathered community, they have come to say to us what they have already said to each other.

"What they will now say is an affirmation of what was first said in the presence of their God and our creator."

* * *

AT THIS point the Rev. Mr. Moore injected a new substitute for the traditional vows exchanged between bride and bridegroom.

"What is a wedding?" he asked Stokely.

The bridegroom answered:

"A wedding is a time for our friends to come together and enjoy themselves. They come together to witness us publicly acknowledge our love for each other."

"When did you marry each other?" the minister intoned.

"We were married when, in our hearts we recognized we loved each other," the bridegroom said quietly.

"Then why did you come here?" the Rev. Mr. Moore asked.

"We came here because we want our friends to share with us our happiness. After several years of wandering, we have finally found each other.

"Because we love our friends we want them to share our happiness. There is so little to be happy about these days, we would like them to have some of this happiness."

MINISTER — "There are many who do not want to share in this happiness. Many speak ill of you. What do you say of this?"

STOKELY — "We wish they could find one-tenth of the happiness we have found."

MINISTER — "Are you sure you are in love with each other?"

STOKELY — "As sure as Mother Africa is the beginning of civilization. As sure as our ancestors are praying for the end of our oppression.

"As sure as the gods will right the wrongs. As sure as we breathe. As sure as we live. We are quite sure we love each other."

IS

MINISTER — "Do you expect a happy life?"

STOKELY — "Our lives are busy, but what little time we have will be precious and our love will grow.

"Our love will not be selfish. We have to work for the liberation of our people — each in his own way.

"Because our love is so strong, our lives, when we are together or apart, will be very happy.

"And if we grow weak, we have our family and friends to give us strength. Yes, our life, long or short, will be a happy life."

"STAND NOW and make public to your friends your affirmation," the clergyman instructed.

With tears trickling down her face, Miss Makeba called "Zanie" in the rites whispered:

"I have found you and I need no other."

"I have found you and I need no other," Stokely repeated.

THE REV. Mr. Moore spoke again:

"Now, in the presence of this gathered community, our ancestors and God, do you take the responsibility of loving this woman?"

"Do you promise to protect her from fear, poverty, and loneliness?"

"These rings that encircle your fingers are precious symbols. They symbolize that a man loves a special woman and that a woman loves a special man.

"Beyond that it symbolizes the unity of our people," the minister said, halting for a reply from the couple:

"I have found a love and she wears my ring," Stokely said solemnly.

"I have found a love and he wears my ring," Miss Makeba answered softly.

A CUP of wine was handed the couple by the minister.

ister who explained:

"The cup that is before you is a cup of blessing. It is a cup of sacrifice to our ancestors. It is a cup of participation of the gathered community.

"It is the cup of love shared by Stokely and Mariam and with the gathered community of love."

A shower of applause greeted the newlyweds' mutual sips from the cup and the massive embassy echoed the sounds of gayety as the bride led the audience in an African ballad, written specifically for the occasion.

IT WAS past midnight when guests reluctantly made an effort to leave while the sounds of African drums drifted from the great building into the damp air of Westchester, New York's most fashionable living quarters.

It was a "Stokely Spectacular!"

An article appearing in "The Evening Star" dated May 27, 1968, captioned "Carmichael's Bid On House" is set forth as follows:

$70,000 ESTATE IN NW

Carmichaels Bid on House

By BARRY KALB

Star Staff Writer

Black power advocate Stokely Carmichael and his bride, African folk singer Miriam Makeba, are negotiating to buy a $70,000 castle-like house in the verdant "Gold Coast" area of upper Northwest Washington, on the eastern edge of Rock Creek Park.

The owner of the house has accepted a written purchase offer from the Carmichaels, subject to further discussions on financing and other matters, according to sales manager Archie Kennedy of the Floyd E. Davis real estate company.

The three-story, four-bedroom house, at 4331 Blagden Ave. NW, sits amid about an acre of well-kept gardens. City Councilman William S. Thompson lives two doors away at 4343, and prominent investment broker Belmont Ver Standig lives next door at 4329.

The owner of the house, F. Vic Guidice, said yesterday that negotiations with "some singer from New York" had been in progress for about a week.

Guidice, who is retired, said

—Star Staff

This is the house on Blagden Avenue NW the Stokely Carmichaels are interested in buying.

he and his son have been living in the house and plan to move out of the city.

Kennedy confirmed that the singer is Miss Makeba, 35, who was married to the 27-year-old Carmichael here early this month. Her lawyer is to contact the real estate firm tomorrow or Wednesday to discuss "a certain situation that we have to get. See CARMICHAEL, Page A-13 straightened out," Kennedy said.

"One of the contingencies is financing," he added, but he refused to be more specific about the tentative purchase agreement.

"It's all up in the air," he emphasized. "We don't know what the situation is."

Kennedy said the house had been on the market at $70,000 for about six weeks. Miss Makeba expressed her interest in a telephone call to Kennedy about a week ago, he said, but he did not recognize the prominence of her name until later.

The Carmichaels "probably looked at the house one Sunday" but were not recognized by the agent, he added.

The house, which Guidice said is about 30 years old, is just west of 16th Street NW a short distance from the Carter Barron Amphitheater, where Miss Makeba has performed.

Carmichael, who popularized the black power ideology and became head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, is now a Washington-based field secretary for the organization.

There have been several recent reports that Carmichael and Miss Makeba were seeking a house in the upper 16th Street area. A recent newsletter of the GOP Congressional Committee pictured another upper Northwest house that the Carmichaels purportedly were buying.

In New York, one of Miss Makeba's agents at Associated Booking said he knew nothing of her "personal" business. Neither Miss Makeba nor her personal manager was available to comment on such a matter, he said.

Carmichael reportedly was in Washington today preparing for a West Coast trip but could not immediately be reached.

Miss Makeba, whose previous marriage to South African recording star Hugh Masakela ended in divorce, has a 17-year-old daughter, Bongi. Carmichael has not been married before.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

APPENDIX1BLACK UNITED FRONT (BUF)

On February 9, 1968, a meeting was held at 2208 14th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., by STOKELY CARMICHAEL. At this meeting, the BUF, an organization consisting of representative of black organization and individual memberships of black individuals was formed in District of Columbia in order to effect operational unity among and for black people.

During June, 1968, the BUF in an official statement of purpose stated it was establishing for the purpose of expanding the lines of communication between, an effecting togetherness among all the black people in District of Columbia in order that they might obtain a rightful and proportionate share in the decision making councils of the District and rightful and proportionate control of the economic investigations in the black community.

The standards for qualification as a member were listed as:

1. Any black individual who has concern and interest in the black community.
2. Any organization whose primary involvement is for the benefit of black people, provided it is at least a 50 percent black constituency and its representative in the BUF is black.

BLACK PANTHER PARTY, aka
Black Panther Party for Self Defense

A source advised that the Black Panther Party for Self Defense (BPPSD) was formed by HUEY PERCY NEWTON, Minister of Defense, and BOBBY GEORGE SEALE, Chairman, in December, 1966, as a militant black nationalist political organization to combat police brutality, to unite militant black youth, and to determine the destiny of black communities. The political philosophy was taken from writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of Communist China and black militant writers.

In March, 1968, the name of the organization was changed to Black Panther Party (BPP).

The official BPP publication, "The Black Panther Party - Black Community News Service," states that the BPP advocates use of guns and guerrilla tactics in their violent revolutionary program to end oppression of black people.

On February 17, 1968, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, Minister of Information, announced merger of the BPP and Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and bestowed title of Minister of Justice, BPP, upon H. RAP BROWN, Chairman of SNCC.

SNCC is a militant Negro organization which preaches black supremacy.

NEWTON, aforementioned, is incarcerated in the Alameda County Jail, Oakland, California, awaiting trial on charge of murder of an Oakland police officer.

Headquarters of BPP and Huey P. Newton Defense Fund are located at 4421 Grove Street, Oakland, California.

Dear [redacted]

I have received your letter of July 31st, with enclosure.

With respect to your comments, the FBI is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not determine whether prosecutive action will be undertaken in any situation. Such decisions concerning violations of Federal law are within the province of the Attorney General. Voluminous data regarding Stokely Carmichael has been furnished to the Attorney General, and you may wish to contact him.

I can certainly understand your concern and want to assure you that the FBI is aware of its responsibilities with respect to the internal security of our country. We will continue to make every effort to carry out our duties with the greatest thoroughness and efficiency.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

Dear Mr. Hoover,

Ive always had the greatest admiration and respect for // you personally, but it seems that the FBI or the Justice Dept. has really fallen down on the job concerning these renegades.

Decent honest Americans are sick of long hair professors advocating the over throw of our gov't - "Violent overthrow" that is. On every hand people are disgusted with failure of elected officials to do their jobs because of both political and physical fear.

This failure of duty is the answer. To the question

How does he get away with it?

Stokely Carmichael broke a silence of several weeks with a typical "revolutionary" speech Friday night at Mobile.

The last we had heard of this devoted exponent of violence and Communist "liberation," he and his bride, an African singer, were shopping for a house in the $75,000 range in Washington, D. C.

Carmichael apparently didn't change a bit during his quiet period.

He called Friday night for Negroes to use guns to gain political power, and said, "We must create the maximum damage with a minimum of losses of black people. And that is through guerrilla warfare."

His ultimate aim also has not changed. "To destroy this country," he said, "we must have an underlying love for each of our fellow black men."

Stokely wants to destroy this country, according to his own speeches. He wants to do it with "guerrilla warfare," which in less romanticized terms simply means murder in the streets and sustained terrorism.

And in what form would he rebuild this country if he could succeed in destroying it? Well, his political and ideological heroes include Ho Chi Minh, Fidel Castro, the late "Che" Guevara, and Mao Tse-tung, all exponents of political power from the barrel of a gun, and all practitioners of the kind of murderous terrorism Carmichael preaches.

It continues to amaze and demoralize the average law-abiding citizen to see such a person going around openly advocating these things and getting away with it.

Dear Mr. Hoover

I am sure that your department has enough on Carmichael to put him and many other characters like away for many years. I would like to know why the Justice Department does not do something about these people.

I saw where Carmichael is buying a house for $75,000⁰⁰. Where does this guy get the money to travel around the country and the world.

I am sure that if I made the kind of statements that Carmichael does I would be in jail in five minutes.

Is there someone in Washington that people can write to and raise some hell about this kind of business? How about [redacted] He has time to worry about the appointment of [redacted] Is this not his job?

Grab Power With Gun, Stokely Tells Negroes

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael said Negroes should wage guerrilla warfare to cause maximum damage with a minimum loss of black lives.

At a weekend rally sponsored by the Neighborhood Organized Workers, Carmichael shouted, "Don't pray for power, don't beg for power, take it with a gun barrel."

The remark received resounding applause from the estimated 600 persons packed into and standing outside an Afro-American school in the Mobile's predominantly Negro North Side. About 20 white persons attended.

"Black people are not in a revolution here in the United States, it hasn't started yet," Carmichael said. "We are only at the beginning of a revolution—the armed stage.

We must create the maximum damage with a minimum of losses of black people. And that is through guerrilla warfare."

Referring to racial uprisings in Watts and Detroit, he praised Negroes who died there and said, "Look at Cleveland two days ago and that was even better wasn't it?" The audience roared approval.

Concerning Negro soldiers in Vietnam, Carmichael said, "they should be shooting white men and not yellow men."

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

AT MOBILE, ALABAMA:

b7C Special Agents of the Federal Bureau Of Investigation (FBI) observed Stokely Carmichael, accompanied by [redacted] arriving at the Mobile Municipal Airport at 2:25 P.M. on July 26, 1968 aboard Eastern Airlines Flight 377. They were met by a Negro group led by [redacted]

b7C They arrived at [redacted] house at about 5:47 P.M. and remained there until about 7:45 P.M., when they drove to the Old Warren Street Methodist Church, 304 North Warren Street. They arrived at this church at about 8:00 P.M., and Carmichael spoke for about two hours to a crowd estimated by the police at about 200 inside and about 150 to 200 persons outside. The Mobile Register, a daily newspaper published at Mobile, Alabama, in its issue of July 27, 1968, estimated the persons in attendance at the church at 700.

A portion of this talk was heard over a loudspeaker broadcast to those outside, and Carmichael was heard to say several times that political power comes from the barrels of guns, and all Negroes should get guns. He said there are three ways to get things, to beg, to work, or to take them, and the first two had been tried, and it is time to try something else. His talk was anti-police and anti-Negro police.

On July 27, 1968, [] who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised he had attended the speech the night before by Carmichael. He recalls Carmichael said the white men never knew anything but violence and had been taught to kill. He said it would be impossible for the black man to get guns and fight the white man, as the whites have had guns all of their lives. He said the only thing blacks can afford is a box of matches. He said Russia, Cuba, and North Vietnam were standing up to the United States, but he did not specifically praise these countries. Carmichael did not specifically urge any violence, but he said blacks have to try and stick together.

On July 29, 1968, [] who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised he had heard Carmichael's speech on the night of July 26, 1968. Carmichael said the black man needs to have a gun and needs to take what he wants, and the black people in the penitentiaries should be admired because they took what they wanted. Carmichael said non-violence died with Martin Luther King, Jr., and Negro police are tools of the white man.

The July 27, 1968 issue of The Mobile Register reported Carmichael argued the only way Negroes can achieve equal status in the United States is through armed insurrection. It is reported Carmichael was flanked by an aide, Bill Hall, and West Coast Black Panther Field Marshal Donald Cox, and Carmichael said Negroes are in the first phase in an uprising against the white power structure, and the black revolution will come after Negroes seize power in this country. The article reported Carmichael had said blacks have a right to stop police officers from invading Negro areas, and Carmichael spoke approvingly of arson, looting, and murder taking place in America's major cities.

Carmichael was asked if he thought the Negro revolt would succeed, noting the Hungarian Revolt had been a failure, and Carmichael replied he would not advocate confrontation with the military.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I am attaching hereto a clipping taken from our local morning newspaper which is self-explanatory.

I am writing to ask you why and how long are we the people of this great Nation of ours going to have to tolerate such charges against our Government? When a challenge like this is made publicly, I thought it would be considered an act of treason against our Nation when he says, "To destroy this Country we must have an undying love for each of our Black'men". If a man challenges the destruction of this Country to me that means a destruction of our Government and, therefore, it is an act of treason in making such a statement. If this man was any other color than what he is, I believe he would have been placed where he belongs, namely, in the jail where his teachings and charges would be under control. Putting it mildly, I think it is a sin and a shame that the American people have to put up with such a character loose going from State to State over our Nation preaching such philosophy.

Do you have an answer or an explanation why Stokely Carmichael is permitted to go about the Country making these terrible accusations?

Yours very truly,

Carmichael Seeks Power By the Gun

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Black power advocate Stokely Carmichael urged a crowd of Mobile Negroes Friday night to take political power away from the whites with a gun.

"Don't pray for power, don't beg for power, take it with a gun barrel," he shouted. The Negroes applauded enthusiastically.

Police estimated that the gathering numbered about 600. About 20 whites, including several Catholic priests, were among them.

"We must create the maximum damage with a minimum of losses of black people. And that is through guerrilla warfare," Carmichael added.

He referred to the armed state of the black revolution, citing such places as Watts and Detroit, praised the Negroes who had died there and said, "Look at Cleveland two days ago and that was even better, wasn't it?"

"To destroy this country we must have an underlying love for each of our fellow black men," he declared.

The pretext employed in contacting [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] was based on her father's friendship with the late Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING. When asked whether she subscribed to the nonviolent principles of Dr. KING and her father, [REDACTED] answered in the affirmative and criticized the activities of certain black militants, notably STOKELY
CARMICHAEL. The interview was then centered on her knowledge of CARMICHAEL's activities. This interview was conducted on 8/7/68 by SAs [REDACTED]

[redacted] stated that on occasion at [redacted] she conversed with [redacted] on various aspects of the civil rights movement. She recalled one particular conversation with [redacted] in late May, 1968, shortly after a photograph of Stokely Carmichael's proposed Washington, D.C. (WDC), residence was published in the local newspapers. [redacted] told her that it was rumored in the Negro community that Carmichael was purchasing a $50,000 home in WDC with funds which he received from the Communist Party (CP). She stated that it was also rumored that the CP had raised Carmichael's salary from $18,000 per annum to $20,000 per annum as a reward for his delivery of inflammatory anti-American speeches while in North Vietnam and Cuba. [redacted] also indicated that [redacted] might also be salaried by the CP. b7C b7D

On August 7, 1968, representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), using a suitable pretext, interviewed [redacted]

[redacted] advised that she has been employed by [redacted] for approximately three years. She said that her father, [redacted] was a friend of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., but she emphasized that this friendship was based on a religious bond and was in no way b7C b7D connected to the civil rights movement. She advised that her family had confidence in the nonviolent method of attaining goals in the area of civil rights and she emphatically rejected the philosophy and tactics of militants, such as Stokely Carmichael. [redacted] mentioned that she did not know Carmichael personally and that her knowledge of his activities was confined to reports published in the local WDC newspapers. She assumed that individuals such as Carmichael and [redacted] must be backed financially by the CP. She based this assumption on the fact that neither individual has any visible means of support and both call for a radical change in the current system of Government in the United States. She said that she could not understand how Carmichael could afford to purchase a $50,000 home without being employed. [redacted] stated that she did not know whether these individuals were actually salaried by any organizations and emphasized that her assumptions were based entirely on reports furnished by the national news media.

You should by return mail submit in form suitable for dissemination pertinent information developed concerning this meeting and, in particular, the statements made by Carmichael. If not already handled, appropriate investigation should be conducted to determine if a tape-recording was made of Carmichael's remarks and, if so, they should be expeditiously transcribed and forwarded to the Bureau for dissemination. It is noted that Carmichael in his speech urged Negroes going to Vietnam to kill American soldiers, not Vietnamese. In view of this comment, it should be determined whether or not any military personnel were in attendance and heard Carmichael make this statement.

Why Renew Carmichael's Passport?

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., is demanding an explanation from the State Department for the restoration of Stokely Carmichael's passport.

It was revoked last December after the strife-agitating former head of the militant leftist-leaning Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) returned from an extended tour of Communist countries during which he repeatedly excoriated the United States along party lines.

The State Department gave no explanation for reinstatement of Carmichael's passport. In fact, there was no announcement about it. It was done virtually surreptitiously.

Senator Byrd formally called the Senate's attention to the matter with a blistering denunciation of Carmichael and the State Department.

"Carmichael's passport was revoked," pointed out Byrd, "because he traveled to restricted areas, specifically to Castro's Cuba and to North Vietnam, a nation at whose hands the American people have suffered 191,328 casualties, 38 per cent of those casualties having occurred during the past six months. Yet the State Department has restored his passport, thus making possible other such trips and other such denunciations of the American people and American soldiers in Vietnam.

"We hear a great deal today about people losing confidence in their government. Is there any wonder that more and more citizens are losing confidence in their government when the government acts in such a foolish, absurd and pusillanimous manner as it has in pampering Stokely Carmichael, not only by permitting him to make treasonable statements on foreign soil, but also permitting him to

(Selected by Rev. G. C. Reynolds, Church of Christ)

Neither pray I for these (Apostles) alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their words; That they all may be one; as thou Father, art in me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in us; That the world may believe that Thou hast sent me.—John 17:20, 21.

incite rioting in this country, without penalty."

For some time, the Justice Department reportedly has been investigating Carmichael for possible prosecution. But repeated inquiries about this by reporters and others have brought no information.

One Justice Department official is credited with saying, "So far we have been unable to put together a case that would hold water legally. We have published accounts of what Carmichael is quoted as having said, but we have been unable to get any witnesses to support these reports. Without witnesses we don't have a case."

Since early this year, Carmichael has been active in Washington's predominant Negro population organizing and manipulating from behind the scenes a so-called Black United Front.

While he has cannily kept in the background, he has used various prominent moderate Negro clergymen to spearhead his policies and tactics.

Foremost among Carmichael's aims in Negro control of the capital's 3,100-member police force, which President Johnson has recommended be increased to 4,100. Carmichael's scheme is so-called "community control" of the police; that is, the residents of each district would determine the personnel of the local police force and its officers.

Another Carmichael-inspired maneuver was the claimed unanimous adoption of a resolution by the Black United Front declaring that the slaying of one policeman and the serious wounding of another by three Negroes charged with robbery whom they attempted to arrest was "justifiable homicide."

This deliberately provocative pronouncement evoked a storm of outraged protests in Congress and the press. But the Black Front leaders, under Carmichael's backstage spurring, refused to retract.

This and other truculently militant activities have doomed any chance of this Congress' considering the long-pending legislation to give the District of Columbia either home rule and/or representation in the House and Senate. Last year, the prospects of this being done appeared promising.

But since the violent riots here last April, following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, and Carmichael's undercover machinations through his creation, the Black United Front, Congress has become strongly opposed to relinquishing any direct control over the capital and its affairs.

There isn't a chance of the District of Columbia gaining home rule in the foreseeable future.

Being widely circulated on Capitol Hill are copies of an interview by Carmichael published in Sucesos (Events) while attending the Conference of the Latin American Solidarity Organization in Cuba as the fan-fared guest of Fidel Castro. Following are highlights of the turbulent Negro activist's incendiary remarks:

"We want power not only to control the wealth within our community but to divide up this wealth according to the needs of each community. We don't want to establish a black capitalist system; on the contrary, we want to destroy capitalism economically because this system always goes hand in hand with

One Justice Department official is credited with saying, "So far we have been unable to put together a case that would hold water legally. We have published accounts of what Carmichael is quoted as having said, but we have been unable to get any witnesses to support these reports. Without witnesses we don't have a case."

Since early this year, Carmichael has been active in Washington's predominant Negro population organizing and manipulating from behind the scenes a so-called Black United Front.

While he has cannily kept in the background, he has used various prominent moderate Negro clergymen to spearhead his policies and tactics.

Foremost among Carmichael's aims in Negro control of the capital's 3,100-member police force, which President Johnson has recommended be increased to 4,100. Carmichael's scheme is so-called "community control" mutant activities have doomed any chance of this Congress' considering the long-pending legislation to give the District of Columbia either home rule and/or representation in the House and Senate. Last year, the prospects of this being done appeared promising.

But since the violent riots here last April, following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, and Carmichael's undercover machinations through his creation, the Black United Front, Congress has become strongly opposed to relinquishing any direct control over the capital and its affairs.

There isn't a chance of the District of Columbia gaining home rule in the foreseeable future.

Being widely circulated on Capitol Hill are copies of an interview by Carmichael published in Sucesos (Events) while attending the Conference of the Latin American Solidarity Organization in Cuba as the fan-fared guest of Fidel Castro. Following are highlights of the turbulent Negro activist's incendiary remarks:

"We want power not only to control the wealth within our community but to divide up this wealth according to the needs of each community. We don't want to establish a black capitalist system; on the contrary, we want to destroy capitalism economically because this system always goes hand in hand with racism and exploitation.

"At present, in order not to divide those participating in the struggle for the demands of the black race, we support a united front. But the time will come very soon when there will be no reason to discuss and nothing to discuss, and then we will simply eliminate all those who put obstacles in the way of the real liberation of the black people.

"We are moving towards guerrilla warfare in the United States. We are going to develop urban guerrilla warfare and we are going to beat them (the whites) in this field because there is one thing they do not have; their men don't want to fight what they call guerrilla warfare, which is really hand-to-hand combat. You see, their men are cowards. White America is the most cowardly nation in the world.

"The question is simply when to employ urban guerrilla warfare. It is the only means by which we can win in the United States because they cannot use bombs against us, since we are inside their country. They will have to fight us hand-to-hand and we will defeat them."

I can certainly understand the concern which prompted your letter of August 9th enclosing a newspaper clipping concerning Stokely Carmichael.

Insofar as the granting or revocation of passports is concerned, this is a matter within the purview of the State Department and is not within the jurisdiction of the FBI.

With respect to his other activities, the FBI is strictly an investigative agency of the Federal Government and, as such, does not determine whether prosecutive action will be undertaken in any situation. Such decisions concerning violations of Federal law are within the province of the Attorney General. Voluminous data regarding Carmichael has been furnished to the Attorney General and you may wish to contact him.

I want to assure you that the FBI is aware of its responsibilities with respect to the internal security of our country. We will continue to make every effort to carry out our duties with the greatest thoroughness and efficiency.

Sincerely yours,
J. Edgar Hoover

Carmichael Gets Passport Back; Wants 'War' in U.S.

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
And JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
Herald Correspondents

WASHINGTON — Sen. Harry Byrd, D-Va., is demanding an explanation from the State Department for the restoration of Stokely Carmichael's passport.

It was revoked last December after the strife-agitating former head of the militant leftist - leaning Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) returned from an extended tour of Communist countries during which he repeatedly excoriated the U.S. along party lines.

The State Department gave no explanation for reinstatement of Carmichael's passport. In fact, there was no announcement about it. It was done virtually surreptitiously.

Senator Byrd formally called the Senate's attention to the matter with a blistering denunciation of Carmichael and the State Department.

"Carmichael's passport was revoked," pointed out Byrd, "because he traveled to restricted areas, specifically to Castro's Cuba and to North Vietnam. In each country he publicly and violently attacked the United States and our troops.

Aids Enemy

"Carmichael obviously gave aid and comfort to North Vietnam, a nation at whose hands the American people have suffered 191,328 casualties, 38 per cent of those casualties having occurred during the past six months. Yet the State Department has restored his passport, thus making possible other such trips and other such denunciations of the American people and American soldiers in Vietnam.

"We hear a great deal today about people losing confidence in their government. Is there any wonder that more and more citizens are losing confidence in their government when the government acts in such a foolish, absurd and pusillanimous manner as it has in pampering Stokely Carmichael, not only by permitting him to make treasonable statements on foreign soil, but also permitting him to incite rioting in this country, without penalty."

For some time, the Justice Department reportedly has been investigating Carmichael for possible prosecution. But repeated inquiries about this by reporters and others have brought no information.

An Explanation

One Justice Department official is credited with saying, "So far we have been unable to put together a case that would hold water legally. We have published accounts of what Carmichael is quoted as having said, but we have been unable to get any witnesses to support these reports. Without witnesses we don't have a case."

Foremost among Carmichael's aims is Negro control of the capital's 3,100 - member police force, which President Johnson has recommended be increased to 4,100. Carmichael's scheme is so-called "community control" of the police; that is, the residents of each district would determine the personnel of the local police force and its officers.

Likes Violence

Another Carmichael - inspired maneuver was the claimed unanimous adoption of a resolution by the Black United Front declaring that the slaying of one policeman and the serious wounding of another by three Negroes charged with robbery whom they attempted to arrest was "justifiable homicide."

This deliberately provocative pronouncement evoked a storm of outraged protests in Congress and the press. But the Black Front leaders, under Carmichael's backstage spurring, refused to retract.

This and other truculently militant activities have doomed any chance of this Congress' considering the long - pending legislation to give the District of Columbia either home rule and - or representation in the House and Senate. Last year,

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Unknown subject number one proceeded to Delta Airlines ticket counter where he purchased in cash a ticket in the name of [redacted] for passage on Flight 897, departing Atlanta at 12:10 p.m., July 28, 1968, for San Francisco, California. C.A.

b7C

The parties then rejoined in the lobby of the terminal with Carmichael being constantly recognized by other persons. He would talk and shake hands briefly with these individuals; however, he appeared to direct most of his conversation to a Negro male, about 5' 8" in height, weighing approximately 130 to 135 lbs., wearing a gray checked suit and carrying a briefcase. This person was later joined by a Negro female, having light complexion, being about 20 to 21 years of age, approximately 5' 6", and weighing approximately 100 lbs. These two individuals continued to converse with Carmichael. After a short conversation with this couple, Carmichael and his two companions went to the taxi-loading platform of the airlines terminal.

The Negro male and Negro female, mentioned above, proceeded to the Avis Auto Rental counter. A source, who is in a position to furnish reliable information, advised that the Negro male rented a 1968 Plymouth four-door sedan, 1968 Georgia license 1J51321 in the name of [redacted] using a credit card issued by [redacted]

[redacted] According to the source, [redacted] signed the charge card as [redacted]

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

This Negro male and Negro female then rejoined Carmichael and his companions at the taxi-loading platform. The entire group entered the above-described Plymouth and proceeded to the Paschal Motor Hotel, 830 Hunter Street, S. W., Atlanta, Georgia, which they entered at approximately 10:25 a.m. They sat at a table in the coffee shop, having breakfast, until approximately 11:15 a.m., when the aforementioned Negro couple re-entered the Plymouth automobile and left the vicinity of the Paschal Motor Hotel.

Paschal Motor Hotel is a prominent gathering place for the Negro race in Atlanta and is located in the heart of the Negro business community.

GA.
Carmichael and his two companions were met at 11:20 a.m. by [redacted] who has [redacted] in many instances and was driven to the Atlanta Airport, arriving there at approximately 11:40 a.m. The group remained apart in the "departing flight" section of the vehicle ramp until approximately 11:50 a.m., when Carmichael and his companions departed the automobile and [redacted] left the area of the airport.

Unknown subject number one proceeded to Delta Gate 45, where he boarded Flight 897 at 11:55 a.m., which flight left Atlanta at 12:10 p.m., destination San Francisco, California.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Stokely Carmichael and unknown subject number two proceeded to Eastern Airlines Gate 29, where they remained in the immediate area from approximately 12:10 p.m. until 12:35 p.m., when they boarded Eastern Airlines Flight 146, destination Washington, D. C. This flight left Atlanta at 12:50 p.m., July 28, 1968.

Note:

Stokely Carmichael is a black extremist who is on the Security Index and the Agitator Index. At a speech in Chicago on August 9, 1968, Carmichael made highly inflammatory statements. This information has previously been furnished to the White House, Attorney General, Inter-Division Information Unit, Internal Security Division and Criminal Division of the Department, Secret Service, and military intelligence agencies. By airtel dated 8/14/68 Chicago was requested to endeavor to obtain a transcript of this speech as well as other investigation concerning the identity of the audience. Reference is made to your telegram of August 12, 1968, captioned "Selected Racial Developments and Disturbances," which contained information that Stokely Carmichael was the main speaker at a meeting of about 700 Negroes at the Afro Arts Theater in Chicago, Illinois, on August 9, 1968. Carmichael allegedly urged the black community to obtain arms to prevent genocide of the Negro race and to prepare for the "revolution." Carmichael also allegedly urged Negroes going to Vietnam to kill American soldiers, not North Vietnamese, and to support the Chinese Communist leader, Mao Tse-Tung.

Since his urging Negroes to obtain arms in preparation for the "revolution" is possibly in violation of 18 U.S.C. 2385, and his urging Negroes to kill American soldiers is possibly in violation of 18 U.S.C. 2388, we would appreciate receiving a verbatim transcript of Carmichael's speech, if such is available, together with the name or names of the witness or witnesses who can testify to its accuracy. If a verbatim transcript of the entire speech is not available, we would appreciate receiving any transcripts which were made of the portions of the speech referred to above, together with the names of the individuals who made such recordings. If there are no verbatim transcripts of any portions of Carmichael's speech, we would appreciate being advised whether there were any informants, local police officers, or FBI agents present who made notes of what Carmichael said and, if so, we would like to receive copies of these notes if they cover the areas of Carmichael's speech mentioned above.

We would also like to know whether there were any American servicemen in the audience and, if so, the number and their identities if possible.

If it is available, we would also like to know the composition of the entire audience by sex and age.

We would also be interested in ascertaining who sponsored the meeting and whether Carmichael was speaking as an individual or as a member of SNCC and on behalf of that organization. We would also like to know the names of all other individuals who spoke and whether any of them gave talks in the same vein as Carmichael's.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

Memorandum

TO : The Director

DATE: 8-6-68

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Page E7391. Congressman Fisher, (D) Texas, stated the press reports that the Department of State has returned to Stokely Carmichael the passport which was taken from him on December 11, 1967. Mr. Fisher cited Carmichael's tour of Communist countries also his tour of the United States and his statements urging young men to violate the laws of the land by refusing to serve in the Armed Forces. Mr. Fisher advised This was a criminal act, so described by Joseph O'Meara, dean of the Notre Dame Law School, as reported in the December 1967, issue of the American Bar Association Journal. But unfortunately, the young Attorney General did not see fit to tangle with Carmichael. Stokely Carmichael is a dangerous criminal at large. He incites riots and he promotes racial hatred. By his own conduct, and under the terms of existing law, he should be in prison today. Yet, he is running loose, avoided by the Department of Justice and favored by the Department of State.

Page 25915. Senator Byrd, (D) Virginia, advised that the State Department had restored to Stokely Carmichael the passport it took from him on December 11, 1967. Carmichael's passport was revoked because he traveled to restricted areas. Mr. Byrd stated in each country, he publicly and violently attacked the United States and our American troops. . . . We hear a great deal today, throughout our Nation, about the people losing confidence in their Government. Is there any wonder that more and more citizens are losing confidence in their Government when the Government acts in such a foolish, absurd, and pusillanimous manner as it has in pampering Stokely Carmichael, not only by permitting him to make treasonable statements on foreign soil, but also permitting him to incite to rioting in this country, all without penalty.

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

SUMMARY FROM GERMAN

The airmail communication is addressed to Mr. Stokley Carmichael, Black Power Movement, S.N.C.C., 6 Raymond Street N.W., Atlanta, Georgia, 30314, U.S.A. This address was corrected to read: 360 Nelson Street, S.W., 30313.

The postmark reads: [REDACTED] July (?) 7, 1968.

The return address reads:

The contents of the communication consist of a two-page carbon copy of a typewritten letter addressed to Senator Edward Kennedy, United States Senate, Washington, D.C.

According to a notation appearing at the end of the letter, "28 copies were sent out," possibly to political personalities of several countries.

Congratulations are extended to Senator Edward Kennedy for his courage in "receiving the political legacy" left by his two assassinated brothers and carrying on the work that they initiated.

The writer foresees many changes in the world situation in the near future. She bemoans the travel restrictions imposed on West Germans wishing to visit West Berlin. In her opinion, Prague's rebellion to the dictates of Moscow portends a crisis in the Soviet Union.

The writer goes on to urge Senator Kennedy to seek the Presidency in 1968 or in 1972. (She points out that in 1972, Senator Kennedy will be 40 years old and perhaps stand a better chance of success.)

Presumably mindful of Senator Kennedy's past injuries, she recommends the services of a [REDACTED] who allegedly was also "known to [REDACTED]"

On 7/16/68, [] advised that on 7/15/68, while working at the SNCC Office, he observed this letter being opened by a co-worker, who realized that it was written in the German language and mentioned that although he could not read it he doubted if it contained anything important. STOKELY CARMICHAEL

On August 14, 1968, a confidential source, [redacted] from the Chicago area, advised that during the recent trip to Chicago, Stokely Carmichael former National Director of Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), made from August 9 through 11, 1968, the following additional details have been obtained:

Carmichael arrived in Chicago at approximately 7:30 p.m., August 9, 1968, and proceeded to the Lincoln Elementary School, 139th Street and Claire Avenue, Robbins, Illinois. He arrived there at approximately 9:10 p.m. He was met by 30 male Negroes at the rear of the school. Two of these unknown Negroes were armed with shotguns or rifles. No one was there to hear Carmichael's speech so he left. A crowd had gathered in the evening but left before he arrived.

Carmichael then proceeded to a trailer park at Kedzie Avenue and Claire Avenue, Robbins, Illinois, and arrived at 9:20 p.m. It was not determined what individual or individuals he visited. From the trailer park he proceeded to the Afro-Arts Theater, 3947 South Drexel Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois, arriving at approximately 11:10 p.m.

A characterization of SNCC is attached. Sources utilized in this characterization had furnished reliable information in the past.

ENCLOSURE

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

On August 14, 1968, [redacted] b2
[redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, b7D advised that Stokely Carmichael spoke before approximately 900 people at the Afro-Arts Theater, 3947 South Drexel
Boulevard, Chicago, on the evening of August 9, 1968.
Source stated that the speech for all practical purposes was identical to the speech Carmichael presented at Afro-Arts Theater on March 25, 1968. Carmichael stressed black unity as the only solution for Negroes to effectively forestall their ultimate genocide by the white power structure.
Carmichael maintained that all black people should "love" one another and develop the type of unity for each other which has been displayed by the Blackstone Rangers, Chicago Negro youth gang. He held the Blackstone Rangers up as excellent examples that Chicago blacks should emulate. Chicago, Ill.
He believed the Blackstone Rangers were the only effective black group working for black power in Chicago!

b7D [redacted] commented that Carmichael usually pays approximately $350 to the four or five Negroes, who act as his personal bodyguards. However, on this trip he paid them $500.

b7D [redacted] stated that on one occasion while Carmichael and his bodyguards were in a tavern on the South Negro section of Chicago, the bodyguards wanted to "tear up" the place. Carmichael pleaded with them not to create any disturbance because he is convinced that if the police arrive to enforce the law and discover that he is on the scene, they will use this as a pretext to kill him even though he is unarmed. He especially fears the Chicago police and believe that they are just waiting for the chance to kill him. He dislikes visiting Chicago and commented that if he lives through this trip, he can see no reason why he would ever return to this city.

On August 15, 1968, [redacted] b2
who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised b7D that approximately 900 Negroes were in attendance at the Afro-Arts Theater, 3947 South Drexel Boulevard, on the evening of August 9, 1968, where Stokely Carmichael gave a speech. The source advised that Carmichael's speech was a typical black power speech, in which he praised the blacks and condemned the white race.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

On August 15, 1968, [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past advised that approximately 800 Negroes were in attendance at the Afro-Arts Theater, 3947 South Drexel Boulevard, Chicago, on August 9, 1968, where Stokely Carmichael spoke. The main theme of Carmichael's speech was that the white man is the enemy of the Negro and the "chief devil" is the police. He berated the "imperialistic capitalistic" system in the United States. He quoted favorably some writings of Ernesto Che Guevara and Mao Tse Tung.

b7D [redacted] said 200 Blackstone Rangers attended the meeting and were admitted free. All other Negroes paid $3.00 per person admission fee. It was announced that the gate receipts totalled $1,900.

On August 12, 1968, [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished the following information:

Stokely Carmichael was in Chicago August 9, 1968, and on that evening made an appearance at the Afro-Arts Theater, 3947 South Drexel Boulevard, Chicago. Carmichael did not arrive at the theater until approximately 11:00 p.m., at which time some 900-1000 Negroes were in attendance.

Carmichael's remarks were in large measure a call for unity within the black communities. He advised black people do not need more prostitutes, school dropouts or gangs among their number, but need more black togetherness in order to survive the oppressor. Genocide is upon us. The white man is the blacks enemy and capitalism is the system he uses to exploit blacks. Black people should not be a part of a capitalistic society but should develop a socialist society as more suitable to their needs. Colonialism, which is a part of capitalism, works against the needs of black people.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Blacks should develop an emotional love for their own people so that if one is abused or killed, the brothers will immediately rise to the situation and destroy the white man or men involved. In order to do this, guns are necessary and all blacks should have them. Even those who are not willing to fight should prepare for the revolution. They should get food, clothing and ammunition so that guerrilla warriors can have a place of refuge. Money should also be provided by those who are not willing to fight. The people today most ready to fight the white man are the hard laborers, the butchers and the ditch diggers. Carmichael urged his audience to read and listen to the teachings of Mao Tse Tung.

Black soldiers should agree to go to Vietnam, but once there, should kill American soldiers not North Vietnamese.

Blacks should control and police their own communities and not allow regular police to patrol these areas. Blacks who are police informants should not be killed, rather the police to whom they report. Black communities must be prepared to match forces with the police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Guns are easily obtainable by everyone, work for one or steal one. Carmichael's remarks were received by the crowd with great acclaim and applause. Some individuals became quite excited during his comments, however, the crowd generally was orderly.

On August 14, 1968, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Illinois, made available the attached leaflet which he obtained from Negro youths passing them out on August 9, 1968, in the Chicago Heights area. The leaflet announced a speech by Carmichael which did not occur. He had no idea who prepared the leaflet nor the identity of those concerned with its distribution.

Attached is a copy of a draft of a letter which at his anticipated will tacitly lead the selected four pro-Chinese residents in the United States to infer they are being invited by the Communist Party of China to attend a political meeting in China. The letter is worded so the recipient will recognize it as a Chinese invitation phrased in a thinly veiled manner to conceal its political nature.

This letter should be retyped using a typewriter typical of those used in the Hong Kong business community or commercially purchased stationary. The basic content of the letter should not be altered, although the text may be changed only to include colloquialisms typical of the Chinese.

Individual copies of the letters should be posted so they will contain a Newlon postmark. The return address on the envelope should read "CTB, 27 Main Road, Newlon, Moss Side".

With each letter a currency certificate in the lowest denominator used in Hong Kong should be enclosed. One-third of the certificate should be torn off before being enclosed. The four letters should be directed to the following:

New York, New York, 10011, USA.

Two loose copies should be made of the original letter to be mailed to Carmichael. The loose copies should clearly indicate the creases necessarily made to insert the letter in the envelope. Forward these copies to the Bureau.

The letters should be signed in ink in the handwritten name of [REDACTED]

b7C

Because of the time limitations incorporated in the alleged invitation, the four letters should be promptly prepared and posted.

NOTE:

[REDACTED] which our investigations have indicated are relatively isolated within the domestic and foreign pro-Chicom movement. Carmichael, militant black nationalist allegedly visited China in the recent past and is considered to be sympathetic to the Chicom. China Travel Service offices have been used by Chicom for intelligence purposes, but Kowloon office has not been identified specifically as involved in such use and no Bureau operations involve Kowloon office. This technique may result in the pro-Chicom traveling abroad at considerable expense and causing embarrassment for Chicom. Also, if the fictitious invitation is intercepted by an associate or a foe of the pro-Chicom it could cause disruption and embarrassment. Addresses used are public addresses of organizations of the recipients. Follow-up technique is being considered in Carmichael instance and this would involve leaking a copy of Carmichael's invitation to the Soviets in anticipation the Soviets would brand him as a Government informant. This technique can be accomplished without expenses or embarrassment to the Bureau.

The leaflet announced a speech by CARMICHAEL at Eisenhower High School, which did not occur. [redacted] had no idea who prepared the leaflet nor the identity of those concerned with this distribution.

b7D

[redacted] Robbins, Illinois, an all Negro suburb on Chicago's south side, advised August 9, 1968, that approximately 40 Negroes of various ages were disbanded from the vicinity of 135th Street and Claire Avenue, where they attempted to hold a meeting. Permission for this meeting had previously been denied by city officials. [redacted]

b7D

[redacted] stated several youths then broke into the Lincoln Elementary School, 439th Street and Claire Avenue, to hold this meeting, and Robbins City and school authorities, who at first wanted the individuals removed from the Lincoln Elementary School, consented to let the meeting take place.

Approximately 150 persons attended the meeting at the Lincoln Elementary School, all of whom were searched before entering the meeting. [redacted] advised

b7D

[redacted] whom he considered reliable, advised August 9, 1968, that the participants in the above meeting waited for the arrival of STOKELY CARMICHAEL and when CARMICHAEL failed to appear at the expected time, the participants at this meeting departed the Lincoln Elementary School without incident.

CG 157-1297

[redacted] further advised that his sources stated that CARMICHAEL arrived at the Lincoln Elementary School in a vehicle bearing Illinois license [redacted]. This vehicle, according to these sources, was part of a motorcade, the last vehicle of which was heavily armed.

b7D

The "Chicago Tribune," a daily newspaper published in Chicago, Illinois, in an article appearing in the Sunday issue, August 11, 1968, stated that CARMICHAEL was an hour late for a speaking engagement at the Lincoln Elementary School and found an empty auditorium. CARMICHAEL and his entourage then returned to Chicago.

[redacted] advised [redacted] the owner of the vehicle bearing Illinois license number [redacted] was involved in a disturbance in [redacted] Illinois, in 1964.

At that time [redacted] was observed with a walkie-talkie radio unit and appeared to be directing the activities of Negro youths involved in this riot. [redacted] presently resides at [redacted] Illinois. He is a close friend of STOKELY CARMICHAEL as well as [redacted]

b7D

Source advised that STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke before approximately 900 people at the Afro-Arts Theater on the evening of August 9, 1968. Source stated that the speech was practically identical to the speech CARMICHAEL presented at the Afro-Arts Theater on March 25, 1968. CARMICHAEL stressed black unity as the only solution for blacks to forestall their ultimate genocide by the white power structure. CARMICHAEL maintained that all black people should "love" one another and develop the type of unity for each other which has been displayed by the Blackstone Rangers, Chicago Negro youth gang. He held the Blackstone Rangers up as excellent examples that Chicago blacks should emulate. He believed the Blackstone Rangers were the only effective black group working for black power in Chicago.

Source stated on one occasion while CARMICHAEL and [redacted] were in a tavern on the south side Negro section of Chicago, [redacted] wanted to "tear up" the place. CARMICHAEL pleaded with them not to create any disturbance because he is convinced if the police arrive to enforce the law and discover that he is on the scene, they will use this as an pretext to kill him even though he is unarmed. He especially fears the Chicago police and believe they are just waiting for the chance to kill him. He dislikes visiting Chicago and commented if he lives through this trip he can see no reason why he would return to this city.

A characterization of the DDJ and NNRA appear in the appendix section of this report.

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that approximately 900 Negroes were in attendance at the Afro-Arts Theater, 3947 South Drexel Boulevard, on the evening of August 9, 1968, where STOKELY CARMICHAEL gave a speech. The source advised that CARMICHAEL's speech was a typical black power speech, in which he praised the blacks and condemned the white race.

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that approximately 800 Negroes were in attendance at the Afro-Arts Theater, 3947 South Drexel Boulevard, Chicago, on August 9, 1968, where STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke. The main theme of CARMICHAEL's speech was that the white man is the enemy of the Negro and the "chief devil" is the police. He berated the "imperialistic capitalistic" system in the United States. He quoted favorably some writings of ERNESTO CHE GUEVARA and MAO TSE TUNG.

This source said 200 Blackstone Rangers attended the meeting and were admitted free. All other Negroes paid $3.00 per person admission fee. It was announced that the gate receipts totalled $1,900.

Source advised STOKELY CARMICHAEL's Chicago business agent for his speaking engagement at Afro-Arts Theater is [REDACTED]

CARMICHAEL [REDACTED]

Source had no additional information about these individuals.

Source stated STOKELY CARMICHAEL was in the Chicago area August 9, 1968, and on that evening made an appearance at the Afro-Arts Theater, 3947 South Drexel Boulevard, Chicago. CARMICHAEL did not arrive at the theater until approximately 11:00 P.M., at which time some 900-1000 Negroes were in attendance.

CARMICHAEL's remarks were in large measure a call for unity within the black communities. He advised black people do not need more prostitutes, school dropouts or gangs among their number, but need more black togetherness in order to survive the oppressor. Genocide is upon us. The white man is the blacks enemy and capitalism is the system he uses to exploit blacks. Black people should not be a part of a capitalistic society, but should develop a socialist society as more suitable to their needs. Colonialism, which is a part of capitalism, works against the needs of black people.

Blacks should develop an emotional love for their own people so that if one is abused or killed, the brothers will immediately rise to the situation and destroy the white man or men involved. In order to do this, guns are necessary and all blacks should have them. Even those who are not willing to fight should prepare for the revolution. They should get food, clothing and ammunition so that guerrilla warriors can have a place of refuge. Money should also be provided by those who are not willing to fight. The people today most ready to fight the white man are the hard laborers, the butchers and ditch diggers. CARMICHAEL urged his audience to read and listen to the teachings of MAO TSE TUNG.

Black soldiers should agree to go to Vietnam, but once there, should kill American soldiers not North Vietnamese.

Blacks should control and police their own communities and not allow regular police to patrol these areas. Blacks who are police informants should not be killed, rather the police to whom they report. Black communities must be prepared to match forces with the police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Guns are easily obtainable, buy one, work for one or steal one. CARMICHAEL's remarks were received by the crowd with great acclaim and applause. Some individuals became quite excited during his comments, however, the crowd generally was orderly.

A source, advised that STOKELY CARMICHAEL stayed at the Executive House, a hotel in the loop area of Chicago, while in Chicago, and was in his room at that hotel from 6:00 P.M. to 8:00 P.M., August 10, 1968, when he departed for the Regal Theater, 4700 South Parkway, Chicago,

This is to request additional investigation of events in connection with Stokely Carmichael's appearances in Mobile, Alabama on July 26 and 27, 1968 and in Chicago, Illinois on August 9, 1968.

With respect to the Mobile appearances, we note that Carmichael's remarks were broadcast outside the church and that his remarks indicate possible violation of Section 104(a) of Public Law 90-284. We would appreciate receiving:

- a) A verbatim transcript of Carmichael's remarks if such can be obtained.
- b) A copy of the notes of any informants, local police officers or F.B.I. agents who were present and made notes of what Carmichael said.
- 1/c) The names of any witness who could testify to the intent with which Carmichael came to Mobile.
- d) A report on disturbances which allegedly occurred in Mobile after Carmichael's departure including names of witnesses to the events and other evidence which would connect the disturbances to the Carmichael remarks.

As you are aware, successful prosecution under the Federal anti-riot law will require careful proof of a connection between travel in interstate commerce and events which may occur some time after the travel. We, therefore, need continuing reports on Mr. Carmichael's travels and on disturbances which occur at any time in the places to which he has travelled.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, recently visited with [redacted] [redacted] presently residing in [redacted] but a permanent resident of [redacted] that during December, 1967, Stokely Carmichael visited Paris at the invitation of the Paris Committee on North Viet Nam. Carmichael was apparently en route to North Viet Nam where he reportedly conversed with Ho Chi Minh.

b7D

[redacted] described Carmichael as extremely pleasant and mild mannered. He said Carmichael was enthusiastically received everywhere in Paris as a champion of the working class. [redacted] said Carmichael was quite far left politically, but definitely not a communist. One of the things Carmichael discussed [redacted] was the best way to attain equal rights for the Negro in the United States or the best way for the Negroes to take power in the United States if equal rights could not be obtained through non-violent means.

b7C

[redacted] that he would visit Carmichael in Chicago if Carmichael was in the city at the same time as [redacted] Source advised that [redacted] before determining Carmichael's place of residence in this city.

SUMMARY

Attached pertains to speech by Stokely Carmichael at a rally in Oakland, California, 8/25/68 in support of Huey P. Newton, Black Panther Party official, on trial in Oakland for the murder of a policeman.

According to several confidential sources who attended the Rally, Carmichael urged the overthrow of the U.S. Government by armed revolution through guerrilla warfare. He stated the "black revolution is entering a period of armed struggle. In order to become a revolutionary you must pick up a gun." He described a black revolutionary as a person who wants a complete change of Governmental system without compromise and said the only way to combat opposition is through "guerrilla warfare, organization, and well-planned tactics." He said if you say "burn baby burn" it means burn down the suburbs and not your own neighborhood. He was not telling the audience to burn down the "establishment" but if they were going to do it he was outlining the way it should be done.

Copies furnished the Attorney General, Inter-Division Information Unit, Internal Security and Criminal Divisions of the Department. This information also being furnished to the military and Secret Service.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL; RACIAL MATTERS

A CONFIDENTIAL SOURCE ADVISED SHE ATTENDED FREE HUEY NEWTON RALLY AT DE FREMERY PARK, OAKLAND, SUNDAY, AUGUST
TWENTYFIVE, LAST, AND HEARD AND RECORDED SPEECH BY STOKELY
CARMICHAEL. SHE ADVISED CARMICHAEL WAS INTRODUCED AS PRIME MINISTER OF BLACK PANTHER PARTY. SHE WAS SURPRISED THAT STATEMENTS HE MADE WHICH INDICATED TO HER HE WAS ESPOUSING REVOLUTION AND OVERTHROW OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES. FROM MEMORY AND NOTES TAKEN, SHE STATED THAT CARMICHAEL SAID "BLACK REVOLUTION IS ENTERING A PERIOD OF ARMED STRUGGLE." "IN ORDER TO BECOME A REVOLUTIONARY YOU MUST PICK UP A GUN." "A REVOLUTIONARY IS SOMEONE WILLING TO KILL FOR A CHANGE FOR THE MASSES OF THE COUNTRY." 12 AUG 30 1968

WILL BE THREE LEVELS OF ATTACK, THE SYMBOLS OF OPPRESSION, THE TOOLS OF OPPRESSION AND ATTACK THE PEOPLE THEMSELVES."

"GUERRILLA WARFARE IS WHERE YOU'VE GOT TO GO. WAIT UNTIL THE SUN GOES DOWN AND THEN IT'S ZDEN-STEVEN. GUERRILLA WARFARE BECAUSE YOU CANNOT FIGHT A MILITARY FORCE SUPERIOR TO YOU. GUERRILLA WARFARE--YOU DON'T KILL TO DIE, YOU KILL TO LIVE AND YOU'RE ALWAYS FORCED UNDERGROUND BECAUSE THEY BREAK AND DESTROY ALL GROUPS ABOVE GROUND."

"POLICE ARE TO KEEP THINGS AS THEY ARE." "BY NECESSITY THE POLICE FORCE IS GOING TO INCREASE ITS HARASSMENT. WE MUST BE PREPARED FOR THAT." "DON'T WEAR A BLACK JACKET UNLESS YOU'RE READY TO KILL."

SOURCE STATED THERE WERE MANY REFERENCES IN CARMICHAEL'S SPEECH TO THE REVOLUTIONARY STRUGGLE AND THE RACIST AND IMPERIALISTIC POLICIES OF THE U.S. GOVERNMENT. THERE WAS NO DOUBT IN SOURCE'S MIND THAT HE WAS ENCOURAGING REVOLUTION AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.

CARMICHAEL EXPLAINED THE COALITION OF THE BPP WITH RPE PEACE AND FREEDOM PARTY AS A POLITICAL TOOL AND A POLITICAL NECESSITY IN ORDER TO GET PUBLICITY. HE TOLD THE CROWD THAT THE BLACKS MUST MOVE ON THREE LEVELS, POLITICAL, ECONOMIC, AND SOCIAL (OR CULTURAL). HE SAID "WE CANNOT RETREAT, WE MUST ENCOURAGE OUR PEOPLE TO GO TO CUBA. YOU CAN'T STOP US. WE ^S MUST LEARN WHAT IS GOING ON IN THOSE COUNTRIES."

#2) [REDACTED] ADVISED THAT APPROXIMATELY SEVENTEEN HUNDRED TO TWO THOUSAND PERSONS, PREDOMINANTLY NEGROES ATTENDED THE RALLY. CARMICHAEL GAVE SPEECH WHICH LASTED APPROXIMATELY FORTY-FIVE MINUTES AND COULD BEST BE DESCRIBED AS AN EDUCATIONAL LECTURE ON THE BLACK POWER CONCEPT.

CARMICHAEL FIRST TALKED ABOUT CAPITALISM, COMMUNISM AND SOCIALISM. HE TOLD DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THESE MAJOR POLITICAL IDEOLOGIES AND DESCRIBED THE "EVILS" OF EACH. CARMICHAEL SAID HE KNEW THAT HIS SPEECH, BEING OF AN EDUCATIONAL NATURE, WOULD BE BORING COMPARED TO THE USUAL FIREY SPEECHES HE HAS MADE AND AS COMPARED TO THE SPEAKERS WHICH PRECEDED HIM.

END PAGE THREE

IN TALKING ABOUT CAPITALISM HE SAID PEOPLE DO ALL WORK UNDER THIS SYSTEM AND THE GOVERNMENT TAXES THE PEOPLE'S MONEY AWAY FROM THEM.

HE DESCRIBED THE COMMUNISM SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT AS A REVOLUTIONARY OVERTHROW OF A GOVERNMENT BY "PHYSICAL EXECUTION".

HE DESCRIBED SOCIALISM AS SYSTEM WHICH ADVOCATES REVOLUTIONARY OVERTHROW OF A GOVERNMENT BY "ELECTORAL EXECUTION."

IN TALKING ABOUT BLACK POWER CONCEPTS, HE STATED IT WAS IMPORTANT TO UNDERSTAND DEFINITIONS OF BLACK MILITANCY AND BLACK REVOLUTIONARY. HE DESCRIBED BLACK MILITANT AS A PERSON WHO WANTS TO CHANGE THE "SYSTEM" BUT STILL LIVE WITH WHITE PEOPLE THROUGH COMPROMISE. HE SAID A BLACK MILITANT WILL DIE FIGHTING AND IS A PERSON WHO COULD FIGHT IN VIETNAM.

HE DESCRIBED BLACK REVOLUTIONARY AS PERSON WHO WANTS COMPLETE CHANGE OF GOVERNMENTAL SYSTEM WITHOUT COMPROMISE AND AS PERSON WHO WILL NOT FIGHT IN VIETNAM BUT WILL KILL TO LIVE. AS EXAMPLES OF LATTER, HE NAMED CHE GUEVERRA, FIDEL CASTRO AND HUEY P. NEWTON.

CARMICHAEL ALSO EXPLAINED THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN REVOLUTIONARIES AND COUNTER REVOLUTIONARIES, STATING THAT

VIETCONG ARE REVOLUTIONARIES AND THE USA IS A COUNTER REVOLUTIONARY FORCE. IN THIS CONNECTION HE STATED BPP IS A REVOLUTIONARY ORGANIZATION AND OAKLAND POLICE DEPARTMENT IS COUNTER REVOLUTIONARY FORCE.

HE SAID CARRYING A GUN DOES NOT MAKE A PERSON A BLACK REVOLUTIONARY AND STATED IT MUST BE UNDERSTOOD IT IS THE IDEOLOGY ONE IS FIGHTING FOR THAT DETERMINES WHETHER HE IS A BLACK REVOLUTIONARY.

HE DEFINED BLACK MILITANTS AS THOSE WHO TALK OF ADVOCATING VIOLENCE BUT ARE NOT NECESSARILY AFFILIATED WITH ANY PARTICULAR BLACK NATIONALIST GROUP. HE SAID THAT BLACK NATIONALIST MAY EXPOUSE THE IDEOLOGY FOLLOWED BY SEVERAL BLACK MILITANT ORGANIZATIONS.

CARMICHAEL STATED HE IS CONDEMNING ALL SPONTANEOUS RIOTING BECAUSE BLACK MAN ALWAYS LOSES THROUGH THIS COURSE OF ACTION. HE SAID THE ONLY WAY TO COMBAT OPPRESSION IS THROUGH "GUERRILA WARFARE, ORGANIZATION AND WELL PLANNED TACTICS."

CARMICHAEL THEN CONTINUED BY CONDEMNING RIOTING IN

PREDOMINANTLY NEGRO NEIGHBORHOODS. HE SAID IF YOU SAY " BURN BABY BURN", THAT DOESN'T MEAN WHAT IS SOUNDS LIKE. IT MEANS BURN DOWN THE SUBURBS, NOT YOUR OWN NEIGHBORHOOD. IT MEANS BURN DOWN THE HONKIES ESTABLISHMENT. HE SAID HE WANTED TO MAKE IT CLEAR HE WAS NOT TELLING THE AUDIENCE TO BURN DOWN THE ESTABLISHMENT, BUT IF THEY WERE GOING TO DO IT HE WAS HEREBY OUTLINING THE WAY IT SHOULD BE DONE.

IN CONCLUSION CARMICHAEL STATED IF HUEY P. NEWTON, MINISTER OF DEFENSE, BPP, IS CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF MURDERING AN OAKLAND POLICE OFFICER, "THE SKY IS THE LIMIT". HE SAID THE SENTENCING OF NEWTON TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT WOULD NOT BE A "PANACEA", MEANING A CURE-ALL OR COMPROMISE AND THAT THERE WOULD STILL BE RETALIATION BY BLACK REVOLUTIONARIES AND BLACK MILITANTS.

[REDACTED] ADVISED HE HEARD CARMICHAEL SPEAK AT DE FREMERY PARK RALLY. HE SAID CARMICHAEL EXPLAINED STEP-BY-STEP PROCEDURE LEADING TO TOTAL OVERTHROW OF SYSTEM BY ARMED REVOLUTION. CARMICHAEL CALLED FOR ARMED REVOLUTION AND SAID THERE WAS NO ALTERNATIVE. BLACK PEOPLE HAVE TO LEARN TO LIVE TO KILL AND KILL TO LIVE AND THAT ONE IS NOT A TRUE REVOLUTIONARY UNTIL HE IS WILLING TO KILL.

CARMICHAEL STATED THAT ALL COLORED PEOPLE OF THE WORLD SUFFER AS A RESULT OF CAPITALISM AND IMPERIALISM, AND ANYONE WHO FIGHTS AGAINST THE U.S. IS "OUR ALLY." CARMICHAEL INDICATED THAT TO BRING ABOUT REVOLUTION, THREE THINGS HAVE TO BE DESTROYED--THE SYMBOLS OF THE SYSTEM--STORISUNIS THE BLACK COMMUNITIES WHICH HAVE BEEN EXPLOITING THE BLACKS--THEY HAVE TO BE BURNED; THE TOOLS OF THE SYSTEM--THE POLICE, WHO HAVE TO BE ERADICATED BY GUERILLA WARFARE METHODS AND THE OPPRESSOR WHO MUST BE TOTALLY DESTROYED BY SEIZING TYBWER, SEIZING THE BLACK COMMUNITY, BLOCKING THEM OFF AND HOLDING THEM. IN THE GUERILLA WARFARE THAT WOULD TAKE PLACE HE DID NOT WANT ANYONE TO LIVE TO DIE, BUT KILL TO LIVE BY KILLING NOT TWO BUT FIFTY POLICE.

CARMICHAEL QUOTED MALCOLM X IN SAYING THAT WHEN THE SUN GOES DOWN IT IS MAN FOR MAN AND THE GREATER FORCE HAS NO ADVANTAGE.

CARMICHAEL MAINTAINED THER IS NO OTHER SOLUTION BUT THE GUN AND REVOLUTION, THAT GUNS ALONE ARE NOT ENOUGH. SUPPORT OF THE BLACK PEOPLE, FOOD, SHELTER AND CLOTHING, ARE NECESSARY AND HE URGED THE BLACK PEOPLE TO ~~STATE~~ IMMEDIATELY THE SERIOUS PLANNING BECAUSE NOT MUCH TIME IS LEFT.

[REDACTED] ADVISED HE HEARD CARMICHAEL SPEAK, GIVING LONG, BORING LECTURE BASED IN SOURCE'S OPINION ON MAO'S RED BOOK, BPP BLACK BOOK, AND MALCOLM X. HE EXPLAINED WITH SKILL AND A DEGREE OF DIGNITY THE MEANING OF SUCH POLITICAL TERMS AS SOCIALISM, COMMUNISM, REVOLUTION, REVOLUTIONARY, MILITANT, GUERILLA WARFARE, CAPITALISM, IMPERIALISM, AND ECONOMIC BOYCOTT, ETC. CARMICHAEL CLAIMED THAT HISTORY HAD PLACED THE BLACK MAN IN PERIOD OF ARMED STRUGGLE AND THIS STRUGGLE WOULD EVENTUALLY BE FORCED UNDERGROUND BY POLICE AND A REVOLUTION WOULD FOLLOW. HE FELT THE PERIOD OF ARMED STRUGGLE MIGHT GO ON FOR YEARS IN THE USA. CARMICHAEL GAVE NO TIMETABLE FOR THE "REVOLUTION."
HE CALLED FOR ALL BLACKS TO ARM THEMSELVES TO DEFEND THEMSELVES.
HE AGREED THAT HUEY NEWTON MUST BE FREED OR THE "SKY IS THE ^{LIMIT} KUNUT."

[redacted] All were dressed in typical BPP attire. CARMICHAEL, in an affable frame of mind, confirmed the fact that the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) has severed relations with him. He stated that he had no hard feelings toward SNCC that he had enjoyed the experience of working in SNCC for many years and that he would never say anything unfavorable concerning that organization.

The Marin City BPP announced publicly a "Free Huey Rally" to be held at Marin City on August 22, 1968.

entire speech was not recorded. This source provided the tape which has been transcribed and the following is that portion of the speech delivered by the Subject.

HUEY P. NEWTON has been publicly identified as Minister of Defense of the BPP. He is presently on trial at the Alameda County Courthouse for the murder of an Oakland police officer.

"Good evening. It is very late. I don't know how much time we have. If I had an idea then I'd know how much we could speak about. Does anyone have any ideas. It is about quarter after ten. What time do people have to leave?

I will try to be as brief as possible; however, I do think that there are a lot of things that we have to talk about. There are a lot of terms that we have to define and there's a new attitude that we have to take.

I want to begin by saying that all of the things I talk about tonight will hinge upon, center around, and the pivotal point of which will be our Minister of Defense HUEY P. NEWTON, so that no matter what I say, I'm always talking about Brother HUEY.

Now before I begin I want to explain something. I am tired of hearing, Free HUEY. I am tired of hearing that if you don't free HUEY or if you touch HUEY the sky is the limit. We're not going to say this anymore. We're a party, we're organized, and we will deliver, period.

Now then, we have said that we see brother HUEY NEWTON as a prisoner of war, and he is. Now many people say that that's not true because the United States, or white America, has not declared war on black people. I'd like to remind the people that say that that white America has not declared war in Vietnam, yet she's killing Vietnamese. White America never declared war in Korea, but she killed thousands of Koreans; and the best example black people have in this country is the fact that white America never declared war on the Indians, she just wiped them out. And if we understand this, then we understand and we define and we say that we are at war. If we are at war, our Minister of Defense is a prisoner of war, and if he is a prisoner of war, we will do what is necessary to free him, whether we fail or we succeed. If we fail and if they kill our prisoner of war, then we have to do what we deem necessary. There is no more discussion.

Now we want to talk about colonized minds because black people inside this country are colonized people. We are. And when a colonized people begin to prepare to fight, there are a number of things that we have to do, which can be broken down into two categories: one called entertainment; the other called education. Entertainment is the first phase of a struggle, and naturally we have to tell ourselves how bad we are. We have to make fun at our oppressor just so that we can begin to feel that we are psychologically prepared to fight. Yeah, that's why we had to jump up and say we can get the Hunkie, we can burn the city down. We had to act bad to convince ourselves because prior to that time we weren't even acting bad. We were afraid to call white folk Hunkies, we were afraid to do what we knew we had to do.

Now we have passed the stage of entertainment. It was necessary. Now we must talk about education. How we as a people educate ourselves and move forward to bring about revolution in this country. And we have to bring about revolution in this country. There is no alternative. We can do nothing else. We have to prepare for revolution in this country. So we have to define certain things. We have to define what we're fighting; what we are fighting against; what our goal is; what our aim is. We have to define words such as revolution, armed struggle, revolutionary violence, capitalism, imperialism, and civil _____. And we want to talk a little about liberals because the audience is sprinkled with members of the Peace and Freedom Party who -- liberals or radicals? -- both. Thank you. White liberals and white radicals.

Let us begin then by recognizing what our fight is. Black people in this country are fighting against two evil systems -- racism and capitalism, or imperialism. Imperialism is a higher stage of capitalism. Let us define racism; and we just want simple definitions so we can understand it.

Racism is when one race decides to subjugate another race based solely on its race; that is to say, if white people decided to pick on black people just because we're black, then white people are racists. I do not think that we have to waste time re-defining the fact that this country is racist. We all know that. Now _____

_____. The Black Panther Party is anti-racist. Black people in the United States are anti-racist. That means that they're out to destroy racism and racists. I don't make _____ definitions anymore about people in systems.

A system is upheld by the people and the people are responsible for that system. So black people are out to destroy racists.

And if black people are out to destroy racists, that does not mean that black people themselves are racists because they're destroying racists; they're just destroying white people who think they're better than black people. That doesn't mean black people are now destroying white people because they think they're better than white people, they're destroying white people just in order for them to live.

So that we don't have to be arguing anymore about whether or not black people are racists. We're clearly anti-racist and we do not have to discuss that anymore. We must move on.

We want to talk then about capitalism because that's very important. It is important because we have to know the economic system in which we live, and the economic system in which we live is a capitalistic system which has produced most of the evil and quite a bit of the oppression and brutality that we have to suffer. A capitalist society is a society which is geared to _____.

It begins with the fact that the man who has capital has the right to invest his capital to buy the labor of another individual and to make a profit. That's it simply. It's a lot more complicated but we don't have time to go into _____. We just have to try to touch on some of these things. Now, maybe we could give examples of capitalism. That would be better. An example of capitalism would be my father. All right? My father is a carpenter, a very good carpenter. But my father does not have any capital. Capital is money. But there happens to be a rich white man who has a lot of money. Now he probably stole the money in order to accumulate it since he and my father both came into the world having no money,^{or}/having no capital. So you see if he's got more capital than my father he had to have stolen because otherwise they would all have the same amount. But he comes in having this money. He then says to my father, I want to build a house. My father builds the house. He pays my father about $40 or $50 a week. He then sells the house for $25,000 and makes all the profit. My father has nothing to show for his sweat except the fact that he can say I built that house. The same is true of my mother who is a maid. She has nothing to show except to say, I raised those children and I was, or am, a part of the family, although I ^{never} understood how.

Now then, the highest stage of capitalism is imperialism. The United States is an imperialist country. Imperialism means that this country goes to other poorer countries, takes the resources of those countries, brings them here, develops them, and then sells them back to the countries at a high rate of profit. Let me give you a concrete example. Let us take one of the most revolutionary countries in the world today. The little island of Cuba. When the United States controlled Cuba they used to get all the sugar from Cuba. They would have the Cuban people pick the sugar cane. They would pay them 40 cents a day. They would bring the sugar cane into the United States, manufacture sugar, then sell it back to the Cubans for a high price, so that all the money again was staying inside the United States. That's basically the _____ of an imperialist society, and we have to understand that we're fighting those two things, racism and imperialism. Racism and imperialism, they are both our fight. What then is our goal? Well, our goal is a society free of racism. Whether or not we will be able to have a society free of racism with white people in it is a question which has not yet been resolved, although many people seem to think it can come about, and many people say you can't have it until you separate, etc. etc. But certainly that is one of the goals that we must have, a society free of racism. Now I'm^{not} sure I have any solutions on it, I don't know if anybody else has, but I think it's something we have to work on. But one thing is going to be clear, there is going to be a society free of racism or there will be no society and that has been resolved.

We should not be applauding when things sound bad anymore because all the bad things have been said by either RAP BROWN, HUEY P. NEWTON, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, BOBBY SEALE, or somebody. What we need today is the things that are going to help us move forward not the bad things, we done told them that we converted _____ and we done it. What else can we show them. We have to show them that we can build a revolutionary struggle. And that means hard work and not just _____ at what sounds good. O.K. We need a society that's free of capitalism. Capitalism is an economic system. There are basically three economic systems in the world today: capitalism, socialism, or communism. Since we cannot have capitalism we need either socialism or communism. Clear. Crystal clear. There's no need to run from it. No need to run from communism or socialism. Most of us do not know anything about it and we are afraid of what we do not know. What we do know is that we live in a capitalist society, it has imprisoned us, and we can no longer have it. So we've got to break out of it, and we must look to other places and see what type of economic systems they have _____ and where it has been able to work. Now the question that's uppermost in our minds as black people is whether or not inside a communist or socialist society you will automatically eliminate racism. Many people claim so, many people claim not. I tend to think that just because one has socialism or communism does not necessarily mean you get rid of racism, and so I tend to believe that black people will have to move beyond the system other than socialism and communism.

O.K. Now we get to some of the meat of the talk. We want to begin to define _____ the terms that are being thrown around very loosely. We are not _____ a revolution because a revolution only begins when you have these powers and begin to change the system. Let me give you an example. FIDEL CASTRO fought in the _____ for a number of years, that's in the mountains. That was not the revolution. The Cuban Revolution began when FIDEL CASTRO walked into Havana and _____ and ran.

When FIDEL CASTRO said this government belongs to me for the people, that's when the revolution began because then he began to change the entire system. For us black people our revolution will never come about until we have seized some territory inside the United States, blocked it off, are able to maintain it, hold it, and say this is our property, we will now divide it among all of the people that live here, then the revolution begins.

Then what precedes the revolution? We are in the stage that precedes the revolution, or we're beginning the stage that precedes the revolution. That stage is called armed struggle. Armed struggle is when you engage in armed conflict against the enemy for the people. And that's what we are moving into now more and more. And as we move more and more in armed conflict against the enemy, we will begin to see clearer and clearer who exactly our oppressors are. And we must begin to understand that. So we can't just be talking about we in a revolution. We are beginning armed struggle. It is important because we've got to define then what a revolutionary is. Many people think that merely because they pick up a gun they are revolutionaries. That is not true. Many black people think because they pick up a gun that makes them revolutionaries. That is not true. We have a lot of brothers who have guns in Vietnam and they are not revolutionaries because they're killing Vietnamese. So just picking up a gun does not make you a revolutionary. The question is then, what makes you a revolutionary? In order to be a revolutionary you've got to pick up a gun. Understand that. Before you can even talk revolution you've got to be willing to kill, not just to die, but kill; because sometimes it's much easier to die than ^{it is} to kill. And when you pick up the gun, you've got to be willing to kill. Once you're willing to kill for your people then you begin to talk about revolution. Then you begin to talk about what a revolution really is. With gun in hand, once you have a ideology which says you're fighting basically for the masses of our people, then you can begin to say you are revolutionary. Too many of our people pick up guns and the beginning of _____ political groups start fighting each other saying that this one is stopping the revolution, that one is behind the revolution, that one is counter-revolutionary, this one is that kind of revolutionary. There ain't nothing revolutionary about one of those groups, niggers _____ shoot at niggers. Nigger. Ain't nothing revolutionary about that. Nothing. Nothing. Nothing. And I want you to begin to understand that before we even get on to an armed struggle against our oppressors. We we will be wasted and we cannot be wasted if we intend to build a real revolutionary struggle in this country.

Now then, there are two types of violence. I don't think we any longer need to discuss violence. Don't even waste our time with it. There can be no other solution for us but the gun. There can be no other solution for black people but the gun. That is clear. That is clear. And the party will say it over and over again, get guns, get guns, get guns, get guns. Get 'em any way you can. There are three ways you get anything; you work for it, you beg for it, or you take it. Just get 'em. Either work for it, beg for it, or take it. But we need guns. Get the guns. So we don't have to argue about that today. We don't have to argue why we need guns. If the Czechoslovakians talking bad _____ if they had guns they wouldn't be where they were today. But they were talking bad without guns. And the Russians ----- that when they got ready they showed them who really was the master. And we cannot let ourselves fall into that trap. We've got to have those guns so that when they come down on us we're going to blow them away. That's what we have to get them for so we don't even have to argue about that.

Now, people have proven a _____ to fight. They have proven a revolutionary consciousness. When a people move in a revolutionary consciousness they begin to attack in different levels three things: the first is the _____ symbols of oppression; the second is the tools of oppression; and then the final phase is the oppressor himself. Our people, whether we recognize it or not, have attacked the symbols of oppression. The symbols of oppression happen to be the _____ stores, the stores in our community that exploit us and take advantage of us. They were the first ones that we can teach. That's why we burned them out, looted them, gutted them, and will continue to do that. We now move to the second level. This is very important, because the second level is the tools of the oppressor. I think that this is where HUEY P. NEWTON becomes very important because he was one of the first to begin to move on that level. He said very clearly that the police represented the occupied forces in our community, the police is the tool of the oppressor. If we're now on the second level, we're moving against the tool of the oppressor. We're moving against the pigs. That's who the tools of the oppressor is. But in order to begin that move we have to be very conscious. That move is a move that is now geared to clear armed struggle. Now there's very different forms of armed struggle. The one who taught us the best was brother MALCOLM X. He says, I don't remember the quote exactly but it says in essence, every time you see a white man who's come back, a Frenchman who comes from Indo-China, he shakes. Anytime you see a white man who's come back from Algeria, he shakes. Every time you see a white man who's come back from a war where there's been guerrilla warfare, he's got the shakes, because the white man cannot deal with guerrilla warfare. That's Brother MALCOLM X. And if we had been reading Brother MALCOLM X the way we supposed to be reading him instead of being happy and clapping at the things he said bad, we would have recognized a long time ago where we should have been moving and we would have been ready today, and we have to be today not just listening to people who sound bad and clap, but listening to the direction in which we're going. The direction becomes important today. It's no longer the cat who talks the badest. It's the cat who has the correct ideology that we must follow. Because everybody is bad today. Everybody. Ask the Uncle Toms on TV. Two years ago they used to be Uncle Toms. Today they talking about my black brothers and _____ unkie, and I say wowee wow, they make me sound like an Uncle Tom. You know. So it's not any longer a question of who sounds militant, who sounds mean, who sounds bad. It's a question of who has the correct ideology. The correct political mind for our people, and that's what we must begin to sift through. Brother MALCOLM X is absolutely correct, guerrilla warfare is the answer.

Now, guerrilla warfare means a lot of things. In order to have a guerrilla warfare you must have the support of the masses of the people. You must have it. You cannot move unless you have the support of the masses of the people because the guerrilla will need to live and sustain himself off the masses of people. This becomes especially crucial for black people because we live in the cities. You can't go out there and start no war if you don't have food for people. Because no matter how revolutionary you are, if you can't eat you can't fight. That means that we can't start open conflict with the man for a number of reasons. He out numbers us. But he can cut off our supply of food. We cannot grow food in the cities even if we _____, but if you have guerrilla warfare going on and you have support from the masses of people, the guerrilla can always be moving around, will always be fed, will always be hidden, and will always be taken care of. That's why it is important that we have the support of the masses of our people. Then how do you get the support of the masses of our people? We get it number 1 by beginning to appeal to them, to show to them and to explain to them the necessity for a revolution. We do not do it by yelling and screaming and shouting and fighting and beating them into it. You can't do that.

_____ that the people follow you for one of two reasons. Either they love you or they fear you. We want our people to love us because then they'll never turn on us. If they fear us they will turn on us. That's why the concept of undying love is so important for black people. It becomes a total necessity, a binding force that can create the revolution. Very important.

Now, I'm so nervous about the time, you know, because I know that the people have to get up in the morning and go to work.

All right. We want to talk about how black people then can begin to move. But before we do that, we want to examine the roles of liberals because that's very important. It's very important because the roles of liberals have always been basically two in history. Number 1, the liberal always wants to avoid confrontation at any cost between the left and the right or between what he would call the two extremists. For example, the job of the white liberal in the United States is to stop a confrontation between black people and white people. The reason that they can stop us from stopping the confrontation is because the liberal enjoys the system in which he lives. He enjoys it. The liberal is differentiated from other people who enjoy the system only by what he says. Only by his philanthropic feelings. Only by his moral values. Other than that, he is no different from the Burchites because they both make a whole lot of money, most of them have a _____, they still go for the same, and enjoy the same, and oppose the same racist institutions of the society. Their job is essentially one -- stop the confrontation at any _____. Now the mistake the liberal always makes is that the liberal is so busy trying to stop the confrontation they never build up power themselves, and while the right is building power and while the left is building power, they're busy trying to stop everybody and they usually get crushed in the middle. Crushed in the middle. If the liberals are going to be intelligent, then they must build power. For a number of reasons. It is the liberal that says to the black man, you don't need guns. But it is the liberal who is incapable of delivering the goods. Everytime. White folk will tell us all the time, you don't need guns. Don't shoot. There's a better way. We say O.K., show us how. They know there's a better way but they're incapable of showing us how. They're incapable because they have no power. And they have no power because they need no power. They need no power because they enjoy the crumbs of the system. And so while the right wing is arming, we have to arm. We have to arm, and we will arm. And we will, if we have to, move over the liberals, because they are the ones who drug us to sleep. They are the ones who tell us not to arm. They are the ones who tell us we don't need guns while the right wing arms. It is also a fact that the liberal always talks to the powerless group rather than to the powerful group. The liberal looks to a RAP BROWN, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, HUEY P. NEWTON, and says, don't tell your people to arm, but they never look to GEORGE WALLACE and say don't tell your people to arm, and GEORGE WALLACE continues to have his people arming while they try to convince us not to arm. We cannot afford to fail because of the liberals. There is another reason which is particularly important for this country. In this country there are basically two parties, the Democratic and the Republican Party. Now the difference is none, absolutely none, because in the Republican Party you have rich people and poor people; in the Democratic Party you have rich people and poor people. In the Republican Party you have white people, black people; in the Democratic Party you have white people, black people, maybe to a lesser extent, but none the less, the basic platform of the party is always the same. I will tell you why. You cannot have in a political party people who are different economic standings, different economic groups, because they don't represent each other. If I'm making $3 a day, I can't be in the same party with BOBBY KENNEDY who is making a million dollars a day off of my sweat. We've got to be in different parties because we're going to be fighting for different things. I'm going to be fighting for more money for me. KENNEDY will be fighting for more money for him, which means less money for me. If I fight for more money, it's going to mean less money for KENNEDY. The mistake all the liberals make is that they tell us political equality means everything. That's not true. Political equality doesn't mean anything unless you have economic equality. And that's been the mistake that black people have been believing for all these years. And that is why the liberal never comes from the same economic standing as black people. It seems to me the most liberal people in this country should be poor white people because they would join the fight for economic equality. But the liberals in this country are rich. They are people who can afford the luxury of being liberal. They do not come from the same economic standing as black people. So we black people have to recognize we're fighting for economic equality. We're fighting for the redistribution of land in this country. That means that when a black man gets up he's got to talk about, ROCKEFELLER's got all that money, we want some. We're not asking, we're taking. Unless the white people can get up and say the same thing, we can't use him because we've got to talk about concrete things, land, economy, a way to feed and build a nation. But unless we have these things, we talk with the liberals on the abstracts, freedom, equality, justice, but it's not concrete, it's not tangible. As black people we have a responsibility to ourselves and to our ancestors and to our generations to come to be concrete. We can no longer talk abstractly about freedom, justice, love, and all that nonsense. We gotta tell them exactly what we mean. We want _____ have to tell them and we/how we expect to get it. ROCKefeller got so much _____ take it from

and divide it up. That's right. END.

At a meeting at the Manzanita Center sponsored by the Peace and Freedom Party and the Black Panther Party, (BPP) STOKELY CARMICHAEL was introduced by GEORGE GAINES, captain of the New Marin City chapter of the BPP, as the prime minister of the BPP. CARMICHAEL opened his remarks by saying that there was no point in discussing freeing HUEY NEWTON. He said that HUEY NEWTON is our minister of defense and that he is a prisoner of war and that they will do what is necessary to free him. carif

CARMICHAEL, in his address, said that society in this country must be free of racism and that the Panther Party is out to destroy racism and that it cannot afford to fail. CARMICHAEL said that capitalism has failed in this country, inasmuch as it enslaved and that he does not know whether they could survive under socialism or communism and they might have to go beyond those systems to eliminate racism. CARMICHAEL said that the black people have to fight as they have no place to run and he said that the other people are going to come down hard on the black people. He stated that either the capitalistic society must be destroyed or we must be destroyed.

CARMICHAEL discussed the various stages of revolution and stated that in order to be a revolutionary, a Negro has to be willing to pick up a gun and kill and that includes killing Negroes if that is required. He said that this requires a gun, that there is no solution but a gun, and he advised those in the audience to get a gun so they would be prepared when the time comes. He also said that the black community must be willing to fight guerilla warfare as the whites cannot cope with this kind of a war and such a war could go on for 20 years and such guerilla warfare must have the support of the united black community.

CARMICHAEL in his talk said that they are now in their second stage in the path towards revolution and this stage is the educational stage which black people are moving towards revolution. CARMICHAEL stated that their ultimate aim is to secure a portion of the United States which they would govern and redistribute the land. He said they have actually not left the stage of revolution and cited FIDEL CASTRO's revolution in Cuba and stated you have a revolution when you take over the government. He said in CASTRO's Cuba, CASTRO gave them the choice of joining his revolution or leaving the country or being shot if they opposed him. He said that he mentioned in his talk that in Vietnam every time an American is killed, that is one less they have to take care of.

CARMICHAEL in his talk said that the revolution would not be easy and that some times it is far easier to die than to keep on living and keep the fight going. He also stated that white liberals have to make up their minds as to whether they are going to continue talking or whether they are going to help in this fight or they will have to get out of the way.

The newly organized Marin City chapter of the Black Panther Party (BPP) and the Marin County chapter of the BPP sponsored a meeting at the Manzanita Center, Marin City, California, where STOKELY CARMICHAEL, Prime Minister of the BPP, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, Minister of Information, his wife KATHLEEN, BOBBY SEALE, Chairman of the BPP, and AL LOWRY of Homestead Valley, Marin County of the Peace and Freedom Party spoke. There were other officials of the BPP on the stage. The master of ceremonies who introduced the speakers and recited several poems was GEORGE GAINES, the head of the Marin City chapter of the BPP.

CALIF

The first speaker was AL LOWRY of the Peace and Freedom Party who stated that we live in a racist society and that the black people are oppressed and this must change and there will be no peace until there is freedom and that it is the duty of the Peace and Freedom Party to show the white community that this is the situation.

The next speaker was BOBBY SEALE, the chairman of the BPP who discussed all of the black party's ten point program and during the course of the speech, stated that they would use guns to fight for their liberty and survival. In discussing guns he stated that the Negroes should arm themselves with shotguns and they should keep them in their homes and that they are going to use double ought buckshot, which he described as being the size of nine .32 caliber bullets. He said they would use this when the pigs came into their homes and brutalized Negroes. He mentioned that the BPP must have an army to defend its program and in general discussed this program which concerned employment for black people and education excluded them from military service and freeing them from prison.

KATHLEEN CLEAVER, in her remarks, said that if HUEY NEWTON was not set free, the sky was the limit. She said that the NEWTON trial is merely an educational process in which they are showing the establishment the condition of the black people. She stated that there was no question they were going to get HUEY NEWTON out. KATHLEEN CLEAVER discussed the history of the Negroes in this country and oppression, and during the course of her remarks, used profanity.

ELDRIDGE CLEAVER spoke as the presidential nominee of the Peace and Freedom Party and said that it really is amazing that he is an exconvict on parole and has been nominated for the presidency. He said that there is wide dissent and upset in the United States and that the Negroes are fighting for survival and said they could not stand four more years of what they have under the present administration.

CLEAVER stated he wanted JERRY RUBIN, head of the Yippies, as his vice presidential nominee and said he would work to have him nominated to run on his ticket.

CLEAVER ridiculed Governor RONALD REAGAN and State Superintendent of Public Instruction MAX RAFFERTY.

In connection with RAFFERTY, CLEAVER stated he had been asked to appear the next day at the University of California in Berkeley to protest the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, but stated that when he found out MAX RAFFERTY was protesting the same thing, he would not come out and protest the same things that RAFFERTY would.

The following news item appeared in the "Independent Journal", San Rafael, California, August 23, 1968, under the by line of FRANK FARRARA:

"ARMS CALL BY CARMICHAEL AT MARIN CITY PANTHER RALLEY

"Uprising Only Way Out, Asserts Leader

"STOKELY CARMICHAEL, prime minister of the Black Panther Party for Self Defense, last night saw the United States 'on the brink' of a black revolution.

"Black people in the U.S. are colonized and have to break out of a capitalistic society which is oppressive, he told an audience of about 500 persons at the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

"He issued a call to arms and predicted a long hard fight, 'a fight of a generation,' during which black people will have to integrate fighting into their way of life.

"'We have to fight. There is no place to run,' CARMICHAEL said. 'Even if we didn't want to fight they are going to kill us,' he said.

"CARMICHAEL foresaw a gloomy future for black people in the U.S. saying 'They are going to come down on us. There is no need for us in this society anyway.'

"There is no use for labor anymore and black people 'have been stored . . . that's welfare', he said. 'They can't sell us and they don't want to take care of that storage bill anymore.'

"In the style of a college lecturer, CARMICHAEL outlined the steps toward revolution and said the goal is a society free of racism.

"Whether there can be a society free of racism with white people in it hasn't been resolved, and 'I'm not sure I have any solutions,' he said.

"There is going to be such a society or there will be no society, he warned. The capitalistic-imperialistic society must be destroyed 'or we must be destroyed . . . one of the two' he said.

"The blacks are now in the a revolution, CARMICHAEL explained. 'We are now beginning the armed stage and we'll see clearly who the oppressors are.'

To make yourself a revolutionary, you've 'got to pick up a gun and be willing to kill,' he contended, willing to kill 'one of your people' if necessary.

"There can be no other solution for you but the gun . . . get the guns,' he advised. 'So when they come down on us, we'll blow them away.'

"CARMICHAEL explained the stages of attack are against the symbols of oppression, then the tools of oppression and finally against the oppressor himself.

"He said 'the white man cannot deal with guerrilla warfare.'

"Guns only, however, is not the answer, he said. The revolution must have the support of masses of the people so guerrilla fighters can have food, clothing and shelter.

"The black community must be unified, and 'we can't have fights in the black community because we can only carry on one battle at a time,' he advised.

"We have to think about being serious. It's not just yelling "Burn, Baby, Burn" and letting it go at that, he said.

"But, he noted, there is a question whether socialism or communism would automatically eliminate racism.

"The Black Panther Party for Self Defense is 'out to destroy racism and racists,' he explained. 'We cannot afford to fail.'

"CARMICHAEL warned that a revolution is "hard going . . . and it's much easier to die than live and continue working. You live to kill . . . and a lot are going to die . . . think of those already dead . . . and you might see blood in the streets.'

"Concerning the role of white liberals, CARMICHAEL said it will be up to them to decide. The liberals have no power 'because they need no power,' and there is no difference between the two major political parties, the Republicans and Democrats, he said.

"He said the Black Panther Party for Self Defense is 'at war' because its Secretary of Defense HUEY P. NEWTON is a 'prisoner of war' and the party will do what it can to free him.

On August 23, 1968, Special Agents of the FBI observed the Subject arrive at the Alameda County Courthouse Oakland, California, accompanied by four other individuals. Visitors records of the Alameda County Jail reflect that the Subject registered as a visitor of HUEY P. NEWTON in the jail.

On August 24, 1968, a Special Agent of the FBI observed the Subject accompanied by three Negro males board PSA Flight 130 at San Francisco International Airport en route to Los Angeles, California, at 11:00 a.m.

On August 26, 1968, [] advised that this source attended a "Free Huey Rally" at De Fremery Park, Oakland, California on August 25, 1968, and heard and recorded a speech made by the Subject. This source advised the Subject was introduced as Prime Minister of the BPP. Source was surprised at statements the Subject made which indicate to this source that he was espousing revolution and the overthrow of the US Government. From memory and notes taken this source stated that CARMICHAEL said, "Black revolution is entering a period of armed struggle." "In order to become a revolutionary you must pick up a gun." "A revolutionary is someone willing to kill for a change for the masses of the people." "There will be three levels of attack, the symbols of oppression the tools of oppression and the people themselves."

The symbols of oppression are, "We Burn the store out." "The police represent the tools of oppression." "Then we go to the oppressors themselves." "Seize power and then comes the revolution."

"Guerrilla warfare is where you've got to go. Wait until the sun goes down and then it's even-steven. Guerrilla warfare because you cannot fight a military force superior to you. Guerrilla warfare--you don't kill to die, you kill to live and you're always forced underground because they break and destroy all groups above ground."

"Police are to keep things as they are." "By necessity the police force is going to increase its harassment. We must be prepared for that." "Don't wear a black jacket unless you're ready to kill."

provided the recording this source made of the Subject's speech. The Subject's speech was transcribed and is as follows:

Ladies and gentlemen, brothers and sisters (louder, louder), brothers, everywhere, we want to take time out day and speak at length about a number of things, we want to repeat basically the things that were said down at across the bay on Thursday night at Marin. We want to expand a little. Now the speech today is not going to be a rough talk, go get em speech. I think that we need something beyond that. We want and try and define a lot of the terms that the party uses and try and put them into prospective so that all of us can understand what we are talking about. It is necessary for us to be militant and to fight and to be revolutionaries but it is not sufficient unless our understanding is going to match our badness. We are bad we know that. So we must move beyond being bad. Now to begin for about 10 months now when we started the campaign for brother Huey, we have been saying Free Huey. If Huey is not free the sky is the limit, so not only does the bay area know this not only does the United States of America know this, but the entire world knows this. clapping. We have a Minister of Education in and our Captain from New York in Havana, Cuba right now and they have release through the world press through friends in Argentina and through Radio Peking the facts that if Brother Huey is not set free the sky is the limit. Since we know that there is no need for us to continue to talk about it, everybody knows it, the party is well organized, the sky will cave in if Huey P. Newton is not set free. clapping.

And there needs to be no justification for that. We say that Huey P. Newton is a prisoner of war and many people say that that's not true or that the party is exaggerating. I think it's clear, it's crystal clear that the United States has declared war on (intelligible) people, she did that when she took the first black man from Africa. Now of course she never said so in words and some people expect for her to come out and say I declare war on black people, but now the United States to this day has not declared war on the (intelligible) Vietnam, they have not declared war in North Korea, but they fought in North Korea and they did not declare war on the Indians, they just wiped them out, so we must define our condition, we are at war. Minister of Defense is our leader he is in jail, he is a prisoner of war, we must get him by any name necessary if we cannot get him, we must, we must retaliate. period. clapping. Now they're some other things we want to talk about today are very difficult for us to grasp we in the party have been working more and more with the concept, there are no contradictions within the party, the party works as the Minister of Information says on the principle of unity, discussion, unity, so we want to make that clear. Now we're going to talk about colonizing America, black people inside America. We've already established the fact that we are colonized people. Now when the colonized people move to fight against the oppressor, there are two levels of which we can move. First we must move like the rocket fleet(?) That is to say we must prepare ourselves psychologically to think that our oppressor is not as bad as he says he is and that's important. And we've been doing that for the last two years, for example five(?) of the last two years, even tho we've hated the police department we would be afraid to get up publicly and say the pigs ought to be killed, we were afraid to do that and psychologically we are afraid, but today we are no longer psychologically afraid of our oppressors, not only are we not afraid of him psychologically, we are to find for ourselves not only our own beauty, but our own state of political, economic and cultural affairs, so that we have started the psychological battle, we are winning on that battle and time now to move on to exact and correct, facing correct political ideology and the correct tactic in order to win and that's where we are today. Now then on those two levels, when you begin to psychologically prepare yourselves, we call that entertainment

What we were doing in the last two years was entertaining ourselves, we were telling ourselves that we were bad, the honkies couldn't look that bad, he wasn't worth it, we could take him, we could burn, baby burn, we were xxxxxx entertaining ourselves. Today we must move from entertaining ourselves and we must begin to educate ourselves, so we're moving on a different level today. We're moving on the level of education. Now on that level we have to ask ourselves what is our fight. xxxxxx Now our fight is xxxxxx.
We are fighting against racism and we're fighting against

And we must understand that. clapping. But now we must define our term, we must define the term racism. What is a racist and what is racism. Racism is when one race decides to brutalize, oppress and subjugate another race of people, solely because of their race. That's not Webster's dictionary, after all we want to be able to have a working definition rather than a definition from Webster's dictionary. We can give examples to support our definition. If Jewish people decide because they are Jewish people, they are superior to the Spanish people and they subjugate, oppress and brutalize Spanish people, then the Jewish people are acting in a racist manner. If Portuguese people decided because they were Portuguese, they had the right to oppress and suppress Arab people, then the Portuguese people are acting within a racist manner and they are racist. If White people decide, because of their color, they have the right to subjugate, brutalize black people because we are black they are acting in a racist manner and they are, in fact, racist. So, we must understand that. Now, if the people who are subjugated to racism decide to overthrow the racists then they are not acting in a racist manner nor are they reverse racists. They are moving to wipe out racism, and if they are moving to wipe out the group that acts in a racist manner they can never be called reverse racists. So, black ^{shall} people/cannot and will not defend their position when they move against racism. We are anti-racists, period. That's who we move against, racist people, period.

Now we want to talk about capitalism and imperialism.

I think in defining capitalism we run into a lot of problems, because it takes so long to define it. CARL MARX wrote a book entitled "Das Capital" which is some five (hundred?) pages talking about capitalism. Essentially we can say that in a capitalist society capital, which is money, is the prime motive and the profit motive which is the gaining of more money is what runs above everything else. That's not too good a definition, but perhaps it is the best we can do for now, as we begin to clarify more and more our position. Now, lets give some examples of capitalism, because that's perhaps much better to understand than the definitions itself.

My father was a carpenter, a very good carpenter. Now, there was a white man who lived up town somewhere. He had a lot of capital--money. He would come to my father and say: I want you to build me a house. My father would build him the house; he would pay my father fifty dollars a week. When my father was finished building the house, he would sell the house for twenty-five thousand dollars and keep the money himself. Therefore, he was a capitalist. He was exploiting the labor of my father.

Black people in this country suffer from capitalism. Our labor is exploited. We do the work and other people walk away with the money. That's what capitalism is all about. We have to understand that. (applause). We have to understand that because what they are doing today is they are trying to tell us that our solution is that we should be called black capitalists. And if we understand that capitalism is what we are fighting against we will never become that which we have to fight against. That's what NIXON is talking about black capitalism. All he is saying is he wants, instead of a white man exploiting my father he wants a black man to do it, so that when the fight comes I'm going to have to be fighting a black man rather than having the lines drawn the way they are today. So, we've got to understand that. Got to understand that. (applause) Now, then, we want to define imperialism. Imperialism is the highest stage of capitalism. That is not only (unintelligible) is reached when a country exploits another country. Capitalism is when people inside a country exploits people inside that country. Again, these definitions are not very clear because we are trying to work them so they fit our situation. So, we have to ask you to forgive us if they are not clear. Perhaps, as we move along in the next few months, they will become much more clear.

Let me give an example of imperialism. When the United States of America controlled the brave island of Cuba, the Cubans used to grow sugar cane. Now, the Cubans would take this sugar cane. White America would pay them forty cents a day, take the sugar cane, bring it into the United States, make sugar out of it, then sell it back to the Cubans for a profit. So, they were exploiting the entire Cuban people. The United States does this all over the World: Asia, Africa, Latin America, and black people inside the United States. Now, we must begin to understand those terms, and that's very, very important. If they are not clear, then we must do more reading and have more discussions with our people so we being to understand those terms clearly--crystal clear in our minds they must become. Otherwise, we will end up waging the wrong fight and losing the battle. You can fight, but if you're fighting the wrong thing you can't win. You can't win. If I'm playing football with somebody and a cat on the field and a cat on the bench, I'm now playing football against another team, and there are some people standing outside the field and the other football team runs them down, they may run over them, they can't win the game because they are not running against me. So, we have to understand who we are running against. We just can't run. We just can't fight.

We've got to understand who we're fighting against. If we say that's what we are fighting against, we must then define what our goals are. What we want. What we want two things. We want a society free of racism, and we want a society that is not a capitalistic society. Now, in the economy systems of the World there are basically three. Capitalism, Socialism and Communism. If we can't have capitalism, then we must want one of the other two: Socialism or Communism. We should not be afraid of those terms; we must begin to try and understand just what they mean. Now, our problem is that we do not think that Socialism and Communism, from the Western World, will fit black people; that is to say, merely because America becomes a socialist or communist state does not necessarily mean they do away with racism. So, that we will continually have to push and fight for a state, not only free of capitalism but also free of racism. And for us racism will always be primary because we are black, because we are black. Now, then, we want to begin to define some of the terms that are thrown around loosely. Terms like "revolution", terms like "armed struggle", "revolutionary violence", "counter-revolutionary violence", "defensive violence", "black militants", "black revolutionaries", and "black nationalism".

Now it is important for us to understand the word "revolution", because the word is thrown around so loosely that none of us know what it means. We are not now in the midst of a black revolution. Revolution means that total overthrow of the system.

But revolution never begins until you seize power. You've got to seize power. Once you seize power the revolution begins, because you can change things as you see fit. Let me give you an example. FIDEL CASTRO fought in the Sierra Maestras for several years. But while FIDEL and his boys were fighting they were not engaged in the revolution. When they took the city of Havana, when they took the City of Havana, they ran the (pizza) and the American lackeys out, then the revolution began. When FIDEL CASTRO said: Today this country belongs to the masses of Cubans. That's when the revolution began, because then he could do what he wanted with the country. We have to understand that, because if they throw the terms around about black revolution, we'll never get anywhere.

Now what is the period that comes before a revolution? The period coming before a revolution is called "armed struggle". That's what we are beginning to get engaged in in this country. Armed struggle is when the forces of the masses are fighting against the political structure, the powers that be, their schools, the police force, the occupied forces, to overthrow the government. So, we must be clear. We are beginning to become involved in the state of armed struggle. Armed struggle. Once we have seized power, then the revolution begins. So, we have to be clear in our minds about these terms. Now, we also want to talk about "black militancy". There's a difference between black militant and a black revolutionary.

A black militant is someone who is angry at the white society, but wants to become part of white society. A black revolutionary wants to overthrow, destroy, and re-struct (ph) new society. And we have to be clear in our minds. There are a lot of black militants running around this country; there are few black revolutionaries running the country, and we have to understand that term. You see black nationalists all the time. They get up on TV today and they talk about "We'll burn your city down, if you don't give us a poverty program", you know. They use anger and the frustration of the masses of people to benefit themselves. That's a black militant. A black revolutionary says, "We got to change the system for all of our people, and until the system is changed the struggle will continue." There can be no compromise with a revolutionary. With a militant there can always be compromises and sell-outs. We have to understand that. in our minds as we move along.

Now we want to talk about revolutionary violence and counter-revolutionary violence. Revolutionary violence is the violence that is used to destroy the status quo. That is acting and preceding and leading to a revolution. Counter-revolutionary violence is that violence which is used maintain the status quo. For example, the police department is a counter-revolutionary force, because it wants to keep things the way it is. The American forces in Vietnam are a counter-revolutionary force, because they want to keep things the way they are. A revolutionary force would be a force fighting to change the status quo for the benefit of the masses of the people. The Black Panther Party is a revolutionary force, because it is fighting to change the system for the masses of our people. The Viet Cong is a revolutionary force, because they are fighting to change the structure of Vietnam for the masses of their people. And we have to be clear in those terms. Now, then, the final term. What is a revolutionary? A revolutionary is someone who is willing to kill, to bring about the change for the masses of the people. That's the revolutionary. Notice I did not say someone who is willing to die, but rather someone who is willing to kill, because just willing to die don't make you a revolutionary. It makes you stupid and a martyr. (applause). I saw those white cats in Czechoslovakia lay in front of tanks. They not revolutionaries; they are stupid. They want to do something, shoot the Russians. Don't lay don't in front of their tanks. Kill the Russians, take your country and then do with it what you want, if you're revolutionary. But, now, a lot of people get confused with revolutionary, because just because you pick up a gun doesn't make you a revolutionary. Cats understand that. A lot of our brothers have guns; they are fighting in Vietnam; they are not revolutionary, they are counter-revolutionary. So, just because you pick up a gun you're not revolutionary. But in order to become revolutionary you must pick up the gun. And once you pick up the gun armed with the correct political ideology, fighting for the benefit of the masses of our people, then you become a revolutionary. And we have to understand those terms in our minds. I know this speech is more boring than the other speeches, but I think this one is more important than the others. (applause)

Now, then, when a people begin to move in a revolutionary form there are three levels of attack. First, they attack the symbols of oppression. Second, they attack the tools of the oppressor; and, thirdly, they attack the oppressor himself. Now, our people have shown that they are moving in a revolutionary fashion. We have demonstrated that. The burning of stores represents the burning of the symbols of oppression. It is the first person that we contact on a day to day level that oppresses us--our nearby store owner, grocery store. They sell us rotten goods for highest prices; they insult our dignity; they are the symbols of oppression. So, we burn them out. Now we move against the tools of the oppressor. The tools of the oppressor are those things that the oppressor employs to keep us oppressed. The police force represents the tools of these oppressors, and consciously our people around this country are moving against the police force. They will not tell you about it on television, but just because you don't hear about it on television don't assume it's not happening. It's happening all over the country, but because it's more serious, they cannot put it on television. And that should be the sign of how serious we are, because when we were just playing, they put it on TV, and they used to laugh. But it's becoming serious, they cannot laugh any more, so they do not put it on television. We've got to understand that. We've got to understand that. then, once we have(moved) and got to the tools of oppression, then we go to the oppressor himself, seize power and we begin the revolution. Now, as we move towards the steps of seizing power, there are a lot of political movements that we make. We have to make those political movements because they are, at that time, a political necessity, and if that's what we have to do that's what we will do. For example, the coalition with the Peace and Freedom Party to help to get the publicity for brother HUEY P. NEWTON and the freeing of HUEY P. NEWTON, was a political necessity. And we have to try and understand those political necessities and work with them within that perspective, within that given perspective.

then,
Now/if we agree that the police force represents the tool of the oppressor, that we are moving against the tool of the oppressor, our question is "How fast can we move against the oppressor?". Now, this is very simple. Uh, when brother MALCOLM X was talking and when he was educating, a lot of us were not paying very close attention to him. We paid attention to brother MALCOLM when he entertained. When he said "We gonna wipe out the white man, we gonna go down with guns and shoot them up". And everybody said yes. But when he explained what had to be done nobody was listening. If we were listening we would know where we had to go today. Let me give you a quote from brother MALCOLM X. I don't remember it correctly, but it goes something like this: He says, "Show me a Frenchman who has fought in Indo China and I will show you a white man who's got the shakes; show me a Frenchman who's fought in Algeria, and I will show you a white man who's got the shakes". He continues: "As a matter of a fact, show me a white man who has fought in Asia or Latin America, where there has been guerrilla forces and I will show you a white man who's got the shakes". What brother MALCOLM was saying was clear. Guerrilla warfare is where you got to go. He said it, but we weren't listening to him in that time. We were listening to him when he was bad, not when he was (unintelligible), because we would understand that. And he is absolutely correct. He's absolutely correct. Brother MALCOLM says the essence of guerrilla warfare is you wait until the sun goes down and then it's even Steven, man for man. Man to man. Man to man. (laughter and applause). And if we were preparing for that today, we could be prepared for the state of guerrilla warfare. But since we were listening to entertainment, today we have to begin to educate ourselves. Guerrilla warfare. Guerrilla Warfare. Guerrilla warfare. Guerrilla warfare. Guerrilla warfare because you cannot fight an armed conflict with a force that is superior to you. Guerrilla warfare because the man does not who is doing what, when they are doing it, and he is forced to come down on the entire black community. Guerrilla warfare. We should have been listening to brother MALCOLM X. Guerrilla warfare because in a war you don't fight to die, you kill to live. You kill to live. You don't go out in the street and shoot up and down like a hero. You're dead. (applause) If you live you could kill fifty more tomorrow night; that's fifty less that we have to worry about. But you go out there too soon and die, you aint doing nobody no good. Guerrilla warfare is where we have to go. (applause) Guerrilla warfare is where. And if (ours) is the correct political ideology we begin to employ those-- We recognize where we must move. If we were reading brother HUEY P. NEWTON he explains very clearly. He said "In the beginning there are above-ground groups. These above-ground groups are always fought underground." It is clear, as it should be clear, in all our minds, that the man is moving to break up and destroy all groups that are above ground, that we are ^{going to be,} sooner or later, pushed underground. And unless we begin to prepare ourselves now, we will find our struggle set back. Our struggle can never be set back. Our motto must be "We must always move forward; we can never move back, nor will we ever stand still; we must move forward". And we have to have to understand that as our motto. (Fight) on, brother, (fight) on.

Now, we have to talk about the levels on which we move. We move on three levels. Now, before I do that I want to talk a little about the pigs and why it is a necessity that we begin to understand the war against them, because they will escalate their war against us. Their job is to keep things the way they are. That's what they call law and order. That's their job. And any time there are disruptive elements in the community their jobs is to destroy those disruptive elements. Therefore, by necessity, the police force is going to increase it's harrassment; it's going to increase its intimidation, and its going to increase its brutalization against us. We have to be prepared for that. If we are not prepared (then we're unprepared). Don't wear a black leather unless you are ready to kill, for they're ready to kill you. (applause) Don't wear it. Don't wear your hair natural unless you're ready, because they gonna call you a nigger agitator if your hair is natural. And you caint (fry) your hair, cause you're still a nigger and they don't trust you. (laughter) So, we have to prepare ourselves whether we like it or not. Now, as we move, we move on three levels, and we must move on those three levels: The political, the economical and the social or, as we call it, the cultural level. We have to constantly move on those three levels at the same time. We can never move on one and disregard the other two, or move on two and disregard the other one. We must always move on all three levels. Now, there has been some discussion that has developed in our community concerning the movement among the cultural nationalists. Many people feel that because they have now found out that they are black and beautiful, that they wear Afros and Digeles (ph) that they have won the battle. That is not true. Culture, like the gun, is necessary but not sufficient. Being a cultural nationalist is necessary but it is not sufficient. Having once begun to recognize our culture, which is needed as a cohesive force for our people, we now say "I recognize I am black and beautiful; I recognize my ancestral heritage in Africa, now let us begin the political and economical struggle. We have to do that. Too many times people stop at the cultural level. And the man wants us to stop at the cultural level, because the cultural level is no threat to his political or economic system. And if we intend to be free, we've got to move against his political and economic system, not just his cultural system. Now, he can put on (deep) black programs than the cultural nationalists are. He's got a program on Tuesday night called "A Black America" which is as black nationalist as you can get. So, he wants to take over the program of cultural nationalism. He wants to co-op the program, but he can never co-op our political or economic program, if we are moving against him. And that's what we have to understand.

Now, then, we want....(a baby cries and CARMICHAEL comments: They all look so bored. applause) I'm not very good at teaching, but I think we've got to stop entertaining. We've really got to do this type of work, even though it's hard we've got to do it. (applause) Got to. Got to. And we've got to take time out to do it now, because he's not going to let us have too many more rallies like these. What he's doing he's going to cut these rallies up and we won't be having that many of them. So, unless now that we have the chance we are able to begin to talk to each other about the correct political ideology, we will find ourselves quickly destroyed and our struggle stopped.

Now, we want to talk about the international implication of our struggle. And we must talk internationally because more and more we can move internationally against the man, because the United States is the greatest imperialist World power today. If that means she is an imperialist power, she has got to have people all over the world protecting her riches. The United States got to have faith in Latin America to protect all the resources that she steals from the people of Latin America. The United States has to have bases in Asia and Africa, because she has to protect the resources that she steals from Asia and Latin America.

Now, let me give you an example: The United States says that China is going to be their number one enemy and they must stop China. The Peoples Republic of China does not have one base outside of China. Not one-odd-ball base outside of China. The United States of America has twenty five hundred bases outside of the United States of America. Who is whose enemy and who is fighting who? How come China don't have no bases outside of China? How come Cuba don't have no bases outside of Cuba?

The United States got bases in Viet Nam. The Viet Nameese should have bases in the United States of America (applause). That's right! That's right! (applause). The United States has got a base in Cuba: Guantanamo base. The Cubans should have a naval base in the United States of America.

The United States has bases in Germany, in Africa, in Asia and Latin America. All of those countries should have bases in the United States of America. That's equality! (laughter and applause) Equality.(applause) Equality.(applause). And we've got to understand that. And we must understand this talk about Communism. The United States is not against communism. The United States wants to expand her power and conquer the World! And the one force that is stopping her is the People's Republic of China and the Black Panther Party, of course. (applause) And we must understand that expansionist theory of the United States. If the United States were against communism, Russia is communist. Russia hasn't been in Checzoslovakia.* Russia is spreading communism in Checzoslovakia.* (spelled to proximate his pronounciation). If the United States is against communism, let her invade Checzoslovakia and stop the Russians. Hey! Why not? Viet Nam? She says she invaded Viet Nam to stop the North Viet Nameese from coming into South Viet Nam. Why the Russians are doing the same thing in Checzoslovakia*. Go to Checzoslovakia and stop the Russians, LYNDON BAINES JOHNSON. (laughter and applause)

They will not go to Checzoslovakia* because they are not against communism, they want to expand their bases and they are not going to fight in Checzoslovakia because it is a white country! (Applause) Everybody wants to tell us that the Vietnamese war is not a racist war. Well if they are against communism, why don't they go ahead and fight in Checzoslovakia*? If I'm against my enemy, every time he moves I'm a gonna try and put him down. Why if they don't stop Checzoslovakia*, Russia might be allowed some gall (phonetic) tomorrow. The John Birch Society, the Klu Klux Klan, the Knights of America and the old women from the American daughters revolution. Go fight the Russians. And that should be our program- constantly push that. Whenever you get a chance, tell em. Go fight with Checzoslovakia*. We want you to stop communism. And lets see what their reaction will be. So, if we could get to understand the contradictions in the American system, then we will begin to educate ourselves. We have to understand Cuba. Now the little island of Cuba is one of the bravest islands in the World, and they don't play. They tell America in no uncertain terms that no matter what you do America, if you come in here, we're going to fight you. No matter how big you are America, we going to fight you. As a matter of fact, last year, when I was at the celebration, FIDEL CASTRO said, 'Let it be clear to America. This is an island. Where you invade, there is only water around us. There can be no retreat.' Yeah, and we have to say the same thing. Let it be clear, Pigs, that we are surrounded by southerners. There can be no retreat. We got to stand and fight where we are. (applause) Where we are. Where we are. Hell retreat. (applause)

And we should begin to encourage our people to travel to Cuba so that you can learn what the Cuban government is doing, how they are doing it; why they are doing it and begin to see what we can learn from them and apply to our situation. That's important. The American Government doesn't want anybody to travel to Cuba, to China, to North Korea, to North Vietnam and maybe to the Arab countries. They take passports as they see fit. They bundle people in Mexico and throw them on planes and send them back home as they see fit. So we have to tell them, the United States of America, LYNDON BAINES JOHNSON, DEAN RUSK, we will get our passports, we will go to China, Cuba, North Korea, North Vietnam, Algeria, Egypt, Syria, anywhere we want to go. You cannot stop us, we are men and we will go where we want to go. Period! Period! (applause).

They can't tell you where to go. He can give you a passport saying you cannot use this passport to go there. But if you are black, automatically they want you. You don't have to worry about that passport. And we're going to go! We've got to go to these countries because we've got to find out what is going on in these countries. The United States stopped us from going to China, Cuba, North Korea, North Viet Nam, Albania. They used to stop us from going to Russia. You can go now. It is important to note that the United States does not stop us from going through South Africa. You can go to South Africa if you've got an American passport and if you like to. I'll give you an Uncle Tom. But you can't go to any of the other countries. The United States says that she can't trade with Cuba, China, Vietnam, North Korea, but she allows people to trade with South Africa.

And then she says, well those are private people and we can't tell the private people how to trade, but they tell the private people not to trade with Cuba, China, North Vietnam and Korea. We must understand the contradictions in the world today. Now then the Black Panther Party has to go on record as moving beyond this phase of apology of we're not going to Vietnam. We have to move beyond that. Now then, we are not only going to fight in Vietnam, the Vietnamese are our comrades-in-arms. They are fighting against the United States of America. (applause) I'm against it. (applause). Anybody that fights against this country is an ally of us. The more they weaken that country, the better it is for us. If the South Vietnamese fight, the Viet Cong strikes a blow against the American Government and its forces in Vietnam, that makes us more powerful because it makes the United States weaker. When we strike a blow in the cities against the United States, its power structure and forces, the Viet Cong becomes stronger because we have weakened the United States. When the Viet Cong and the Black Panther- the black people in this country, with the Black Panther Party strikes a blow against the United States Government, the Arabs become stronger. Its a shot against world-wide imperialism. We have to understand these things. We must study them! We've got to study them! Because we can't no longer just run out and yell 'Burn baby, burn'. We've got to know how to burn baby, burn to live to burn, baby burn. And we have to know that when we burn, baby, burn, we going to come out better. Let me explain to you the difference between revolutionaries and people who just hope.

A man will get up and say 'I wish they would burn down this city' and he will yell "Burn, baby, burn". Then the people will burn it down. But then he doesn't have the forces to take over the city once its burned down. He hopes. A revolutionary plans. Once he burns the City down, he takes the City, seizes it and holds it and runs it the way he wants it run. That's a revolutionary! That's a revolutionary! (applause)

And that's where we have to go today. We cannot just be satisfied with saying "Burn", "Shoot", "Kill". We have to know who to shoot, who to kill, who to burn. Afterwards we've got to be able to seize the power, take it, hold it and give it to the masses of our people. Now we're talking revolution. (shouts of "that's right") And if you are talking revolution, you are talking about twenty four hours a day. You are talking about training, getting your guns, breaking them down at night when the guards-putting them together again, knowing a nine millemeter from a forty-five, from a forty-odd buck (phonetic) when you put it in your gun at night you can feel the sizes and tell which is which. You got to prepare to do that now, if you are talking about real revolution. You got to know that as well as you know the political ideology of the books that we must be reading, the works of Mao-Tse-Tung, the speeches of MAZCOMB X, CHE GUEVERRA, and BERNARD and HUEY B. NEWTON. You've got to read thos things, understand them and begin to apply them to our situation here. Got to do that and we've got to pick up the little black books by President QWAMI (phonetic) ENCOOMA (phonetic) and read that and understand it too.

That's beginning to talk about the coming revolutionaries. And as we begin to move our forces, we can begin to give solidarity pledges to those people, who internationally are fighting the United States as Cuba, as China and as the Arabs in the Arab world. We have to give them our solidarity pledges and begin to understand how we move with them against the United States of America. The time is fast coming when we won't have very much to say or very much to do. Our struggle is not going to be a quick or short struggle. It is going to be a long, involved and a difficult struggle. Its not going to be over in three southern, its not going to be over in five southern. The Vietnamese have been fighting for twenty-five years. Black people in this country can expect no less. Be prepared for struggle for at least twenty five years and ready to go if it takes three generations. We've got to understand that. Now revolution is not made by people talking bad. Revolution is not made by people running in the streets. Revolution is made by people armed with the correct political ideology and the correct moment in history. Black people whether we like it or not are the force, this is the precise time in history to strike to strike their revolutionary blow and whether we want it or not, history has put us in that position and we have got to fight. We cannot slow history. We've got to become that revolutionary force (applause). We can do no other. We cannot run even if we wanted to. There is no place to run, brothers and sisters, we have got to fight; And we might as well prepare for that fight. We are going to have to suffer and we might as well prepare for that suffering. Whether we like it or not, they are going to move to wipe us out.

So, just for our very survival, we have to fight. For our very survival, we have to fight. You see the goon squads they have in San Francisco, the tactical police, it is the beginning of the Gestapo forces inside our community. If we do not move now against those forces, tomorrow will be too late. We have got to move, we can't run. We've got no place to run. We can't run to Africa. They are fighting in Africa. All we can do with Africa is fight with our brothers and our sisters, that's all. You can't run and be no American negro in Africa. You get there and you are just like anybody else and they are going to put a gun in your hand and you are going to have to fight. And we can learn from Africa. We can learn the tactics that the United States uses to divide the people. Has it not always been a fact that the one thing that has kept us so rich is that we have always been as a people divided? Yes. Yes. And do they not use this tactic all over the world? Does he not pit brother against brother. Is he not making North Vietnam fight South Vietnam; North Korea fight South Korea; East Germany, West Germany. Now she's got the Afro fighting Nigeria. It is always the same thing wherever she has moved and she is going to use this more and more against us, so we must prepare. We cannot begin to fight each inside our own community. We have to understand that. And that is revolutionary. Whenever you hear the figures in the Vietnamese war, you hear Viet Cong, so many dead, American soldiers, so many dead. You very rarely hear about South Vietnamese dying. The reason is that the Viet Cong attacks the South Vietnamese soldier. They do not attack the South Vietnamese soldier because they know that the South Vietnamese soldiers are not their major enemy.

Their major enemy is the vicious forces of the Imperialist United States of America. And when they strike, they strike a blow at them. As a matter of fact, the Viet Cong told me that if the South Vietnamese attack them, they run from the South Vietnamese and they only fight them when it is absolutely necessary.

Moa-Tsi-Tung did the same thing when he split from the Kuomintang in 1927, organized the Red troops. When the forces of Chang Kai Check came after them, they pleaded with their Chinese brothers not to fight. They even retreated from several battles and only when it was absolutely necessary, did they wipe out their Chinese brothers. Did not FIDEL CASTRO do the same thing? Did he not go to the Cuban bourgeoisie and get their support. And after he seized power, he said to the bourgeoisie, this government is a government of the masses of the people of Cuba. Either you are with me, or you go against the war. If they weren't with him, he put them against the wall and he shot them. But he couldn't shoot them before he took power, because he would be fighting the bourgeoisie and BATISTA. We can't fight each other and the racist imperialist; that we have to begin to understand and fight against. We can only wage one war at the same time. One war at a time. But it is also a fact that the people who are split and divided against us are puppets of the American government. The South Vietnamese are puppets of the American Government. If the Viet Cong destroyed KEE, they would put SOU in. If they destroyed SOU, they would put DIEM in. Every time they destroy a Vietnamese, there is another puppet to be pushed. But if you destroy the puppet-holder, the puppet is cut free and you have the power to make the phenomena act in a desired manner.

And that we must understand. That we force the Uncle Toms in our community. Every time we knock them down, they put another one up. If we say that the Uncle Toms do not speak for the masses of our people, then its obvious they are in power because the United States Government supports them. So that if we fight them, we will cut the Uncle Toms loose and then the Uncle Toms can decide whichs side they are on. We'll have the power and we can move against them one way or the other. Finally, our historic moment is here. We must begin to prepareffor the struggle that is ahead of us. There were several attempts in the past in our history. The GARVEY movement was channeled to the side because GARVEY did not bring together all three political, economic and cultural. We have to begin to understand that. Religous movements in the past have brought our people together, but they have not attacked the political, economic and cultural, social structure of the society. As we move today, we must attack all three: political, economic and social and move against them. And move against them ready to win or to die. I can but take a very saying, "In a revolution, one wins or one dies". Thank you. (applause)

An article appearing in the "Washington Post" Washington, D. C. issue of August 26, 1968, date lined Oakland, California on August 25, 1968, under by-line RASA GUSTAITIS is as follows:

"Stokely Carmichael, newly acclaimed as the Prime Minister of the Black Panther Party, told a 'Free Huey Newton' rally today that the black revolution is entering 'the period of armed struggle.' Just before there is guerrilla warfare, he predicted the Black Panthers would eventually be forced underground.

"Speaking in a park behind a guard of 50 stony-face Panthers, all dressed in black leather jackets and black berets, he, in effect, gave the crowd of 2,000 a revolutionary primer that drew on concepts of Lenin and MEO Tse-tung. Carmichael said that Huey P. Newton, the Black Panther Minister of Information now on trial in the murder of an Oakland policeman, is a 'prisoner of war' in a struggle for 'a society that is free of racism and a society that is not capitalistic.'

"We must get him out,' Carmichael said. 'If we can't get him out--we must--retaliate.' Carmichael said the Black Panther Party was revolutionary. A revolutionary differs from a militant in that he accepts no compromise with the existing system and 'must be ready to pick up a gun.'

"Don't wear a leather jacket unless you are ready to kill,' Carmichael said. The struggle against the police now underway in the black community, he said, is important in the revolution because the police's job is 'to keep things as they are--that's what they call law and order.'

"Carmichael was recently expelled from the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee because of what he has described as 'political and ideological differences.' He has not elaborated on the nature of the disagreement.

"Carmichael said the black revolution had passed the stage of psychological preparation. Two years ago he said people would have been afraid to say openly that 'pigs must be killed.' Pigs is a Black Panther word for police and other establishment figures. The job is to educate and plan for seizing power, Carmichael said. He described the revolutionary struggle as being against the U. S. Government. 'We are fighting against racism and imperialism,' he said. 'The Government of the United States is racist and imperialist. Therefore, we are fighting against the Government of the United States.'

"He said the revolution began by moving against symbols of oppression and is now fighting against the tools of oppression, among whom are the police.

"The following stage would be movements against the oppressor himself and seizure of power.

"In a revolution one wins or one dies,' Carmichael said. "

APPENDIX

STUDENT NON-VIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, STOKELY CARMICHAEL was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, CARMICHAEL was replaced as Chairman by H. RAP BROWN, with CARMICHAEL assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of FIDEL CASTRO, CARMICHAEL participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, CARMICHAEL traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when CARMICHAEL was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. RAP BROWN as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a world-wide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identified SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. RAP BROWN said "You better shape up in America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note BROWN wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

[redacted] the article found on page two of the paper, Quotes Stokeley Carmichael as saying, "The government of the United States is racist and imperialistic . Therefore, we are fighting against the Government of the United States." Could he possibly make his position more clear?

Is the government of the United States actually afraid of Stokeley Carmichael and his malcontents? I hear it everywhere. When I was in school, I learned that a sovereign nation admits no equals and tolerates no competitors within its borders. Is this definition no longer applicable?

Isn't it time now for the Justice Department to begin to protect the nation from its enemies rather than to tolerate them?

It is almost too late now, but would you please do something to protect our nation from anarchy? Thank you.

If today's Washington Post has accurately reported Stokeley Carmichael's speech in Oakland, California yesterday, he should be arrested for sedition, treason and advocating anarchy.

[REDACTED]

the article found on page two of the paper, quotes Stokeley Carmichael as saying, "The government of the United States is racist and imperialistic. Therefore, we are fighting against the Government of the United States." Could he possibly make his position more clear?

I hear it everywhere. When I was in school, I learned that a sovereign nation admits no equals and tolerates no competitors within its borders. Is this definition no longer applicable?

Isn't it time now for the Justice Department to begin to protect the nation from its enemies rather than to tolerate them?

It is almost too late now, but would you please do something to protect our nation from anarchy?
Thank you.

INFORMATIVE NOTE

Date 8/26/68

Stokely Carmichael was recently "expelled" from Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) before he "resigned" and affiliated with the Black Panther Party (BPP), a black extremist organization.

The attached pertains to speech by Carmichael at a Black Panther Rally, Marin City, California, 8/22/68. Carmichael spoke against capitalism and said we "need either socialism or communism." He said "we no longer need to discuss violence. Don't even waste our time with it. There can be no other solution for us but the gun." Carmichael in referring to the stores in black communities that exploit said "thats why we burn them out and will continue to do that."

Copy of attached furnished Attorney General, Inter-Division Information Unit of Department, as well as to Criminal and Internal Security Divisions of Department. To be furnished military and Secret Service.

"....WE HAVE TO BRING ABOUT A REVOLUTION IN THIS COUNTRY.
THERE IS NO ALTERNATIVE...THERE IS GOING TO BE A SOCIETY FREE OF RACISM OR THERE WILL BE NO SOCIETY.

"....CAPITALISM IS AN ECONOMIC SYSTEM. THERE ARE THREE ECONOMIC SYSTEMS IN THE WORLD TODAY, CAPITALISM, SOCIALISM

MUST LOOK TO OTHER PLACES...WE ARE NOT IN A REVOLUTION BECAUSE A REVOLUTION ONLY BEGINS WHEN YOU HAVE SEIZED POWER AND YOU BEGIN TO CHANGE THE SYSTEM...THE CUBAN REVOLUTION BEGAN WHEN FIDEL CASTRO WALKED INTO HAVANA AND BATISTA RAN...WE ARE BEGINNING THE STAGE THAT PRECEDES THE REVOLUTION CALLED ARMED STRUGGLE. ARMED STRUGGLE IS WHEN YOU ENGAGE IN ARMED CONFLICT AGAINST AN ENEMY OF THE PEOPLE...JUST PICKING UP A GUN DOES NOT MAKE YOU A REVOLUTIONARY...IN ORDER TO BE A REVOLUTIONARY YOU GOT TO PICK UP A GUN. UNDERSTAND THAT EVEN BEFORE YOU CAN TALK REVOLUTION, YOU GOT TO BE WILLING TO KILL, NOT JUST TO DIE BUT TO KILL BECAUSE SOMETIMES IT IS MUCH EASIER JUST TO DIE THAN TO KILL. AND WHEN YOU PICK UP THE GUN, YOU GOT TO BE WILLING TO KILL. ONCE YOU ARE WILLING TO KILL FOR YOUR PEOPLE, THEN YOU BEGIN TO TALK ABOUT REVOLUTION. UNLESS WE BEGIN TO UNDERSTAND THAT, WE WILL BE WASTED AND WE CANNOT BE WASTED IF WE INTEND TO BUILD A REAL REVOLUTIONARY STRUGGLE IN THIS COUNTRY.

GET 'EM ANYWAY YOU CAN. THERE ARE THREE WAYS TO GET ANYTHING. YOU WORK FOR IT, YOU BEG FOR IT, OR YOU TAKE IT. JUST GET 'EM. EITHER WORK FOR IT, BEG FOR IT OR TAKE IT...WE DON'T NEED TO ARGUE ABOUT THAT TODAY, WE DON'T HAVE TO ARGUE WHY WE NEED GUNS...SO WHEN THEY COME DOWN ON US, WE CAN BLOW THEM AWAY...

"NOW OUR PEOPLE HAVE PROVEN A WILLINGNESS TO FIGHT. THEY HAVE PROVEN A REVOLUTIONARY CONSCIOUSNESS. WHEN A PEOPLE DEVELOP A REVOLUTIONARY CONSCIOUSNESS, THEY BEGIN TO ATTACK IN DIFFERENT LEVELS, THREE THINGS. THE FIRST IS THEY ATTACK THE SYMBOLS OF OPPRESSION. THE SECOND IS THE TOOLS OF OPPRESSION. AND THE FINAL STAGE IS THE OPPRESSOR HIMSELF. OUR PEOPLE, WHETHER THEY RECOGNIZE IT OR NOT, HAVE ATTACKED THE SYMBOLS OF OPPRESSION. THE SYMBOLS OF OPPRESSION HAPPEN TO BE THE CANDY STORE, THE STORES IN OUR COMMUNITIES, THAT EXPLOIT, THAT TAKE ADVANTAGE OF US. THEY ARE THE FIRST ONES

WE COULD SEE. THAT'S WHY WE BURN THEM OUT AND WE WILL CONTINUE TO DO THAT. NOW WE MOVE TO THE SECOND LEVEL.
THIS IS VERY IMPORTANT BECAUSE THE SECOND LEVEL IS THE TOOLS OF THE OPPRESSOR. THIS IS WHERE HUEY PERCY NEWTON BECAME VERY IMPORTANT. BECAUSE HE WAS ONE OF THE FIRST TO MOVE ON THAT LEVEL...THE POLICE ARE THE TOOLS OF THE OPPRESSOR...
IF WE ARE NOW ON THE SECOND LEVEL, WE ARE MOVING AGAINST THE TOOLS OF THE OPPRESSOR. WE'RE MOVING AGAINST THE PIGS, THAT'S WHO THE TOOLS OF THE OPPRESSOR IS. BUT IN ORDER TO BEGIN THAT MOVE, WE HAVE TO BE VERY CONSCIENTIOUS. THAT MOVE IS THE MOVE THAT (INAUDIBLE) AND DECLARE ARMED STRUGGLE...
GUERRILLA WARFARE IS THE THING...IN ORDER TO HAVE GUERRILLA WARFARE, YOU MUST HAVE THE SUPPORT OF THE MASSES OF THE PEOPLE.

[redacted] Denver, Colorado, advised on 8/21/68, that flight 63 originated at Dulles Field, Virginia, and was non-stop to San Francisco. He advised further that apparently the bomb scare had originated in San Francisco, California, with [redacted] who had been contacted by a San Francisco FBI Agent for the purpose of verifying the arrival time of the flight in San Francisco. He continued that [redacted] apparently construed the call as an inquiry concerning a bomb threat.

[redacted] advised on 8/21/68, that this flight originated at Dulles Field, Virginia, and was non-stop to San Francisco. He stated that at approximately 6:45 p.m. when the flight was just west of Hill City, Kansas, [redacted]

The San Francisco Division was subsequently advised in another telephone call from Denver Division on 8/21/68, that [redacted] had checked with TWA personnel in San Francisco and was now satisfied that [redacted] San Francisco, had jumped to a conclusion and that there had been no bomb scare.

Fresh from being disowned by the Student Nonviolent Co-ordinating Committee, Stokely Carmichael, the militants' militant, made an unscheduled and slightly zany stop at Stapleton International Airport Wednesday night.

It turned out to be a comedy of errors involving a San Francisco FBI agent, who was evidently keeping a long-distance eye on the Black Power guru, plus an inexperienced reservations clerk who got excited. What followed was a bomb scare without the faintest hint of a bomb.

Carmichael, who said he is now the prime minister of the Black Panther organization, was aboard a TWA non-stop flight from Washington to San Francisco when the pilot was told to land at Denver.

He and two fellow Panther leaders took immense delight in the queries of reporters who showed up for an impromptu interview, replying to most questions with a mocking black humor that cracked them up as quickly as they could hurl it.

Map Strategy

Carmichael said he plans to set up shop in San Francisco for awhile to map strategy for the Panthers.

But he waxed cagey when queried about reports that the Panther organization had merged with SNCC, saying the answer hinged on "internal negotiations."

Earlier in the day, SNCC's national program secretary, Phil Hutchings, had announced in a politely worded statement that SNCC had "terminated Stokely Carmichael's relationship to the organization."

Hutchings said the Trinidad-born disciple of black power had "made tremendous strides in the fight for black liberation over the past eight years," but said he and SNCC now appeared to be "moving in different directions."

Carmichael, along with Chico Neblett, the Panthers' East Coast field organizer, and Ron Hill, their Brooklyn section leader, were among 73 aboard the flight.

Also in the plane were a trio of young men from Ethiopia, who quickly made friends with the three militants and stayed with them as the entire group was transferred to another San Francisco-bound jet two hours later.

Misunderstanding

A TWA spokesman in San Francisco said it all came about when an FBI agent, presumably keeping tabs on Carmichael's whereabouts, called the reservations desk there to ask when his flight would arrive.

Evidently misunderstanding the reason for the call, the young clerk notified her supervisor that there might be a bomb aboard the aircraft. By the time TWA officials got the misunderstanding straightened out, the flight was on the ground here.

Firemen and members of the Denver police bomb squad rushed to the airport. Asst. Fire Chief Arthur Newman and Fire Investigator James Jordan searched the plane but found nothing unusual.

On the ground, Carmichael professed to know little about the whole incident and seemed totally disinterested as to whether his presence on the flight had anything to do with the unscheduled stopover.

When first asked his plans in California, Carmichael replied he would be "trying to free human beings by any means necessary."

Asked how many Black Panthers there are in the U.S., he tossed out an oft-quoted line from the late Malcolm X:

"Those who know don't say, and those who say don't know."

Little Interest

He insisted he and other black militants have little interest in creating a disturbance in Chicago next week during the Democratic National Convention.

"That's a white man's battle."

And the laughing black leader—his mocking face in sharp contrast to the shouting, militant countenance he wears in public speeches—made a small wager with this reporter that President Johnson will be re-nominated at that convention.

Neblett wore a button which declared, "Huey must be set free," an allusion to Huey P. Newton, the Panthers' defense minister, who is now on trial for murder in Oakland.

Wearing a bright orange shirt and long, African style hair, Neblett seemed unperturbed when a young man walked up to him, mistaking him for "acid rock" singer Jimi Hendrix, and asked for an autograph.

And the three were nearly convulsed when a reporter asked them to unroll the poster which Carmichael was carrying. It turned out to be a huge photograph of Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Fidel Castro's former military aide who has since variously been reported as dead or in hiding in South America.

Other Carmichael quips: "I'm a peace-loving man. I love peace so much I'm willing to fight for it."

"I'm not a demagog. Do I look like a demagog?"

"All the planes that are going to Cuba and we had to get on one with a bomb scare!"

Passing a Negro Marine who was on his way to catch another flight, Carmichael gave the young serviceman a hearty "Hello, brother!" The Marine ignored him and kept on walking.

Getting an immense laugh out of the whole thing, former SNCC chairman Stokely Carmichael displays a Che Guevara poster while grounded in Denver by a bomb scare Wednesday night. At left of Carmichael is Chico Neblett; Ron Hill looks on from far left.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

b7C At 12:25 A.M. on August 28, 1968, Carmichael and two Negro companions were observed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) to disembark from Delta airplane flight number 53 which had arrived at Lambert Field, St. Louis, Missouri, from Chicago, Illinois. The trio were observed to be met by about a dozen members of the Black Liberators. Carmichael and companions entered a 1967 white Chevrolet Impala, bearing Illinois license [redacted] which was subsequently determined to be registered to [redacted] Illinois.

This vehicle, accompanied by three cars containing members of the Black Liberators, proceeded from Lambert Field, St. Louis, directly to East St. Louis, Illinois. The vehicles were very briefly detained there by an officer of the East St. Louis Police but no arrests resulted and the cars were observed to continue to the Blue Flame nightclub parking lot near 43rd Street and Missouri Avenue in East St. Louis, Illinois, arriving there at approximately 1:40 A.M. After a brief exchange of vehicle occupants, Carmichael and companions proceeded south out of East St. Louis in the previously described Chevrolet and the remaining vehicles remained in the area.

b7C Special Agents of the FBI observed vehicle bearing Carmichael proceeded directly to [redacted] Illinois, frequently driving at very high speeds, and arrived in [redacted] at approximately 3:20 A.M. Upon arrival there, occupants of the car including Carmichael were observed to enter [redacted] which was later determined to be the residence of [redacted]

b7C On August 29, 1968, Carmichael and Negro companions were observed by Special Agents of the FBI to travel across Eads Bridge from Illinois to St. Louis, Missouri, at approximately 2:50 P.M. These individuals were driving the above described Chevrolet and were accompanied by another vehicle, a 1968 yellow Oldsmobile bearing Illinois license [redacted]

The vehicles were observed to proceed directly to the headquarters of Mid-City Community Congress, 4005 Delmar, St. Louis, where Carmichael and companions visited briefly.

Mid-City Community Congress is a church funded organization which has the stated purpose of bettering the Negro ghetto mid-city area. It is the parent organization of the Zulu 1200's, a Black militant youth organization. Several militants in the Zulu 1200's hold dual membership in the Black Liberators.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

At approximately 3:05 P.M. vehicle bearing Carmichael left Mid-City Community Congress and proceeded to 2810 Easton, St. Louis, which is the headquarters of the Black Liberators. By this time, Carmichael's vehicle was accompanied by three other vehicles occupied by members of the Zulu 1200's and the Black Liberators, who gave the impression of acting as bodyguards. After a brief tour of the area, which includes the "Wall of Respect", Carmichael's party proceeded to the Arcade Building in the 800 block of Olive Street, St. Louis.

The "Wall of Respect" is a large sign which occupies the entire side of a building at the intersection of Leffingwell and Franklin Streets in St. Louis. It was painted by local Black militants and features pictures of Black heroes. It has been a focal point of Black rallies, speeches, and "hip sessions" recently.

Carmichael and his companions were observed to re-enter their respective vehicles about 3:20 P.M. and drive directly to the 800 block of Olive Street, St. Louis, where they entered the Arcade Building and proceeded to the offices of radio station KATZ. Four Black "bodyguards" stationed themselves at the entrance to the Arcade Building; one was observed to have a walkie-talkie.

At radio station KATZ Carmichael recorded an interview of approximately 40 minutes duration, giving his view on Black revolution, guerrilla warfare, Black militants, and United States treatment of non-whites here and abroad.

At approximately 5:05 P.M. Carmichael and party left the Arcade Building and were observed by Special Agents of the FBI to proceed directly to a residence at [redacted] St. Louis, where the occupants vacated their cars and went inside, remaining there for about one hour. At approximately 6:20 P.M. they returned to their respective vehicles and proceeded directly to 1813-1815 North Grand, St. Louis, which is the Shabazz Restaurant, an establishment owned and operated by the Nation of Islam, Mosque Number 28.

A characterization of the Nation of Islam is attached to this memorandum.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael and companions were observed to leave the restaurant and proceed to Sheldon Memorial Hall, 3648 Washington, St. Louis, arriving there at approximately 8:10 P.M.

The program at Sheldon Memorial Hall began at approximately 8:15 P.M. Included in the audience of over 750 was a Special Agent of the FBI. Moderator of the program was Eugene B. Redmond, a Black militant affiliated with the East St. Louis Monitor, a newspaper whose offices are located at 413 St. Louis Avenue, East St. Louis, Illinois. The first portion of the program consisted of an African dance and drum troupe of about fifteen Negro boys. They were directed by Katherine Dunham.

A column on page 6 of the July 26, 1968, issue of the St. Louis Argus, a weekly newspaper published in St. Louis, Missouri, identified Katherine Dunham as a dancer and artist-in-residence in East St. Louis, Illinois, who is the Director of Performing Arts Training of Southern Illinois University Center and Dynamic Musuem.

Following this, Redmond read some of his poetry and then Charles Koen introduced Stokely Carmichael. At this time on the stage with Carmichael were several of his bodyguards, which included both Zulu 1200's and Black Liberators. Carmichael briefly introduced his two travelling bodyguards. [REDACTED]

b7C

[REDACTED]

The Black Panther Party for Self Defense is a highly militant Black organization which began in Oakland, California in 1966. Officials of the organization have publicly stated that they are a "revolutionary party" and on several occasions they have appeared in public carrying rifles, shotguns, and pistols.

Carmichael spoke for approximately two hours beginning about 9:45 P.M. His speech was frequently interrupted by loud applause and expressions of assent from the capacity crowd which contained less than ten white people.

He began his talk by speaking of the "undying love" that Blacks must have for all other Blacks which necessitated an undying hatred for all whites. He stated that all Blacks must support the Black revolutionaries even if they don't agree with their ideas. Carmichael stressed that Black organizations must stop quarelling among themselves and form one united front.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael indicated that Blacks can obtain power militarily, politically, and economically in the United States, but only if they have "the guns and bullets" to back it up. He pointed out that racism and United States imperialism can be destroyed only by "the gun" and he urged the audience to buy, steal, or beg weapons and "the bigger, the better." He cautioned his audience not to obtain fancy pearl-handled weapons of uncommon calibre, but instead concentrate on getting weapons similar to those utilized by the police and the National Guard in order that stolen ammunition may be used.

He praised the Communist countries and revolutionary leaders of Cuba, North Viet-Nam, and North Korea. He said all United States foreign policy is directed toward the exploitation of the non-white world and urged the audience to travel abroad and witness the truth of his statements. He encouraged cooperation with all countries who are fighting the United States because any enemy of the United States is a friend of the Black man.

Carmichael criticised the "Black Militants" who appear on radio and TV and protest against white oppression and then "sell out" their Black brothers by quietly accepting a high paying job with a federally funded agency. He stated such individuals should live on $100 a week and then give the rest of their large salary to the "Black revolutionaries" so they can buy guns.

He stated that the black panther is a ideal symbol for the Black guerilla because he is quiet, cunning, kills at night and then slips away. He pointed out that Blacks should avoid getting arrested because "we are outnumbered now" and Blacks are lost to the movement if they are in jail. He told his audience if they had trouble with "honkie cop", merely get his badge number and later strike without warning when your escape is certain.

The speech terminated at approximately 11:45 P.M. ending the program. Carmichael left the hall with his party and Special Agents of the FBI observed them travel directly to the offices of the Mid-City Community Congress. Carmichael left there at approximately 12:58 A.M. in a 1966 black Cadillac bearing Missouri license [REDACTED]. It was subsequently determined that this license is issued to [REDACTED] St. Louis, Missouri.

This vehicle, accompanied by others occupied by members of the Zulu 1200's and Black Liberators, drove to Lambert Field, St. Louis. At the airport, Carmichael and party of four others boarded Trans-World Airlines flight number 490 at 1:22 A.M. This is a non-stop flight from St. Louis to Atlanta, Georgia.

Within a half-hour of the end of Carmichael's speech, officers of the St. Louis Police Department stopped two vehicles for traffic violations, which contained four and two occupants respectively. Four hand guns were found, two in each car, and the six, all tentatively identified as Black Liberators, were taken into custody on charges of carrying a concealed weapon.

as MUHAMMAD'S TEMPLES OF ISLAM

In January, 1957, a source advised Elijah Muhammad has described his organization on a nationwide basis as the "Nation of Islam" and "Muhammad's Temples of Islam."

On May 5, 1967, a second source advised Elijah Muhammad is the national leader of the Nation of Islam (NOI); Muhammad's Temple of Islam No. 2, 5335 South Greenwood Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, is the national headquarters of the NOI; and in mid-1960 Muhammad and other NOI officials, when referring to Muhammad's organization on a nationwide basis, commenced using either "Mosque" or "Temple" when mentioning one of "Muhammad's Temples of Islam."

The NOI is an all-Negro organization which was originally organized in 1930 in Detroit, Michigan. Muhammad claims to have been selected by Allah, the Supreme Being, to lead the so-called Negro race out of slavery in the wilderness of North America by establishing an independent black nation in the United States. Members following Muhammad's teachings and his interpretation of the "Koran" believe there is no such thing as a Negro; the so-called Negroes are slaves of the white race, referred to as "white devils," in the United States, and the white race, because of its exploitation of the so-called Negroes, must and will be destroyed in the approaching "War of Armageddon."

In the past, officials and members of the NOI, including Muhammad, have refused to register under the provisions of the Selective Service Acts and have declared that members owe no allegiance to the United States.

On May 5, 1958, the first source advised Muhammad had, upon advice of legal counsel, tempered his personal statements and instructions to his ministers concerning the principles of his organization in order to avoid possible prosecution by the United States Government, however, he did not indicate any fundamental changes in the teachings of his organization.

On May 2, 1966, a third source advised Muhammad had, in early July, 1958, decided to de-emphasize the religious aspects of the teachings of Islam and to stress the economic benefits to be derived by those Negroes who joined the NOI. This policy change, according to Muhammad, would help him acquire additional followers and create more interest in his programs.

MUHAMMAD'S MOSQUE NUMBER 28,
ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI

During June, 1957, a source reported that in 1954, Elijah Muhammad, National leader of NOI, sent a representative to establish an NOI temple in the St. Louis area.

In May, 1968, a second source stated that the teachings in Mosque Number 28, 1434 North Grand Boulevard, St. Louis, Missouri, adhered to the teachings of Elijah Muhammad as they appear in various NOI publications and broadcasts. This source also stated that the Minister of Mosque Number 28 frequently contacts Elijah Muhammad concerning NOI policy and activity in St. Louis.

Pages H8072-H8073. Congressman Cross, (R) Iowa, stated "I see by the newspapers that the notorious black power fanatic, Stokely Carmichael, is out in public again advocating the overthrow by force of this Government. If we had an Attorney General worthy of the name, or an administration with the spine to back him up, Carmichael would have been in jail long ago. . . . Since Ramsey Clark is the only so-called Attorney General we have available, I am, once again, going to demand he prosecute this vicious firebrand. But I do not believe I will hold my breath awaiting for him to act." He included an article entitled "Carmichael Urges Taking Power With Guns."

ReBulet dated 7/1/68.

WFO inclined to feel the best way to implement the suggested counter-intelligence program against CARMICHAEL is by inaugurating a "whispering campaign" that he is an agent of the U. S. Government and doing organizing work among Negroes solely for the purpose of helping the government identify racial militants and future racial radicals. Further, that after these individuals are identified by the government reprisals may be taken against them by denial of government employment, social security benefits, welfare benefits, pension benefits and intensive screening of tax returns submitted by them. In addition, the impression should be created any person found associating with CARMICHAEL will be suspect. The "whispering campaign" should include overtones that CARMICHAEL is being rewarded greatly by the government for his efforts which permits him to buy a mansion type house, live lavishly, avoid military service, avoid prosecution for his activities and enjoy a regal life with women, important officials and diplomats.

It is suggested the campaign be inaugurated inferentially by SAs while interviewing sources, informants and other selected contacts and individuals who could be expected to carry the messages back to the Negro community with an aura of officiousness where CARMICHAEL has substantially all his support. This would include selected members of police departments and perhaps other government officials working in alleviating problems of the ghetto. The inference imparted should be timely, clairvoyant but shrouded with restraint so as not to create the definite impression the rumor being passed out is the official word of the FBI.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on August 22, 1968, that Stokely Carmichael had been officially "fired" by SNCC and that an official announcement had been made to this effect in New York City on August 22, 1968.

According to source, the SNCC leadership gave three reasons for the ouster of Carmichael and they were:

- (1.) Carmichael failed to report to SNCC on his personal life.
- (2.) Carmichael failed to report on his daily activities as related to SNCC.
- (3.) Carmichael has been a threat to the SNCC leadership in Washington, D. C.

According to source, Carmichael's associate in Washington, D. C., [redacted] stated that Carmichael's ouster was the responsibility of James Foreman, SNCC's International Affairs Director, who apparently believed that the propitious time to oust Carmichael from SNCC had arrived. Source learned from [redacted] that Carmichael had become closely affiliated with the Black Panther Party (BPP) and seemingly supported the BPP more in the recent past than he supported SNCC.

Source added [redacted]

[redacted] probably had a part in Carmichael's ouster as [redacted]

[redacted]

according to source, had brought this matter up at the SNCC conference held at Atlanta, Georgia, in early June, 1968, but no official action had been taken at that time.

According to source, there is speculation among some SNCC individuals that Carmichael could become a target for assassination by the more militant SNCC adherents because of hostility toward him; however, source emphasized this was speculation only and no overt efforts or discussions have taken place in this regard.

[redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on August 26, 1968, that in recent discussions with SNCC affiliates the general feeling in Washington, D. C., appeared to be that Carmichael had attempted to [redacted]

[redacted] the SNCC Washington Office without the knowledge or consent of National SNCC Officials and alienated SNCC officials by this act.

This source further advised that Carmichael apparently wanted to assume a more militant posture than SNCC officials desired and had made it almost impossible for SNCC to solicit funds because of national publicity he received regarding the purchase of an expensive home in the Washington area. Source learned from Washington SNCC affiliates that since this article appeared in local newspapers their efforts to solicit funds had been rebuffed with the comment, "SNCC can't possibly need funds if Carmichael can buy a $70,000 house. Go see Carmichael if you need money!" Source also learned that even the small contributions normally received by SNCC had also decreased.

Source was of the opinion that SNCC, as the result of internal friction and the adverse publicity would cease to be an effective force in the Negro community before the end of the year. This trend will be hastened by defections from the ranks of SNCC by those who will follow Carmichael and due to a total lack of any effective program by SNCC's national leadership.

TO BE BROADCAST SUNDAY AFTERNOON,

Interviewer: Brother Stokely Carmichael in St. Louis this week for a lecture. Welcome to Round Table.

Carmichael: Thank you very much, brother. It's a pleasure to be here.

Interviewer: It's a pleasure to have you, Brother Carmichael. Let me get into one thing right away. And that is your purpose, total purpose, not only for being here but your desire for black people in this country.

Carmichael: Well, the desire is only one. It seems to me that in order for black people to function in this country and live as human beings, we must completely change the entire established way of life. That is, the social, economic, political way of life. That means we must have a total revolution. However, I think that people misunderstand revolution. For example, many people are in the country now talking about a black revolution. A revolution does not begin until one sees his power. After you see his power, then you can change his structure as you see fit. And we must talk about black people seizing power in this country in areas where we can, and then changing the structure. I'll give you an example. For example, Fidel Castro fought in the Sierra Meastras for a number of years. While he was fighting, the Cuban revolution was not going on.

ENCLOSURE

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: The Cuban revolution started when Fidel Castro walked into Havana and chased Batista and the American lackies out. When he said, "Today I claim this island for the masses of Cuban people", then the Cuban revolution began. And before that period, there was armed struggle. Now, black people have to decide whether or not armed struggle is necessary for them to seize power to bring about a revolution in this country. Now, I think it's necessary.

Interviewer: Recently, you were in Chicago, Brother Carmichael, and you spoke and you said that it is necessary for black people to come together and show their initial strength in politics and the body politic. And how would you define this type of unity?

Carmichael: I ought to make that very clear. When I talk about conventional politics, voting and stuff like that, I don't think the black people can really show any strength, especially given the conventional political parties today - the Republican and Democratic Party. Well, we saw the Republican Party. It was totally exclusive of black people in Miami, and if anyone has been watching the Democratic Convention this past week, they see how totally relevant it is to the lives of the black people. Black people are going to be involved in conventional politics and it can be used only as an organizing tool to bring our people together. We can't really have any faith in organized politics or conventional politics because we don't have any power in there. And of course, Adam Clayton Powell showed us that most clearly when they want to get rid of him, they just did, and no body could say anything about it.

Interviewer: What type of relief would you suggest that the black man in total should take, should look forward to, as far as helping himself to relieve himself of this opposed political oppression that's placed upon him?

RE:

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: I would say the only one is the gun. Political power comes through the barrel of a gun, and that's absolutely correct. Again, the Democratic Convention shows that most clearly. Everybody was yelling about Daley. Daley didn't have to yell. He had the power. He had the police outside and the police inside. And all the other supposed to be powerful people of the country all had to get up and yell names at him, but he had it up tight because he had guns. And whether or not people like that, it happens to be a fact. Once you've got the gun, then you can begin to decide how to move. Well, until you have that gun, you can't decide because if I have a gun and you don't have a gun, we're not equal. If black people believe in equality, white people are getting guns, we have to get guns. That's just being pragmatic about one's equality. I think that once black people have begun to get guns, then we can begin to talk about a political ideology that will bind us together as a people in order to carry on the struggle that's ahead. And our struggle is going to be a long, vicious, and hard one, and I don't think black people even thinking seriously about the struggle that comes, most people are hoping that it won't come but it's clear that it is going to come and the best we can do is to prepare ourselves for that struggle.

Interviewer: When we speak of preparation, what are the basics, the basic needs for preparation what you would suggest?

Carmichael: Well, you need three things to survive - food, shelter, and clothing. And if your going to fight, you need ammunition. So that means that black people need four things in this country - food, shelter, clothing and ammunition. Now if we begin to think seriously about fighting, about armed struggle, then we have to figure out how we can always keep our people with these four things - food, shelter, clothing and ammunition. Very few people have really thought very seriously about that. For example, if a city rebellion were to

RE:

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: occur in St. Louis, East St. Louis, or Chicago, all the National Guard would have to do is to surround the city. Once the city was surrounded within a week, the fighting would have to subside. The fighting would have to subside Number 1 because there would be no food because in the cities we don't grow any food and Number 2 because people would run out of ammunition. So that if we're thinking seriously we have to think about how we would continue a food supply if cut off by the forces, how do we continue to fight to sustain our people. But those are the four basic things we must think about.

Interviewer: Now, I know that you had visited Newark right after the uprising that had taken place there and you had spoken to many people there and you know that in Newark the city was closed down almost immediately. They had shut down Highway 21, 22, the Parkway, and all of the major highways and traffic that helped the city to survive in itself. What do you feel we could do in order to, what do you feel could be done in this situation, in this city?

Carmichael: Well see, I'm not sure because we have not been able to work that out, but I think that our people must become conscious of those problems so we can begin to work out methods of solving them. I don't they're impossible. No problem is impossible. But I just think that once we become attuned to really what's happening and not just a murder mountain of men, I mean I think that we've murdered a mountain of hunkies enough. It's necessary. I do not downgrade that stage. That's a necessary stage; when people prepare to fight a bully, they have to convince themselves psychologically that they're as equal. I think that's what black people in this country have had to do for the past two years. But now we're psychologically equal to the hunky. So now our job now is to prepare in a cold blooded manner to move against him and to win the struggle that's ahead of us.

RE:

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: So that I think that what I learned then from Newark was that they were still at the stage of murder mountain. That is to say, "We're going to burn them down", we're going to do this, and we're going to that, but it wasn't really serious thinking and tactics. That isn't to say cool it, because I'm not for cooling it. Rebellions may still be necessary. I'll never condemn them. If people engage in them, there must be some good to them because the majority of our people are engaged in them, so that we can't condemn them. And certainly emotionally one is involved in that. But I think there is the other level we must now move to and that is the level of slowly understanding, examining, analyzing and posing solutions to our problems.

Interviewer: May I ask you this also? Would you say in total that we have gone, in your estimation, it has gone past the stage of discussion and compromise and negotiation as far as the racial problem within this country?

Carmichael: Yes. I think that's clear. It's gone completely past that hand. I think that what's going to happen now is more black people are going to be used. And some of them are going to be used unconsciously, you know. For example, there is people always talking about black militants. Now there is a difference between a black militant and a black revolutionary. A black militant is a black man who's angry, but he just wants to get into the American piece of pie. He wants to be part of America. A black revolutionary is somebody who wants to overturn the complete system and change it. Now see, a black militant may not know that he is consciously being used against his people. You see them all time. One week a cat gets up and he'll be yelling and screaming about these dirty white folk and bla, bla, bla, and black people are going to burn the city down. And then next week he gets a big job, a Poverty Program grant or whatever, you know, and then the cat disappears. Well, he was just

RE:

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: angry. He doesn't mind being part of the American system. He just objects to being left out. But the black revolutionary doesn't just talk about how angry people is and bla, bla, bla, and wants a job, he talks about the masses of our people, how they must be fed and recognizing that they cannot be fed and cannot live a life as human beings inside of this system, he talks about the complete overthrow of this system.

Interviewer: Who, in your estimation, would be the four most likely people to guide and direct for black people in this country to guide and direct?

Carmichael: That's very hard to say, I'll tell you why. And I know some names for example, right off my mind would come the name Huey P. Newton, Administration Defense for the Black Panther Party. It's not because the problem that black people face in this country is that our generation, this generation, the youth, are forced to lead that revolution. They're forced to lead it because we don't have anyone older than us who have the experience, or who have our trust. The only man who had that was brother Malcom X, and since there's no one else, it's just among us, the young, how we begin to grow and move and try and find methods in which to solve our solutions. Now, there are a lot of them around. Maybe some of them don't have a public name, for example. But I think definitely all of the guys out of this generation will not be capable of leading. If they are, we don't know them yet, of those that we know.

Interviewer: Would you in your thinking on this, would you think or guess or presume to place in the forefront the name of Dr. Hamilton?

Carmichael: You know, brother, I have a policy of not criticizing or condemning any black man, so I'll just say that I don't think that anybody outside of this generation has yet proven themselves capable of helping out in that.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Interviewer: Let us go deeper into you now. You have now made your home base of operations, being your home, now in Washington, D. C. You have taken to yourself a wife, the very beautiful Miriam Makeba Carmichael.

Carmichael: Leave Carmichael out. You can't hang a slave name on an African. I let adopt Makeba.

Interviewer: Let us then say for yourself and for your wife, what do you have planned for yourself to generate from your home base out of the two of you for all of us?

Carmichael: Well, nothing except to be just part of the struggle. I mean in where we see fit, where we can help to help out. I think that it's a time for hard thinking, for serious thinking and for serious movement. And that's what we have to understand as a people. That the yelling and screaming, not only is it gone, but there's nothing new to say. I mean I've watched television ever since I've been back in the country and the black militants, or whoever they are, they're saying the exact same thing that was said two years ago. So repetition just isn't going to get anywhere. There's time for new thinking. Until people do come up with new types of thoughts and new types of ways for us to move, they should just keep their mouth shut. Now we have not been saying much because there hasn't been very much to say. That we're in a period now where we're not quite sure where to go, you know, and until people are, they should keep their mouth shut.

Interviewer: Let me also ask you this, and that is. You have to excuse my throat. It's not too with me.

Carmichael: Oh, go ahead, brother, rap on.

Interviewer: Two people whom I feel are fairly close to you have been hit with the seeds of a great many problems, Brother H. Rap Brown and Brother Huey in Oakland, California. Would you let us in on this?

Carmichael: Right. Well, everyone knows about Brother Rap's position. He's got a restriction on him. He

RE:

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: cannot move outside of New York and he's got a five year sentence hanging over his head. My own personal feeling is that it's absolutely absurd for Brother Rap to serve five years at this time. I mean it's just absurd for speaking. I don't think the black people can go to jail for what they say. We have to go to jail for what we do because we're not fighting for free speech. That's a fight for white liberals. We're fighting for our lives. And Brother Rap, they're trying to put him in jail just over the question of free speech. So that one of things that we have to do is to organize more strongly and to organize in the manner that when we say, "If you put Rap Brown in jail for five years, well then there'll be no peace", and when we say it so insure our statement. We have to back our statements up with actions these days. In the past, we said things and we hoped, we hoped they would come true. You know, we say, "Well, if you send so and so to jail, the city will burn down", and we hoped the city would burn down. In many cases the hope came through, you know, people got on the streets. But the difference between that type of person and the real revolutionary is that the revolutionary plans so that when he says if you do x and y and z, then a, b and c will follow, he knows that it will follow. Then power structure knows that it will follow and they begin to respect his power. So we're trying now to coalesce that base moving around with Brother Rap and trying to keep it as quiet as possible so that when we say, "If you do to Brother Rap x,y,z, then a,b,c, will follow". And it will follow. Now then of Brother Huey P. Newton, the same is true. Brother Newton is a political prisoner who was arrested for the alleged murdering of a hunky policeman and the wounding of another, and it is the same thing. It is just a political arrest. Most of these arrests are political, but what the power structure tries to do is to arrest the leadership of the movement so that once having done that the movement itself will die. I mean

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: that is the harassment, for example, this week of Brother Swede Jefferies of the Imperial War Lords. If you can harass and arrest a leadership, you hope to kill the movement.

Interviewer: I see. You are in town to speak, you spoke this Thursday, concerning the arrest of several members of black liberators here in the City of St. Louis. Now I would like to know your feeling on the organizations that are within this city or in the metro area of St. Louis and East St. Louis.

Carmichael: Well, it would be very hard for me to give an analytical description of each. All I could say is that because I move so much, it's almost impossible. If there's a black man in trouble and we feel just from the overall picture that he's doing something for the benefit for the masses of our people, then our life belongs to that people. And that's how we felt about the arrest of the black liberators. I mean they were doing something which they thought, whether it was or was not true, they thought and as long as the man feels that he is doing something for the masses of his people and he gets in trouble, then we are willing to back him up with our lives. So we feel that then most black organizations that think they are doing something for the benefit of the masses of our people, we're willing to help them.

Interviewer: Very recently travel restrictions were placed upon you. I'd like to get into this.

Carmichael: They took my passport and they gave it back. They gave it back because we organized many African nations to back the appeal for the passport. They said that when they gave me back the passport that I promised not to go to some countries, but that's a lie. I'm free man. I go where I want, I see whom I want and I go when I want. So they can't stop me. I'll go to China, I will go to North Vietnam, I will go to North Korea, I will go to Cuba, I will go anywhere I so please.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Interviewer: Now, if I'm correct, I believe you were supposed to have visited one of the smaller South American countries.

Carmichael: Right. Venezuela. They refused me entry. Free countries I cannot go to now. Venezuela, England, and my home country, Trinidad.

Interviewer: In your opinion, why should they do this?

Carmichael: Well, I could see why they have done it in all three, especially in my home country, in Trinidad. There's the brewing of a revolution - a real revolution, a real armed struggle. And just three weeks ago they capture a truck full of guns which with some of the people I know and I met with outside of the island on my trip. So that the Prime Minister, Mr. Williams, who is a lacky of the American government, is saying I have planned with these people to overthrow the government, and that therefore, if I were to come into the island, there would definitely be the beginning of armed struggle. Now, we're going to go to Trinidad, one way or the other. People like Mr. Williams are going to have to be moved out of the way, because they do not look to us the benefit of the masses of our people but rather they look for their own self interest. And anyone that does that is indeed a traitor to black people and wherever he is, he has to be wiped out. As to Venezuela, there is a strong movement in Venezuela. Many people don't know that over forty percent of the people in Venezuela are black, and that they had asked me to come. The government, again, was afraid of the reaction, so they stopped me. England, we were put out of the country a year ago for organizing the blacks and the coloreds in England. We tried to bring together a third world.

Interviewer: There's a brother in England, I can't recall his name.

Carmichael: Michael X.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Interviewer: Michael X, right.

Carmichael: Right, he just got of jail. I just received word. He was with us and we split the country and they picked him up and put him in jail. He just got out.

Interviewer: Now, you had, if I'm correct, had visited Hanoi.

Carmichael: Correct.

Interviewer: And on your visit there did you meet or speak with Ho Chi Minh?

Carmichael: I most certainly did. It was the most exciting moment of my life.

Interviewer: May I ask you this? Your reaction to the people within that country?

Carmichael: Of Vietnam? I was impressed with the people of Vietnam for specifically four things. The first is that the people of Vietnam are a technologically backward country. Now don't say the word backwards in the sense of the white man does. I mean they have not developed technology as rapidly as the West. I don't think that the development of technology is necessarily good.

Interviewer: Well, were they primarily an agrarian country?

Carmichael: Right. But now what little technology they have, they are using for the benefit and for the improvement of human life. And here is the great irony. America, one of the most technically developed countries in the world is using its technology for the destruction of human life. Is that amazing? So here's Vietnam and they got all these little Vietnamese and whenever they get a chance to study on the underground schools because they have to go underground because of the bombing, the people of Vietnam sit down and try to figure for example how cure napalm burns. They can cure a napalm

RE:

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: burn in exactly two and a half months and restore the skin back to life. They combine Western technology with their own medical herbs and stuff like that. And for example, if you have a bone that is broken what the West do is that when the bone is broken, they cut another piece from another place and put it together. But in Vietnam they have a herb. And they tie that and apply it along with still some Western technology and the bone grows back. And this what they are, I mean, doing. They're wasting their time trying to figure out how to improve human life, and here's America building napalm bombs and paying scientists and universities thousands and thousands and millions of dollars to try to figure how to destroy human life. The second thing I think the thing we're going to have learn from the Vietnamese more than any other thing is the fact that they have intergrated war into their life. They have not let war defined their, they have defined their own way of life and they have fit war into it. For example in any country where there is war or where there's constant bombing, and so that means that death is eminent, it's around you all the way, where you find people who are promiscuous, you find people in gambling industries, you find people and the morales are loose because they figure well we're going to die tomorrow anyway. But in North Vietnam I saw the opposite. I saw people who were not promiscuous, who were not morally loose, who worked very hard and that they just fit war into their life. For example, when I was in Vietnam the bombing was very, very heavy, and they bombed a hospital about three blocks from where I was staying. Right after the bombing, we went to visit the hospital and they were carrying away babies, and nurses who had died. The next day when I returned to the hospital, they were clearing away the bricks. So I asked my guide I said, "What's going on, man? Are they getting more bodies?" He said, "No, they're clearing away the bricks to build again." I said, "Build again? Your crazy, man. The hunkies are bombing you out!" He said, "That's what they have to do. We have to build." I mean that's so beautiful because they consciously know, you

RE:

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: know, that they've got to build later for this, man. And I think that's one thing the black people have to get. We have to understand that we have to build. And if every time he destroys, and we can't get him back, we build again. But whenever he tries to destroy, we can stop him, we stop him. But we've constantly got to keep in our mind that we've got to build. That's very, very impressive. The third that impressed me about the Vietnamese was the organization of the country. That country is organized into every facet, old to the young, from the 99 year old man to the nine month old baby. There's always constantly something for them to do for the benefit for their country, and the benefit for their people. And that's active in their minds, always, because they have absolutely nothing to do except to think about their people and the development of their country. And the finally fourth thing that impressed me is their awareness of the international problem. Wherever I went in Vietnam, from Ho Chi Minh to the lowest peasant, the first thing they said to me when they found out that I was a Black American was that, "Let me tell you, we are insensed what Lyndon B. Johnson is doing to you all in the cities." And I would automatically want to laugh because here the Vietnamese are getting bombed by Lyndon B. Johnson, but they had time out to think about what Lyndon B. Johnson was doing to us in the cities and they showed a great sense of humanity, a great compassion, and a recognition of World Wide Humanity, which America does not have.

Interviewer: You took part in the celebrations that took place in Havana last year.

Carmichael: That's correct.

Interviewer: I don't know whether or not you ever met Che Guevara.

Carmichael: No, I never met Che Guevara.

Interviewer: But you had met and spoke with Fidel Castro.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: We spent three days together up in the hills going over the fronts that he and Che had fought over.

Interviewer: Could you elaborate a bit?

Carmichael: Well, I think that Fidel represents the spirit of the oppressed today. No matter what the prices are that we have to fight, I mean, his favorite saying is to America is that, "Let me remind you, Johnson, we are an island. We're surrounded by water. For the inhabitants of this island, there can be no retreat." And the second phrase he always says is, "Let me remind the imperialist that on this island there is no such word as surrender. There's only death or life."

Interviewer: Many things have been thrown at you, Brother Carmichael.

Carmichael: That's right. They talkad about Jesus.

Interviewer: The accusation that you are communist employed. The accusation that you work for the CIA.

Carmichael: I got a $70,000 house.

Interviewer: Would you please, on this microphone, still tongues?

Carmichael: O.K. Number 1, I wish I had a $70,000 house because if I did, I could write off a lot of tax and use the money to buy guns for my people. I don't have a $70,000 house. But I think that you know instead of going on to still towns to run down the lines saying I don't have this, I don't have that, I don't have this, I think that the power structure recognizes the effects of a colonized people. Now the major effect of anybody who colonizes is that they hate themselves. So that means that they automatically have distrust for each other. And the man always plays on this more than anything else. So what he does is that he puts out rumors about experts who is trying to organize his people. And then what have is that this man is constantly trying to defend the rumors. But if you're caught up in trying to defend the rumors, you're never organized. For example, if the man gets up and says, "Well, Stokely Carmichael bought a $70,000," then I've got to get up and say, "Look man, I didn't buy a $70,000 house; I don't own a $70,000 house." Well, my whole life is defending that. And when through with that, he gets up and he says, "Stokely Carmichael is running around with a Jackie Kennedy", then I've got to spend my whole life defending I'm not running around with Jackie Kennedy. And when I get through with that, he says, "Stokely Carmichael is a CIA Agent", and then I've got to spend my whole life defending. I never get any work done. But I think that the colonized people we have to recognize the trick. The man puts out these rumors to constantly keep us divided. And that we have to give each other the benefit of the doubt until proven differently. And that's why brother Malcolm X never got anywhere, because everybody believed he was shucking and jiving, and that's the best example of colonized people. They never believe that anybody's for real until their killed. So Brother Malcolm never developed until his death. Then people said, "Oh man, the cat was really serious." And as colonized people we must understand we cannot believe anything the man says about any of us because his job is to constantly to destroy us. So instead of stilling tongues by saying I'm not this, I'm not this, I'm not that, I refuse to do it. I say those people who fall for that trap, I'm sorry for them, we have to work with them, but we have to move on.

RE:

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael:

Interviewer:

My guest on Round Table has been Brother Stokely Carmichael. One thing that I'd like to get into and that is Miriam Makeba and her latest album and her latest song.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael: Right. She has a record called Ebaba Gooni (phonetic), which is Down in the Dumps, and the record stations are trying to ice it. They won't play it.

Interviewer: Would you say that again?

Carmichael: It's called Down in the Dumps. The flip side of it is Baba Lasi. And the record stations won't play it because they're trying to ice it completely.

Interviewer: We will.

Carmichael: Thank you very much, brother.

Interviewer: I'll repeat that. We will. Thank you.

Carmichael: O.K., brother.

Correspondent refers to newspaper publicity following Martin Luther King's assassination to the effect that Senator Kennedy was as responsible as others for King's death, since he had failed to push for prosecution of slayers of Negro civil rights workers. This and other remarks of a similar nature by Carmichael have previously been considered in our investigation into Kennedy's death.

(Subject: Robert F. Kennedy)

Gentlemen:

Going through some old newspapers the other day I came upon a dated issue containing an item re Martin Luther King's assassination, captioned: "Kennedy pulled trigger --Carmichael," and which clipping I enclose herewith.

Why? -- well, I read the article and then an amazing thought flashed across my mind. I thought: Stokely Carmichael speaks of avenging Martin Luther King's assassination (please refer to words in clipping underlined in red), of "retaliating" and of actually naming Robert Kennedy as the one upon whom revenge must be taken.

NOT RECORDED

145 SEP 11 1968

In view of this, I am wondering if it has come to the attention of the F.B.I. that there could perhaps be a connection between the subsequent assassination of Robert F. Kennedy and this Mr. Stokely Carmichael, using Sirhan Sirhan as their gunman?

Anyway, I thought I'd pass this thought on for what it might be worth.

nion's capital today and most units of the District of Columbia National Guard were ordered to report to their armory.

The guardsmen, most of them MPs who already received extensive riot training this year, received the call as police sealed off troubled areas in a capital city where a night of violence left one man dead, 56 persons injured and brought more than 200 arrests.

The renewed disturbances, meanwhile, spilled over at midday into Washington's downtown business district

Hanoi denounces U.S. for continued bombing

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam denounced the United States today, charging it "obstinately continues bombing an important part" of the North.

This was the strongest statement yet throwing doubt on the road to negotiations since Hanoi and Washington agreed to contacts earlier in the week.

It came amid an apparent clash between Moscow and Peking as to the immediate course to be followed. The Soviet government said it supports Hanoi's earlier statement of a willingness to talk about a complete halt in the bombing. Communist China described President Johnson's moves as "a new trick" and urged the North Vietnamese to continue fighting.

The North Vietnamese said the partial halt was not enough to testify that the United States wants peaceful settlement of the war. Peking said President Johnson's bombing order was intended to "force the Vietnamese people to bend their knees and surrender to the aggressors by means of a new trick."

It was the first Chinese comment on President Johnson's Sunday night bomb pause announcement. Peking still withheld comment on North Vietnam's announcement Wednesday agreeing to meet with the United States to prepare for peace talks.

FBI Take Note
President to address Congress

'Kennedy pulled trigger' — Carmichael

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson told the nation today he plans to address a joint session of Congress to deal with the problems stemming from the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King. The session was promptly set for 9 p.m. EST Monday night.

'Substantial leads' are developed

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said today that "substantial leads" had been developed in the hunt for the killer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Clark said the slaying appeared to be the work of one man.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Black power advocate Stokely Carmichael urged Negroes today to arm themselves with guns and take to the streets in retaliation for the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Carmichael told a news conference he wants black America to "kill off the real enemy."

"We have to retaliate for the death of our leaders," he said. "The execution of those debts will not be in the courtrooms. They will be in the streets of the United States of America."

He said there would be executions in the streets.

"When white America killed Dr. King she opened the eyes of every black man in this country," Carmichael said.

Carmichael blamed President Lyndon B. Johnson and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.,

along with the rest of the nation's white population for the death of the Nobel Peace Prize winner.

"Bobby Kennedy pulled that trigger as much as anyone else," Carmichael said, charging the senator had failed to push for prosecution of slayers of Negro civil rights workers when he was attorney general.

The militant Black Power leader declared that violence that erupted in city after city across the nation after King was shot in Memphis is "just light stuff" when compared with "what will happen."

"We have to retaliate," he added.

Carmichael has frequently urged violence on past occasions, in speeches and tours around the country.

Carmichael also declared that if Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland proceeds "with this nonsensical charge against" fellow Black Power advocate H. Rap Brown, who is accused of inciting a riot last summer in Cambridge, Md., "He ain't seen nothing . . . we'll take our troops back into Maryland . . . we'll turn that state upside down and inside out."

Lester McKinnie, chairman of the Washington chapter of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, also at the news conference, said there was a possibility of a general strike throughout the United States by Negroes. He did not elaborate on this point.

SNCC's actual membership is small—it was estimated at 100 late last year. But its leaders have been among the most vocal on racial matters.

See Kennedy comment, page 12.

This memorandum is for the purpose of recording instructions issued telephonically to the San Francisco Office this morning with respect to obtaining evidence concerning remarks of Stokely Carmichael yesterday at a rally in Oakland, California.

[redacted] of the Criminal Division in the Department called this morning and made reference to an article which appeared in today's issue of the Washington Post entitled "Guerrilla Warfare Near, Carmichael Tells Rally" written by one Rosa Gustaitas. The article contained a general run-down of remarks made by Carmichael at a "Free Huey Newton" rally held on August 25, 1968, in Oakland during which Carmichael urged the Negroes to obtain weapons and stated Negroes should take retaliatory action if Newton is convicted and Carmichael recommended guerrilla tactics rather than riots in the streets. [redacted] commented that the Department was most interested in securing specifics regarding Carmichael's speech and is particularly interested in knowing whether any recording was obtained as this may present possibility for immediate prosecutive action.

It is noted that the San Francisco Office by teletype yesterday furnished a brief run-down of Carmichael's speech as obtained by three informants who were able to attend and it was indicated that efforts were being made to ascertain if a recording was made of the speech. With respect to the request of the Department, mentioned above, Supervisor [redacted] of the Racial Intelligence Squad, San Francisco Office, was contacted. [redacted] stated that his office had been able to have racial informants attend Carmichael's speech but because of stringent security rules in effect at the meeting they had not been able to secure any recordings but were checking with the police department to see if they had been successful in that regard. [] was instructed to have his informants thoroughly debriefed and to furnish to the Bureau by 4:30 p.m. today a teletype summary containing specifics as to just what Carmichael said during his speech. In the event a recording could be located, San Francisco was instructed to expeditiously transcribe such and furnish promptly to the Bureau, taking steps to preserve the tape for evidentiary purposes. In line with previous instructions given to the field in connection with the Carmichael investigation, San Francisco was also instructed to contact news media to ascertain if the speech was recorded and, if so, to take steps to obtain copies of the recording. b7C

In addition, [] was instructed to have any members of the press known to have attended the meeting interviewed for any pertinent evidentiary information they may be able to provide. In addition, San Francisco was again instructed to make every effort to record any additional remarks made by Carmichael at public meetings during his current stay on the West Coast. b7C

ACTION:

This is for recording purposes. Immediately upon receipt of the teletype summary, [] of the Department will be advised for prosecutive consideration of this matter. You will be kept informed of pertinent developments. b7C

Special Agents of the FBI [redacted] and [redacted] were present and observed activities of rally mentioned above featuring STOKELY CARMICHAEL.

A mechanical recording was not made concerning CARMICHAEL's speech at the Free Huey Newton rally at Will Rogers Park, Los Angeles on 8/24/68 because members of the BPP were utilized as security force and would not permit any recording devices in the park and denied any recording devices to local press and news media.

Local law enforcement agencies indicated that tight security would be maintained at the rally and recommended that no recording devices be brought into the park which could cause an incident producing a riot in the park.

Copies of attached LHM are being furnished to Secret Service, Los Angeles; 115th MIG, Pasadena, California; ONI, San Diego; and OSI, Norton Air Force Base, San Bernardino, California.

Sources utilized in this communication have furnished reliable information in the past.

Source One through Source Three indicated on August 22, 1968, that Stokely Carmichael, who is presently in San Francisco, California, would be traveling to Los Angeles the a.m. of August 24, 1968, to address a Free
Huey Newton Rally at Will Rogers Park, Los Angeles, California, which will be open to the public.

Caucasians were being urged to attend the rally, which would feature local black nationalist leaders as well as Stokely Carmichael.

Huey P. Newton is publicly known as the Minister of Defense for the Black Panther Party (BPP), Oakland, California (see appendix). Newton is confined presently in the Alameda
City Jail for shooting a policeman.

On August 23, 1968, the Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD), Intelligence, indicated that 50 to 75
BPP members from Los Angeles and San Francisco were appointed to act as security officers for the Free Huey Newton Rally at Will Rogers Park on August 24, 1968. BPP security forces have been instructed to search all persons entering the

On August 24, 1968, agents of the FBI observed Stokely Carmichael upon his arrival at Los Angeles International Airport at 12:30 p.m. August 24, 1968, via Pacific Southwest Airlines (PSA) Flight 130 from San Francisco, California, accompanied by three male Negroes. He was met at the airport by four male Negroes dressed in black jackets with black berets.

On August 24, 1968, [redacted] b6
[redacted] PSA, Los Angeles, advised [redacted] at b7C
San Francisco, California, ticketed a party of four which included Stokely Carmichael, for transportation on PSA Flight 130 from San Francisco to Los Angeles. PSA Flight 130 was due to arrive Los Angeles at approximately 12:30 p.m. Carmichael and party had no return reservations to San Francisco, California.

On August 24, 1968, Special Agents of the FBI were present and observed the activities at Peace and Freedom Party (PFP) (a legally constituted political party in the State of California) and BPP sponsored rally to free Huey Newton at the Will Rogers Park, 103rd and Central, Los Angeles, California, from 4:00 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. featuring Stokely Carmichael. There were approximately 500 persons in attendance with all but four people being Negro.

Upon entering the park, it was noted that all persons entering the park carrying attache cases, purses, etcetera, were stopped and searched by Negroes wearing black berets with BPP T-shirts and jackets who served as guards and security force around the park.

Shermont Banks, leader of the BPP in Los Angeles, California, acted as Master of Ceremonies (MC) and started the rally, which was scheduled for 3:00 p.m., at 4:00 p.m. on August 24, 1968 by identifying the rally as a Free Huey P. Newton Rally being sponsored by the BPP and eulogized Newton for his heroics for the black man in that he killed "pig cops".

Calif.
The first speaker was Robert Hall of Operation Bootstrap, a self-help organization for Negroes in South Los Angeles. Hall praised Newton and the black nationalists. He indicated that the black nationalists were making the establishment change their views concerning the black man. He criticized the establishment and their war in Vietnam and spoke concerning the eventual black revolution.

Calif.
A second speaker was introduced as Prentice Carter, BPP Prime Minister for the west coast and during his speech he reiterated many of the statements of Hall. He related that the black man must be prepared to die for freedom and the freedom of the black man around the world. The BPP will protect the blacks from the "racist pig cops" and the BPP should be recognized as the police for the black community. Carter was extremely militant in his presentation.

Calif. Mass.
The third speaker was Chico Nesbitt, leader of the Boston, Massachusetts BPP. He indicated that Newton is paying the supreme price for black freedom.

Between the third and fourth speakers, Shermont Banks, MC, introduced several leading members of the black community and David Sanchez, Prime Minister of the Brown Berets, a Mexican-American militant organization located in the Mexican-American community of Los Angeles, California. Sanchez made a brief statement eulogizing Newton for his achievement in that he killed a white policeman.

The fourth was Margaret Wright, who is active in the black nationalists movement in Los Angeles, California, and associated with the Black Congress, an organization which is an amalgamation of most of the militant black nationalists organizations in Los Angeles, California. She spoke concerning police brutality, of the military draft, and poor education for the Negroes in Los Angeles, California. She related that the majority of Negro servicemen were being killed in Vietnam and encouraged the Negroes to stand out against this racist war. The black man in Los Angeles, California, is presently receiving inferior education. He is only being instructed in the white man's history and heritage. She urged the black female to fight along-side and encourage her husband in the movement and the eventual revolution.

The last speaker on the program was Stokely Carmichael who was introduced as Prime Minister of the BPP. He spoke from 4:45 p.m. to 6:25 p.m. concerning "honkies" who have suppressed the black man and the rest of the world; the U. S. are imperialistic capitalists who must be destroyed. The black man's only enemy is the "honkie".

The black man must obtain weapons because "gun power is black power and is what the black man needs today". He said that there would be guerilla warfare if Newton is convicted and "pig cops" will be killed. If Newton is convicted, "it will be necessary for the Black Panthers to free him". If Newton is killed, all black nationalists and BPP leaders will be next. He criticized the government, socialism, capitalism and the war in Vietnam. He urged the black man to unite socially, economically, and militarily to avoid elimination.

All speakers were received enthusiastically and with loud ovations. The crowd was boisterous, noisy, but they were orderly. Persons in attendance were predominantly young Negroes who rapidly dispersed from the park when the rally terminated at 6:30 p.m. During the rally, a collection was taken, but the response was not enthusiastic.

Security and order were maintained by Negro males dressed in black berets, BPP T-shirts, and black leather jackets. There were no incidents of violence and no arrests were made by local authorities.

Majority of local press were denied access to park, but a selected two or three members of the news media were granted access to the rally. All news media had departed the rally before Carmichael spoke. The use of recording devices was denied to the press.

It was noted that Caucasians were discouraged from entering the park during the rally.

At the termination of the rally, the featured speakers adjourned to waiting vehicles for announced reception for Carmichael. The whereabouts of this reception was not made public.

A BPP rally was announced for Oakland, California on August 25, 1968, at which Stokely Carmichael would be featured.

Source Four on August 24, 1968 indicated that the BPP guard would be maintaining tight security at the Will Rogers Park Rally featuring Stokely Carmichael on this date. All persons entering the park would be frisked for recording devices, weapons, and cameras. They indicated that if anyone was found with recording devices or weapons, they would be confiscated by the BPP and would probably cause an incident provoking a riot.

All law enforcement agencies were urged to use discretion in covering the rally at Will Rogers Park.

Source Three, Four, Five, Six, and Seven were in attendance at the rally mentioned above and furnished similar information as was reported by agents of the FBI on August 24, 1968.

BLACK PANTHER PARTY
Also Known As
Black Panther Party for Self Defense

A source advised that the Black Panther Party for Self Defense (BPPSD) was formed by HUEY PERCY NEWTON, Minister of Defense, and BOBBY GEORGE SEALE, Chairman, in December, 1966, as a militant black nationalist political organization to combat "police brutality", to unite militant black youth, and to determine the destiny of black communities. The political philosophy was taken from writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of Communist China and black militant writers.

In March, 1968, the name of the organization was changed to Black Panther Party (BPP).

The official BPP publication, "The Black Panther Party - Black Community News Service", states that the BPP advocates use of guns and guerrilla tactics in their violent revolutionary program to end oppression of black people.

On February 17, 1968, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, Minister of Information, announced merger of the BPP and Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and bestowed title of Minister of Justice, BPP, upon H. RAPP BROWN, Chairman of SNCC.

SNCC is a militant Negro organization which preaches black supremacy.

NEWTON, aforementioned, is incarcerated in the Alameda County Jail, Oakland, California, awaiting trial on charge of murder of an Oakland police officer.

Headquarters of BPP and Huey P. Newton Defense Fund are located at 4421 Grove Street, Oakland, California.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

Two news sources who heard the talk from within the church stated CARMICHAEL said blacks should take power with guns and that blacks in Vietnam should be shooting white men. CARMICHAEL, on 7/27/68, talked with local Negro leaders [REDACTED] and said he advocated settling problems by whatever means were available, and that he could not accept theory that law and order benefits minority groups. (NOW), had said that NOW had invited STOKELY CARMICHAEL, former chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), to speak in Mobile. (A characterization of SNCC is attached hereto.) [redacted] wanted CARMICHAEL to speak on July 19, 1968 and had tried to rent the Mobile Municipal Auditorium, which was not available for that date.

On July 8, 1968, [redacted] Mobile Municipal Auditorium, advised [redacted] that date had requested to rent the Auditorium for July 26, 1968 for a political lecture, making a deposit of $250 for one-half the base rental. He said that [redacted] NOW, which group was sponsoring the program. Later on that date [redacted] that the principal speaker for the occasion would be STOKELY CARMICHAEL and that the program would start at 8:30 P.M. and would last for about three hours.

He said that Mobile did not have any powerful speakers among the Negroes who could reach the white community or who could be used for fund raising activities. He said a letter had

On July 29, 1968, [redacted] advised that he had attended the speech by CARMICHAEL on the night of July 26, 1968, at which time CARMICHAEL spoke from about 8:05 P.M. to about 10:00 P.M. CARMICHAEL said that the black man needs to have a gun because he must take what he gets, and that the Negroes should admire other Negroes who are in penitentiaries because they had the guts to take what they wanted. CARMICHAEL said that non-violence died with MARTIN LUTHER KING. He said that CARMICHAEL told the group that if Negro policemen gave them a bad time, they (the policemen) must be gotten rid of. He said he did not want a white woman, but he wanted to go to school and study the same books in the same schools as white people.

[redacted] advised on July 27, 1968 that he had attended the speech by CARMICHAEL the night of July 26, 1968, and that CARMICHAEL had spoken for about two hours and 45 minutes. He reported that CARMICHAEL said the white man never knew anything but violence and had been taught to kill. CARMICHAEL said that Russia, Cuba, Africa and Vietnam were standing up to the United States, but CARMICHAEL did not praise these countries.

CARMICHAEL said that all men should be treated the same, but it was impossible for the black man to get a gun and have it out with the white men, as the whites have had guns all their lives and the Negroes cannot get enough guns to declare war on the whites. He said the only thing the blacks could afford was a box of matches. CARMICHAEL said that the black policemen should have the right to arrest all violators and not just Negroes. CARMICHAEL did not specifically urge any violence but told the black people to stick together.

He (Stokley Carmichael) started talking about the black people getting together. He said, the white man thinks that when the black people get together they think in terms of a riot, of looting, but actually the white man don't want the black people to get together, because, he, the white man, has had them separated so long. They like to keep the black people apart because the white man figured if he can keep the black people apart he can conquer them or whatever he aims to do. All the time talk about black people can't be proud of themselves because they don't actually know anything about themselves. When they start talking about themselves then they would be proud of themselves or should be proud. He was talking about Africa and said if you asked the Negro where he came from then he would say, from Choctaw County, or I am an American, or I'm this or that. Actually he said, the black people really come from Africa. How they really got here was the white man went over there and took and brought the black people and made slaves out of them and made them live in this country and the way it is now. He also said about who discovered America - and they tell you Christopher Columbus discovered America when actually it wasn't Christopher Columbus because when Christopher Columbus got here the Indian was already here. He talked about when the black people getting together they start disturbances and violence when actually this Country was maintained by the white man through violence. That's how he maintained his Country. Said, we tell the other Countries get rid of your weapons, don't make no more atomic bombs, don't make no more of this, when actually he's got all the atomic bombs that he needs and all the weapons he needs to maintain this Country, and tells everybody else put your gun down. Actually the black people themselves are going to have to stop fighting and killing among themselves because the white man really don't care nothing about the black man when he starts fighting and killing themselves because the Police can stop and look at a group of Negroes out there fighting and cutting and killing one another and they actually don't be concerned with them until they go downtown somewhere or some white project and start doing that then he be concerned, then he start getting the tanks and the National Guard and everything in trying to suppress the Negro. He said if the black people start forgetting what the white man tells him and starts being proud of themselves then he can realize that he's got a part in this Country like anybody else because he built it. The Country was maintained with the low laborer and the Negro who works for nothing and built this Country, picked the cotton and the white man got the cotton and he actually sold it right back to the Negro for actually double for what he had to pay to go pick the cotton.

PAGE THREE:

[REDACTED] He named Communist Countries, Red China, Russia and Cuba and he said that was the three Countries that the United States did not control and that even in Vietnam today they trying to control that Country by force. They should not be over there fighting them people, the Negro in particular because they don't know how to call you a Nigger no way, and you shouldn't be over there fighting them people because them people hadn't did anything to you to fight. We don't have any reason to be over there to fight them. He went on to say his daddy, his mama, his parents were Toms in there day but he wasn't going to be no Tom today nor were his sisters. In that incident in Cleveland the two mistakes that were made were that they after they shot these policemen, instead of getting their guns they forgot, and after an act of violence they should have taken off and once after killing these policemen they should have gotten their guns because they need every gun they can get there hands on. Then he got on the teachers about the money they make and they wouldn't contribute to the cause by donating funds because a lot of times they would say some things and get themselves fired. They was afraid to speak out and they should give the money to him and he would buy more guns.

(Question asked: Did he say anything about what they were going to do with the guns after they got them?)

[REDACTED] No, he didn't make no direct remark as to what would be done but in essence he was saying, the way he talking, to measuring if the white man does something to you, use it, an

(Question asked: Did he say anything about burning?)

[REDACTED] Well, he mentioned that in the question and answer session. Someone asked him about burning Mobile. Was Mobile ready to be burned and he said it depended on the white man whether Mobile is ready to be burned. He wouldn't just say burn anything. He said it depended on the white man, he would be the determining factor whether Mobile would be burned or not. He was also asked would he return to Mobile. He said, well, after he leaves and if the Brothers are together and he can see the results, chances are he would be willing to return but until such time, chances are that he wouldn't.

[REDACTED] He also was asked a question, would he have another speaking engagement here in Mobile, and his answer was that he would be here tomorrow at 2 o'clock, at the same church, and he would be back and get them in groups and this group he would talk to them and teach them to organize. He also told them that they was foolish if they would start burning and start throwing bricks now because they had the National Guard waiting. Wait and when they National Guard go back, then they can do what they want to do, get them a color TV and go home with it and sit down and watch it and then they would call out the National Guard back out and when they put them back in then do what you going to do again.

PAGE FIVE:

(Question asked: Did he ever make any statements about what to do?)

[REDACTED] No sir, he wouldn't go that far.

(Question asked: Didn't you say he made a statement not to do anything now but wait a couple of weeks after I've gone or something like that?)

[REDACTED] No sir, he said this, he would see after he's gone whether you're taking heed to what he's talking about and then he'll read about it and he'll know what he talked about you understood. He didn't tell them to do it. He didn't, he did say he wasn't going to say anything he would be put in jail for. Yes sir, he did say that. He said when he goes to jail, he's going to jail for doing something, not talking. But he did say about the guns, he said, every black man needs a gun. He said the white man got a gun, you need a gun.

[REDACTED] No, he didn't.

(Question asked: He did say that good had come out of the burning in other cities though?)

[REDACTED] He didn't tell us directly to burn it down but he did tell us that good had come out of the burning of other cities. (In a sly way tell you it was the thing to do?)

[REDACTED] That's right.

[REDACTED] Somebody asked a question if all Negro officers resign on the police force, do you think they should or do you think that's the best thing for them to do. He said then, that you really didn't need no policemen in the Negro neighborhood, because you have your own police force and said when you get your own police force you don't need no other policemen come in your neighborhood. All that go on in your neighborhood and the only thing you can do yourselves in your neighborhood is fighting among yourselves and if you had your own force then you could take care of it, any disturbance that take place in your neighborhood. You wouldn't need these other people coming in. He also said about the traitors, like a you don't call them Uncle Toms, the ones that come down or go down to City Hall or go downtown and get a pat on the back and go back and tell everything's alright. When actually they do more harm to you, than actually the white man, himself. He said, actually what you ought to do, when you get somebody like that, you treat them as a traitor, you get rid of them. How he say get rid of them he wouldn't say I'll kill him or shoot him down just like they do in Cuba . In Cuba they shot their traitors. When they run downtown they are traitors.

[REDACTED] He also said the Police aren't anygood for the black people and the only thing the Police are good for is an Army for the people when you start destroying their property. They think more of the property, the protection of property, than a human life. He also stated that's when you call the National Guard out. Throw a brick through a window or start burning then you call the National Guard but not for taking a life.

PAGE SEVEN:

[REDACTED] He said that some would die, he stated that whatever took place - but, a, take Labor Day for instance, he said, maybe 800 or 900 would die labor day, so why don't you just stop Labor Day altogether. And fighting and fretting among yourselves, he said, well, the white man, he's in accord with that because you're steady destroying yourselves. What you're going to have to do is learn to love each other. And about areas that young girls, 15 years old, walking the streets pregnant, keeping out, standing on corners and don't have jobs and he asked if your heart didn't ache seeing this sort of type thing happen. Where people stand on the corner, up and down the street, and not working.

Question asked: What did he say about preachers that wouldn't let him have the auditorium?)

[REDACTED] He made the statement again, that is, those people that is not in accord; well you treat them as traitors. If he ride around in a Cadillac, then you should ride around in a Cadillac. He live in a fine house, then he think you should live in a fine house and he couldn't see why he have to ride around in a Cadillac and you couldn't. And what's it boiling down to, he should not be driving around in a Cadillac and there are ways and means to eliminate that.

[REDACTED] He said, those people, the churches actually belongs to the people. He said, when he's so bad, such a sinner, the preachers should want him in church. Maybe the preachers can straighten him out or maybe he can straighten the preachers out.

PAGE EIGHT:

[REDACTED]

He said, but actually the preachers, almost all the preachers in town, wouldn't want to let him use on account of what the white man would say after he's gone. Just like the ILA Hall, he said, they wouldn't let him use the ILA Hall because the white power structure got to somebody down there and wouldn't let them use that, so that's what they keep doing all the time. Keep telling other black people not to help one another. And he said those kind of people that actually not with the cause, they're nothing but traitors. He said, something should be did about them. He wouldn't say to shoot them down. He said the church belong to the people and if the people can't use the church, there wouldn't be any church.

[REDACTED] The church holds 350 and I'd say 200 was standing and crowded inside in the doorway. On the outside maybe 300 or 400 people. All ages of people, the majority were young people. About a, one-third was there that I know and [REDACTED] know was addicts and they don't mean anygood, I'll tell you that. He got this boy from this Black Panther group with him out of California. He had one big boy outside, big husky boy. [REDACTED] was with him. And this other boy that he's from California, helped organize this Panther group with this one that's in jail now for shooting these policemen in Cleveland. The, this one fellow outside, he's bigger me and [REDACTED] put together. He wouldn't introduce himself. He wanted to know who we was, why we was going in and out.

(Question asked: What was the reaction of the crowd?)

[REDACTED] They was real responsive, very much so. Especially when he'd say, when you throw a brick and you start looting, you're taking what's yours. You're taking what the white man took from you and they respond to this. The white man beat you out of that and he took it from you so you just take it, it's yours.

Question asked: He mention the boycott?

[REDACTED] The only thing he said about the boycott was that the black people ought to keep their money in their pocket. He told, after he got through talking, that he, he said, I'll never go to jail for talking. When I go to jail I'll go for doing and eating. That's when he said, I'll see how well ya'll understand what I'm talking about tonight after I'm gone. I'll read about it. That's when somebody asked him if he had another speaking engagement here in Mobile. He said, yes, tomorrow at 2 o'clock. This will be for more serious people that want to organize. At 2 o'clock be back here in groups and we will pair you off in groups and will organize.

[REDACTED] On Communism he said he didn't know whether there could be any world worse than what we are already confronted with in the United States.

[REDACTED] He said, if the Communists took this Country over, America over, it couldn't be any worse for the black people. It probably be better because you about as low as you can go now. You can't go no lower, you probably go up.

[REDACTED]

The way these people responded to him and the way he's saying about the National Guard and about the destruction of property it will happen, probably after he's gone. He told them this, he said, you get you a color TV and go home and enjoy it when the National Guard come out. When they go back in, they can't keep bringing them back in, just cool it, and when they go back in just loot some more. That's the only time he said about looting. And said the only mistake they made in Cleveland, the Brothers up there, was when they killed those policemen and run they didn't take their guns.

b6
b7D

[REDACTED] He said, what the white man tell you, we want to stop the bombing in Vietnam. From now on we going to stop making the bombs, atomic, all types of destructive weapons. He said, you got the atomic bomb, all the missiles and everything all stacked back. Then they go to the other Countries and say, we going to come to a settlement and not manufacture anymore guns. That's what he tells the other people when actually he's got all the guns to defend themselves, to keep the other people suppressed. That's what he tells the black man, you don't really need a gun. You don't really need a gun, but he's got two or three guns hanging on his side. Naturally you going to have to listen to the man because you don't have a gun and really you need a gun yourself. That would be equal. We have no reason to have no differences among ourselves, between the two of us.

On the evening of July 26, 1968, STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke at the old Warren Street Methodist Church, 304 North Warren Street, for approximately two hours, which rally was sponsored by the Neighborhood Organized Workers (NOW).

A portion of CARMICHAEL's speech was heard over a loud-speaker broadcast to those outside the church.

CARMICHAEL throughout his speech made statements that, "Political power comes from the barrels of guns and all black men should get guns".

He further stated the "black men" made a mistake in Cleveland, Ohio, in that they did not take the guns of the three policemen who were killed in that city in the recent past. CARMICHAEL generally characterized as heroes the snipers who ambushed and killed the three white policemen in Cleveland, Ohio. He described this as even better than what had happened previously in Watts and Detroit.

During the course of CARMICHAEL's speech he made several references to the fact that there were three ways to get things--to beg, to work or to take them. He stated the first two had been tried and now it is time to try something else.

CARMICHAEL described the United States as an imperialist country in that the U. S. stole raw products from other countries and then sold the finished products back to the countries at high prices.

He was overheard to generally praise Russia, Cuba, Red China and North Viet Nam and praise the Viet Cong for standing up to the United States.

~~He made many references to the white race as~~

"Honkies" and accused the white man of lying and continuing to lie to the "black man".

He stated the "black soldiers" in Viet Nam should be shooting the whites and not the Viet Cong.

CARMICHAEL made many references to the fact that the "black man" must unite against the white race if they were to succeed in securing political power.

A great many of CARMICHAEL's statements could not be understood due to the poor quality of transmission from the loud-speaker, as well as the general noise coming from inside the church and from the street immediately in front of the church.

EXCERPTS FROM STOKELY CARMICHAEL'S ADDRESS

(Carmichael was introduced by Noble Beasley, president of the ALA Neighborhood Organized Workers, after comments by the Rev. Nathaniel ~~CIVIL~~ ~~CLUB~~, who warned "white reporters" not to take pictures unless authorized.)

Carmichael began his address ~~by~~ with a tribute to the late Dr. Martin Luther King, saying, "Wherever he is, he's digging it."

"Dr. King would have stopped violence," the Black Power leader said. "but nonviolence died with Dr. King."

Carmichael praised Russia, Cuba, Red China, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong for "standing up" to the United States, which he described as "the monster of the world."

He lauded the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong for preventing the ~~United~~ United States from controlling Vietnam, declaring, "They had rather die than bow down to any white man."

Turning to the U.S. domestic front, Carmichael predicted that a ~~xxx~~ "confrontation" is fast approaching between blacks and whites. The trouble is, he said, that the average Negro fears the white man. "It's much better for whites to fear us."

The Black Power leader, who was wearing what appeared to be a Mao Tse-tung shirt, paused at this juncture to assail the so-called

"honkie" (derogatory term for white) press. "You can't believe what you read in the white man's paper. He (the white man) lies and will continue to lie."

At this point Carmichael excoriated "Tarzan," calling him a figment of the white man designed to help suppress the true image of the black man. He expressed mock bewilderment as to why Edgar Rice Burroughs (creator of Tarzan) failed to choose a black man for the role of the agile jungle man.

He urged blacks (he doesn't like the term Negro) to be proud of their African heritage, ~~emphax~~ emphasizing that Africa is the richest continent in the world.

Unfortunately, Carmichael contended, the whites "are stealing it just like they stole us."

"Africa has the most beautiful women in the world," he stated ~~prxx~~ proudly.

Returning to the United States again, Carmichael lamented the fact that the "black man's mind is whitewashed. We need to tell the truth and blackwash our minds."

Commenting on the Kennedy family, he asserted that if they had to work for money, they would be the "pporest honkies in the world."

Carmichael said blacks should not "pray or beg for power, but take it ~~frxxx~~ (from the honkie power structure) with a gun." He reasoned that whites took ~~the~~ this country from the Indians with weapons and took Negroes into slavery with the same approach. "You take things with guns," he said.

"LBJ ain't taking Vietnam with nonviolence," he chuckled.

"We blacks ain't scared of ~~xxxxxx~~ violence; we're afraid of whites," he said, ~~explaining~~ explaining that by 3 a.m. Mobile jails would be filled with Negroes charged with disorderly conduct, drunkenness ~~xx~~ and assault and battery.

Carmichael, who remarked that he once lived in Selma, Ala., ranted that the white man had taught "us to hate ourselves."

Thus, it is highly important for blacks to unite and love each other. "To destroy this country we must have an undying love for each of ~~fx~~ our fellow black men," he said, encouraging listeners to follow the predicates set by Cassius Clay, ~~and~~ Rap Brown and Black Panther leader Huey Newton.

Carmichael characterized as "heroes" Negro snipers who ambushed and killed three white policemen in Cleveland, Ohio. He described the murders as even better than what happened previously in Watts and Detroit.

He then paused to ask what black soldiers ~~xxxxxx~~ are doing in Vietnam. "What are they fighting for. Those little yellow men never bought or sold us in slavery. You know who the blacks should be shooting-whites."

He said insurrectionists learned something in Cleveland--they must obtain equipment to match armored cars used by Cleveland police.

"Every nigger is a potential black man," Carmichael said. Those who cooperate with the ~~x~~ honkie power structure are not Uncle Toms but "traitors," he said.

"You know what you have to do with traitors," Carmichael ~~xxxx~~ shouted rubbing his ~~finger~~ ~~gin~~ finger across his throat in a slashing manner.

Speaking admiringly of Cuban Dictator Fidel Castro, he pointed out that Castro has "traitors" placed against ^{the} wall and shot.

Carmichael angrily denounced Negro policemen, describing them as pawns for the "honkies." "Some try to out-honkie ~~the~~ the honkies," he said, adding that "Someone ought to talk with them."

He rapped Isom Clemon, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, for not permitting him to speak at the ILA Hall. (Firebombs were thrown at the hall several days after the Black Power leader departed.

"Some of our people try to be honkies, but can't even be good honkies," Carmichael said.

"If a white man tells you something is good for you, shoot it on sight," he said.

Carmichael quoted Chinese Communist Leader Mao ~~ix~~ Tse-tung as saying, "Political power ~~grows~~ grows out of the barrel of a gun." Therefore, for Negroes to achieve proper status in American society, they must take power from the white power structure through armed insurrection, he said.

He said Negroes ^{can} ~~could~~ keep on reading Abraham Lincoln if they want to, but he personally prefers Mao Tse-tung and North Vietnamese Leader Ho Chi Minh.

Carmichael praised Black ~~ix~~ Panther Leader Huey P. Newton, who is currently in a California jail for killing a white policeman and critically wounding another, for analyzing the presence of white policemen in Negro areas.

Newton, through a brilliant process of reasoning, concluded that ~~the~~

the white police were actually "occupation forces" sent into black sections to keep "blacks in place." He quoted Newton as saying, "While the police are patrolling us, we're going to patrol them." So Newton did with a gun, Carmichael said.

Carmichael argued that white police do not live in Negro communities; hence, they have no right to enter such areas.

The only areas in which whites excel blacks, Carmichael said, are in murdering and stealing.

Commenting again on Dr. Martin Luther ~~Kkk~~ King, he said it is no use to talk about ~~xxxxx~~ nonviolence any longer. "Ain't no use to preach it and be ~~x~~ killed," he laughed.

2 "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth," Carmichael quoted from the Holy Bible. "It's about time we took it," he shouted.

But to take it, he said, blacks must have guns. "If you've got the gun, you've got everything," he said. "If white men have a gun, you should have one, too,"

Once Negroes obtain guns, then they can talk "business" with whites, ~~xxxxx~~ Carmichael said.

He said blacks are in the beginning phase of an armed struggle against the American government, or white ~~xxx~~ power structure. The actual revolution will take place after blacks (militants) assume control of the government, he said.

Carmichael said blacks should wage ~~xxxxxxx~~ guerrilla ~~xxxxx~~ warfare against the ~~xxxxx~~ honkie power structure in the same manner that the Viet Cong are fighting American forces in South Vietnam.

He called America an "imperialist country" that steals raw goods from the rest of the world for its own enrichment.

Carmichael expressed hope that George Wallace wins the presidency, saying that ~~this~~ this would trigger the Black Revolution earlier than anticipated.

Actually, he maintained, blacks should refrain from voting for any of the presidential candidates. ~~Thx~~

"There's no need to vote," Carmichael said. "A vote's no good unless it has a gun behind it."

2 ~~Mr~~ Elaborating on the coming Black Revolution, he informed whites, "We may die, but a whole lot of you are, ~~not~~ too."

Quoting from Ho Chi Minh, Carmichael said defeating the United States is not a question of numbers but of "the will of the people."

[REDACTED] filed the following story with Associated Press following CARMICHAEL's speech the night of July 26, 1968.

MOBILE, ALA. (AP)-BLACK POWER ADVOCATE STOKELY CARMICHAEL URGED A CROWD OF MOBILE NEGROES FRIDAY NIGHT TO TAKE POLITICAL POWER AWAY FROM THE WHITES WITH A GUN.

"DON'T PRAY FOR POWER, DON'T BEG FOR POWER, TAKE IT WITH A GUN BARREL," HE SHOUTED. THE NEGROES APPLAUDED ENTHUSIASTICALLY.

POLICE ESTIMATED THAT THE GATHERING NUMBERED ABOUT 600. ABOUT 20 WHITES, INCLUDING SEVERAL CATHOLIC PRIESTS, WERE AMONG THEM.

"WE MUST CREAT THE MAXIMUM DAMAGE WITH A MINIMUM OF LOSSES OF BLACK PEOPLE. - AND THAT IS THROUGH GUERILLA WARFARE," CARMICHAEL ADDED.

AGAIN THE NEGROES ROARED APPROVAL.

"TO DESTORY THIS COUNTRY WE MUST HAVE AN UNDERLYING LOVE FOR EACH OF OUR FELLOW BLACK MEN," HE DECLARED.

HE SAID, "AFTER ALL, EVERY 'NIGGER' IS A POTENTIAL BLACK MAN."

THE FORMER HEAD OF THE STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE SAID OF THE REVOLUTION, "A LOT OF US MAY DIE BUT A LOT OF WHITES ARE GOING TO DIE TOO."

HE TOLD THE CROWD NOT TO WORRY ABOUT NUMBERS BECAUSE THE WILL TO WIN IS WHAT COUNTS. "IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE ME, READ THE BIBLE STORY OF DAVID AND GOLIATH AND IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE THAT READ HO CHI MINH."

CARMICHAEL THEN WENT ON TO CRITICIZE NEGRO SOLDIERS WHO ARE FIGHTING IN VIETNAM.

"THEY SHOULD BE SHOOTING WHITE MEN AND NOT YELLOW MEN," HE SAID. AGAIN THE CROWD ROARED APPROVAL.

"THE VIET CONG NEVER HURT E BACK MAN." HE SAID THE VIET CONG WOULD RATHER DIE THAN GIVE THEIR COUNTRY TO THE WHITE MAN AND ADDED THAT SO TOO MUST THE BLACK MAN.

CARMICHAEL STATED THAT THE WHITE MAN DID NOT WORK TO GET AMERICA, HE DIDN'T BEG FOR AMERICA, HE SIMPLY TOOK IT FROM THE INDIANS, "JUST LIKE HE IS TRYING TO DO IN VIETNAM NOW." HE SAID THE ONLY THING THE WHITE MAN HAD DONE FOR THE BLACK MAN WAS TO SELL HIM.

THE BLACK MAN IS NOT AS LAZY AS THE WHITE-WASHERS SAY, HE CONTINUED. "WE WORK THE HARDEST FOR THE LOWEST PAY. WHO PICKS THE COTTON AND DIGS THE DITCHES FOR $3 A DAY? WE DO. SO YOU SEE, WE HAVE WORKED THE HARDEST AND GOT NOTHING SO WE MUST TAKE WHAT WE WANT."

CARMICHAEL SPOKE FOR MORE THAN TWO HOURS AND CONCLUDED HIS APPEARANCE WITH A QUESTION AND ANSWER SESSION. THE SPEECH WAS DELIVERED IN AN AFRO-AMERICAN SCHOOL IN MOBILE'S PREDOMINANTLY NORTHSIDE SECTION.

THE BUILDING FORMERLY SERVED AS A NEGRO METHODIST CHURCH.

ABOUT 350 PERSONS JAMMED INTO THE SWELTERING SCHOOL AND ANOTHER 300 OR MORE STOOD OUTSIDE IN A HOT, WINDLESS NIGHT STRAINING TO HEAR.

CARMICHAEL WAS THE GUEST OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD ORGANIZED WORKERS (NOW) WHICH IS DEMANDING THAT THE CITY OF MOBILE CREATE A 40 PER CENT RATIO OF NEGRO TO WHITE CITY EMPLOYEES.

NOBLE BEASLEY, NOW PRESIDENT, HAS LED SEVERAL MARCHES AND DEMONSTRATIONS IN THE MOBILE AREA AND SOME NOW MEMBERS HAVE BEEN JAILED.

SOURCES IN WASHINGTON HAD SAID EARLIER FRIDAY THAT CARMICHAEL WAS EN ROUTE TO LONDON. HOWEVER, WHEN HE ARRIVED AT MOBILE AIRPORT FRIDAY AFTERNOON A LARGE CONTINGENT OF CITY POLICE, SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES, U. S. MARSHALS, ALABAMA STATE TROOPERS AND FBI AGENTS WERE ON HAND.

POLICE CHIEF JAMES J. ROBINSON SAID MOBILE'S POLICE FORCE WAS ON A 12-HOUR SHIFT BASIS. HE NOTED THAT ADDITIONAL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS ARE IN THE CITY IN CASE OF ANY DISTURBANCES. NO INCIDENTS HAD BEEN REPORTED BY MIDNIGHT FRIDAY.

CARMICHAEL, NOTABLY ABSENT FROM PUBLIC APPEARANCES SINCE HIS MARRIAGE TO FOLK SINGER MIRIAM MAKEBU, REPORTEDLY PLANNED TO LEAVE THE MOBILE AREA SATURDAY. HE DECLINED TO TELL NEWSMEN OF HIS PLANS.

On August 2, 1968, [redacted] advised Special Agents [redacted] that he felt that the visit by CARMICHAEL to Mobile was good for the City of Mobile, since it enabled all Civil Rights leaders to gather together with an impartial outsider to discuss their problems. He said CARMICHAEL proposed the organization of all Civil Rights groups into a loose federation which would meet periodically to discuss problems and also had gotten the various leaders to agree that no one leader should visit City Hall to represent the Negroes of Mobile, but rather a group of three leaders representing the different groups should make the contacts with City Hall. [redacted] he knew nothing concerning any statements by CARMICHAEL favoring any Communist Governments, and in discussions with CARMICHAEL had not heard such mentioned.

He said CARMICHAEL was strictly for the Negro race in all his conversations and did not urge any violence by Negroes in Mobile. He said that he had no plans to invite CARMICHAEL back to Mobile.

The August 3-4, 1968 issue of The Southern Courier, a weekly newspaper published at Montgomery, Alabama, reported that STOKELY CARMICHAEL had spoken in Mobile on July 26, 1968 to more than 1,000 people and had expounded the concept of Black Power. On the subject of the war, CARMICHAEL reportedly said that people of color have a common bond, and the Viet Cong will not let America control them. This article reported that CARMICHAEL made the following statement:

"We are the hardest-working people in this country, but we are the lowest paid. There are three ways to get things -- you work for it, you beg for it, or you take it. When the white man came to America, he didn't work for it, he didn't beg for it--he took it."

During this meeting, CARMICHAEL was asked a number of questions by the people present and among the questions was whether or not CARMICHAEL advocated violence. CARMICHAEL replied that he advocates settling problems by whatever means are available. CARMICHAEL also was asked if he thought that a Negro revolt could succeed, noting the failure of the Hungarian revolt. CARMICHAEL commented to this that he does not advocate confrontation with the military, as was the case in Hungary, as the Negroes certainly could not win against the military. CARMICHAEL also was asked if he felt that violence was contrary to the philosophy of the late Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING, but left the matter up in the air without a definitive answer.

CARMICHAEL told the group that he could not accept the theory that the system of law and order benefits minority groups, as he does not feel it has benefitted the Negro, as Negroes do not have full freedom.

[REDACTED] CARMICHAEL spoke at the Old Warren Street Methodist Church on the afternoon of July 27, 1968, beginning about 3:15 p.m. and speaking until about 5:20 p.m. CARMICHAEL said that the black people were ready to fight fire with fire and repeated that it was time for the Negro to take what he wanted. Concerning Viet Nam, CARMICHAEL said that Negro soldiers should not shoot the Viet Cong, but should shoot the white men beside and behind them. CARMICHAEL said that the Communists were better to the Negroes than others were. Concerning the coming presidential election, CARMICHAEL said that he hoped former Alabama Governor GEORGE WALLACE was elected president, as this would make CARMICHAEL a bigger man. CARMICHAEL said that white people say Negroes are lazy, but related a story about how hard the Negro works. CARMICHAEL commented on the refusal of the city to allow him to speak in the City Auditorium and stated that if the auditorium was not good enough for STOKELY it was not good enough for anyone. He also said that if the ILA Hall in Mobile, which had been denied to CARMICHAEL for a speech, was not good enough for STOKELY the hall was no good and should be gotten rid of.

Carmichael stated to the people that he wasn't expecting a crowd as large as was there (there were about 750 including those outside the Church) and that it would be much too large to break into groups to teach about organizing. He said that he would have a question and answer session instead. There were oral questions directed to him [redacted]

Some of the questions asked are as follows:

Question: Were white people setting up concentration camps for the black people?

Carmichael referred this question [redacted]

Answer: [redacted] there were 25 such camps and that these camps were from various bases that had been phased out and when black people got out of line they were put there. He said that within a 24 hour period, 50,000 black people could be put in these camps.

Question: When looting and burning happen, why in black ghettos?

Carmichael referred [redacted]

b7C

Answer: [redacted] black people didn't own businesses as they were run by honkeys' who also held the mortgages and ran the insurance companies. It didn't make any sense to go to another neighborhood to burn and to spread out from the ghetto area and be hemmed up by the honkey and be destroyed by getting caught.

Question: Concerning the Black Panther Movement -

Answer: [redacted] it was getting better and better. The movement started in Watts and went to Detroit and then other cities. Cox also talked about Cleveland and said that the greatest mistakes made there was when they killed the police they didn't get there guns and when they hit they didn't get out but stayed.

Question: On how to get guns -

Answer: Carmichael answered and said there was only three ways to get what you want, work; beg; or take it. He said when he was in Harlem, he went to the 5 & 10¢ store and bought rubber bands, two pieces of wood and got an antenna from a car, made a gun and shot 22's from it. He said if you want guns bad enough you can get them. Carmichael said that in Vietnam when the white honkey tells you to take that arsenal, you take it, and when your black brother tells you to go to the police station, there's guns in it, you go get them. He said that the gun law won't hurt because the honkey will sell you anything for a dollar, even his mother.

At approximately 3:09 p.m. on July 27, 1968, STOKELY CARMICHAEL addressed a gathering at the Old Warren Street Methodist Church in Mobile, Alabama. STOKELY CARMICHAEL told the gathering that in their struggle for power there could be no division within the ranks of the Negroes. CARMICHAEL stated, however, that presently existing in the country, which is nullifying the efforts of the Negro to achieve power, was the existence of a class of Negroes whom he termed as house Negroes as compared to the majority of Negroes whom he classified as the field Negroes.

CARMICHAEL advised that the house Negro was one who worked for the white man, received the white man's hand-me-down clothes and who, on occasion, had tea, food and drink with the white man. CARMICHAEL stated that the house Negro was one who owed everything to the white man and consequently he referred to the white man as being a good fellow and accordingly was not in sympathy with the present movement of the Negro to gain black power. CARMICHAEL referred to the house Negroes as being "Uncle Toms".

CARMICHAEL stated that the field Negroes were the ones on whose strength the success or failure of the Negro movement depended and that the field Negro should pay no heed to the advice received from the house Negro not to participate in demonstrations, marches and the like. CARMICHAEL told the gathering that if they are field Negroes and work for a house Negro and this house Negro, in the course of their work, maltreats them or issues instructions that they do not desire to do, "then kill the house Negro too." CARMICHAEL told the gathering that Mobile was not a white man's town but was the Negro's town, for the Negro built it through labor and hard work and that since Mobile was their town, if they felt that they wanted to burn it then "since it is your town, go ahead and burn it."

CARMICHAEL told the gathering that if the field Negro

On the afternoon of July 27, 1968, STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke at the Old Warren Street Methodist Church on Warren Street between Davis Avenue and Congress Street, a portion of which was overheard. CARMICHAEL talked about the coalition of all black civil rights groups into a general unification of pride in the black race. CARMICHAEL stated that Negroes should seek a base of political power and that they should not be afraid of violence. He said that Negroes are divided into two classes, the "house niggers" and the other type, "field niggers". CARMICHAEL stated that the "field niggers" work twelve to eighteen hours a day and are suppressed and submerged by the white power structure and have nothing to show for their existence except for the color of their black skins. On the other hand, however, the "house nigger", according to CARMICHAEL, is a favorite of the white power structure since he caters to their every wish, receiving all the hand-me-downs, for example, all old dresses plus the knowledge that all his needs will be taken care of his entire life. In return, the "house nigger" supplies information to the white man on all the "field niggers", telling the white man what the white man wants to know. He stated the "house nigger" tries to imitate the white man in speech and even "drinks tea" with the white man. As a result the "field nigger" desires what the "house nigger" has and so will eventually gang up on the "house nigger" in order to keep the unified coalition of blacks for black's good.

VIOLENCE OCCURRING IN THE MOBILE, ALABAMA AREA FOLLOWING CARMICHAEL'S APPEARANCE

The August 6, 1968, issue of The Mobile Register, a daily newspaper published at Mobile, Alabama, reported that Birmingham, Alabama Fire Chief JOHN SWINDLE spoke in Mobile on August 6, 1968, before the Alabama Fire Chiefs Association meeting at the Sheraton Battle House Hotel. He criticized the U. S. Department of Justice for not prosecuting STOKELY CARMICHAEL. Chief SWINDLE exhibited to the group a copy of The Mobile Register of Monday, August 5, 1968, headlining destruction of three businesses in the Toulminville area by firebombs the previous night. Chief SWINDLE noted that the firebombings occurred a little over a week after an address by CARMICHAEL in Mobile.

News sources at Mobile have reported various fires of undetermined origin occurring in Mobile following speeches by STOKELY CARMICHAEL. A chronological list of these fires, as obtained on September 3, 1968, from [redacted]

1. At 11:09 p.m., July 26, 1968, a fire apparently started by a firebomb thrown into the front door slightly damaged Berman's Loan Office, a pawnshop at 1112 Davis Avenue. There was no damage to the interior and the fire was extinguished shortly.

On September 9, 1968, [redacted] Prichard, Alabama Fire Department, furnished the following information concerning fires in the jurisdiction of the Prichard Fire Department:

On August 8, 1968, at 9:55 p.m., fire was reported at 1117 West Main Street, Prichard, location of Prine's Grocery Store. Investigation revealed a firebomb bottle was thrown up against the building and witnesses reported seeing two or three Negro boys run from the area. On August 8, 1968, another report at 11:46 p.m., concerned a fire at Kozy Krewe Drive-In, 1212 Prichard

On September 6, 1968, [redacted] Mobile Police Department, advised that there had been three other fires recently in Mobile reflecting the use of firebombs. He said that on the night of September 4-5, 1968, a firebomb was thrown at the rear of Buster's Eagle Pawnshop, 650 Davis Avenue. A guard inside the building heard the noise and went to the rear where he found the firebomb and extinguished it without any damage to the building and without the fire department being called.

[redacted] on September 5, 1968, shortly after midnight, Berman's Loan Office, 1112 Davis Avenue, was slightly damaged by a firebomb which was put out immediately without the fire department being called and without any damage being done to the building.

[redacted] at about 1:00 a.m., September 5, 1968, the main building of the Ford Lumber Company, 2451 St. Stephens Road, was destroyed by fire, which reportedly was started by firebombs. [redacted] the primary responsibility for investigation of arson matters in Mobile is with the office of Fire Marshal C. W. ZUBER. Investigation by the Mobile Police Department, in conjunction with and assistance to Marshal ZUBER has been made concerning the different fires occurring in Mobile's jurisdiction and no information has been developed to identify the person or persons responsible for these fires.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S. W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "you better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note, Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover,
Director Federal Bureau of Investigation,

Dear Sir,

I am enclosing a clipping from the St. Louis Post-Despatch about a speech made recently in St. Louis by Stokely Carmichael. Please read the first three or four paragraphs and tell me why this man can not be prosecuted for advocating the overthrow of the Government of the United States.

Not only this statement but many statements he has made in the past, his visits to Communist countries North Viet Nam, China and so forth.

So please tell me why this man is allowed to preach revolution and hatred for his fellow man in this great nation of ours.

ENCLOSURE

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1968

Missourians Indifferent to Some Call Him 'Humphrey'

By FRED W. LINDECKE
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 — The Missouri delegation to the Democratic convention gave bland approval yesterday to the selection of Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine as the party's vice-presidential nominee.

It showed strong support for Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's handling of security for the convention and displayed mixed emotions about a spontaneous demonstration for the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

Most Missouri delegates did not seem concerned about the selection of Muskie by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the party's presidential nominee. They had wanted Humphrey as the presidential nominee and after succeeding in this, they had little opinion about Muskie.

Humphrey's Agnew

A few delegates offered facetious reactions to Muskie. "He's Humphrey's Agnew," said one, referring to the selection of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew as the Republican vice-presidential candidate.

"Spiro Muskie?" another delegate asked jokingly.

"Connally was my man," one state delegate said, referring to Gov. John Connally of Texas. "Muskie sounds all right, but I really don't know anything about the man."

A delegate from southwest Missouri said Muskie would cause some difficulty on the Democratic ticket in his area because Muskie was an Eastern liberal.

"Who pays any attention to the vice-presidential candidate anyway?" a St. Louis delegate asked.

Hearnes's View

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes called the selection of Muskie "fine." Hearnes said he was not personally acquainted with Muskie but that Senator Stuart Symington "was very high on Muskie and called him an outstanding candidate."

Muskie was announced yesterday. The state cast all 60 of its votes for Muskie.

Missouri delegates were vociferous in their support of Daley against the attacks on him and the Chicago police force over the handling of demonstrators.

Mayor Alfonso J. Cervantes appeared on national television standing beside Daley on the convention floor.

In support of Daley's strong-armed handling of the convention, Cervantes commented that "a bunch of dirty-faced kids" could not be allowed to take over a city. He praised the Chicago police force for using "manpower rather than firepower" and thereby avoiding serious injury to many more demonstrators and bystanders.

Hearnes said that Daley "gets criticism either way he goes. It would have been worse if he had done nothing. I was proud to see Daley's policemen facing the invaders."

Delton L. Houtchens, state party chairman, said, "All the Carmichael Urges Negro Unity

By Donald E. Franklin of the Post-Dispatch Staff

Stokely Carmichael, calling for Negro unity against what he termed white oppression, said here last night that neither political party spoke "to the needs of black people."

"The vote is totally irrelevant to our survival," Carmichael said before a standing-room crowd of about 1000 persons at Sheldon Memorial, 3648 Washington boulevard.

Carmichael urged Negroes to work for the overthrow of the American system.

He was ringed by a bodyguard composed of Zulu 1200s in orange sweatshirts and Black Liberators clad in black. The groups are militant St. Louis organizations.

Carmichael after an hour of African drum music and dancing. Eugene Redmond, a counselor at Southern Illinois University's East St. Louis extension, read several of his own protest poems.

Carmichael's speech was received enthusiastically by an audience of which all but about 10 persons were Negroes. Originally, the talk had been closed to whites, but the Ethical Society would not permit use of Sheldon Memorial on those terms.

White reporters were not permitted to take notes. Negro guards stood by them to see that the rule was obeyed.

Liberators Arrested

Four members of the Black Liberators were arrested after leaving the hall at the end of Earlier, Jose Renteria, a militant black activist, and an 18-year-old Chicago youth were arrested. Police said they had found a loaded revolver under the seat of Renteria's car.

Detectives Rudy Oehlert and Anthony Wachter stopped the car at Washington boulevard and Sarah street at 10 p.m. for a defective headlight and failure to signal a turn. Renteria and the Chicago youth, who said he is Billy Turner, denied ownership of the revolver. Both were booked suspected of carrying a concealed weapon.

In March, Renteria, 23, of the 4200 block of McPherson avenue was placed on probation after pleading guilty in police court of peace disturbance. The charge stemmed from a melee at the Pruitt-Igoe housing project.

Liberators, clad in black. The groups are militant St. Louis organizations.

Carmichael, former head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, spoke for nearly two hours on unity, political and economic organization and methods of guerrilla warfare.

Six men were arrested nearby in automobiles when Carmichael was speaking and afterward. They were booked on charges of carrying concealed weapons.

Carmichael introduced two members of the Black Panther party, a black nationalist organization. He said they were traveling with him.

Warfare Against Police

With a smile Carmichael stressed that he was not precisely advocating violence, but he urged guerrilla warfare against police. He said the police were used by "the oppressor" to occupy the black community.

"We got to get some guns," he said, "the bigger the better." He said the black man was in an armed struggle for his survival and that a switch-blade knife was no match for an M-16 rifle.

Quoting Red China's Mao Tse-tung, he said that "political power comes from the barrel of a gun."

"For victory," he said, "they must use force." The first two he discarded, saying that the white man did not work or beg for America, "he took it."

He said Negroes could learn from the guerrilla tactics of the North Vietnamese.

Fighting Two Evils

In this country, Carmichael said, Negroes are fighting two evils — racism and capitalism, which he equated with imperialism. "The United States is the leader of world imperialism. She has exploited Africa, Asia and South America," he said.

He urged black support of Cuba, North Vietnam and Red China and said black people should stand on the side of the Arabs in the Arab-Israeli Middle East dispute.

Carmichael said, "The white man has colonized and dehumanized our people. We are fighting for our humanity." He urged Negroes to develop an "undying love" for one another. "We must not only be willing to die for each other but to kill," he said.

He warned that the United States was trying to control Africa and South America. "If they ever invade a black country, we will burn their cities to the ground," Carmichael said to a roar of applause from the youthful audience.

He urged the Negro community of the St. Louis area to stop in-fighting and bickering and establish a black united front to work toward black goals.

He spoke scornfully of the teaching of Negro history in schools and of the antipoverty program, which he described as a tool to divide the black community and control its leadership. He called for a takeover of ghetto schools and the teaching of "those things we deem necessary to survive."

"Our struggle," he said, "is going to be hard, long and bloody. The past three years will look like a picnic to what we are going to see. The historic time is here. We've got to fight."

Charles Koen, leader of the Black Liberators, introduced four members of the Black Liberators were arrested after leaving the hall at the end of the program. Officers Joseph Burgoon and James Fitzgerald reported finding two loaded revolvers in the car occupied by the youths. The officers followed the car from Grandel Square to 3800 Washington boulevard.

Booked suspected of carrying concealed weapons were Carl Ayers, 21 years old, 4400 block of West Belle place; Aaron McNeal, 21, of the 1200 block of of peace disturbance. The charge stemmed from a melee at the Pruitt-Igoe housing project.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

MRS Confidential sources advised they have no information that STOKELY CARMICHAEL has been the recipient of large sums of money.

On September 3, 1968, a source advised that when CARMICHAEL was in Atlanta on August 30, 1968, he was in possession of a large sum of money, but the source was unable to determine where the money had been obtained. Dec GA NY

On August 30, 1968, a second source mentioned that when CARMICHAEL was in Atlanta on August 30, 1968,

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, Southwest, Atlanta, Georgia, is a nonmembership organization, which was born out of the sit-in movement that erupted across the South beginning in 1960.

Today SNCC identifies itself as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

According to SNCC the year 1967 marked a historic milestone in the struggle for the liberation of black people in the United States and the year that revolutionaries throughout the world began to understand more fully the impact of the black movement. SNCC declared that "liberation will come only when there is final destruction of this mad octopus -- the capitalistic system of the United States with all its life-sucking tenacles of exploitation and racism that choke the people of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. The realities of black life, together with the recognition instilled in SNCC workers forced its members to further popularize the legitimacy of self-defense and rebellions when oppression become too great."

From May, 1966, until May, 1967, Stokely Carmichael was National Chairman of SNCC. As of July, 1968, Carmichael resided in Washington, D. C., where he was affiliated with SNCC and active as temporary chairman of a black coalition group. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced by Hubert Garoid Brown, commonly known as H. Rap Brown, who served until June, 1968.

In June, 1968, at the Staff and Central Committee meeting of SNCC held in Atlanta, Georgia, it was decided to restructure the organization by equalization of responsibility by creating ten deputy or vice chairmanships. The primary purpose for this change is to take law enforcement pressure off any single individual.

SUBJECT: STOKELY CARMICHAEL
RACIAL MATTERS

PURPOSE:

To obtain authority for St. Louis Office to furnish information to St. Louis, Missouri, Police Department regarding rally in St. Louis on August 29, 1968, at which Stokely Carmichael spoke. Information involved was obtained by Special Agent (SA) of St. Louis Office who attended the rally and possibility exists the Agent might be called to testify in local court if local prosecutive action is initiated against Carmichael.

BACKGROUND:

On a Midwest speaking tour Carmichael spoke at a rally in Sheldon Memorial Hall, St. Louis. The meeting was attended by approximately 750 people and his presence in St. Louis was well known to the news media. Carmichael spoke for approximately two hours and indicated that blacks must have undying hatred for whites. He urged guerrilla warfare when blacks are sufficiently armed and stated blacks must steal, buy, or beg arms. A special report is being prepared by the St. Louis Police Department on remarks made by Carmichael and the police department has requested our St. Louis Office to provide it with data obtained by SA [redacted] who attended the rally. St. Louis Office stated there is a possibility that SA [redacted] might be called to testify in local court if any local prosecutive action is initiated against Carmichael. We have no definite information at this time that prosecutive action will be initiated.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL
100-446080

St. Louis Office notes that it has had excellent relations with the St. Louis Police Department and has received valuable information from that department regarding the activities of black extremist groups and individuals.

OBSERVATIONS:

As indicated above, we have no definite information that St. Louis authorities intend to proceed against Carmichael; however, it is believed we should do everything possible to further any action which would result in Carmichael's activities and statements finally resulting in prosecutive action. We have furnished voluminous information to the Department in this regard; however, the Department appears to continue its reluctance to take the initiative in prosecuting Carmichael who continues his vicious antiwhite and terrorist statements.

ACTION:

If approved, the attached airtel will be sent to the St. Louis Office authorizing it to furnish the data requested by the St. Louis Police Department. St. Louis is being instructed to keep the Bureau advised of developments in this matter, particularly any request for SA to testify in local court.

STOKLEY CARMICHAEL
RACIAL MATTERS

Source utilized in this communication has furnished reliable information in the past.

On August 29, 1968, source obtained a transcript of a mechanical recording of excerpts from Stokley Carmichael's speech at the Free Huey Newton Rally sponsored by the Peace and Freedom Party (a legally constituted political party in the state of California) and the Black Panther Party (BPP) (See Appendix) at Will Rogers Park, Los Angeles, California, on August 24, 1968. The following is the text of the recorded speech:

"Burning down the cities is old stuff to Black revolutionaries. 'We're not going to go around yelling 'Free Huey Newton' anymore. If Huey P. Newton is not freed, the Black Panther Party will act accordingly. We will free Huey by any means necessary.'

"Huey P. Newton is a prisoner of war. They may say there has been no declaration of war-there wasn't any declaration of war in Korea, there isn't any declaration of war in Vietnam and the United States didn't issue any declaration of war against the Indians-they just wiped them out.

"So it is for us to define our condition, not for them to define it. Whenever we let them define our situation, they say we're making progress. When we define our situation, we see that we're at war.
We are an occupied community. The police are an occupying force.

STOKLEY CARMICHAEL
RACIAL MATTERS

"Here, in our community the police do as they so well please. We have absolutely no control over the police. When you have nothing to say about a force inside our community-then it is an occupying force.

"We must make political moves against the Police Department. Until they cool it, we got to keep the fire on, 24 hours a day. When THEY cool it, then maybe we can think about coolin' it ourselves."

"Let us make the best possible use of the meeting this afternoon. We're not going to be able to hold as many of these big rallies in the future."

"A colonized people can engage in two levels of activity to meet their oppressor-entertainment and education. We have entertained ourselves for two years. It is time to educate ourselves. The question is whether we can find the correct political ideology that can bind us together.

"I'm tired of seeing Black people on TV. I'm not downing those who entertained us in the past, cause I entertained in the past too."

"Don't expect the white press media to tell us what is happening around the country. As long as it was just entertainment they were glad to report what we were doing."

"Just because you don't hear anything about what is going on in another city doesn't mean we ain't takin' care of business in that other city."

"We are fighting the government of the United States of America."

STOKLEY CARMICHAEL
RACIAL MATTERS

"The government is both racist and imperialist. When a race decides to suppress, oppress and brutalize another group solely because of their race you have racism."

"Some people say all they want is a piece of the American pie. We can't have a piece of the American pie because that pie exploits our brothers in Vietnam, in Latin America and in Africa. Imperialism is the highest form of Capitalism, where Capitalism is exported by force to foreign lands."

"Capitalism is when money is the important thing in society, when the profit motive runs over the human element."

"Imperialism combines racism and capitalism and is directed outwards at other peoples in foreign lands."

"There is a brave little island 90 miles from the coast of Florida which used to be one of America's most exploited colonies. The Cubans worked the sugar canes and Cuban sugar was sent to the U.S. to be refined and was then sold back for profit while the people starved."

"It is hard to be free of racism. We cannot ever support anybody who says to us they want to make us Black capitalists. Black capitalism cannot function in our community because that means that Black people take advantage of us. The term 'Black Revolution' has been thrown around too loosely."

"A Revolution begins when a faction seizes power and begins to use it to change society. Armed struggle comes before the revolution. That is what we are getting into now in this country. Armed struggle begins when the oppressed people pick up guns and are willing to die for the Revolution."

"My father a carpenter, was exploited all his life for another man's profit. 'He was exploiting my father because my father was working for nothing.' The old man had built house for $50 a week while the 'White man down the road' grew rich by selling the houses for $25,000. 'When a Black man kills a hory pig policeman who represses, brutalizes and oppresses him-that is a political act.

"'Show me a Frenchman who has fought in Indo-China and I will show you a white man who has the shakes. Show me a man who has fought in Algeria and I will show you a white man who has the shakes.' Imperialism is vulnerable to guerilla warfare and can be defeated by a people in arms.

"'Four things are needed for armed struggle; food, shelter, clothing and ammunition.'

"'If each individual will work for these, beg for them, or simply take them. As long we do one of these three things for our people, we donot have to be ashamed.

"'We must debate getting guns. WE GOT TO GET GUNS. And don't go for no fancy rifle neither. Get a gun like the enemy has because that is where the ammunition is to come from.

"'It will be great hard struggle. The Vietnamese have been fighting for 25 years. We may have to fight for 50. It's time to learn these things. Understanding is the best thing in the world.

"'It is possible to attack the oppressor at three levels. One is to attack the oppressor's symbols, his tools(the police), or the oppressor himself. The police are occupation forces.'

"'The United States Government is not trying to stop Communism. If they were trying to stop Communism they would invade countries like North Vietnam, Cuba and elsewhere. 'The United States Government is not trying to stop Communism. If they were trying to stop Communism they would invade them and push them all the way back to Moscow. I say invade Czechoslovakia. Invade if you're not a racist. Invade and help the czech people get free of Communism. They're not going to invade because its a white country and they're not going to invade and fight white people.'

RACIAL MATTERS

"I will be friends with whom I want, I will go where I want, when I want. I am a man! To hell with Lyndon Baines Johnson!

"We must distinguish the black militant from the black nationalist. The black militant is one who has just found out he's black and now he's getting mad so he can sit by the white man. The black nationalist works to overturn, root out and destroy the racial oppressor. Malcom X was such a black nationalist. Huey Newton is such a nationalist.

"The Revolutionary is willing to kill for his people. To be a revolutionary one must pick up the gun and be willing to kill. It is relatively easy to pick up the gun. But that is not sufficient. One must have the political ideology to bind us together in the coming struggle. We must understand the difference between revolutionary violence and counterrevolutionary violence. Revolutionary violence is aimed at changing a certain type of system. By definition, we mean the LAPD engages in counterrevolutionary violence.

"We cannot debate whether we want Revolution, because for our very survival we are going to make Revolution.

"Huey was always saying these things. They touch Huey, they will see action!

STOKLEY CARMICHAEL
RACIAL MATTERS

"A colonized people waits until the leaders die before making them leaders. That is what happened to Malcom X.

"Divide and conquer, that is the way of imperialism. In Biafra and Nigeria, North Korea and South Korea, North Vietnam and South Vietnam. The enemy varies between brutal oppression and spectacular bestures of friendship, while all the time he is trying to divide the people with agents-provocateurs and plain-clothesmen.

"When Reddin comes on with all those pictures of kids and patrolman and the Community Relations Program, he's just trying to brainwash the black community that the honky pig policeman are not going to shoot them down. The police force belongs to us. If we can't have it, there ain't going to be no police force.'

"Carmichael ended his speech with the recommendation of two books-"The Wretched of the Earth" and "Malcom X Speaks".

An article appeared in the "Open City", an underground newspaper in Los Angeles, California, for August 3, 1968, through September 5, 1968, written by Robert Igriega concerning Stokley Carmichael and his presentation at the Free Huey Newton Rally, Will Rogers Park, Los Angeles, California on August 24, 1968. This article is as follows:

FD-350 (Rev. 7-16-63)
~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY: IN THE PARK...

by ROBERT IGRIEGA

Stokely Carmichael, who was kicked out of SNCC earlier this month for "necessarily equating black power with armed violence," did it again last Saturday at Will Rogers Park in Watts. Less than a week before, the park had been the scene of waves of police shotgun fire and helicopter attacks on the crowd at the Watts Summer Festival. Three black people were killed and more than 40 were wounded.

"The stage before revolution," said Stokely to a thousand of his brothers and sisters gathered in the sunshine on the grass, "is called 'armed struggle.' That is the phase we are going into now."

Although he is known as an impassioned orator, Carmichael became a teacher Saturday, giving an intense but friendly lecture to his people on the facts of life as it will be lived and lost in the coming period of American history. He was relaxed and taking obvious pleasure in the crowd of black people and the ranks of uniformed Black Panthers.

He taught by giving definitions. Revolution, he said, begins when we seize power and begin to change the system under which we live. The Cuban revolution did not begin until Fidel Castro seized Havana and began to change the lives of the entire Cuban people.

A black "militant," he said, is someone who goes to the white man and uses the militancy of his people to get a soft job and a piece of the system. A revolutionary is not necessarily someone who is willing to die for his people - sometimes it is EASIER to die for one's people than to live and fight for them.

"A revolutionary is someone who is willing to KILL for his people - kill for change.

"Now we want to talk about the police.

"It is a fact that the police do in our communities as they very well please. They are our police, and if we can't have them, then there ain't gonna be none. I am not like those who say 'cool it.' I never say 'cool it.' When THEY cool it, then we can start to think about cooling it. Until then we've got to keep the heat on 24 hours a day.

"But I don't say we've got to get out there in spontaneous rebellion, jumping in the streets." He quoted Malcolm X as saying "Show me a Frenchman who's been to Indochina, and I'll show you a man who has the shakes. Show me a Frenchman who's been to Algeria, and I'll show you a man who has the shakes." What he was saying, said Stokely, is show me a man who has been in GUERRILLA WARFARE and I'll show you a man who has the shakes. GUERRILLA WARFARE! [Applause.] They can do what they want in our communities in the daytime. But if they want to occupy our communities they have to do it at NIGHT - and at night it's "Even Steven."

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

"Do not expect the white press media to tell us what is happening around this country," he said. "They used to put us on television and say 'Look at them dancing and looting in the streets, ha ha ha.' They're not doing that anymore because in the cities all over this country the brothers are righteously taking care of business." [Applause].

The following parts of Stokely's talk are not verbatim:

You sisters and other black people will have your part to play in guerrilla warfare. You have to supply us with food, shelter, clothing, and ammunition. With that we can fight for days, fight for years, fight until death. Fidel, during his armed struggle, came out of the Sierra Maestra and went to the bourgeoisie, and he asked them one simple question - "Where do you stand - with me, or against the wall?"

We will fight for the next 5 years, the next 20 years, the next 50 years, until we are free or until we are dead. Kwame Nkrumah said that the luckiest ones are those who die at the beginning of revolutionary warfare. Imagine seeing your wife, your mother, your children, shot down in the streets, and you have to step in their blood to run away so you can fight another day.

The question is now, can we find the correct political ideology that will bind us together and make us victorious in the war that lies before us. There are basically three types of systems in the world today - capitalism, socialism, and communism. Capitalism is when a man who has money hires a man who is broke to do a job; then he sells that job for a profit and leaves the second man still broke. Imperialism is when they take this system outside the borders and practice it on an entire other country.

It is obvious that the black people in America cannot tolerate a capitalist system. We are fighting capitalism - we are fighting imperialism, the highest form of capitalism - we are fighting the United States of America.

That means we must become either socialist or communist. And we should not be afraid of these terms. Because we do not know what they mean! [Applause.]

There are many brothers who say "I won't go to Vietnam to help keep another people down." But the Black Panther Party goes one step beyond that. The Black Panther Party says the Viet Cong are our comrades in arms, our allies, they are fighting our common enemy, the United States of America. When they strike a powerful blow against the

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

United States of America, they make us stronger. When we strike a powerful blow against the United States of America, we make them stronger.

Now I want to say something concrete about the brother Huey P. Newton.

One man does not make a revolution. A combination of the correct people, the correct historical time, and the correct political ideology is what makes a revolution. We ARE the people - the TIME is here - all we have to do now is find the correct political ideology.

But we have to start taking care of our leaders while they are still alive. When the white man defines our condition, we are always making progress. When we define our condition, we are at war. Brother Huey P. Newton is a prisoner of war, and we will free him by any means necessary. The Black Panther Party is a disciplined organization, and if the brother Huey P. Newton is not freed, the Black Panther Party will act accordingly. We can't do anything about that courtroom, but we can do something about the streets of this country [applause], we can do something about the cities of this country [more applause], about the police and the [applause, and more applause, to drown him out.]

For the brother Huey P. Newton, the sky is the limit - the SKY is the limit - and if you don't do it, the Panthers gon' do it, and they're going to come down on you anyway, so you might as well get yours in now - GET YOURS IN NOW.

As the clapping rose and fell, Panthers passed through the crowd with collection buckets. A 14-year-old said to his friends, "When Huey Newton's trial goes down I ain't gonna be here. If we don't do it the Panthers will. Here, put this in that bucket."

A relaxed and cheerful Carmichael conducted a military inspection of the Black Panthers behind the platform. Later, as he left the park down a corridor of two ranks of Panthers, the Panthers' clenched fists shot up and they shouted in unison an echo of Sharpville and Johannesburg - "Free-DOM!"

Stokely gave them the cool, shoulder-level fists, and said quietly - not an exhortation, but a reminder - "Free Huey."

Source, who furnished excerpts from Stokley Carmichael's speech at the above mentioned rally, indicated that when he was present at the rally on August 24, 1968, he also furnished several pamphlets which were passed out by BPP members who acted as security officers for the rally. The following is a copy of these pamphlets.

THE BLACK PANTHER PARTY TEN POINT PROGRAM

1. We want freedom. We want power to determine the destiny of our Black Community.
2. We want full employment for our people.
3. We want an end to the robbery by the white man of our Black Community.
4. We want decent housing, fit for shelter of human beings.
5. We want education for our people that exposes the true nature of this decadent American society. We want education that teaches us our true history and our role in the present day society.
6. We want all Black men to be exempt from military service.
7. We want an immediate end to POLICE BRUTALITY and MURDER of Black people.
8. We want freedom for all Black men held in federal, state, county and city prisons and jails.
9. We want all Black people when brought to trial to be tried in court by a jury of their peer group or people from their Black Communities, as defined by the Constitution of the United States.
10. We want land, bread, housing, education, clothing, justice and peace.

DEFEND THE BLACK PANTHER PARTY AGAINST RACIST POLICE

The Los Angeles Police, like the police of other large cities, are brutal, arrogant and insulting toward all people in the Black and Brown communities. But their most savage attacks are directed against the militant organizations through which oppressed minority people fight for freedom. It is the clear and unmistakable policy of the police department, serving the same function as did the Nazi Gestapo, to crush all organizations which threaten the rule of the racist power structure.

In recent months, the LAPD, along with the police departments of Oakland, Seattle, and other cities has singled out the Black Panthers for an especially ruthless campaign of harassment, frame-ups, and murder. Its aim is nothing less than the liquidation of this young, dynamic, revolutionary political movement before it can gain a solid foothold in the Black communities.

The LAPD has been systematically harassing members of the Black Panther Party with the specific intention of provoking incidents. On August 5, they succeeded. On that day, two officers followed and confronted a car in which three Black Panther members were riding. In the incident that followed, the three Black Panther Party members were killed. Two days later, eight Panthers were arrested; three days later, four more Panthers were arrested-- all on trumped up charges. Though nothing can be done to restore life to the three young men who were murdered, the police practices which led to their deaths must be stopped!

We demand that Chief Reddin immediately circulate a memorandum to all his men containing the following points:

1. Lists of Black Panther Party members' names, pictures and automobile licenses shall no longer be circulated.
2. The practices of following and stopping the cars of Black Panther Party members shall immediately and permanently be discontinued.
3. The practice of harassing, accosting and rousting Black Panther Party members shall be prohibited.
4. Surveillance of Black Panther Party headquarters and the intimidation of their landlord and neighbors must be discontinued.

We further demand that all police assigned to the Black and Brown communities be immediately disarmed -- because the ready use of guns by police has been one of the prime causes of violence in the ghettos.

These are only emergency measures. The problem will not be solved until the police are completely withdrawn from the ghettos and replaced by a new force consisting of men who live in the communities they patrol, and directly responsible to members of that community!

DEFEND THE RIGHT OF THE BLACK PANTHERS TO LIVE, TO ORGANIZE, AND TO FIGHT FOR BLACK LIBERATION. ALL POWER TO THE PEOPLE; BLACK POWER TO BLACK PEOPLE.

1APPENDIX

BLACK PANTHER PARTY
Also Known As
Black Panther Party for Self Defense

A source advised that the Black Panther Party for Self Defense (BPPSD) was formed by HUEY PERCY NEWTON, Minister of Defense, and BOBBY GEORGE SEALE, Chairman, in December, 1966, as a militant black nationalist political organization to combat "police brutality", to unite militant black youth, and to determine the destiny of black communities. The political philosophy was taken from writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of Communist China and black militant writers.

In March, 1968, the name of the organization was changed to Black Panther Party (BPP).

The official BPP publication, "The Black Panther Party - Black Community News Service", states that the BPP advocates use of guns and guerrilla tactics in their violent revolutionary program to end oppression of black people.

On February 17, 1968, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, Minister of Information, announced merger of the BPP and Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and bestowed title of Minister of Justice, BPP, upon H. RAPP BROWN, Chairman of SNCC.

SNCC is a militant Negro organization which preaches black supremacy.

NEWTON, aforementioned, is incarcerated in the Alameda County Jail, Oakland, California, awaiting trial on charge of murder of an Oakland police officer.

Headquarters of BPP and Huey P. Newton Defense Fund are located at 4421 Grove Street, Oakland, California.

APPENDIXSTUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquarters at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind, to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

I wish to call to your attention the very fine and outstanding work accomplished by Agents of the St. Louis Office in connection with maintaining coverage of STOKELY CARMICHAEL, SL 100-20639, BU 100-446080, during his visit to the St. Louis area between the dates of 8-28 and 8-30-68. It is my recommendation that these Agents be considered for letters of commendation.

SA [redacted] Relief Security Supervisor, organized the entire operation carried out by this office, set up surveillance teams, handled communications, coordinated with other divisions and directed the operation. He was assisted by SA [redacted] who maintained close liaison with the St. Louis Police Department and operators of the Sheldon Memorial Hall where CARMICHAEL spoke on 8-29-68. [redacted] actually attempted to get into the hall but at the last minute due to circumstances brought about by so few white people attending this was not attempted. He was instrumental in getting the Police Department to attempt a tape recording of CARMICHAEL's speech.

SA [redacted] did an outstanding job in that he personally purchased newspapers and tickets for the CARMICHAEL affair from the headquarters of the "Black Liberators". It was this group that brought CARMICHAEL to St. Louis. He effectively handled an informant [redacted]

The surveillance of CARMICHAEL was a difficult one. He was accompanied around St. Louis by a carload of "bodyguards" and often passed through and stopped in all Negro neighborhoods. CARMICHAEL frequently drove in heavy traffic and at times traveled at a high rate of speed. Through adapt and discreet maneuvers on the part of the surveilling Agents the surveillance was never lost and yet was carried out without incident thus accounting for all of CARMICHAEL's movements without embarrassment to the Bureau.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

On September 4, 1968, a source who has furnished reliable information in the past, made available a tape recording of Stokely Carmichael's speech on August 9, 1968, at Afro-Arts Theatre, 3947 South Drexel Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois. The tape contained unfilterable background noises which made it impossible to intelligibly transcribe. Carmichael is the former National Director of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC).

A characterization of SNCC is attached.

Four sources, who have furnished reliable information in the past, advised on August 19 thru 21, 1968, that they could not recall observing any Negro servicemen in uniform at Carmichael's speech.

They estimated the audience consisted of 90% male, Negroes, approximately 25 years of age. 200 were members of the Blackstone Rangers, Chicago Negro youth gang.

They stated the meeting was held as a fund raising benefit [redacted] and was sponsored by [redacted] United Bail Bond and Legal Defense Committee, (UBLDC).

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE (SNCC), CHICAGO BRANCH

A source advised in May, 1968, that the Chicago branch of the SNCC is an affiliate of the national SNCC with headquarters located in Atlanta, Georgia. It is a non-membership type group headed in Chicago by ROBERT ALFONZO BROWN, a 19 year old male Negro, with the title of Midwest Region Director. BROWN maintains strict loyalty to STOKELY CARMICHAEL, Recruiter and Organizer and former National Director of SNCC. BROWN attempts to align Chicago's SNCC activities within the framework of CARMICHAEL's policies.

In a speech at Chicago on March 25, 1968, CARMICHAEL commented as follows:

"The white people are preparing to commit genocide against the black race. What are we feeling so moral about? We know the honky got everything. He got it by stealing it. He's not going to give you anything. We got to take it. These brothers on the streets every day take it, but they're taking it for themselves. Let's organize them and let them take it for our people."

The source advised the Chicago branch of the SNCC operates from BROWN's residence. BROWN and several associates attempt to implement CARMICHAEL's policies through contacts in the Negro youth gangs, student groups, and black power oriented organizations to influence opposition to white power structures through boycott and intimidation methods.

NATIONAL NEGRO RIFLE ASSOCIATION (NNRA)

A source advised on May 24, 1968, that the NNRA was formed by EDWARD L. "FATS" CRAWFORD in Chicago, Illinois, in June, 1967, for the purpose of encouraging Negro people of the "ghetto" to arm themselves and to become proficient in the use of firearms. The NNRA is inactive at this time because CRAWFORD is incarcerated in the Cook County, Illinois, jail on arson charges growing out of disturbances which occurred on Chicago's west side in a predominantly Negro neighborhood, following the assassination of MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR., on April 4, 1968.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

On August 21, 1968, [redacted]
source advised [redacted]
[redacted] the speech of Stokely Carmichael, former National Director of Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) at the Afro-Arts Theatre, 3947 South Drexel Boulevard, Chicago, on August 9, 1968. This was done to avoid any possibility of their recognition [redacted] and possibly causing an incident or disturbance.

b7D

Four confidential sources, who have furnished reliable information in the past, advised on August 19 through 21, 1968, that they attended the speech. They did not take notes. They could not provide information concerning Carmichael's intentions for traveling to Chicago.

On August 21, 1968, the [redacted] source advised no racial disturbances or riots occurred in the Chicago area following Carmichael's appearance.

A characterization of SNCC is attached and sources utilized therein have furnished reliable information in the past.

ENCLOSURE

100-446080-1912

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

Memorandum

TO : The Director

DATE: 9-27-68

FROM : N. P. Callahan

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Pages B6257-B6258. Congressman Wyman, (R) New Hampshire, extended his remarks concerning the activities of Stokely Carmichael pointing out that it continues to distress thousands of Americans that the Department of Justice does not proceed against Carmichael for violation of present law. He advised that Carmichael is a derivative citizen of the United States having been born in Jamaica. He was the son of parents subsequently naturalized and became a citizen by operation of law. If Carmichael should be convicted of a violation of the Immigration and Naturalization Act--8 U. S. C. 1431(9)--he will lose this derivative citizenship and can be deported. We should act to deport him once and for all time. Mr. Wyman included an article from the Manchester Union Leader of September 17 entitled "Carmichael Treatment Is Preferred--Plus" written by John D. Lofton, Jr. Mr. Wyman went on to state

"This story illustrates once again the deeply disturbing fact that despite the record of this man he has not been prosecuted by the Justice Department. Failure to act in notorious cases such as this is continuing evidence of the need for a radical change in the policies and leadership of the Department of Justice."

APPENDIXSTUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquarters at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you, and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind, to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

SYNOPSIS:

Congressman Wyman and the Director met in Mr. Hoover's Office this morning. Congressman Wyman asked the Director what he, Wyman, could do to force the Attorney General to take legal action regarding Stokely Carmichael, people like him, and with respect to our terrible crime problem. Congressman Wyman made available to the Director excerpts from the "Congressional Record" of September 26, 1968, reflecting his remarks in the House of Representatives entitled, "The Strange Case of Stokely Carmichael," and of September 30, 1968, entitled, "Campus Violence." Copies are attached. The Director indicated Attorney General Clark adamant regarding crime problem, that in the Attorney General's opinion there is no crime problem, it is merely a matter of statistics. The Director noted apathy of American people being replaced by genuine concern for law and order. At conclusion of their discussion a photograph of the Director and Wyman was made. M. A. Jones to Bishop memo
RE: CONGRESSMAN LOUIS C. WYMAN

Congressman Wyman visited the Director's Office this morning and indicated that his purpose in coming to FBI Headquarters was to determine what he, Wyman, could do as a member of the Task Force on Crime to force Attorney General Ramsey Clark and the Department of Justice to take some legal action with respect to the problem of Stokely Carmichael, people like him, as well as our terrible crime problem which Clark and his associates have done nothing to alleviate. Congressman Wyman made available to the Director excerpts from the "Congressional Record" of September 26, 1968, reflecting his remarks in the House of Representatives entitled, "The Strange Case of Stokely Carmichael," and of September 30, 1968, entitled, "Campus Violence," copies of which are attached.

Congressman Wyman indicated that while the present session of Congress is expected to end within the next few days, he wanted to know if the Director felt it would be of any benefit for him to take the floor of the House of Representatives in an effort to suggest legislation and/or a course of action by the Attorney General with respect to the aforementioned problems.

Mr. Hoover indicated that he felt that there was little that could be done at this time since the Attorney General was adamant regarding the crime problem, indicating that in his, the Attorney General's, opinion, there is no crime problem, it is merely a matter of statistics. Mr. Hoover advised that he felt that time would take care of the stagnation that currently exists in the Department since he doubted that Mr. Clark would be Attorney General for very much longer. On this point, he confidentially advised Congressman Wyman that there are rumors to the effect that the Attorney General may resign next month to accept a position as President of the University of Chicago.

The Director also indicated to Congressman Wyman that one of the problems with the Department of Justice today is that rather than prosecute people such as Stokely Carmichael, concerning whom the Director added, the Bureau has furnished numerous reports substantiating his activities, and risk the possibility of getting an adverse decision in the Supreme Court, the Department attempts to anticipate what that eventual decision will be and then decides to do nothing. The Director stated that he felt very strongly that cases such as these should be tried and decided in the courts and that if adverse rulings are handed down, then Congress could introduce appropriate legislation to strengthen the laws already on the books.

M. A. Jones to Bishop memo

The Director stated that adherence to law and order is the solution to our country's grave crime problems and that it is interesting to note that the apathy of the American people is being replaced by a genuine concern for the lack of law and order in our society. Mr. Hoover said that you cannot palliate crime, to do so is only to encourage the criminal.

At the conclusion of their discussion, Congressman Wyman and Mr. Hoover were photographed together. Prior to his departure and throughout the meeting with the Director, Congressman Wyman reiterated his strong support for the Director and the FBI and offered to be of assistance any time we had need of it.

After leaving the Director's Office, Congressman Wyman commented regarding the Director: "He is truly a great man."

CLARENCE D. LONG

OF MARYLAND

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 30, 1968

NG of Maryland. Mr. Speaker, Raymond Powell, Jr., and Pfc. Arrowwood, two fine young men from Maryland, were killed recently in Vietnam. I wish to commend their memory and honor their memory by introducing the following article in the

STATE KILLED IN WAR—BALTIMORE UNDERLAND SERVICEMEN LISTED

Army sergeant from Baltimore and private from Cumberland have been in action in Vietnam; the Defense Department reported yesterday.

Sgt. Raymond Powell, Jr., 28, the son of Mrs. Christine Powell, of 2716 Broadway, and Pfc. James O. Arrowwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Arrowwood, of Cumberland.

Powell, who had been in the Army for his graduation from Carver High School, was first declared missing on September 9 after a battle with the enemy at the Defense Department was found Thursday, but further investigation is death and the battle were not reported to the Pentagon said.

Powell, who had spent most of his Army overseas, had been stationed with the 1st Air Cavalry in Vietnam since October. He was due to return to the United States for reassignment October 2.

In addition to his wife, Sergeant Powell is survived by two daughters, Jacqueline and Jeanette; by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Powell, Sr., of 2709 Bookert drive; by two brothers, Edward and David, and five sisters, Jacqueline, Rhonda, Gwendolyn, Romaine, and Mrs. Barbara Conley, all of Baltimore.

Private Arrowwood, a rifleman in the 9th Marine Regiment, 3d Division, was killed September 13 by grenade fragments while his company was taking a hill near Quang Tri, the Defense Department reported.

He had been in the Marine Corps since February and in Vietnam only two months.

Private Arrowwood was a guard on Allegheny High School's championship basketball team in 1964, his senior year at the school. For the past three years he had worked as a grocery clerk.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Arrowwood; a brother, Douglas, and a sister, Margaret, all of Cumberland, and by a half-brother, William Whitacre, of Baltimore.

HIGHWAY FUNDS

HON. JAMES H. (JIMMY) QUILLEN

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 30, 1968

Mr. QUILLEN. Mr. Speaker, when President Johnson issued an order to withhold highway funds, it was pure political gimmickry.

In the first place, the highway funds for the Interstate System are in no way related to the President's budget, the general fund deficit, or the national debt, since they cannot be used for any other purpose. When funds are collected they go into a highway trust fund, earmarked by law to be spent on the Federal Interstate System.

But President Johnson issued an order anyway to hold up these funds. Why did he not carry out the intent of the Congress and cut foreign aid, the race to the moon, and other wasteful and useless programs, instead of holding back highway construction?

We need highways in the First District of Tennessee and throughout the country. We need the Interstate System completed and we need more and better roads.

It is high time that the President of the United States stops holding a political hammer over the heads of the people.

An interesting editorial in the Friday, September 27, 1968, Kingsport Times points out some interesting facts, and I would like to share this with the readers of the RECORD:

HIGHWAY FUNDS

It might come as surprise to most citizens but this has been "National Highway Week." The idea being to stress that "Highways are for People."

But it has fallen flat on its face. The well-planned event is as tasteless as a meal without salt. In fact, the man who signed the proclamation designating the week was the cook who left the salt out.

While urging state highway officials to "hold appropriate ceremonies in recognition of what highway transportation means to our nation," President Johnson on the other hand cooled the stove upon which was cooking such ceremonies when he froze federal highway funds.

The cook who spoiled the dish might well have been overstepping his authority. The highway funds are in no way related to the President's budget, the general fund deficit or the national debt since they cannot be used for any other purpose.

In fact the law that President Johnson signed just before issuing the proclamation prohibits the impounding or withholding the funds by "any officer or employee of any department, agency, or instrumentality of the executive branch of the federal government."

This was a blow to the stomach at the time when Tennessee and the other 49 states were in high gear in their highway building.

CAMPUS VIOLENCE

HON. LOUIS C. WYMAN

OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 30, 1968

Mr. WYMAN. Mr. Speaker, as that time of the year marking the return to campus of millions of younger Americans is here again it is well to reflect that the great majority of our young people are responsible, dedicated, serious, and thoroughly patriotic. They are not crime prone beyond the occasional misdeed or misbehavior that is often associated with youthful exuberance.

Not so, however, with a small minority of deliberate rabble rousers and law-breakers, often aided and abetted by professional hatemongers and even Communist sympathizers. It is the expressed design of this group to make as much trouble and disrupt as many school administrations as they can, via the lie-down, sitdown, criminal trespass and even sticks and stones approach. Forehandness to deal with this element should include the steadfast determination at the highest national policy levels that such unlawful activity will be dealt with swiftly, firmly and as forcefully as may be required to preserve order on the campuses of our land.

In this cause it might be wise to enlist the support and help of the great mass of the student majority that are law abiding. They must be getting mighty sick of the punks and criminals in their midst, masquerading as students, who are giving many of the responsible students an undeserved public black eye. The student majority would relish a share of the responsibility in a responsible way to help in getting rid of the nihilists on their campus once and for all.

All of which does not mean, of course, that there will be no future dissent. There will be, and there should be, for such dissent is of the essence of academic freedom. But the right to dissent does not include the right to break the law in the process, nor tear down the institutions, nor arrogate to students the faculty function. This is especially so when those who destroy offer no substitute system and no alternative but sheer anarchy—living proof that their activism is in fact pure nihilism.

ENCLOSURE

100-446080

In this connection I commend a careful reading of an editorial by Allan C. Brownfeld appearing in Roll Call, issue of September 26. Mr. Brownfeld makes the valid point that much of the violence involved in all this student protesting is calculated and planned, just as were the blackwidow spiders, the bags of urine and the golf balls with spikes driven through them that were used on the police in Chicago recently. To meet and prevent this sort of law breaking on campus by firm and effective overhandedness has become a must not only for law-enforcement officials but for university administrators as well.

The editorial follows:

CAMPUS VIOLENCE PLANNED

(By Allan C. Brownfeld)

The take-over of Columbia University last Spring and the violence which erupted on the streets of Chicago during the Democratic National Convention are only fore-runners of the kind of disruption which is planned for the future by youthful activists.

In both the Columbia and Chicago instances, the evidence pointing to a carefully planned politics of "confrontation" is overwhelming.

The New Left's assault against the American University is less an effort to reform it than to, in effect, destroy it. This point was made in an editorial in the Berkeley Barb, a leading underground newspaper: "The universities cannot be reformed. They must be abandoned or closed down. They should be used as bases for actions against society, but never taken seriously. The professors have nothing to teach. . . . We can learn more from any jail than we can from any university."

The fact that student strikes and campus takeovers are less related to particular campus issues than to the general desire by militant student leaders to effect a revolution, not only in the university, but in the society at large, was reaffirmed by Mark Rudd, the leader of the turbulent rebellion at Columbia University.

In a letter addressed to Columbia President Grayson Kirk, Rudd did not hesitate to name "revolution" as the real issue at Columbia: "You are quite right in feeling that the situation is 'potentially dangerous.' For if we win, we will take control of your world, your corporation, your university. . . . Your power is directly threatened, since we will have to destroy that power before we take over. . . . We, the young people who you rightly fear, say that society is sick and you and your capitalism are the sickness. . . . There is only one thing left to say. . . . Up against the wall. . . . this is a stick up!"

There were two major demands presented by the Columbia University rebels: (1) A halt in the construction of a gymnasium in Morningside Park. The project had become highly controversial. It was opposed by many Harlem groups as well as a growing segment of the Columbia faculty. At issue were both the use of public park land and the architectural design which provided for separate facilities and entrances for community users and university personnel, inviting the charge that the structure which was actually intended as a service to the community might be turned into a symbol of segregation; (2) Termination of contracts with the Institute for Defense Analysis which, Students for a Democratic Society charged, "works on military projects aimed at the oppression of the people of Vietnam" and "develops riot equipment to commit mass genocide against black people" in the United States.

It appears, however, that the take-over of Columbia had nothing whatever to do with these issues. They were simply pretexts for a long-planned exercise of power. Writing in The New Republic, two graduate students, Dotson Rader and Craig Anderson, reported: "Months before, at an S.D.S. conference in Maryland, the decision had been reached to take physical control of a major American university this Spring. Columbia was chosen because of its liberal reputation, its situation in New York and the fact that it was an Ivy League school. S.D.S. felt it was important at this time to disrupt a private, prestige, tactically vulnerable university."

According to this analysis, the issues which were presented by the student rebels were simply pretexts, "the point of the game was power." To members of the S.D.S. steering committee, Columbia itself was the issue: "It was revolution, and if it could be shown that a great university could literally be taken over in a matter of days, by a well organized group of students then no university was secure. Everywhere the purpose was to destroy institutions of the American Establishment, in the hope that out of the chaos a better America would emerge."

The alleged "success" of the take-over of Columbia University has added to the militancy of the New Left movement. Phillip Abbot Luce, himself a former leader of the pro-Peking Progressive Labor Party, discussed the plans of New Left leaders to stimulate Columbia-like confrontations across the country: "The Columbia experience is being touted by various S.D.S. leaders as an example for other student revolutionaries to emulate in the coming school year. Stealing Che Guevara's call for the creation of many Vietnams throughout the hemisphere, the SDSers claim as their goal the 'creating of two, three, many Columbias.'"

Tom Hayden, one of the founders of S.D.S. who was blamed by Newark, New Jersey officials for helping to instigate the riots in the Negro areas of that city, candidly stated the S.D.S. political approach. Writing in Ramparts, he declared: "Columbia opened a new tactical stage in the resistance movement which began last fall: from the overnight occupation of buildings to permanent occupation; from mill-ins to the creation of revolutionary committees; from symbolic civil disobedience to barricaded resistance. Not only are these tactics already being duplicated on other campuses, but they are sure to be surpassed by even more militant tactics."

The revolutionary strategy is to gain student appeal by raising broadly supported issues and then forcing the college administration into refusing to accept student demands.

Thus is created a direct "confrontation" between the revolutionaries and the Administration. Confrontation as a revolutionary tactic works like this: Manipulate people into a posture in which they are in direct conflict with a power source. Violence can then be created. The first element is to enlist broad support for the stated cause through the raising of false issues. Secondly, the power source must be asked to make concessions which they cannot, or will not, accept. The claim is then made that the student will has been thwarted and the only answer is peaceful but extra-legal measures to gain the demanded changes.

While declaring their "non-violence" and their desire to make only reasonable changes in campus policy the revolutionaries attempt to gain strength from outside forces. Unless the school Administration has taken a strong stand against the revolutionaries from the beginning, they will soon be forced to call in outside help. According to Phillip Luce, ". . . this call for the police is exactly what the revolutionaries want at this point in their program. . . . Suddenly, from somewhere, a policeman is hit and he, in turn, retaliates and hits a demonstrator. This has a chain reaction and soon there is a near riot."

As the violence increases, spectators, who have no idea how the violence started, are pulled into the riot by their emotional reaction to seeing the police employ defensive strength to restrain the now-fighting students. Once violence develops, the police become rough. Often, as in Chicago, they are guilty of brutal excesses of their own. This is a classic example of how to create a riot condition and then utilize the shock reaction of onlookers to perpetuate it.

An end product is the apparent acceptability of violence. Ultimately, the theory of confrontation leads to the revolutionary proclamation that violence must now be accepted by previously passive students.

The events in Chicago were similarly well planned long in advance. As far back as November 16, 1967, the Village Voice reported the leader of the Youth International Party, Jerry Rubin, as saying: "See you next August in Chicago at the Democratic National Convention. Bring pot, fake delegates' cards, smoke bombs, costumes, blood to throw and all kinds of interesting props. Also football helmets."

What we are faced with is an increasingly militant revolutionary movement on the nation's campuses. We have been told that there will be many more Columbias, and many more Chicagos. These must be carefully prepared for. In doing so, police brutality must be avoided, but firm and effective action must be taken at an early stage in any such insurrection. Only in this manner can such tragedies as Chicago be avoided.

HERBERT TENZER'S RETIREMENT FROM CONGRESS

HON. THEODORE R. KUPFERMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 25, 1968

Mr. KUPFERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I could not let the occasion go by without indicating my personal sense of the country's loss on the retirement of my friend and neighbor, HERBERT TENZER.

When I first came down to Washington after the special election in February 1966, for the 17th Congressional District of New York, I was assigned room 1709 of the Longworth Building, and happily was ensconced in the room right next to Congressman TENZER of the Fifth District of New York.

He could not have been more gracious and helpful in all circumstances, even when we differed on philosophy and on political questions.

As I got to know him better and to realize his devotion to the needs of the people, not only of his area, but of the country as a whole, I began better to comprehend the fact that the United States has only been able to come to its present position of preeminence in the world, because a few men of HERBERT TENZER's caliber took the time and the trouble to give service in spite of personal inconvenience.

It was fortuitous that on the same day, we should both have announced our retirement and determination that we would not be candidates for reelection. I can understand his conclusion, and once again, Mr. Speaker, I express my own personal appreciation for his friendship and dedication, and look forward to a continuation back in our home State of New York.

[Redacted] He returned to the United States on 9/27/68. The Department of State has furnished a verbatim text of a press interview by Carmichael on 9/13/68 at Monrovia, Liberia. In substance Carmichael declared:

Black people do not want peace in Vietnam. Black people want Vietnam to defeat America---White people are sworn enemies of black people and there can be no compromise with them---The only assistance white people can give black is, "white people can either kill other white people or give us the money or guns to do it ourselves"---There is a difference between a black militant and a black revolutionary; the militant is angry with the system and wants to be 1st in. The black revolutionary wants to destroy the system entirely. "I am not a black militant."---The blacks in the United States should develop a strong nationalism to Africa but before they leave the United States, "we got to burn it down. Congressman Scott, (R) Virginia, stated "we remember some 6 months ago there was rioting within the District of Columbia and at that time one Stokely Carmichael was inciting people to riot and saying, 'Go home and get your gun. I've got mine.' This gentleman has not been prosecuted by the Attorney General for inciting persons to riot. - - - I wonder how long it will be before the chief prosecutor for this Government, the Attorney General of the United States, will take action pursuant to the laws that this body has passed with regard to inciting persons to riot? As long as this man continues going throughout the country inciting to violence we will continue to have permissiveness in this country."

The 10/15/68 edition of "The Honolulu Advertiser," a daily newspaper of Honolulu, carried a story headlined "No CARMICHAEL-WALLACE Visit Link." The article announced that STOKELY CARMICHAEL, who had recently joined the Black Panther movement, was scheduled to arrive in Honolulu on Pan American flight 3:10 p.m. 10/24/68. CARMICHAEL is scheduled to speak 1 p.m. Friday, 10/25/68, at Andrews Theater, University of Hawaii. EARLE ANTHONY, Minister of Information for the Black Panthers, will speak at 11:30 a.m. The same evening CARMICHAEL is scheduled to make an off-campus appearance at 8 p.m. but the site of the speech has not yet been decided on. The article went on to state that there would be a rally on the campus at 1:30 p.m. 10/26/68 during which CARMICHAEL will speak in the quadrangle between Hawaii, Crawford and George Halls. Saturday night there will be a dance honoring CARMICHAEL, time and place to be announced at the rally.

The news article went on to quote Black Student Union (BSU) President JUNIOUS SIMON as stating that there was no correlation between the groups inviting CARMICHAEL to Hawaii and the scheduled visit of presidential candidate GEORGE C. WALLACE. The article went on to relate that both men were scheduled to be in town on 10/26/68 but that WALLACE backed out yesterday and will send his brother, Circuit Judge JACK WALLACE. SIMON denied that they invited CARMICHAEL because of WALLACE. He said the newly formed BSU invited CARMICHAEL to Hawaii as a means of getting out information about the Black Panthers. He said the BSU is sponsoring CARMICHAEL's trip to Hawaii, but it does not mean that the group is identifying with Black Panther ideology.

On 10/15/68 [redacted]

[redacted] was contacted by SAC PAUL H. FIELDS, Jr., and SA [redacted] He advised as follows:

b7C

There are perhaps some 50 Negro students among the almost 17,000 full-time students registered at the University of Hawaii. A group of approximately 35 Negroes have attempted to organize under the name of the Black Student Union. They have not as yet been accredited as a student organization at the university and because they have announced that membership will only be open to those of the black race, they will undoubtedly not be given approval. However, they have received an interim acknowledgement and equipped with this, the group obtained a student loan from the Associated Students of the University of Hawaii to bring CARMICHAEL to Honolulu to speak. Contrary to the story in "The Honolulu Advertiser" of this date, members of the group were anxious to bring CARMICHAEL to Honolulu because of WALLACE's intended visit. The group had decided they would not picket or harass WALLACE; they would not even acknowledge him, but instead would invite a black speaker to talk at the university during his visit.

[redacted] stated frankly he doubts that CARMICHAEL will make the trip inasmuch as it has been announced that GEORGE WALLACE has cancelled his scheduled visit.

b7C

Honolulu intends to cover and record speeches of CARMICHAEL by use of Agents and confidential sources, including [redacted]

b7C

[redacted] As soon as the sound trained Agent in this office is able to survey the sites of CARMICHAEL's speeches, the Bureau will be advised in detail of the coverage intended.

Ladies and gentlemen. Once again welcome to Meet the Press. This is Ed Bousey (EB) and once again we are at the Press Club at the Ducor Hotel. This time our guest is an internationally known leader of young people throughout the world, Mr. Stokley Carmichael (SC) and of course the moment the newsmen learned that he was going to visit Liberia, everyone looked forward to meeting him. I am happy at this time to have you hear from Mr. Carmichael. In keeping with our usual procedures, we will first ask him to make an opening statement and then we will open the floor for questions from members of the press. Ladies and gentlemen, Mr. Stokley Carmichael.

SC - Good afternoon. That sounds very American--Meet the Press. It is very un-African. That is my first statement. Secondly, I would like to say that rather than have a statement it would be much better if we had questions from the press so that I could find out what's on people's minds in Liberia and what questions I could answer. I will try to answer as honestly as possible. In that way we could get out what the people of Liberia would like to know rather than me just rambling on.

EB - Fine. We will go right over. I know the press manager is waiting. Suppose each of you identify yourself and the newspaper or the news organ that you represent.

Mr. Carmichael, I am Ernest B. McClain of the Liberian Age. Could you please explain to me the term "black power." I understand that you maybe coined this word, or I don't know what to call it.

SC - Mr. McClain, power is the ability to make phenomena act in the desired manner. Black power would be the ability for black people to make phenomena act in a desired manner. Let me give you an example. Africa is the richest continent in the world. But Africans do not control the resources of our very continent. It is controlled by outside forces, particularly white western powers. So that the resources, white western people have the power to make the resources act in a desired manner. Those resources act towards the benefit of the white western powers and against Africans. Now if we had black power in Africa, we could make the resources work for the benefit of the masses of our people. That is a clear example of black power.

Another question, Mr. Carmichael. I want you to comment on America's involvement in Vietnam because last year you went to Hanoi and, upon your return to the States, your passport was seized by the State Department and, after some legal battle, you happened to gain it back.

SC - I should clarify that I did not get back the passport after any legal maneuvers, I got it back only after several African diplomats put pressure on the State Department; that legal maneuvers never get back a passport. As a matter of fact, legality is only there to uphold the status quo and since the State Department took my passport, no legality could get my passport back because the State Department is the most legal body there is in the U. S. In order to get the passport back, I had to use extra-legal methods. As far as the involvement of the U. S. in Vietnam, I think it is just another facet of imperialism. The U. S. is there to try and acquire a base in Vietnam so that it can attack China which is the main threat and the stumbling block to white western imperialism. Black people in the U. S. are against the war in Vietnam. We do not want peace in Vietnam. We want the Vietnamese to defeat America because the Americans have no business there and we wish that the Vietnamese people like ourselves, who are fighting for self-determination, will win their fight.

EB - Mr. Carmichael, will you review again some of the places that you covered in that last trip—that exciting trip that you made around so many parts of the globe.

SC - We went to England and we can no longer return. We went to Cuba. We went to China. We went to North of Vietnam. We went to Algeria. We went to the U.A.R. We went to Sierra. We went to Guinea. We went to Tanzania. We went to the revolutionary countries of the world.

EB - With reference to the opinions that you just expressed about Vietnam and China, I wonder if you'd just give your over-all evaluation or opinion as to communism as such versus the free world. Do you consider communism a threat or do you feel the communists are content to stay within their own territorial limits, or do you feel they will continue their aggression from one country to another?

SC - Okay. Then we should first make the major assumption correct. It is incorrect the way you stated. It is not a question of communism versus the free world. Communism is an economic system, so it will be communism versus capitalism, which is also an economic system. I am opposed to capitalism. I am unalterably opposed to capitalism. In a world conflict it would be capitalism versus imperialism, imperialism being the highest stage of capitalism. I am totally opposed to imperialism. Now then to your second question about containing communism.

The United States of America, white people in America, say that they must protect the communist world and the main threat they say today is no longer Russia, but rather China. The U. S. has 2500 bases outside of its continental borders. China has none. There are no armed forces bases belonging to Chinese outside of China. There are 2500 American bases outside of the U. S. I think the people from Liberia can decide who is fighting who.

EB - How about this—looking at it just as an outsider far away from a communist country but just what we learn from the newspapers—and I myself have only been to one communist country, in Czechoslovakia. But however, the opinion we get is that the communists, whatever else they are, that each country that is communist today is communist not because the people chose communism in a free and open election, but even from the Soviet Union itself communism seemed to have moved in a path of blood.

SC - I would have to stop you right in your path not because of ill manners but because of enthusiasm for the truth. Ho Chi Minh was elected in a free election in North Vietnam which was accepted by the United Nations and signed by every major western power except the U. S. So Ho Chi Minh was elected in a free election. So you are incorrect when you say any country. You may proceed.

EB - All right. Let us assume you are right on that.

SC - It is a fact. Don't assume.

EB - Yes.

SC - It is a fact. Anybody in the room who works for the press should know that Ho Chi Minh was elected in a free election as president of North Vietnam. It is a fact.

EB - All right. Now what I am trying to get to is simply this—a very simple point now. We feel that if the communists or anybody else, whatever they choose to do, if they do it within their own territorial borders and don't harm anybody else, if they choose to get up every morning and stand on their heads for two hours and then walk on their hands the rest of the day, that is their business and we couldn't care less. But when they begin this matter of terror and aggression, forcing their way of life upon other people, in their countries, this is where we feel the trouble comes, see? Now what do you say about that?

SC - Why I agree wholeheartedly with you. That is why I say I wonder why is it necessary for the U. S. to have 2500 bases outside of its continental borders. If the U. S. is not trying to push its way of life, its value system and its own interests in other countries, there would be no necessity for it to have 2500 bases outside. China has no bases outside of China, so I do not see the Chinese manipulating and pushing their way of life on other people. China is not involved in Vietnam. The U. S. is in Vietnam. Why is the U. S. in Vietnam, 8000 miles away from home? Certainly it cannot be fighting for democracy, and freedom and justice. Nobody believes that any longer. Black people of the U. S. are standing proof against that. It is therefore, it's no reason - what I am saying is that what the U. S. says the communists are trying to do is, in fact, what the U. S. is doing, has been doing, and will continue to do, unless it is stopped by armed force - not by peaceful coexistence, by armed force.

EB - All right, here's a young man over here.

_____ I represent the Daily Listener. Mr. Carmichael, let us go back to your concept of black power. The late Martin Luther King advocated non-violence as a means by which to get the negro his place among the whites. Now in your concept of black power what . . . means by which you hope to attain black power?

SC - I think there are two assumptions in your statement which I disagree with. Let me clarify the latter and then I will talk about non-violence. You said that Dr. Martin Luther King, I am paraphrasing your words, if I am incorrect, correct me. You said that Dr. Martin Luther King wanted non-violence so the negroes could get their place among whites. Is that correct? That means that you are assuming that black people want to be among whites. Then you have made a conscious decision that what white people have is good and that we should fight to enter that which is already established. I think that to do that is to, what philosophers call, a priori, make a decision.

UNCLASSIFIED

A 338 from Monrovia

You cannot automatically assume that what white people have is good. I think what they have is bad. I certainly don't want to be part of Vietnam. I don't want the history of the white western powers. There is not one white western country in the world that came to power without raping Africa. Not one. I wouldn't want that as my history. So to assume that the system that white people have is good is incorrect thinking. I think the correct way to do is to assume, what is the problem of black people, how to solve their problem, and what system is going to allow them to live a life as all human beings should live. If we view the situation that way, we see the black people have no problem. Their only problem is oppression from white people which reflects itself in racism and imperialism so that the solution is to wipe out racism and imperialism and then we could move on to discuss.

Now, there is then in my own mind no place for non-violence in such a struggle. I think that non-violence died with Dr. King. I admire Dr. King. I think he was a great man, full of mercy, full of compassion, and certainly very divine, because to err is human and to give is divine. Unfortunately, I am more human than I am divine. If anybody slaps me, I am going to kill them. If anybody harms my people, I am going to kill them. It is as simple as that as far as I am concerned. I do not think that you are going to get anywhere with non-violence because western imperialist powers did not make you slave through non-violence nor do they maintain their systems through non-violence. They maintain their system through violence. Then I have absolutely no problem with it at all. I am totally against any concept of peaceful coexistence. I think armed struggle is the only solution to the oppressed peoples of the world. And I say that frankly, realistically and as a person, sir, willing to join that struggle and participate in it, and will continue to do so until my death.

Mr. Carmichael, do you support the ideal of setting out the black state in America?

SC - There are a lot of problems with that at this point. . . . I think that as black people try to analyze the problem of racism; that's one of the solutions they come up with, but I think at this point we couldn't really ask for that because our safety is in our proximity to white people. Because the U. S. is so close to them, they cannot do as they would like to do to us. They cannot drop napalms on us or drop bombs on us because we live in their cities. To destroy us now would be, in fact, to destroy them.

UNCLASSIFIED

I think certainly what you are going to find in the U. S. is a mental segregation of the races. Black people mentally are going to, as much as possible, are going to move away from white people, but in terms of geographically moving at this point, no, and secondly, because the white man not going to give anybody no states. Because when the white man came to America he did not beg the Indians for the land. He took it. He killed the Indians and he took the land. So that if we want states instead of talking about it we are just going to have to kill them and take it.

I hope you don't get offended at the next question, Mr. Carmichael.

SC - I would never get offended.

You see, some white American writers consider you to be a radical element. What's your comment about that?

SC - Mao Tse-tung says if the enemy is not disturbed, you are no threat.

(laughter)

EB - Mr. Carmichael, may I ask you this, please. On this program some time ago we had as our guest Senator Edward Brooke from Massachusetts in the U. S. Now, in the course of Mr. Brooke's remarks, he was asked about the position of the negro people in America who were saying that the number one problem in the U. S. was the problem of racial harmony, etc. In the course of his answer, he pointed out that he felt the fight for survival, I mean he does not say we should neglect the fight for racial justice, etc., but he felt that the fight for survival of the nation had priority over the domestic problems as such. Now I was going to ask you, in terms of some of the remarks that you made a while ago, how would you reconcile the position you apparently hold to see the communist countries succeed in this conflict at the expense of your own nation?

SC - Let us make a number of things clear. Number one, I do not see the conflict, and I made that quite clear in the beginning of the program. You do. I explained to you I don't see any conflict because

Page 7

A 338 from Monrovia

I don't see China having any bases outside of China. I see the U. S. having its bases outside of the U. S., so I see no conflict. You see the conflict. The imperialists say they see the conflict so that for you to say that I want communism to win is at best for you to misunderstand me, at worst for you to lie about my statements, and I don't think you would do that. Since we have clarified that, we can now move on to your second point. My nation. The U. S. is not now, nor has it ever been, the nation of any black man. It has been the black man's biggest enemy.

EB - May I ask you, you do have an American passport, do you?

SC - Yes. Yes, I do. Let me explain. A whole is the sum total of its parts, is it not? And if a whole is missing some of its parts, it is not a whole. For example, if you have a car without a steering wheel, it is not a car. Or if you call it a car, it is a nonfunctioning car. Would you say that? Then if you live in America and you do not enjoy all the rights and privileges of an American, you are a nonfunctioning American. Would you not say? Do you think that people enjoy all of the rights and privileges in America? Since they do not, obviously they are nonfunctioning Americans. So that we are not concerned with the nation. It is not our nation. The nation in the U. S. has caused us more problems than anything else we know. Maybe communism would be better. It certainly can be no worse than what we've lived under for the last 400 years.

EB - Mr. Carmichael, may I just ask you this. What would be your comments on the statements of some people from America who cite whatever progress has been made, economic, social, etc., as far as the interest of the Negro people in America, how would you, do you completely discount this progress, or do you feel it is negligible in terms of the total situation?

SC - Progress must be defined by the oppressed. It cannot be defined by the oppressor. Is that correct? We say that the system of the U. S. is that which oppresses us. Until there is progression in terms of the changing of that system, there is no progress. If there is progression within that same system, there is no progression, there is only delusion.

Mr. Carmichael, an ex-convict named Eldridge Cleaver of the Black Panthers. He is known as the minister of information. He was speaking recently to some young attorneys and he was asked what can the white man in America do to help you in your cause, and he said kill some white people or make them act in a prescribed manner. What do you think about this statement?

SC - Let me first say that I am a member of the Black Panther party. I am the Prime Minister of that party and Mr. Cleaver is the minister of information. We work very closely together and I agree 100 per cent. White people can either kill some of those white people or give us some guns or the money to buy the guns so we can kill them.

- Pause -

EB - Mr. Carmichael, there are some other press men who just . . .

SC - I can't understand why everyone seems so surprised. I think the trouble is that oppressed people are always afraid to fight for their own liberation because the oppressor has so thoroughly dehumanized them, but they are willing to fight at the drop of a hat. Liberians, for example, fought in World War II. God knows for what. They are not fighting for South Africa. It seems to me that they should be more willing to pick up a gun and fight in South Africa than to go fight in North Europe for land which they did not even get after they fought. It is a fact that people who are oppressed are afraid to face their oppressor. But there are some Africans today on the continent and abroad who are not afraid to face the oppressor. We will face them with bullets and with guns and we are willing to do that.

EB - Mr. Carmichael, I think it might be of interest if you would clarify, are you saying that you feel there is very little, or perhaps no opportunity for the black man to find what he is looking for within the present systems, that you feel an entirely new system has to be introduced in order to accomplish this.

SC - That is absolutely correct. There are two types of black groups and black spokesmen in the U. S. today. There is the black militant

UNCLASSIFIED

Page 9

A 338 from Monrovia

and there is the black revolutionary. Now the black militant is an angry black man who is yelling at the system to let him in. The black revolutionary wants to destroy the system. So you find a lot of black militants today who are yelling and saying the U. S. is terrible, but as soon as they get a job for about $10,000 a year, then, well, then "maybe we could work it out" — that is a black militant. A black revolutionary says you must destroy the total system so that the masses of our people can live decently. I am not a black militant.

Mr. Carmichael, both parties in the U. S. have now lined up their candidates for the presidency. Now do you support either of them in addition to the black power movement and the Negro problem in the U. S.?

SC - You came late so we should explain to you that there is no such thing as, I use your own words, Negro problem. There is only a white problem. In relationship to that, I do not see that black people can vote for any of the candidates, any of the three candidates, please do not leave out Mr. Wallace because he is playing a very important role and he is gathering an awful lot of people around him. He is polarizing the camp. It is the job of the liberals to stop the confrontation but Mr. Wallace's job is to heighten the confrontation. It is my job to heighten the confrontation also. So you should not leave out Mr. Wallace. But I also think that what electoral politics have proven to black people this year is that we can no longer depend upon them, that they have never been any group, they have just been a trick of the bourgeoisie anyway and that political power grows out of the barrel of a gun as Mao Tse-tung says, and he is correct.

Mr. Carmichael, so in that case do you think that if Senator Robert Kennedy was alive and he had been successful in becoming the next president of the U. S. he would have helped you to solve some of your problems?

SC - White people do not help me to solve my problems. They help themselves to solve their own problems because we say it is their problem. For example, I did not invent slavery. Black people did not invent slavery. White people did. Black people do not keep

Page 10

A 338 from Monrovia

themselves poor. White people keep us poor. Black people do not keep themselves unemployed. White people keep us unemployed and when these conditions begin to produce a violent reaction, then it is white people who produce that violent reaction. Not black people. So that if Kennedy was elected, then we could go on your statement whether or not he would have helped solve the problems. I do not think so. I think of all the candidates running Kennedy was the most fascist, he was the most fascist, and that he would have set the stage for fascism in the U. S. much easier than Humphrey, Nixon or Wallace. He was an international white supremacist of the U. S. He thought the U. S. should rule the world.

You have always advocated that black people should come together. In what form do you want this thing to happen - politically? Do you want to say that white people should have their own country or something, how do you want the black people to come together?

SC - To come together politically, economically and culturally so that we can have a single purpose, a single aim and fight our common enemy.

I am Jonathan Massaquoi from the University of Liberia. I want to know - you said it is the white man's problem, it's not a black man's problem - but also you talk about a revolutionary group and a militant group and you are not in the militant group which means - I am to understand that you are in the next group, and there are prerequisites and courses for revolution. So if Kennedy, as someone said, was not going to help - you said he was not going to help the black man, so, I mean, then just tell me briefly what is the business about this revolution?

SC - What's the business of revolution?

JM - The main idea of this revolution.

SC - A revolution means a total abrupt change, an overthrow of one and imposing of another. In governmental terms, revolution means the overthrow of one government, one governmental system, and replacing it with another governmental system. You must understand revolution. Revolution is not just the replacing of governments. For example, you've had in Africa many coups, military coups; they're not revolutions; they are just military coups, they are just people at the

Page 11

Encl. #1

A 338 from Monrovia

top fighting for power. Revolution is when the system, the old system, is changed totally. What does that mean?

In the U. S. black people are fighting against racism and imperialism. The system of the U. S. arouse from institution-racism and, of course, precipitates imperialism. That means that if you talk about revolution, you talk about destroying the system now that's there and replacing it with a system that does not allow racism and does not allow imperialism. Okay. So that means that you are not now involved in a revolution. Revolution comes only when you have seized power. For example, Fidel Castro fought in the Sierra Maestres for several years but that was not the Cuban revolution. The Cuban revolution did not begin until Fidel walked into Havana, chased Batista and the American lackeys out and said, "Today, this day, I claim this Island for the masses of Cuban people." On that day the revolution began.

The period preceding the revolution is called armed struggle. That's when revolutionary forces fight again the status quo, their forces. And that's a violent struggle. It's not a non-violent struggle. It's a violent struggle. And what you have now in the U. S. is the beginning of armed struggle. For example, the sniping of policemen on a regular basis in the U. S. is the beginning of that armed struggle and the dynamiting of certain factories and plants is the beginning of that terroristic activity that leads and heightens the contradictions to a full armed struggle that leads either to the victory or the defeat of the revolution.

EB - Mr. Carmichael, while you were down in Cuba, what about Che Guevara? What did you think about him?

SC - I thought very highly of him. I still do. He's one of my heroes.

EB - Most of the pressmen were here with us just two days ago when we had a press meeting with a visiting Lieutenant General from the U. S., Benjamin O. Davis, the highest ranking Negro general in the Army. Now in discussing - I mean just thinking militarily, we sort of wonder a little bit how you feel it's feasible or possible that one-tenth of a population could militarily defeat the 90 percent.

Page 12

A 338 from Monrovia

SC - In the first place, we are not one-tenth of the population. We are much more, but let us not even deal with that. It is in a war not technology that decides who is the victor, but it is the will of the people. For example, let us take Vietnam. Here is a small, little country less than one-tenth the population of the U. S., less than one-tenth the size of the U. S., and less than one-tenth the economic wealth of the U. S., yet the Vietnamese are defeating the U. S. of America every single day.

EB - Mr. Carmichael, we have discussed this matter with some of the people from other communist countries like, say, the North Koreans both the North Koreans and the South Koreans and the Russian delegates, etc., who try to give us their side of it. However, we were generally of the opinion that U. S. - the military objectives of the U. S. Forces in Vietnam - was not to destroy North Vietnam, because I think most people would agree that the might of the U. S. Forces could wipe out Vietnam in about ten minutes if they wanted to.

SC - The objective is not to wipe out, to raze, to level Vietnam. The objective is to win. In a military campaign, the objective is to win . . . unless you are a warlike country and your budget is just geared to warfare and you need warfare in order to continue living. You wouldn't say that of the U. S., would you?

EB - Well, the South Vietnamese that were here, they tell us that they invited the U. S. in to help protect, to help them get the people, the aggressors, off of their part of the country; in other words, from the 17th parallel down, they said, was supposed to their part of the country and these people came up from the North, they said, and swept down on them and took just/all of their country, and they called in an outside friend; in fact, one or two other countries they mentioned. There are five of them altogether, I believe they said, that were helping in this effort. But the idea was they are not fighting in North Vietnam. They feel they are only fighting a defensive fight to protect their own homeland.

SC - I have read the figures of the U. S. every day, how many Vietnamese they have killed. It seems to me that North Vietnam is the fastest producing nation in the world and each of us must try to figure it out, and I don't know if North Vietnamese can

Page 13

afford to keep sending those many people every day unless the women must have found some way to speed up the reproduction basis where they reproduce children every three months, and then the children are grown within three years, because they never stop coming. Obviously that's not true. Obviously the South Vietnamese are fighting against the U. S. and if the South Vietnamese called in the U. S., at best they're cowards cause they can't fight their own fight. Got/call somebody else. (laughter) The North Vietnamese haven't called in anybody and North Vietnam is the same size as South Vietnam. North Vietnam - South Vietnam has more military power than North Vietnam, so South Vietnam is overpowered, outnumbered, out controlled, out maneuvered North Vietnam. Yet they have to call in the U. S. of America. That does not make sense to me.

EB - Well, Mr. Carmichael, we have also talked with the Tass people here and they tell us that as much as 80 percent of the military aid coming into North Korea (sic) was coming from their country. And they also stated that both China and all the other eastern European communist countries were also contributing to North Vietnam.

SC - That's a good gesture. They need to. But this is an argument that is raised time and time again against poor Vietnam. I think it is very unfair. Do you remember the Vietnamese fought the French. Who helped them when they were fighting the French? No one. They fought it by themselves. The Vietnamese believe in self-reliance. They do not depend on anyone else to fight their fight. It is their fight and they fight it. If they get any aid from any other country, it is just a bonus. This is a bonus. So that I think that every way you look at it the arguments are clearly refuted against U. S. It has absolutely no business in Vietnam. There can be no justification for it. None whatsoever. None whatsoever. According to that basis, then black people of America had the right to call Russia in to fight the U. S. because they aggressed against us. They come into our communities and shoot us down like dogs. So, therefore, we have the right to go to Russia, to China or to any other country and ask them to come in to America and fight the power structure.

UNCLASSIFIED

A 338 from Monrovia

But, Mr. Carmichael, the white Americans have said that they are trying to defend democracy. What do you say about this, in Vietnam?

SC - Since I am black and live in America, I don't know what democracy means. You will have to define it for me and then having defined it, I'd have to tell you if I understand it and if I understand it, tell you if I am willing to fight for it. I cannot fight for democracy for South Vietnamese when I don't have democracy in the very country in which I live. It doesn't make sense. Now you certainly cannot think the black people have democracy in America. I mean even the most brain-washed African could see for himself the black people do not have democracy in America. And so, if you agree with me that we don't have democracy in America, doesn't it - does it make sense to go and fight for somebody else's democracy before you have your own? It is like the Algerians fighting in Vietnam. The French were oppressing the Algerians and they were running off whistling - what's the French National Anthem - running to Vietnam to kill the Vietnamese and then coming back home to have the French slap them. A man who does that is totally dehumanized. He cannot think. He is a mindless person. All he is is body and he is used. Certainly. Do you think that I could leave the U. S. of America and go to Vietnam knowing that a white man can come in and shoot my wife, slap my wife, beat up my sister or rape my mother. How could I do that? First I have to straighten out this white man and then think about going to Vietnam. (laughter)

Yes, Mr. Carmichael. Yes, I am just coming in so I want to ask you one question. And this question is in line with this Vietnamese question. I like to know your opinion of these Russians and Chinese, whether they are involved in this war, in this Vietnamese war, because we understand they are carrying Mig, these Migs and everything else.

SC - Well, I certainly think the Russians and Chinese are giving aid to Vietnam. No one has denied that. No one has denied that. As a matter of fact, I contributed to the North Vietnamese. If I had Migs, I would give them Migs. If I had bazookas, I would give them bazookas. Yes, because I believe in standing on the side of the just and as long as there's a side that is just, I will fight for the side that's just.

No man can shut me up or make me fight against a just side. I will not fight an unjust war for anyone and I will always stand on the side of justice. That's why I support the North Vietnamese. I support the Arabs. I support the revolutionary struggles in the world today against imperialism. Because they are just fights. Because they are just fights.

Mr. Carmichael, isn't it true that the black people of the U. S., for example, is not as much concerned as what is happening in Africa like the Jews of the U. S. are concerned what is happening in the Middle East. Because somebody - I read in the paper recently, for example, why this thing happened in Nigeria and with coups and bloodshed, you don't get any effective reaction from American blacks. Just like the Jews come to put their lot of money and the Arabs, too, in the Middle East crisis.

SC - Let me - I agree with you. I do not think there's as much reaction for Africa as there is from Jews for Israel, but that is because Jewish people have never been forced to cut their ties with Israel - so-called state. As a matter of fact, they were the ones who built the so-called state of Israel. The Jewish people in the U. S. who saved their money and sent . . . because it's been a creation since 1948. Now it's different because Africans living in the U. S. have been forced politically, economically, culturally and physically to break their ties with Africa. We have been taught to be ashamed of Africa so that we have never wanted to be a part of Africa, and we've been taught that by the white man. But now I do not think that what you say is correct about the concern for Jewish people in America over Israel and black people in America over Nigeria and Biafra. They are different situations. In Israel, it is just a question of you're for Israel or you're for the Arabs. Your people or against the Arabs. In the U. S. it is different. We do not want to side with Biafra or Nigeria because what we see is a war between our people, our brothers killing each other for the white man's interest, and so we cannot really side. Our job is to try and stop our brothers from fighting. If you came into a room and you had two brothers and your two brothers were fighting because somebody was making them fight, you wouldn't side with one brother and beat up the other brother. You would try to get in between them and stop them from fighting. Sit them down and then reason with them. The first thing we have to do is stop them from fighting and that's why there is no over-reaction. You can't take sides when your brothers fight. You want to try and stop them from fighting first.

Yes. Another question. The late Malcolm X said that the best way to solve the Negro problem in the U. S. was to give the black man his own community. Do you agree with this preposition?

SC - We have to go back to that Negro problem again, but we have discussed that several times so we'll let it slide. I think that it's clear that black people must control our own communities in the U. S., and we must do that by any means necessary. Now I think that that's going to just prolong our struggle because I don't see how we're gonna exist inside an imperialist country and be against imperialism. I mean they would just wipe us out. But I think as long as we are conscious of those problems, then we'll try and see how to solve them.

EB - Mr. Carmichael, you made a statement in reference to your favoring the Arab cause in the Middle East. Would you state the basis or reasons for this?

SC - Yes. Absolutely. The Zionists went to Lord Balfour of England and they asked him, after World War I, for land. He gave them Palestine. He did not consult the Palestinian Arabs about it. He gave them Palestine. They then went and took Palestine. They tried to convince European Jews to come to Israel. The European Jews would not go to Israel. It was not until Hitler came along and began to massacre the Jews that Israel began to be inhabited. Then what the Zionists did were to equate the prosecution of Jews in Germany with the establishment of the so-called state of Israel. You have what is philosophically called a non sequitur, that one chain doesn't necessarily mean that another follows. Just because Jews are persecuted in Germany is no reason for them to get land from the Arabs in Palestine. So that I am against it because they took the land. I am against it because the land does belong to the Arabs and it's their land and they have to decide what is to be done with their land who can come to their land and under what conditions they can come to their land. I am against it because the Zionists have a worldwide propaganda of anti-semitism so that people are afraid to speak of the problem without being called anti-semitic, and the European Jews who use that do not even admit that the Arabs are also a semitic people. So that when they say that you are anti-semitic because you take the stand of the Arabs, they themselves are being anti-semitic because they are not allowing the Arabs, who are a semitic people, to be called Arabs. And I am against the so-called state of Israel because I think it's an unjust war because it's a base of imperialism to help spread its tentacles into Africa and control Africa.

EB - Mr. Carmichael, we realize that time's running out. We appreciate so much your having — I see the fellows are still requesting — maybe we can take one more question, huh? They're hitting me from all sides here. Three more questions. All right.

In answer to one of the questions, you agreed that it is good for the black people to have their community in the U. S. Please may I know why you insist that this community should be in the U. S. instead of in Africa, as one African leader has suggested once that the black people in America should come back to Africa where they originally belong.

SC - I think there are a number of reasons. I think that revolution comes about for a number of reasons, but one of the most important reasons, two of the most important reasons, must be the right time and the right people. Two very, very important reasons. I think that that's why we're going to find revolutionary warfare developing around the world because it is the right time and the right people are fighting. Now I say that because I agree that Africa is our home. There is no doubt about that. But we had a debt to pay. We can do that with an advantage for us. I am African. No matter where I am, I am African. Nobody can convince me that I am anything else but African. So that my first allegiance is to the mother continent, Africa. I recognize that Africa is not strong ^{enough} militarily to defend itself against the U. S. I know the U. S. wants to more and more control, economically, politically and culturally, Africa. I think the best protection against that would be that Africans living in the U. S. develop a nationalism to Africa so strong that if the U. S. tries in any way to intervene into Africa that Africans living within the U. S. will begin to blow it up and that becomes then a protection for Africa; for example, if let's say that the ANC and PAK (sic) began to really move in South Africa and the U. S. decided to intervene into South Africa. If the U. S. did that, if you could arouse the consciousness of Africans living in the U. S., they could begin to blow up the cities and force the U. S. to withdraw from its confrontation; that's one. Number two there is a debt that must be paid because we built America. I mean black people, we built it; our sweat, our blood; we picked the cotton; we made the ~~railroads~~; we built the ditches; we built it and after building the most technological power in the world, just to walk away and let it stand like that, I am sorry; I am not that forgiving. No. I have to burn it down before I leave it. And I think that that's precisely the way black people feel. Before we leave America - just walk out - we got to burn it down. We just can't leave such a beautiful country for them. No, we have got to burn it down.

Mr. Carmichael, as a man of the black power movement, could you please comment on Communist China being opposed to enter the UN?

SC - I don't know what there is to comment except to show the farce of that. I mean I guess what the UN is saying is that Communist China does not exist or, the People's Republic of China, as it is correctly called, does not exist. It is clear that it exists and they don't want it because what they are saying is that if you want to join the UN you have to do as we say. It's like childish. You know, if you had a soccer ball when you were small, a football, if somebody wanted to play football you say since it is my football, you have to play the way I say play. Isn't that childish?

How did you feel in regards to the Negro retaliating when Martin Luther King was killed? Do you think that violence could remedize the situation in America?

SC - I felt good. I felt good when I saw all those cities on fire. I felt so good, I didn't know what to do. I was so happy that for once black people had their manhood and took to the streets and burnt and shot and looted and killed and plundered. I was happy.

Mr. Carmichael, in spite of all you have been saying, I will come back to this Negro problem. You see, you said preceding a revolution is an armed struggle but there are underlying causes, you see, and I feel that with underlying causes you must have some sort of problem. I mean these two reacting forces trying to overthrow the system, you must have some kind of problem and I think it is a Negro problem.

SC - Well - would you define, tell me exactly what our problem is? Please tell me what is our problem?

Yes, your problem is, as you said, to spoil this system - right? Isn't it a problem in itself?

SC - Oh no, no. That is just to overthrow the system. Oh, I see what you mean. Oh, no, no. When people refer to African - American problem. What you mean to say is that we are the problem. We cause the problem. See, and that's what I am against. But I am not angry...

EB - Mr. Carmichael, we want to thank you so much indeed. Again, I realize that you've certainly given us all very much to think about. We've followed your career closely, both in the U. S. as well as the many other places that you have been around the world, and there is no question you have had tremendous impact in just about every place that you have been. Again, we are happy that you have a chance to visit us in Liberia. We are happy that you brought your charming wife to see us and hope that you both have a chance to come back to see us again soon.

SC - My wife brought me to see you. That's No. 1. I hope you run the entire tape not only on radio Liberia but also on Voice of America if you can. Thank you.

EB - We will recommend it to them by all means.

Thank you so much. This is Ed Bouey at the Press Club at the Ducor now returning you to the studio.

EMBASSY
JOINT/STATE USIS MESSAGE

Stokley Carmichael, [redacted] to Liberia, stunned local newsmen by the violence of his views in an interview in the Press Room last Friday and assured that his remarks will never hit the air-waves here.

The setting was the Press Room on the second floor of the Ducor Hotel, where the concert was to be held several hours later. Ed Bouey, one of Liberia's best known newsmen and commentators, perhaps its most knowledgeable interviewer, arranged the session which, as is usual for him with visiting celebrities, was to be taped "on location" and aired later on "Meet the Press," a weekly presentation. Last Week's guest was General Benjamin O. Davis Jr., USAF.

The tone of Carmichael's performance was set by his observation that the very title of the show was "definitely non-African" and by his changing Ed Bouey's format of an opening comment by suggesting that "you ask me questions so I can see what is on the minds of Liberians." Throughout the interview he put off the usually docile and polite newsmen by such remarks as "you have made two incorrect assumptions," "let me first clarify that last assumption," "that's your view, not mine," etc.

He could be even more abrasive as, for example, when he told Ed Bouey, "I can only say that you made that mistake because at best you misunderstood me or at worst you were lying. I assume you misunderstood me."

Or again to Ed Bouey, "Well don't say 'Let's assume you are correct'; it is correct as I have said that Ho Chi Minh was elected in a free election by the people of North Vietnam. Anyone who works with the press should know that."

However, the substance of the visitor's remarks is far more relevant than the by-play. Presumably, his opinions are well known to the Agency and the Department:

The U.S. has 2,500 bases abroad, China has none. This proves that it is the United States that is trying to dominate others, not China.

White people are sworn enemies of black people. There can be no compromise with them.

The only solution to the white man's problem (It's a white problem; they're the oppressors, the imperialists; not a black problem") is through violence.

"Non-violence died with Dr. King. I agree with the Black Panther Information Minister that the only assistance white people can give us is for them to kill other white people or give us the money or the guns to do it ourselves."

Black people want America defeated in Vietnam because America has no business there.

Imperialism is the highest form of capitalism. I am unalterably opposed to capitalism.

It's wrong to say that there is a conflict between communism and capitalism. I'm not advocating communism. But it might be a better system for the black man than what he has had already. It certainly couldn't be worse.

There is a difference between a black militant and a black revolutionary. The militant is angry with the system and is yelling, "Let me in." Once he gets a job paying about $10,000, he says, "well, perhaps it isn't so bad." The black revolutionary wants to destroy the system entirely. I am not a black militant.

LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

As Mao says, power grows out of the barrel of a gun.

Had Robert Kennedy been elected President, he would not have helped the black man's cause. As a matter of fact, he was the most Fascist of the candidates. He would have done most to set the stage for Fascism in the United States. He was an international white supremacist. He thought the U.S. should run the entire world.

As indicated at the outset, many of these views were upsetting to newsmen because they were almost totally unprepared for the violence contained and advocated in them. At one point, Carmichael himself recognized this, commenting, "I can't understand why everyone is so surprised. Oppressed people are always afraid to face their oppressors." He went on to say that American blacks are not afraid, that the systematic picking off of policemen by gun fire was one evidence of this, that the blowing up of factories was another, and that armed struggle is the only solution.

In point of fact, it was Carmichael's use of such terms as "armed struggle," "overthrow of the government," "destroy the system," "kill," "Mao says...", etc., that seemed to unnerve the newsmen most. Add to this the attack on Kennedy (an almost sacred name in Africa) and the implied attack on Dr. King (also a venerable name), and it is safe to say the Liberian newsmen were frightened by Carmichael.

What they expected, it seems to this writer, was a hard-hitting anti-American speech. They got more--much that is anti-American, to be sure, but also a good deal that has implications for Liberia and any other country. His talk of "overthrow", for example, comes only a few months after Liberia's ranking Ambassador was convicted of treason. The killing of prominent people, a Carmichael theme, was one of important elements in the treason trial. His quoting of such figures as Mao and Ho was somewhat shocking to newsmen in a country which has an almost pathological aversion to communism. And his talk to newsmen, themselves mainly of "the establishment"/^{about} "oppressed people" in a society with great problems of tribal integration was, to say the least, discomforting.

We understand that Carmichael made a number of similar remarks during a brief talk at the Gabriel Cinema where his wife gave a concert for the general public (as opposed to the two for more prestigious groups at the Ducor). The report is that he was wildly cheered. He is said to have pictured the black man throughout the world as oppressed by white people and to have said that killing white people is the only solution to the problem.

He asked how Africans could be so naive as to believe that white countries were interested in helping them in their development when 1) the white people were taking out Africa's wealth to begin with, and 2) the whites were dominating and mistreating black people in countries, such as the U.S. where they are living together. He continued to assert that the whole of Africa (presumably Liberia included), not just South Africa, etc., is under the domination of white people of the West and called upon Africans to unite, take up arms, and get rid of this domination.

As indicated, Carmichael is said to have "brought the house down" with such remarks. In a "nameless" or anonymous gathering such as this, it is not hard to believe that the reaction was enthusiastic. However, among pressmen who are aware of government policy, of Liberia's own social problems, the reaction would be far different.

And so it was. Ed Bouey told several people when the interview was over that he doubted he would be able to broadcast it. "They wouldn't let me play my interview with Malcolm X," Bouey said in reference to authorities of ELBC, "so I know they won't permit this. Malcolm was not nearly so rough as Carmichael."

As it turned out, Ed Bouey was right. He told the reporting officer later that upon his arrival at the station, he "met" orders that the tape was not to be played. However, the reporting officer believes this had less to do with government's disinclination to antagonize the U.S. as with the disturbing nature of Carmichael's performance as a threat to any existing government, especially governments in Africa. It is true also that no Liberian newspaper reported the Carmichael statements.

Apart from these Carmichael appearances, he was in the spotlight briefly during [redacted] especially the one attended by [redacted] on Friday night. At the close of the [redacted] and greeted the other guests at the head table. [redacted] as the audience cheered. Then he summoned Stokley Carmichael to the head table and shook hands with him. This, too, was cheered. Word got around later that [redacted] definitely did not enjoy [redacted]

The Committee for Emergency Support, mentioned above, was established during the Summer of 1967, and according to public statements, is prepared to assist the Black community should they adopt unconventional means to correct social injustice.

The BUF mentioned above, is a coalition of Negro organizations in Washington, D. Characterizations of SNCC and SDS are attached hereto in the appendix.

On October 12, 1968, Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation observed that at approximately 1:00 p.m. a rally was commenced at the Thirteenth Precinct, 1620 V Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Approximately 100 persons were present when the rally started, and an estimated 200 were present at about 2:00 p.m. [REDACTED] mentioned above, was observed driving throughout the area with loud speakers maintained on the top of his automobile urging people to attend the rally. of the rally and stated its purpose was to protest the shooting of Elijah Bennett and to make plans for remedial action in the street. Among those who spoke briefly at the rally were the Rev. Channing Phillips, D. C. delegate to the National Democratic Convention; Rev. William A. Wendt, Pastor, St. Stephen and the Incarnation Church, 16th and Newton Streets, N. W., Washington, D. C.; William Willett of the SDS; Monroe Freedman of George Washington University; George Washington Hart of Build Black, Inc., an organization formed after the April, 1968, disturbance to encourage Blacks to rebuild and control businesses in Washington, D. C.; John Karr, Co-Chairman of the D. C. Lawyers Committee; Charles Cassell, Co-Chairman of BUF; and Mayor Walter Washington. The theme of the speeches was community control of the police and expressions of sorrow and anger over the death of Elijah Bennett. Charles Cassell stated that police brutality was prevalent in the ghetto area of the city. He stated that police are racist, and that Mayor Washington is a tool of the establishment who was appointed to office rather than elected. He further charged Mayor Washington has had no contact with the people and has not been responsive to problems in the community. Cassell stated that the BUF wants the Black community to control the Police Department.

Mayor Washington urged calm and understanding and apologized for existing problems in the area of police - community relations. He urged the crowd to support him.

Stokely Carmichael, Gaston Neil, C. Sumner Stone, and Charles Cassell all spoke and stressed the need for community control of the Police Department. Carmichael told those present that when a Black citizen is killed, someone should kill a white cop, and that the Negro community should give the Black man a medal just as they do in Vietnam. Carmichael further stated that if this was done, there would not be so many white policemen killing Black men.

C. Sumner Stone, Jr. read a list of names of Black people who have been killed by police officers in Washington, D. C. He advocated control of the Police Department by the Black community, and stated that if within seven days Mayor Washington did not name a Negro as Chief of Police, the Mayor's resignation would be requested.

APPENDIX

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. Gus Hall, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anti-communist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

SUBJECT: The Congressional Record

Page E9276. Congressman Cramer, (R) Florida, stated "I again urge the Attorney General to take necessary action against Stokely Carmichael, the Black United Front chairman, who continues his travels throughout the Nation preaching violence. - - - As author of the antiriot law covering the States and the District of Columbia which became a part of Public Law 90-284, I can say that I believe the activities of Stokely Carmichael clearly fall within the scope of the act and that he is subject to prosecution. - - - Such activities by Carmichael, which he undoubtedly learned well while in Hanoi and Havana, must be brought to an end. I, therefore, repeat my demand for full prosecution of Stokely Carmichael. Mr. Cramer included an article from the October 13 issue of the Sunday Star entitled Carmichael Blasts Slaying by Police: Rally Hears Appeal for Retaliation."

TELEVISION started
Set out below is a verbatim transcript of the television presentation, "Say Brother," a panel discussion program which appeared on Station WGBH-TV, Channel 2, Boston, Massachusetts, at 9:30 p.m., on October 17, 1968. This program ended at 10:00 p.m. The moderator of the panel was Haywood Henry and the panelists were Stokely Carmichael, Mrs. Andrea Coaxum of the Boston Globe, a daily newspaper, and Mr. Les Range of the Christian Science Monitor, also a daily newspaper published at Boston, Massachusetts:

Haywood Henry: "Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. Welcome to our show. This evening we have in our studios Mr. Stokely Carmichael who will share some ideas with us on the international implications of Black Power. I am your host and moderator, Haywood Henry. To my left is Mrs. Andrea Coaxum, a reporter from the Boston Globe, and to her left is Mr. Les Range, a reporter from the Christian Science Monitor. Mr. Carmichael is with us this evening after he has just returned from a trip where black writers held a conference on the continuing dynamics of the black liberation struggle. At that conference some very interesting and provocative political processes apparently emerged. We've been informed that one of the participants, a Brother Dr. Walter Rodney, has been excluded from return to his homeland.

"Brother Carmichael, what do you see as the implications of such political activities and decisions by governments as that just made affecting Brother Rodney?

ENCLOSURE

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Stokely Carmichael: "Well, I think we have to understand that, that's really the United States, that the United States has now developed a new technique. Recognizing the danger of black people around the world coming together, the United States has decided that she must break up this process, but without appearing as if she's doing it, because if she were to appear as if she was herself doing it, it would only heighten the contradictions. So now, what she's doing is that the countries that she controls, she's telling them to bar people who were born there from returning. For example, in Jamaica, the Caribbean, and the latest spot is the Caribbean. The United States has done this all over Africa, but now because of a lot of work that we've been doing quietly in the Caribbean which is now beginning to surface, she's moving very directly in the Caribbean. Jamaica, the literature of Malcolm X, the literature of Rance Fenom (phonetic), the literature of Elijah Muhammad and the literature of Stokely Carmichael is banned. The literature, that is any books written by any of these people, cannot be brought into the country. And this is clearly not the workings of the masses of Jamaican people because all the people listed are black people talking about the black liberation struggle in the world and they have not made any offenses, either physical or verbal, against these governments, so that clearly it is the United States moving to block any of this literature or any of these people from entering. Now the case in point of Dr. Walter Rodney is very important. Now here's a brother who was born in Jamaica, has been all over the world, a very together brother. He taught at the University of Tanzania where we met. He left Tanzania and returned to Jamaica last year. He was teaching at the University of the West Indies in Jamaica and he's been there quietly. He left five days ago and came to the conference in Montreal, which was a very explosive conference in terms of the international black people that came together, and when he returned to Jamaica, they deported him. And certainly, he has made no, nothing against the Jamaican government. You take

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"my point in view, my own homeland where I was born, Trinidad. I am barred from Trinidad. And again I have made no offenses against the Trinidadian government. It's clearly again the United States afraid of the dynamism of Black Power getting hold in those islands and knocking out the control that the American imperialists have over the Caribbean Islands.

Haywood Henry: "Are you saying then that it is the official, or end, or unofficial policy of the United States Government to take specific steps to prevent the spread of Black Power in other black nations?

Stokely Carmichael: "I'm saying that, precisely, yes, in this country here its object has been to co-opt the Black Power slogan, to have people think that you can have Black Power and black capitalism work hand in hand which is absolutely absurd and nonsensical. It is a way to dilute the definitions and to confuse the masses of our people and to completely corrupt the political ideology of Black Power. But sensing that around the world, other people are now beginning, black people, to look to us Black Power (unintelligible) to cut those international ties. I'm saying precisely-and I charge the United States with that, yes. For example, I cannot travel to England, I cannot travel to Venezuela, I cannot travel to Trinidad, I cannot travel to Argentina and I have done nothing to any of these countries.

Haywood Henry: "What do you interpret as the specific reason for the action taken against Brother Rodney? Do you think it was because of his association with this particular conference?

Stokely Carmichael: "It's clearly because of that association, you see, because this conference brought together people from the West Indies, people from Africa, people from Canada, people from the United States and people from South America. All these people were black and we were all talking about internationalizing the concept of Black Power and moving concretely to find bases where black "people can begin to hang their hats. This causes and spells trouble for the United States; therefore, it must move against this type of work.

Mrs. Andrea Coaxum: "Brother Carmichael, are there other black political refugees in this country, such as Rap Brown and others who have spoken out?

Stokely Carmichael: "Yes, I think that the United States is moving on two battles, on two fronts. For example, when I returned to the country last year, the United States illegally seized my passport and held it for eight months. It had no grounds for which to take my passport. I traveled to Cuba, I traveled to North Vietnam, I traveled to Algeria, to Syria, to Egypt and to China. All of these countries, one is forbidden to use your passport for entry. See, the passport said that this document, it is invalid to use this document to travel into Cuba, North Vietnam, China and a list of countries. I never used the passport to travel into Cuba, into Vietnam, into China or anywhere. I was invited by some people in those countries and I went and I didn't have to have it stamped so that they had no right to take my passport, but because the United States is afraid and more and more because a lot of us are traveling abroad and beginning to hook in internationally, she cannot afford to have that. She seized the passport. Now politically, it wasn't very well, it didn't go very well with the United States to talk about freedom of travel and still seize my passport. So after a number of maneuvers back and forth, they had to return the passport. But now their aim is to appear as if they have given me a passport but to stop other countries where the potential of Black Power can become a reality which will affect American imperialism, not only its racism, but American imperialism, it now moves to stop. Now what it does then is moves on two fronts. The second front is that, one, the way it moves with Rap Brown, Elridge Cleaver (phonetic) and Leroi Jones, by making them refugees where they cannot move. For example, Rap Brown is the only black man in America that lives in Manhattan and needs a visa to travel to Brooklyn.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Mrs. Andrea Coaxum: "Does, it does apply within the United States?"

Stokely Carmichael: "Even within the United States. And the United States employs this around the world. There are hundreds of thousands, I would say even millions, of black political refugees around the world and we become political refugees, we have absolutely nothing to do with the political struggles that go on. The political struggles are white political struggles, but they're white political struggles over the control of black people and we get caught in the middle. Every time there's a coup in an African country which is brought about by white western imperialistic forces, then thousands of black people have to run. But again, no one wins because the people who come out on top is white people. Let us take the Congo as a specific example. In the Congo, you had Tshombe and Mobutu and Lumumba. When the white imperialist forces killed Lumumba and put in Tshombe, tens of thousands of black people living in the Congo had to flee the Congo looking for political refuge in the surrounding countries. When Mobutu, when Tshombe's overthrown, then other thousands have to flee. And again we're always fleeing, but we get nothing. We get nothing because the people who control these puppets like Tshombe and the others are Ankara (phonetic) who's now in Ghana, and thousands of people who had to flee when Dr. Nkrumah was overthrown, are the white forces that control the wealth and we still have to be running around. My wife is a political refugee from her own country. Born and bred in South Africa, some white invaders come and kick people out of their own land and tell them they cannot return. We have thousands of political refugees from South Africa, Mozambique, Angola, Southwest Africa, Guinea Bersea (phonetic), all of Africa is just flooding with black political refugees and now the United States is plotting to move it into the Caribbean and the final step, of course, into the United States.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Mr. Les Range: "Brother Carmichael, will the attempt to create political refugees, black political refugees, do anything to end this, an international movement towards Black Power that you speak of?

Stokely Carmichael: "I think that's precisely what the United States is trying to do. For example, if she could forestall or hold back the people who she thinks are a threat to her economy in Jamaica, then she can just cut us out completely and we cannot go in. So she hopes then to forestall the black liberation struggle which is really on its peak at this point.

Mr. Les Range: "Will it be effective?

Stokely Carmichael: "It will be effective, yes. Unless black people now begin to understand how to move to stop that. Now what happens unfortunately is that again the white man comes out on top. Because, for example, the Caribbean Islands, islands which black political refugees and people who are concerned about the masses of people living in those islands, we do not want to move against the black, other black people, but what will happen is that we will be forced because the Caribbean now opens itself to a very precarious position. Most of these islands in the Caribbean, for example, thrive off of the tourist business. To begin to stop political refugees from entering opens up a course for students rioting and certainly terroristic activities against the tourist industries.

Haywood Henry: "How do you specifically recommend that the black American with his new awareness of the international nature of the struggle, how specifically do we move to effectively counteract or neutralize the kind of political isolation that is occurring?

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Stokely Carmichael: "OK. Number 1. There are a lot. Number 1, we have to understand how the white west moves. It is clear that whenever they want control of a country, they can no longer just invade the country. So what they have to do is to pit person against person. That's been a technique developed since World War II with the white imperialist forces. For example, they split Korea. There's North Korea fighting South Korea. And they're not invading, they're coming to help the South Koreans beat up the bad guys, because they're the good guys. They split North Vietnam against South Vietnam. And they're not invading, but they're coming to help the good guys in South Vietnam beat up the bad guys in North Vietnam. And now we see they've done the same thing in Nigeria. They have split again. Now there's Biafra versus Nigeria and they're not going to be invading, but they're just going to come and help the good guys which ever they decide happen to be the good guys. Of course, it's going to be with their interests. So we must begin to consciously recognize this so that we can't be out there picking sides with Nigeria and picking sides with Biafra, but rather talking about these two people getting together and stop fighting because nobody's profiting but the white because the fighting by Biafra and Nigeria, while heightened certainly by tribalistic differences, certainly is not really the sole context of the fight. Biafra is very rich in oil and since the Arab countries have closed their oil ports due to the conflicts in the Middle East, it would be very helpful for practically every white country in Europe to be able to get to that oil.

Haywood Henry: "Now, Brother Carmichael, it seems that the same kind of process is happening in many of the South American nations today in which the United States is economically and politically controlling them. How do you compare the attempt by many of the Asian and African nations to engage in liberation struggles as opposed to those in Latin America?

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Stokely Carmichael: "I don't. I think we are going to. There's no alternative. I think that in terms of the Asian situation, it's clear. It's crystal clear. The United States controls completely Japan. Japan is, as far as I'm concerned, yellow America. And through her control of Japan, she's trying to stretch out her tentacles to influence the rest of Asia. Thank God Vietnam is stopping her. Because Vietnam really represents the real block to what she wants to get to, China. Now in Latin America, the only block they've had is Cuba. But Cuba's not really a military threat; it's only a political threat. It's an island which they have to fight the political ideas because the political ideas of the Cuban revolutionaries might spread to the other Latin American countries. But other than that there is no threat. Now the next spot left, obviously, is Africa. And Africa becomes central, because if black people who are aware, becoming aware to political consciousness, begin to hook up with Africa inside America, then America becomes in a lot of trouble, because if, for example, America decided to invade South Africa, decided to invade Haiti, decided to invade Trinidad, decided to invade Tobago, Jamaica, on the side of the good guys, then the black people in this country could stand up and say, 'Keep your hands off of it; it's a black man's fight; stay out,' and if she refuses to, then she has another war inside.

Mr. Les Range: "Is there any attempt going on now to get this kind of political awareness for black people in America for the total picture of the struggle internationally?

Stokely Carmichael: "Oh yes, yes, while the United States has been trying to dilute the concept of Black Power and make it look as if it's a local nonsense, some of us have been internationalizing it because Black Power cannot be seen in a local aspect of Black Power in Boston or Black Power in Roxbury or Black Power in the United States or Black Power in Canada or Black Power in the West Indies, it has to be seen in Black Power in the world. It must be seen in that context.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Mrs. Andrea Coaxum: "One of the early black political refugees from this country was Robert Williams. Do you know where he is at this time and what political activities he's involved in?"

Stokely Carmichael: "Mr. Williams was in China. He's now in Tanzania and he's working with the people who are setting up the new Republic of Africa inside this country. He's the leader of their group and they themselves are now trying together, and banding together with a number of other political refugees. For example, Tanzania is just loaded with political refugees because it's right on the border of Mozambique and, see, all of the people who flee from the harsh treatment of the Portuguese or even brothers and sisters who get a chance to flee from South Africa, as soon as they run up, they always come right into Tanzania.

Haywood Henry: "What is your opinion about the attempt being made to establish the Republic of New Africa? Have you had a chance to meet yet with any of the brothers and sisters involved.

Stokely Carmichael: "No, I haven't had a chance to really have a serious talk at it. I think it's another area where people are striving and that we should try each in our own area to see which one works best. I don't know very much about it, but I think that people who are in it are serious about what they're doing and we have to, if we can, aid it in any way we can to make it a successful program.

Mr. Les Range: "Will there be an attempt to help Walter Rodney return to Jamaica?"

Stokely Carmichael: "Yes, now, as I said earlier, see, what the West Indies now does is opens itself for really terroristic activities. Because if it bans Walter Rodney from returning to Jamaica, and already student rioting has begun in Jamaica and Trinidad early this morning, then there's nothing left except to begin terroristic activity against,

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

"but you see, you don't want to play into the white man's hands by fighting black people against black people because that's precisely what he wants. I mean, that's why they've been creating all the friction inside the United States with this black group against that black group, hoping to heighten the friction within the black groups so that we could arm and fight ourselves while they sit back.

Haywood Henry: "Conquer and divide" or "Conquer in delight."

Stokely Carmichael: "Right, so we cannot afford to play into their hands. At this time we must de-emphasize any, certainly publicly, political friction we have with any black group inside our communities. We must because they will play on that and heighten it. Now we recognize that's precisely what they want in Jamaica. But the way to move against them in a terroristic activity destroying any sort of a tourist activities will, bring the economy in those countries to a screeching halt. Also, for example, in Jamaica, America has large bauxite companies. People will begin to develop a consciousness not to move against other black people, but to move against those bauxite companies because we recognize who the enemy is.

Haywood Henry: "Imperialism at home and imperialism abroad, part of the same continual process.

Stokely Carmichael: "Dr. Nkrumah says when it's domestic, it's capitalism; when it's international, it's imperialism. So the black man is internationalized whether we like it or not, so it must be imperialism.

Mrs. Andrea Coaxum: "You mentioned, Brother Carmichael, that your wife is a political refugee from South Africa. What efforts are being made to liberate black South Africans?

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Stokely Carmichael: "Well, there's (unintelligible) guerilla groups, that's the only effort that can be made and that, for example, in Africa, there's a lot of fighting going on, but the white man never, will never talk about that fighting because he's afraid that it will heighten political consciousness of Africans living inside the United States. He will talk about the Biafran War and try and begin to show some nonsensical pity about black people starving in Biafra. That's nonsense. No white man is ever concerned about black people starving and dying. And certainly Lyndon Baine Johnson is not concerned, Kennedy is not concerned, Nixon is not concerned, Humphrey is not concerned. None of them are concerned. Because inside their own country thousands of black people die each year, starving to death. So they're not concerned. They're only doing that because of their own political interests. The only way that we will free anyway in Africa, the only way we will free anyway is with a gun in our hands. All those countries must be freed, but by guns, by arms. The white man didn't go into those countries with non-violent means. He doesn't oppress people in South Africa with non-violence; he oppresses them with the guns. It's our job is to begin to raise our consciousness so we can raise money and help those brothers get some guns and kill every white man they see in South Africa.

Haywood Henry: "Brother Carmichael, what is your particular opinion about the unusually large number of black men fighting in Vietnam, ostensibly a war which is not in the interest of black people, a war which is obviously a racist war?

Stokely Carmichael: "Well, I think we've been crystal clear on that. We said very simple a long time, 'Hell no, we won't go.' I mean, I think everyone knows what the position is. There's no need now to reiterate. The time is to move to find, try and get some type of tactics that will begin to alleviate the drafting of young black men and certainly if one cannot avoid the draft, then one should go and kill the enemy.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Haywood Henry: "How do you interpret the recent action of the brothers at Fort Hood, Texas, who refused to come to the Democratic National Convention understanding that they may possibly have to destroy black people?"

Stokely Carmichael: "I applauded the action. I thought it was very courageous and it shows that black people are heightening their consciousness regardless of what they say on the press."

Haywood Henry: "Do you think this is a beginning of a kind of internal resistance by black people in the situation where they would normally have to destroy black people."

Stokely Carmichael: "Right, and it must be coming, it must spread, it must, it will spread. There's no way to stop it. It will spread."

Mr. Les Range: "I think something many black people in America have been interested in is how Africans feel towards them. Can you tell us something about that?"

Stokely Carmichael: "Well, you should ask my wife. She's African. I think we can't afford to get caught up in what the white man says about Africans don't like African-Americans. That's the white man talking. I've been all over Africa and everywhere I've been to Africa, including Liberia, I have been welcomed with open arms by thousands of people."

Mrs. Andrea Coaxum: "Excuse me, will there be a follow up to the Congress of Black Writers where black political refugees will get together and discuss new techniques and new tactics?"

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Stokely Carmichael: "Oh, there will be, yes, there has to be. But I think it's also important for our brothers and sisters in the United States to begin to become aware. Now, let me show you, for example, the so-called State of Israel gets thousands of dollars in aid and sells jets to, America sells jets to them, and that's because of the powerful force of Zionism in the United States where they wage a lobby for the so-called State of Israel. Now we black people have, it seems to me, a stake in this country, since our sweat built it. Therefore, we should say if X person wants to come to this country, he can come. And we have to build a political, for example, we don't know when they expel African students. They expel African students from this country (snap of his fingers) just like that and we're never aware of it. But certainly, it must become our job to fight out against that when they start to begin to try, that we begin to use means to stop it, and begin to, if money is going to go, let's get some of that money.]

Haywood Henry: "Brother Carmichael, in your book, Black Power, the Policy of Liberation, you had some specific opinions about coalition politics and about why such coalitions have not worked to the advantage of black people. What do you see as new kinds of coalitions for us in the future?

Stokely Carmichael: "Internationalizing our ties with other black people around the world, that's the coalition we have to work for now. Because there have been black people who have made the mistake in that past, it seems to me, of coalescing with so-called white radical groups without insuring that those white radical groups would wage a fight against racism. They've done that in the past time and time again.

Haywood Henry: "So you're saying there should have been evidence of the extent to which any such parties is committed before making coalition.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Stokely Carmichael: "Right. And it cannot just be in terms of words. It must be in terms of actions.

Haywood Henry: "Do you think that there's anything in particular that we can learn from the experiences of men like Dubois and Garvey and Malcolm X who also attempted to internationalize the movement?

Stokely Carmichael: "I think that we have to, I think we definitely have to follow in their footsteps. Definitely, I mean, that's a rhetorical question. You're the moderator, you can't say it.

Haywood Henry: "Well, Brother Carmichael, it's certainly been our pleasure to have had you with us in the studios today. We think that certainly the discussion which we've had is a very crucial one, a very important one. We will certainly be looking forward to hearing more from you on this particular subject and ladies and gentlemen of the press, thank you for having come."

Dear Mr. Hoover,

○ I read an article in the news paper last week about Stokeley Carmichael speaking in Canada - I am sure you read about him.

How much longer are we going to tolerate his terrible talk and communist preachings-Inciting negroes to riot and get guns and start shooting us - the white who have worked and struggled so long to make this country great.

Carmichael and [REDACTED] both are walking around free with indigntments against them and no one is bringing them in to stand trial. Why are they not in jail? If they were poor white men they would be already serving terms for doing what those men have been doing. Where is justice?

b7C

Where is [REDACTED] now? He is being so quiet. Is he in Moscow being trained further to destroy our Country. When are our Country and our leaders in Washington going to wake up Or have we gone too far on the Communist way to save us?

b7C

I know you have been a great man all the way but have our left wing leaders stopped you from doing what you would like to do-?

I pray God that Humphrey will not steal this election as the Kennedy crowd did and get him in office.

You know as well as I that from the first day he came into the house of Representative years ago he has been the worse left winger ever in our Government. If he became President he would very soon throw us to the Communist.

Please let the American public know where Carmichael and [REDACTED] are and when they are going to stand trial for their crimes. We deserve to know why something hasn't already been done about them

Memorandum

TO : DIRECTOR, FBI (100-44608)

FROM : SAC, ST. LOUIS (100-20639)

SUBJECT: STOKLEY CARMICHAEL
RM - BN

DATE: 10/26/68

Re SL tel to WFO, 8/31/68, and WFO airtel to Director, 9/1/68.

Being furnished the Bureau under separate cover are five reels of recording tapes. This is a copy of a copy of a tape recording made of a public speech delivered by STOKLEY CARMICHAEL, in St. Louis, at the Sheldon Memorial Hall, 3648 Washington Blvd., St. Louis, Mo., on 8/29/68. The tape from which these tapes were made was furnished by [redacted] (Protect Identity) to SA [redacted] and had to be returned as soon as possible. The tape was recorded as a slow odd speed about 2IPS, and recorded on a four track recorder. To make these tapes, the original was played back on [redacted]

Portions of the transcription on the original tape were very poor and garbled and are, therefore, the same on the copy. Because of the length of the tape and the poor quality of parts of it, St. Louis has not undertaken the effort to reduce it to writing in interest of conserving stenographic time, until the Bureau has had the opportunity of hearing the tape.

If it is determined that statements made by CARMICHAEL are of a nature that could be used against him by the Government, and the Bureau recommends that a transcription be undertaken, the tape should be returned. It should be noted that the original tape recording is not available and it is not known who made the original recording.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL
RACIAL MATTERS - BLACK PANTHER PARTY

Re St. Louis letter dated 10/26/68.

Returned herewith are five reels of tapes containing a recording of a speech by Carmichael at Sheldon Memorial Hall, St. Louis, Missouri, on 8/29/68.

Reference is made to St. Louis letterhead memorandum (LHM) dated 8/31/68 containing the results of Carmichael's speech on 8/29/68 at Sheldon Memorial Hall. A review of this LHM indicates Carmichael made highly inflammatory statements throughout his talk. In view of this and even though the above-referred to tapes are of poor quality, St. Louis should promptly prepare an LHM suitable for dissemination containing a transcription of the tapes. It should be stated in the LHM that due to the poor quality of the tapes, portions of the speech are unintelligible.

It is not clear in referenced letter how the source obtained the original tape and this should be more fully explained in your cover airtel. If no additional data is developed concerning the source of the original tape, the beginning of the details of your LHM should include a statement that the tape was made available by a confidential source and the original recording is not available nor is it known who made the original recording.

RE: STOKELY CARMICHAEL

NOTE:

Stokely Carmichael, a black extremist, gave a talk in St. Louis on 8/29/68. St. Louis by referenced letter submitted five reels of tapes of this speech which were made from an original tape furnished by a probationary racial informant. St. Louis pointed out that the tapes were of poor quality, requested the Bureau to review to determine if statements made by Carmichael could be used against him by the Government. Review of previous information furnished by St. Louis indicates Carmichael made highly inflammatory statements during his talk. In view of this, St. Louis instructed to transcribe the tapes.

[redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on October 25, 1968, that [redacted] Stokely Carmichael, [redacted] and about 150 other individuals gathered at Edward Murphy's Supper Club, 2227 Georgia Avenue, N.W., WDC, on October 24, 1968, where a press conference was held from about 11:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Also present was [redacted] planned boycott by black athletes of the Olympic Games. In addition, a large contingent of the press was present. During the press conference Carlos spoke of the participation of Negro athletes in the Olympics and said that the United States may not have a team to send to the 1976 Olympic Games. He said that all good athletes would be black and would not attend Olympic games. He said "If the U. S. does not change by 1972 they will be running around a flaming stadium." Carlos stated he did not want the medal he won for his third place finish in the 200 meter dash to count toward the United States' total medals won stating, "I was stripped and kicked off the U. S. team." He reportedly stated "The honkies get on the beach to get like us, but we are going to move them into the shade." He continued "This country didn't want to own me and I don't want them to own my medal." He said he wanted to give the medal "to a black museum for black people." Carlos also remarked that some of the United States representatives participating in the Olympic Games were forced "to wear uniforms of the wrong size and color." He then attacked the press declaring that he had received thousands of letters supporting his demonstration, not 1000 condemning it as had been reported by the press. He was asked if the demonstration by himself and Tommie Smith of clenching their black-gloved fists and lowering their heads in a defiant salute while the United States National Anthem was playing were their idea or one of the black power leaders. Carlos responded it was their idea and stated "I don't need Stokely or Rap to tell me what to do." He said he would have boycotted the Games entirely but he and Smith felt they could accomplish more by going and subsequently demonstrating. He said he would not stand for the playing of the National Anthem any more because "It does not represent" him. He predicted "a lot of people are going to start wearing black gloves" as a symbol of black power and "you are going to see a lot of your white daughters, sons and relatives wearing them to." He told the press "you had better start getting ready to knock them also." He was asked if thinking of the clenched fist demonstration may have helped him win the medal and he replied "I can run as fast out there on the street as I ran down there." During the press conference Carlos was presented with several gifts from members of the group present.

According to the source, Stokely Carmichael did not say very much but did comment he would be glad to receive athletic medals won by Negro athletes and would use them for a black museum. [redacted] only made one remark during the conference and that was that he hoped the black athletes who did participate in the Olympics without demonstrating "get 14 years of leg trouble."

Harry Edwards, reportedly a professor at Cornell University, and described as founder of the Olympic boycott movement, criticised the United States Olympic Committee and said he was going to call for an investigation of money appropriated for the Olympics. He praised Smith and Carlos for the way in which they conducted themselves by the black power demonstration during the Olympic Games in Mexico City.

Source continued that during the press conference a mention was made of the war in Vietnam but only in a brief manner. He advised that there was mild criticism about the war but that no highly inflammatory statements had been made by any of the participants.

[redacted] source advised that [redacted] Stokely Carmichael, [redacted] plus others with a group of about 400, most of whom were students, gathered at the front of Frederick Douglass Memorial Hall shortly after 1 p.m. on October 24, 1968. The above mentioned individuals spoke briefly as they did at the press conference and along the same lines relating to the participation of Negro athletes in the Olympics. Carlos was given a relief medallion of the late Malcolm X by Q. T. Jackson, President of the Student Body.

A characterization of Muslim Mosque, Incorporated (MMI) of which Malcolm X was affiliated is set forth in the Appendix.

Stokely Carmichael spoke briefly and said "from this day forward black people will pick their own black heroes." H. Rap Brown reiterated his hope that Negro athletes who participated in the Olympics without demonstrating "have 14 years of leg trouble." Harry Edwards reportedly urged black people "wherever you are, receive the playing of the National Anthem" as Carlos and Smith did with a black power salute. He reiterated his demand for an investigation of the United States Olympic Committee for misuse of funds.

The rally at Howard University ended about 2:30 p.m. [redacted] and group then went to the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W., WDC, for a rally to be held at 3:30 p.m.

A copy of an article dated October 25, 1968, and appearing in "The Washington Post," mentioned previously, regarding the rally at Howard University is attached herewith.

The New School of Afro-American Thought, mentioned above, has been publicly described as the headquarters for a small group of self-supporting artists and educators who are attempting to spread a message that Black people should be proud of being Black through classes given in Negro history, African language and art.

[redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on October 24, 1968, that a rally was held at the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W., WDC, beginning at 3:30 p.m. on October 24, 1968. [redacted] Stokely Carmichael, [redacted] were present along with about 175 other persons, mostly young males believed to be from Howard University. The rally overflowed from the premises of the School onto the sidewalk and street. Brief speeches were made by Carlos, Carmichael, Brown and Edwards. Carlos in brief remarks defended his action at the Olympics in Mexico City by his black power demonstration. He said that some people had criticised his stand but he did not think he did wrong. He said that he started to take part in the original boycott of the Olympic team. However, it is the pride of all athletes to win an Olympic medal and he could not resist the opportunity to participate. He reiterated he did not think he did wrong by what he did after winning the medal. He apologized for Smith not being able to be present and participate in the honors being given him. Carmichael spoke briefly and said the lesson Carlos and Smith showed white people is that the day is gone when "you mess with Rap Brown spoke briefly and supported the position of Carlos and Smith by their black power display at the Olympics in Mexico City. He said that he hoped that the rest of the people would also support them.

Edwards again praised Carlos and Smith for the manner in which they conducted themselves during their participation in the Olympics. He criticised other Negro athletes participating for not taking a similar stand.

Also present in the crowd were SNCC associates of Carmichael. [redacted]

Source advised that the rally at the New School of Afro-American Thought ended about 4 p.m. without any incidents.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S. W., Atlanta, Georgia, is a nonmembership organization, which was born out of the sit-in movement that erupted across the South beginning in 1960.

Today SNCC identifies itself as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

According to SNCC the year 1967 marked a historic milestone in the struggle for the liberation of black people in the United States and the year that revolutionaries throughout the world began to understand more fully the impact of the black movement. SNCC declared that "liberation will come only when there is final destruction of this mad octopus-- the capitalistic system of the United States with all its life-sucking tentacles of exploitation and racism that choke the people of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. The realities of black life, together with the recognition instilled in SNCC workers forced its members to further popularize the legitimacy of self-defense and rebellions when oppression became too great."

From May, 1966, until May, 1967, Stokely Carmichael was National Chairman of SNCC. As of July, 1968, Carmichael resided in Washington, D. C., where he was affiliated with SNCC and active as temporary chairman of a black coalition group. In May, 1967, Carmichael [redacted]

A source advised that the Black Panther Party for Self Defense (BPPSD) was formed by HUEY PERCY NEWTON, Minister of Defense, [REDACTED] December, 1966, as a militant black nationalist political organization to combat police brutality, to unite militant black youth, and to determine the destiny of black communities. The political philosophy was taken from writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of Communist China and black militant writers. b6 b7C

In March, 1968, the name of the organization was changed to Black Panther Party (BPP).

The official BPP publication, "The Black Panther Party - Black Community News Service," states that the BPP advocates use of guns and guerrilla tactics in their violent revolutionary program to end oppression of black people.

On February 17, 1968, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, Minister of Information, announced merger of the BPP and Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and bestowed title of Minister of Justice, BPP, upon H. RAP BROWN, Chairman of SNCC.

SNCC is a militant Negro organization which preaches black supremacy.

Over 3,500 back protest staged by Olympic athletes

A telegram was sent late last week from a black student organization at Howard University to John Carlos and Tommie Smith supporting their racial protest at the Olympic Games in Mexico City.

A second telegram was sent Monday with over 2500 student signatures and a thousand signatures from D.C. residents, according to Bob Malson, vice president of the HU student assembly.

Both telegrams read, "We the Black students of Howard University urge all black athletes to unite in support of Tommie Smith and John Carlos in bringing the issue of American racism before the judgement of the world."

The second telegram began, "We the Black students of Howard University and the people of Washington, D.C."

"Carlos and Smith were suspended from the team and asked to leave Mexico last week when they gave a "black unity" gesture from the victory stand during the playing of the National Anthem. Smith won the 200 meter dash and Carlos came in third.

FRIDAY afternoon, John Jones, a member of UJAMAA, a black nationalist student organization at Howard, told about 300 students at a campus rally that Smith and Carlos "had no obligation to salute the United States flag because of the murders that have been committed against our people in the name of white racism."

He said that Howard athletes should give the "same salute" that Carlos and Smith gave during the Anthem playing at all Howard sports events.

One telegram was already on its way to Mexico City while the relay was in progress. This first telegram was sent only by UJAMAA with no list of signatures. Over 200 names were collected from the students at the rally for the second telegram and Jones said the goal was 10,000 student signatures. The petition-telegram was sent Sunday.

There are almost 10,000 students enrolled at Howard.

"Further actions on our part depend on the reaction of the other black athletes on the Olympic team," said Norman Reid, another

UJAMAA member. "The only thing we can effectively do is show support for them in any action they deem necessary."

MIKE HARRIS said that another petition telegram would be circulated "among the people of Washington D.C., urging all black people to unite in support of Tommie Smith and Carlos."

Part of the rally was devoted to a report on the Black Writers Conference held Oct. 14 and 15 at McGill University in Montreal.

IRVIN RAY, a member of UJAMAA executive board said that a Jamaican student, Walter Rodney, had been barred from returning to his country because the Jamaican government objected to the conference. Rodney was the conference's primary sponsor, according to Ray, and he has also been asked to leave Canada. Ray said the students in Jamaica "reaction among Jamaican been "drastic and violent."

Ousted Olympian Hailed at Howard

By Robert C. Maynard
Washington Post Staff Writer

John Carlos, the Olympic bronze medalist who ran 200 meters in 20 seconds last week in Mexico City, was triumphantly received in Washington yesterday as a new hero of the black-power movement.

"This is the largest crowd of black people I have ever seen in one place to hear anyone speak," Carlos told a rally of several hundred persons at Howard University.

Surrounded by such black nationalists as Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown, Carlos appeared shy, and hesitant in a morning press conference. But by afternoon he had struck a comfortable stance in his new role as a public speaker.

As Q. T. Jackson, president of the Howard University Student Assembly, handed Carlos a relief medalion of the late Malcolm X, the banished Olympic runner quickly quipped, "This is the real gold medal." His crowd of followers shouted with delight.

Carmichael had little to say, except that "from this day forward, black people will pick their own black heroes." Brown said of those Negro athletes who participated in the Olympic Games without protest:

"I wish them 14 years of leg trouble."

Carlos, who defied the Olympic medal ceremony custom by standing beside his fellow winner, gold medalist Tommie Smith, with his left fist in a black glove clenched above his head, echoed Brown's sentiments.

Harry Edwards, the former San Jose (Calif.) State College professor who began a move for Negroes to boycott the Olympic Games, urged that black people, "wherever you are," should "receive the playing of the National Anthem" as Carlos and Smith did—with a black-power salute.

Edwards said that Smith, who was to have appeared here with Carlos, remained behind in California with his mother, who was ill. Edwards said Smith's mother "nearly had a nervous breakdown because of harassment by the press."

Referring to reports that some members of the U.S. Olympic team are under investigation for receiving unauthorized funds, Edwards demanded a full-scale investigation of "the U.S. Olympic Committee and coaching staff, not just an investigation of black people by racist crackers."

In his own blast at the Olympic Committee, Carlos demanded that "since they disowned Tommie Smith and me, let them disown our medals, too."

The MMI, according to the article, would be a broadly based politically oriented black nationalist movement for Negroes only, financed by voluntary contributions. In this public statement, Malcolm X urged Negroes to abandon the doctrine of non-violence when it is necessary to defend themselves in the civil rights struggle, and he also suggested that Negroes form rifle clubs to protect their lives and property in time of emergencies in areas where the government is unable or unwilling to protect them.

Incorporation papers of the MMI filed on March 16, 1964, with the Business Section, Clerk of Courts, New York County, New York, New York, reflect that the MMI was incorporated under the Religious Corporation Law of the State of New York to work for the imparting of the Islamic Faith and Islamic Religion in accordance with "accepted Islamic principals." The principal place of worship to be located in the Borough of Manhattan, New York, New York.

On October 6, 1964, a confidential source advised that the MMI is apparently affiliated with the true orthodox Islamic Religion through its affiliation with the Islamic Foundation (of New York), 11 Riverside Drive, New York City. The only teachings of the MMI are on the Islamic Religion.

Banished Olympic Medalists To Speak in D.C. Thursday

By Robert C. Maynard
Washington Post Staff Writer

Olympic medalists Tommie Smith and John Carlos, banished from the Mexico City games for a black-power demonstration last week, are scheduled to begin a nationwide speaking tour in Washington on Thursday.

Stokely Carmichael, recently named as prime minister of the Oakland-based Black Panther Party, said the engagements here were "arranged by me, because, of course, they must start in the Nation's Capital."

He added:

"This city—because of its black majority—should give them a hero's welcome."

Smith and Carlos, after placing first and third, respectively, in the 200 meter finals last Wednesday, stood for the medal-bestowing ceremony without shoes and in black stockings, each holding high one clenched hand in a black glove.

The ensuing controversy resulted in the two athletes being sent home. They arrived in Los Angeles Monday afternoon, but refused to answer questions of reporters at the airport.

Carmichael said they will respond to questions at a press conference at 11 a.m. Thursday. At 1 p.m. Thursday, the medalists will appear in front of Frederick Douglass Memorial Hall, at Howard University and at 3:30 p.m. will be at the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th st. nw.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Stokely Carmichael was replaced as Chairman of the black extremist organization, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), in May, 1967. Shortly thereafter, Carmichael traveled extensively throughout the world seeking support for the United States' black extremists. In Cuba, Carmichael was an observer to the Latin American Solidarity Organizations Conference of revolutionary forces. In Cairo, Egypt, on October, 1967, Carmichael said "My political philosophy is influenced by the Chinese and Cuban revolutionaries." In Paris, France, in December, 1967, he said "We do not want peace in Vietnam, we want the Vietnamese to defeat the United States of America."

Shortly after returning to the United States Carmichael established residence in Washington, D. C., early in January, 1968. He immediately launched a campaign to form a black united front of militant and moderate Negro leaders in the Washington, D. C., area. Despite any "new look" he may endeavor to project with the Black United Front, he remains committed to violence and irrationality. At a Carmichael's presence as a leading spokesman for black extremists made him less amenable to SNCC direction and control and he was expelled from SNCC in August, 1968. Student Non Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC). SNCC is

APPENDIX

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquarters at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael [redacted]

[redacted] Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. [redacted]

[redacted] as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a world-wide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind, to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

DETAILS:

AT HONOLULU, HAWAII

The October 15, 1968 edition of the "Honolulu Advertiser", a daily newspaper of Honolulu, announced that STOKELY CARMICHAEL, who had recently joined the Black Panther Movement, was scheduled to arrive in Honolulu on October 24, 1968, accompanied by EARL ANTHONY, Minister of Information for the Black Panther Party (BPP), to speak at the University of Hawaii (UH).

The news article went on to quote the Black Student Union (BSU) President, JUNIOUS SIMON, as stating there was no correlation between the group inviting CARMICHAEL to Hawaii and the scheduled visit of president candidate, GEORGE C. WALLACE.

SIMON stated that the newly formed BSU invited CARMICHAEL to Hawaii as a means of giving out information about the BPP but it did not mean that the group was identifying itself with BPP ideology.

On October 15, 1968 [] advised as follows:

b7D

There are perhaps some 50 Negro students among the 17,000 full-time students registered at the UH. Recently a group of about 35 Negro students have attempted to organize under the name of the Black Student Union. They have not as yet been accredited as a student organization, and because they have announced that membership will only be open to members of the black race, they undoubtedly will not be given approval. However, the BSU has received interim acknowledgement by the university and equipped with this, the BSU obtained a student loan from the Associated Students of the University of Hawaii to bring CARMICHAEL to Honolulu to speak. Contrary to the story in the "Honolulu Advertiser" of that date that members of BSU were anxious to bring CARMICHAEL to Honolulu because of WALLACE's intended visit, they have decided they would not picket or harrass WALLACE; that they would not even acknowledge him, but instead would invite a black speaker to talk at the university during his visit.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL is the former National Chairman of the Students Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) from 1966 to 1967, and is currently Prime Minister of the BPP.

A characterization of SNCC and BPP is appended hereto.

The "Honolulu Advertiser" of October 22, 1968 reported that CARMICHAEL had changed his itinerary and would arrive in Honolulu, accompanied by EARL ANTHONY, on the evening of October 29, 1968. ANTHONY, according to the article, is scheduled to speak at 11:30 AM on October 30, 1968 at the Kennedy Theater at the East-West Center, UH, and CARMICHAEL will speak the following day at 1:30 PM at the Andrews Amphitheater on the campus. He was also scheduled to speak at the Church of the Crossroads on the evening of October 31, 1968.

On October 29, 1968 [redacted] reported that he had received information that [redacted]

Hawaii
The Hawaiian Telephone Company information service reported that [redacted] Honolulu.

Registration for automobile licenses hereinafter recorded were checked by SA [redacted] through the files of the Honolulu Police Department.

Agents of the FBI observed the following:

At 9:25 PM on October 29, 1968, STOKELY CARMICHAEL [redacted] arrived in Honolulu aboard United Airlines Flight 187 from San Francisco, California. [redacted]

Shortly after 2 PM on October 31, 1968 STOKELY CARMICHAEL addressed an overflow crowd at Andrews Amphitheater on the University of Hawaii Campus. CARMICHAEL was introduced by JUNIOUS SIMON, President of the Black Student Union. During his speech he mentioned that this was the first time he had spoke at a white university. There were a few Negroes on each side of the platform and near the front of the amphitheater.

CARMICHAEL's remarks, recorded by tape, were as follows:

The only time you can talk about morality is when you have enough power to enforce morality on people you control. Before then you cannot talk about morality. I think that's a major problem with many of white youth in the United States today, they are always concerned with question of morality when tied with the question of violence. Now what do we mean when we say revolutionary violence. Well, there's violence in the world but different kinds of violence. Now within a political arena we phased our violence into two areas, basically, revolutionary violence and counter revolutionary violence. Counter revolutionary violence is a violence that seeks to maintain the status quo. It is a violence that seeks to keep in power a few people who rule and oppress the rest.

Revolutionary violence is a violence used against the counter revolutionary violence to overthrow the established system, but to establish a system which speaks through the masses of the people, not just a few. For example, you have in South America and even in Africa many coups of a violent nature, but most of those coups are not revolutionary coups because the people who come to power do not speak for the masses of the people of their given countries. So that revolutionary violence would be violence aimed at the status quo to change the situation and bring about a new order which speaks directly to the masses of the people in any given area. Now we want to talk about self defense and offensive violence, because again that's another area where many people get hung up on (to use an SDS word, if I may) and to those who get hung up on self defense and offensive violence we ought to state very clearly:

Che Guevara says that self defense never changes the status quo. He is absolutely correct. If we had self defense in the black communities of the United States, it would mean that every time a white policeman shot a black man, the black man would retaliate, maybe shoot that policeman, or he would shoot ten policemen, but that basically would not change the situation of the United States, or would it change the situation of any given area. In order to change the situation, one must use offensive violence. That's logical. You may disagree with it but it's logical and we are concerned with logic, not whether or not we agree with certain things. So that one just cannot talk about self defense if one is talking about changing the status quo. One can talk about self defense only in the mere sight of survival while one pushes for sudden changes.

Let us use the Chicago convention as our example. If the white students who were being beaten by the policemen retaliated against the policemen that would be an act of self defense, but it would not change one iota the situation in the United States within the political arena, because after they fought those policemen there'd just be more policemen and if they just waited for the policemen to attack them, they would be reacting to the moves of the people they oppose. That's hardly a way to win any game, let alone the game of politics. So we want to make those two points clear.

Now we want to talk about racism and capitalism. I think this discussion becomes important in light of the new left and the many new socialist and Communist groups that are popping up around the country who are trying to say that they, in fact, have the solution for the problem. Now the fight of black people of America, and I would venture to say, although I would not be on solid ground, that the fight of the colored peoples in the world today is a fight against racism and capitalism, and while these two fights may be closely connected, they are also mutually exclusive. That is to say you can have one without the other and it is also correct to say that you cannot assume that by abolishing one, you necessarily abolish the other. Then one would come into the area where we would have difficulty with the white man because the white man seems to assume that the abolition of capitalism and the establishment of socialism or Communism automatically leads to the abolition of racism. I do not think that that is correct. So that what we are going to see is that black people are going to have to fight for an ideology that combats not only capitalism but also racism, and in many cases racism will be uppermost in the minds of black people rather than capitalism, simply because we have not had that much contact with black capitalists and black imperialists because in reality there are none. There may be some puppets of black capitalism but there are no real black capitalists, so that again the institution is going to be against racism recognizing the imperialist characteristic of capitalism. I think that on that fight we should branch off and begin to see the difference between poor white people of the country and black people of the country.

Now there are two types of offenses. Oh, there are more, but let us deal specifically with two types. One is called exploitation; the other is called colonization.

Exploitation is when you rape someone economically of their labor and that's it; that's when you economically exploit them. But colonization is entirely different from exploitation because in colonization you not only rape the person economically but you seek to dehumanize the victim. You seek to dehumanize the victim by stripping him of his culture, by stripping him of his history, by stripping him of his language, by stripping him of his value system, and by forcing him to identify with his master. Black people are colonized in the United States; white people are exploited. There is a difference. So to assume that the fight of poor white people and the fight of black people is the same is to make a politically naive assumption. White people are not fighting for their history, they are not fighting to regain their culture, they are not fighting to regain their value systems. They have all those things. All the poor white people are fighting for is more money, and we cannot allow black people to think that that's their fight - just more money. As a matter of fact, we see that that's happening all over the country. Black people, I find, are pushing very hard for the cultural aspects of their struggle rather than the economic aspects of their struggle, while I think that that's a trick that plays into the hands of white society because white society assumes that there is no threat if one moves on the cultural aspect rather than the overt threat if one moves on the economic aspects, but nonetheless, we have to bear these things in mind and we must understand them clearly. That is not to say that the fight of poor white people will not help black people or even vice versa. We don't know. But certainly we do know that we cannot say the fights are the same.

And now we want to branch right from that and go and talk about the liberals because most people who talk about revolution for change in the United States should recognize that while the economically secure, that is the, in Maotistic terms, the bourgeoisie, the economically secure, may start revolution, it is the economically insecure upon whom they depend for the masses of their struggle and that is a fact. The economically insecure in the United States happens to represent poor white people; not econonically secure people but white economically secure people represent the liberal establishment in the United States and poor white people represent the entire element or the right wing reactionary element of the United States.

So to try to apply a situation that they have read in a handbook by Marx or Lenin to the United States would be incorrect unless they clearly understood the difference that takes place within the United States. Now then, what is the historical role of liberals and what is their role in the struggle today. We contend that the role of liberals has always been one to stop the confrontation that has always been their primary role in all of history. Whenever society begins to become polarized, the liberals seek to stop the confrontation. They do not seek to redress grievances; they seek to stop the confrontation, and they seek to stop the confrontation not by themselves buidling a power base which will be powerful enough to enforce the stopping of the confrontation, but they seek to stop the confrontation by appealing to morality, to idealism and to platitudes of humanism, and while they do that other people build the power base. Certainly, in German times pre-Hitler there were many people who were opposed to the rise of Hitlerism. They were the liberals. But the liberals did not build a power base to stop Hitler. Instead, they quoted some mythical platitudes about humanism that all men are created equally and endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, (I think they got it from America or some place like that) and allowed Hitler to build a power base to wipe out the Jews and then the liberals disappeared, cause they're not going to be part of the confrontation. But how then do they seek to stop the confrontation and to whom do they go to stop the confrontation. When they seek to stop the confrontation, they speak to the oppressed rather than to the oppressor. They speak to the oppressed. Liberals appeal to black people in the United States to keep cool, to be rational, to be non-violent, to be nice, to be nice, to be nice, but they never appeal to George Wallace, the John Birch Society, or any of the right wing reactionary groups and tell them to be cool, be rational, and be nice, and the reason they do not is because they do not have the power to confront the Wallaceites and those other people. They do not have it, and because they do not have the power, they do a disservice to the oppressed who are ready for the confrontation and they do a disservice because they represent the economically secure and, therefore, they have something to gain from the very system that they think they're about to fight against. That's why there are so many rich liberals in the United States. Poor people don't have the time to be liberal. Liberalism is a luxury of the rich. Because they're so sure nothing can happen to their establishment. It's very audacious if one is liberal you know much better to be reactionary. This is truthful. We have to understand that. Because as the oppressed begins to move, what happens is that the liberal gets caught in the middle. Always slipping and sliding, never deciding which way to go - the liberal way, until finally the final act when he is pushed - on one side or the other of the fence, or he jumps on the side which he thinks has his interests at heart.

So oppressed cannot listen to liberals - we cannot. To do that is to do a great disservice to ourselves. Not only that, but the liberals prepare, prepare the atmosphere from which the right wing can come up and create a power base and because the liberals are always politically naive - never seeking to build a power base - they allow the right wing to go unchallenged while they build a power base. Let us give an example of the election 1968 in the United States of America.

Wallace began to build a power base because Wallace is the intelligent man who knows what power is and what he can do with it. The liberal, thus, is brought up and blocked and _____ until the convention, and still has not even to this day _____ for when he comes to a party within the political conventional system of the United States to which they can turn. Merely because they do not recognize power - do not recognize power. Had they recognized power they would have had a party and they would have created a pattern in order to _____ of our liberals who never present an alternative.

It is the right wing which presents an alternative, and that is why they will always get the masses of people behind them, and the liberals will fade out of sight. The liberals never present concrete alternatives. And that leads us clearly into the election.

Of the three candidates running - George Wallace, Richard Nixon, Hubert Humphrey - the only difference in any of their campaign speeches is merely a question of time. How soon do we get the confrontation. George Wallace would like the confrontation in January, 1969. Richard Nixon would like the confrontation in January of 1970, and Humphrey would have the confrontation in January of 1972. It's simply a question of the degrees of the confrontation.

And the larger question is really, "What are we going to do with the colored people of the world? Outside and inside." The question of foreign policy really speaks too. "What are we going to do with these colored peoples outside?" Because none of them address themselves to the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia. And if they were talking about foreign policy, it seems to me that this becomes one of the most important aspects of foreign policy because it may mean the breakup of the Soviet bloc. Any man who is running for President of this country could not just dismiss that that lightly. But they talk about Asia, they talk about Africa, and they talk about Latin America, and their main problem is what are we going to do with these colored peoples of the world?

The second issue is the question of law and order, and that's "what we goin' do with these niggers in here" - that's the real issue on that. And it's really very simple. Because of the three, Nixon and Humphrey do not present alternatives. George Wallace presents an alternative. You laugh - you may disagree with George Wallace, but he does present an alternative, and that is precisely why his rise in popularity is so great.

What is the alternative to the war in Vietnam of Nixon and Humphrey? We'll try to negotiate an honorable peace settlement and as soon as we can do that, then we want to make sure that the United States is not threatened, but we will work to an honorable solution. And the degrees of that honorable solution - we might stop the bombing, we might do this, we might do that. Nixon says essentially the same thing. Ha, but alas Wallace! George says, very clearly, "If I'm gonna stop the war in vietnam, what I'm gonna do is we gonna try for peace and if it don't work, we gonna bomb those Vietnamese to peace.

Here's an alternative. You may disagree with it, but it is an alternative. But Humphrey and Johnson do not present alternatives. They dillydally because playing the role, or trying to play the role of liberal conservatives they try to please everybody and not attack anybody.

The final fault of the liberal: the liberal would have you assume that while there are things that are wrong, they just happen to go wrong and they could be reorganized correctly without anyone getting hurt. That's why they're so strong on nonviolence; because they really believe that they can restructure society, destroy interest groups, redistribute the wealth of the United States, and no one will get hurt. Wallace is far more intelligent. He attacks the group he says is the bureaucrat, the portfolio carrying people, the judges, the interest group, with whom he disagrees and he vocally attacks them so that he can collect the people behind them. It's not a question of whether it's good or bad - it's just a question of politics. Hitler did the same thing. He gathered the Germans behind him by using the Jews for a scapegoat. Other people did the same thing in history. I'm sure if you read you'll find a lot of them who did it. So we find then, George Wallace representing, in fact, an alternative to the conflicts of the United States. On the question of law and order, he says, "I'll just get troops and put them five feet apart with bayonets and guns." It's an alternative. Humphrey and Nixon are still dillydallying, not trying to hurt anyone. They do not want to polarize, the state, and they end of getting polarized. If one talks about politics one has to talk about a strong power base.

Then we want to talk about white youth: what is their role. I would say in the world today - and I would like to talk specifically about white youth in the United States, students - I think of all the students in even Western countries, the United States students are perhaps the most politically naive. French students understand power. British students understand power. Everybody understands power except the American youth. Because the American activist youth has been imbued with this theory of liberalism which makes him think that everything can be solved without polarizing or without attacking or without doing something concrete. And that's one of the biggest mistakes of the white youth in America.

The second mistake is their lack of analysis of problems in the United States. They cannot assume that black people and white people have the same fight. And finally their biggest error is that they do not know whom to recruit from. They recognize that students are in sufficient number to wage their battles but they do not know whom their allies are. Because they always confuse issues. If they wanted a real revolution or real change in the United States, their allies would have to be the economically insecure. It cannot be the liberal establishment.

The liberal establishment is made up of people who make an awful lot of money off of the American system as it is and are not going to fight to change it. They may feel badly about accepting the money so that the condemn vocally America, but they will still accept the money. So that they cannot be caught up in the struggle. And also because I think white youths in American never seek to internationalize their struggle but rather keep it a simple struggle inside the boundaries of the United States - and probably within the continental boundaries of the United States, I might add.

What then can white students do, if anything? I think some of the mistakes that the white students make is that they try to attack specific things rather than to talk about the general atmosphere. If one wants to change the general atmosphere, if one wants progress, if one wants to work on changing specific things, one must first change the general atmosphere of things. Once you have created the attitude the specifics can follow - that's how power works. Let me give you an example:

The United States says that the Communists are our enemy. (Somebody here is a Communist.) (In response to applause) Some folks think I'm a Communist. But everybody knows - and I'm talking about the majority of Americans - they know that the Communists are our enemies. That's because that has been defined for them. It has been defined generally - Communists are our enemies. And it has also been defined that our enemies must be destroyed. So whenever the United States has a war, they don't have to go and convince each loyal person that they should fight against Vietnam, they should fight against Korea, they should fight against Sant Domingo, they should fight against Cuba. No! They say you got to fight against the Communists. And today the Vietnamese are Communists and they're the enemy. And that's the importance of trying to change the world.

It seems to me that students have to understand that they have to change the general attitude in America before they can work on specifics. It is because they are really very lazy. Let us examine the role of the development of the 1968 political convention. The students assume that within the political conventional system of the United States changes could take place. Their error it seems to me was that they never - and this is true of most American students - they never deal with economics but only with politics. Americans believe that political equality is a necessity but economic equality is irrelevant, and that doesn't make sense to anyone! How can one talk about having political equality without having economic equality - how can you? But because the American students have been controlled to believe in their system, they find trouble in attacking it. They find trouble in attacking it. That's a psychological problem, and that's really what they're hung up about. They don't know it, so we should try and help them. You can't talk about political equality unless you talk about insuring economic equality. The vote is meaningless if you don't have food in your stomach. It's nowhere. I'd much rather have the full stomach and you can have the vote! Believe me! But unless they've had to suffer for it; the people fight for political equality, never understanding the need to fight for economic equality. All because the students don't really deal with force in concertized terms. The police department is a power - it's a power for the people who rule. And that power can be turned against their opponents, as was clearly demonstrated by the Honorable Mayor Richard Daley in Chicago. Very clearly, he had political opponents; he had the police force; he destroys his political opponents. Students didn't get that. But again they were talking about political power without talking about economic power or without talking about their opponent's power. Guns are used to maintain the system. You just don't have guns to have guns, unless you hunt. I don't know anybody that needs an M-16 to go hunting, or a .38 or .44 Magnum on their side to go hunting - they go hunting for political prisoners with that. And it must be clear - and students are in contradiction with themselves over the question of guns as political power. Because they do not see guns in front of them, they think that guns do not impose a system, and that is politically naive! It's much better to rule without the presence of the guns because the oppressed have not had guns. The only difference is that when the oppressed beings to fight back, then the guns become visible. But that's not saying they're not always there - they're just not needed. There's been no change in the American system in the last six years. The only change has been the change of people. Black people and some white people - the change within them. Their political consciousness has been heightened to the point where they're willing to fight for their liberation, and that's the only difference. There is no major difference - no major legislation, no major nothing - just a change in the people. Their political consciousness has been heightened and they're prepared to fight. That's the only change. And because of this the United States must produce the gun. If you're preparing to fight for power, you must prepare with the gun. It's silly for you to assume that they're going to let you run all over his streets and tear up the city, burn down their houses or make his city look like a hippie joint - he's not going to do it. You should expect him to bring out the guns. And if you expect him to bring out the guns if you don't have a confrontation - you have to have the gun - if you don't have the guns then you fall into the position that the students fell in at Chicago. The whole wide world is watching you - so what, so what, so what, so what, so what. But if you're going to deal with power, you must deal with power from a power basis. The Mexican students don't understand that. The French students don't understand that. How can American students understand that? American students are totally lacking in that area because American students don't really face violence as do students in these other countries. As a matter of fact, one thing that the white youth of this country is really - what's the word - masochistic - I remembered it a long time ago but I forgot it - masochistic - I try to do the best with English that I can. Masochistic. One really begins to think that white youth in this country is masochistic because one sees them run to a confrontation to get beaten up, to bandage up their heads, and then rush to confrontation again, without any time for analysis or without any time for real preparation. No one goes to war bringing nurses - you go to war you bring weapons, or you have no war. It's one or the other. I think that's the reason why you have the great majority of white students who could be politically active becoming hippies, because no one in the white student groups takes time out to really analyze the situation and, therefore, when they move they always meet frustration, and it's time for the white student movement of the United States to get serious and to understand those problems. Because their dillydallying is only going to end up in their mass slaughter. Very few people really entirely disagree with Daley, you know, it's only the people who have no power.

Did you watch the Convention - there was a liberal who got up and started to yell at Daley. He said "I disagree with your gross tactics and Gestapo squads" and he yelled and yelled, and Daley sat there and said "So what." Because Daley had the power. He didn't have to yell - he had the policemen. The man on the stage didn't - he made a very impressive speech, but that's all it was - impressive. When he went outside he had to sneak around or Daley would beat his head in. One does not seek to be impressive when one plays politics, one seeks to win.

Finally this: we want to talk about internationalizing the struggle. For black people there is no question about that - we have to internationalize our struggle. We have to internationalize our struggle for a very cultural fight. Our ties are with Africa - it is from whence we cometh - we are Africans. We live in America, but we're Africans, so our cultural ties will be with Africa. But also because it becomes a political necessity, because we must be geared to understand the international role of the United States. One does not dare to play with the United States on a nation basis. The United States is a world power. It controls 60 percent of the world's wealth. It has 2,500 military bases outside the confines of the continental borders of the United States. That's a whole lot of power! An awful lot. Do you know what 2,500 military bases mean outside your own country? That means you can rule the world, and that's just what the United States is doing - just what it's doing. And if we intend to defeat that world power we must then coordinate our struggle with the revolutionary peoples of the world. And that essentially usually speaks to the colored world - Asia, Africa and Latin America. But Africa has a natural tie-up with us because we are Africans. For Latin America the tie-up is also significant because a great deal of Africans established the northeastern part of South America, where they were made slaves, although we were never told this in history books in America. But Latin America becomes essentially a puppet because the United States has been able to control Latin America since the Monroe Doctrine - they were going to help South America, civilize the Indians, all that sort of stuff. So that you have South America completely under the control of America. If the peoples of South America are able to break that stronghold and use the economic resources of their countries by themselves, they can economically weaken the United States of America, and the same is true of Asia. The weaker the United States gets, the better the chance for real revolutionary warfare. And when one fights the enemy one must seek to weaken the enemy wherever one can. If white students really seek to fight and change the system, as they say they do, then they have to internationalize their struggle. They have to work. Other youths recognize this. All of the student groups are always trying to make contacts with each other where their countries are concerned, if they're really serious. What one is led to believe is that white students are not really serious about what they say, but that they have found college to be a playground for radical activity. It's almost become the thing to do, not only for white students but for black students too. It's a fad. But it's a dangerous fad, because it's one of the ways that the United States of America will defeat that movement, that is, to cull out that movement. And that's precisely what they seek to do. As the more white students are rallied to become a fad, the more they defeat the very ends for which they struggle:

* * * *

We have about 15 minutes, and would like to allow at least that time for questions so that everyone can get a chance, including the Panthers.

Q: (As repeated by Carmichael) Do we think that victory for Wallace would increase the chances for successful revolution?

A: No. I don't think that. I think that he would heighten the contradictions much more rapidly than would Humphrey or Nixon. Yes, that's the question - would the revolutionary forces be ready to fight since he would heighten the contradictions more rapidly than the others. I do not think they would be. But I also do not think America would be - not because of its military might but because of its own psychological problems. It is not psychologically prepared for the confrontation - white America. But a segment of white America is prepared, and their job is to prepare the others. As is a segment of black America prepared - I don't think white America psychologically is prepared for war so I don't think he would be able to do it.

Q: (Repeated) Do I seem to try to reconcile myself with Mahatma Gandhi or Veneer, whose tactics run all the way back to Thoreau in Massachusetts? It seems that what I speak is totally against Thoreau and Mahatma Gandhi. Is that the question?

A: Yes. That's absolutely correct - it's against Thoreau and Mahatma Gandhi. Let us examine Thoreau: What did Thoreau do? He never joined the transcendentalists, although he said that he held very closely to their theories. Is that correct? He did one act - he refused to pay his taxes and, therefore, went to jail. He did not attack the status quo, he passively refused to be used by the status quo, and his one act didn't do anything really to solve the problems in the Spanish American donnybrook, because America took Mexico anyway.

Now as to Mahatma Gandhi: I thought that Gandhi's strength did not lie in nonviolence but in the threat of violence if the English did not deal with him. He said time and time again, if you don't deal with me you must deal with the violent segment, which was growing more and more rapidly. And which, incidentally, they did not force to an issue. An example would be Dr. Martin Luther King. Dr. King said time and time again, "If you can't deal with me you got to deal with them", and then they killed Dr. King. Now they know whom they have to deal with. The same thing would have been true if the English had killed Gandhi. The English couldn't afford to kill Gandhi at that time.

I do not think that nonviolence solves any situation which deals with power. I'm not opposed to other people trying the tactic of nonviolence. I will buy you some bandages and send you out to face the police if you'd like, but I will not go out there with you and face the police. I believe in equality - if the police have a night stick, I should have a night stick. If the police have a gun, I should have a gun.

Q: Do you see a similarity between the black power struggle and the tribal American Indian struggle for freedom?

A: I think there are a lot of differences because the Indians have been to a great extent colonized. Other than that I don't know very much about the struggle. We contact and speak with many of them from time to time but I couldn't really speak for them. I just see the similarities in terms of colonization.

Q: (Repeated by Carmichael) What would you do if you had the quote power unquote?

A: I would use it. Man, I'd have it made! I'd use it to end racism and capitalism by any means necessary. Once you decide what your object is, you get it. The United States of America has decided that it wants Vietnam for a base against China and its gonna get Vietnam for a base against China. Like Europeans decided they wanted the continent of North America and they came and killed the Indians and took the continent of North America. So if I had power I'd use it to end racism and capitalism by any means necessary.

Q: What does the black revolutionary think of the U.S. role in the Middle East and is it your contention that the black revolution should be internationalized?

A: I think that most of the black revolutionaries have said that they side with the Arabs, as I do. I think that in the case of the Middle East, one is talking about a just war. The cries that are raised by Jewish people are not cries that deal with the political realities of the so-called State of Israel. It is a fact that six million Jews were murdered by Hitler. It is a fact that everyone decries, deplores and is aghast at. But the destruction of six million Jews by Hitler in Germany can never be used as a rationalization for setting up of the so-called State of Israel in the Middle East. It cannot be used. Also, they do not go back into the political analysis, because they have no ground on which to stand when they talk about the so-called State of Israel. As soon as anyone politically attacks Israel they're called anti-Semitic, and then they're supposed to get scared and shut up. I'm not gonna do that! The Englishman, I believe was, therefore, more doubtful to English in 1917 decided they better give them the so-called State of Israel. They never paid for it, they never negotiated with the Palestinian Arabs for it. As a matter of fact, they went to the Middle East, pushed out the Arabs and took over the State of Israel, and one cannot justify that no matter how one tries. We are for the Arabs because they fight a just war and we believe their land should be returned to them. Then after they get their land, they should be able to decide whether or not or whom they want to come and live with them, and under what conditions.

Q: If we erased all racism and capitalism, what would be have in the country?

A: We'd have a country free of racism and free of capitalism. What we would call it doesn't really make much difference, does it.

Q: The question is essentially that last night I put down a black revolutionary who asked about black revolution - I'm honest so you assume I'm honest - because I say I'm honest. I say you shouldn't assume it. And you want to know what, then, is a black revolutionary speaking to a largely white audience about black revolution?

A: I don't think I spoke about black revolution today. I don't think I did. I thought I spoke about the problems facing America - really mainly white Americans, on how they decide to go. I'm here because the Black Student Union invited me here, that's the only reason. And I said that last night. And they think that this is one of the ways that we can help them in what they want to do. And because they think so, we're doing it. We're just trying to help. We have spoken before many other white students.

Q: (Unheard)

A: Is that my fault or your fault? Don't blame me - take the microphone and tell them - go get guns.

Q: Are you ready to bury this country, the archenemy of revolution, for the sake of world revolution?

A: I think I said so. If you want an affirmative - Yes.

Second question: Is Marxism Communism, the answer? Cant' hear you - Is Marxism-Leninism the answer to world problems? And on that I'd have to answer I am not sure, because I'm not sure that Marxism-Leninism deals with racism because Marx and Lenin dealt with exploitation but not with colonization.

Q: Is not racism and capitalism linked?

A: I said at the beginning that I thought it was linked, but I also know they can be mutually exclusive. That is to say that you may have racism in Socialism or in Communism. That's my belief.

Q: What kind of Utopian society do you envision? How can it be practically implemented?

A: Well, since I didn't have original criticism and I haven't claimed to be original, I guess I won't have an original answer. I will just say a society free of racism and free of capitalism. I don't know why people get hung up on the labels. I think that when people begin to fight, as they struggle, they develop their ideology more completely and that it's clear that the black forces inside the United States have not yet developed their ideology so, therefore, we beg the intellectuals of the world to excuse us if we have not as yet developed that, but that does not mean we are not going to fight. We will fight to the death until we get that ideal - we will not stop.

Q: Here's a two-part type question. Do you agree that George Lomax is an important figure in the black evolution? In an article it is charged that Stokely Carmichael did more to unite the black Americans than over a century of legislation, but this tactic will cause a reversal of sentiment and will backfire in his face?

A: I would say this to Mr. Lomax, it may not only backfire in my face but also in his face - he has no alternative but to join me. And secondly, I do not think that the action of black people causes the type of reaction that they all claimed it does. What Mr. Lomax and people who use this type of argument will argue is that we, the oppressed, should sit still and let the oppressor define for us how to free ourselves of oppression, and if the oppressor decides how we should free ourselves of oppression we will always remain oppressed. We must decide, and when we do there's no reaction - it's just that the people who are _____. I think that Mr. Lomax and the people who use this argument do not understand the difference between peace and justice. Peace is merely the absence of conflict.

With justice you have peace, but it doesn't mean when you have peace you have justice. And what the people who use this argument assume is that because there's an absence of conflict, because there's peace, everything is okay, and that's totally absurd! There will be no peace until there is real justice! Now the people who use this argument would have us not have conflict but just have peace, even though we're oppressed. I'm afraid that some of us can't do that.

Q: (Repeated by Carmichael) Let me try to quote you correctly: I'm trying to get rid of racism and capitalism, which you agree are evils, but in doing that I'm using means which are also evil such as killing, and what I will eventually end up with is a police state watching everybody and nobody will be, to use your words, "free of freedom". Is that correct?

A: I accept it. Because if you listen carefully, I said in the beginning that I don't see killing as right or wrong. I said I see it as just what is justified. You don't believe in killing? If somebody tried to kill your mother, would you kill them? That's the way I am. People that try to kill me, I intend to kill them. Period. (Remark from audience) Nobody - I just imagine it all!

Q: What happens to the whites who agree with the black movement? You kill any whites or those creating a problem?

A: I think for black people we have to fight, and the question for us is do we fight some of them or all of them. And I think that the answer will be proved then by those whites who were alluded to in the question. Because in the final analysis, it's those whites who will prove themselves. Not by their words, because black people are - and justifiably so - suspicious of white liberals and their tired platitudes, etc., etc. They will be proven by their actions, and by those actions those whites will find themselves residing in a society free of racism and free of capitalism. It will show by their actions.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL, representing the Black Panther Party, spoke at the University YWCA on the evening of October 30, 1968. An audience of about 200, mostly students, filled the small auditorium. There were perhaps 20 Negroes in the audience and a number of these appeared to be servicemen rather than students because they wore GI shoes.

On the platform with CARMICHAEL was Black Student Union president "SLEETTY" SIMONS, EARL ANTHONY of the Black Panther Party, and a local caucasian minister.

CARMICHAEL was almost an hour late in reaching the meeting and before his arrival an announcement was made to the effect that he would be 45 minutes to an hour late because he was attending a party in Aina Haina.

It is difficult to differentiate between CARMICHAEL's speech at the YWCA and his talk the following night at the Church of the Crossroads. The content of both were almost the same and his answers to questions were almost identical.

CARMICHAEL, in his main address, had three themes; one that he is not opposed to violence, killing is amoral, some people can legitimatize it, and violence is necessary for a revolutionary change. The second that he is opposed to racism and capitalism and that America is a white racist nation; and three that the Negro has to heighten the contradiction between classes and bring on a confrontation. The liberals are the real enemy of the blacks for opposing confrontation and white university activists are of no help.

On Thursday evening, October 31, 1968, CARMICHAEL spoke at the Church of the Crossroads. An admission of $2 was charged and there were about 300 persons present. There appeared to be more Negroes at the gathering than that of the previous evening.

CARMICHAEL delivered basically the same address with the same themes, reiterating that he advocated violence for a revolutionary change and opposed racism and capitalism in the United States.

During the question period, a man in the audience stated that he knew that CARMICHAEL was a socialist, pointing out that he does not work, that he lives in a $70,000 home and travels first class. He asked him why he did not share his wealth with the people in the ghetto. CARMICHAEL pointed out that he lived in his wife's house but he would have to think of an answer, but he never replied.

One person in the audience pointed out in conditions today anybody who is leader is apt to get it because we have nuts on both sides. He asked CARMICHAEL if he was afraid to die. CARMICHAEL stated at first he was not and then he said, "Yes, I am, but when I get hit between the eye with a rifle bullet, I want to see it coming."

At the Church of the Crossroads CARMICHAEL again criticized the liberals for preventing a confrontation between the oppressed classes and the right wing. He also pointed out that the university youth should realize that their real allies are going to have to be the oppressed people rather than the liberals who have money.

In speaking of violence, he stated that it is neither right nor wrong but that the person who has the power can legitimize it.

In discussing killing, he gave the example the black man who gets a medal for killing in Vietnam and the electric chair for killing a policeman in the United States.

He categorically stated that he was for the overthrow of the United States Government because after capitalism had been overthrown, racism could be abolished. CARMICHAEL also discussed exploitation versus colonization.

He criticized American university youths, stating that they were naive; that they should unite with university students of other western countries. He claimed they accomplish little because the violence they commit is strictly defensive rather than offensive, and they do not realize when you go to war you have to go with guns.

CARMICHAEL received questions from a few persons who were obviously not friendly toward him. One person in the audience asked him where he got his money. He stated, "I can't tell you that." He then said "I know you get it from Red China", and CARMICHAEL said, "Yes".

An Arabian student in the audience asked CARMICHAEL what he would do if MAC invaded California and he replied, "I'd sit on my porch drinking beer and show him the right way."

A caucasian asked CARMICHAEL what he, the caucasian, should do inasmuch as CARMICHAEL is advocating violence of the black against the white. He stated, "I can't tell you that."

CARMICHAEL refused to discuss the exact degree of preparation the Black Panthers had made for confrontation but declared the Negro is going to get guns. He stated we cannot blow up tanks but we are getting there.

HN 100-6465

He stated that all whites are potential racists. When asked if that, therefore, meant that all racists are white, CARMICHAEL refused to answer. During his speech he condemned Russian action in Czechoslovakia. He remarked that America's youth are socialists while going through college, but soon switch when they get a degree and enjoy some of the fruits of capitalism.

He also refused to answer a question as to how many guns and how much training are given the Black Panthers.

One young man at the YWCA remarked [redacted] that he was there applauding CARMICHAEL and that CARMICHAEL was stating the blacks would have to use guns on the whites and he, therefore, appeared to be applauding his own funeral. CARMICHAEL agreed with him and said the young man was only there to hear him talk.

Before starting his speech, CARMICHAEL asked for a show of hands of those who had heard him at Andrews Theater at the University, at the University YWCA and at the Honolulu Press Club. After noting that there were several people in the audience who had been at his other speeches, he stated there was nothing else to talk about and asked the group, "Should we have a dialogue or just answer questions?" CARMICHAEL then proceeded to deliver an address.

In his introductory remarks he stated that the black people are going to have confrontation sooner or later with the white man and that he is going to be ready for that confrontation and have the guns.

The speaker then developed the theme that violence is necessary for a revolutionary change; that it is not bad, but is a fact of life. He also made the claim that killing is amoral and it just depends if you are able to legitimize it. He stated that Americans' violence to override Hitler was not successful because it was just but because they had sufficient power. In discussing legitimizing violence, he pointed out that a black man can kill Orientals in Vietnam and be awarded a medal, while if he kills a white policeman in the United States, he will be electrocuted.

CARMICHAEL also talked of the necessity of doing away with racism and capitalism. He declared America was a racist country but demanded that the black also would obtain economic as well as political equality.

In discussing capitalism, CARMICHAEL stated that in socialist countries such as Cuba there is not a grave necessity for the use of money. Housing, transportation or any other necessities are furnished free and hence, in the future the Negroes will be able to get guns without a great deal of money.

CARMICHAEL compared colonization and exploitation, stating that the former was not only stripping man of his labor but of his history and culture. He stated the Indian and the black man have been a victim of colonization in the United States. Exploitation was stripping man of the results of his labor.

During his speech, CARMICHAEL was extremely critical of the liberals, stating that this group did everything in their power to prevent a confrontation between the right wing and the oppressed peoples. However, he noted that they always called upon the oppressed people to "cool it" rather than directing their remarks to the right wing. CARMICHAEL stated that these liberals do a disservice to the black people.

He also characterized white university youths as being naive and of little help. He stated that their violence is defensive rather than offensive and do no good in bringing about a change of the status quo. CARMICHAEL warned that you need guns to go to war.

When questioned concerning Israel, CARMICHAEL declared he was for the Arabs. He said that he was not anti-Semitic; had been against Hitler, but added that this could not justify the taking of land from the Arabs, and that this land had been handed over to Zionists on a silver platter by Balfour in 1917.

In commenting on WALLACE, he claimed that he had admiration and respect for the man because he was honest and would hasten a confrontation of the races.

When he was questioned as to how much preparation the Black Panthers had made, he answered, "Do you want me to go to jail?"

One person in the audience stated that police departments on the mainland are being integrated and asked him if he would shoot a black policeman as soon as he would a white. CARMICHAEL answered, no, because all black people are our potential allies and the North Vietnamese try to keep from killing South Vietnamese.

When questioned concerning his opposition to MARTIN LUTHER KING and asked if more progress could not be made by following KING's teachings, CARMICHAEL replied that he stood up and opposed KING when KING had made the statement nonviolence was the only way to bring about equality of opportunity for the black. CARMICHAEL stated he contended that it is not; he thinks another way is by violence, but he is not contending that violence is the only way. If KING had said nonviolence is one way of reaching their goal, "I'd have gone along with him."

Asked concerning his attitude on Communism, CARMICHAEL stated he did not believe Communism was the ultimate solution because even under the present systems in Russia and China there is racism.

Questioned concerning the progress made in Hawaii in integration and race relations, CARMICHAEL stated that he would not comment because he did not know.

One person pointed out that the Negro represents only a small fraction of the population in this country and asked him how they could be successful in confronting the white man. CARMICHAEL answered that numbers are not important; that the Vietcong are beating us every day in Vietnam, that police stations are being blown up on the mainland. You see nothing about this in the paper and that he could not tell you everything because he does not want to go to jail. He stated, however, the blacks are preparing and they are waiting and working.

Student money for Carmichael

By Richard Hoyt

Star-Bulletin Writer

The student government of the University of Hawaii is giving financial backing to the appearance of black militant Stokely Carmichael here this month.

Carmichael, a leading Black Power spokesman and prime minister of the militant Black Panther party, was due Thursday, but now he isn't expected until next week, according to reliable sources.

Lani Sen, senior senator of the Associated Students of the University of Hawaii, today said the Student Senate gave the Black Student Union, which is sponsoring the Carmichael appearance $450 in a direct grant and a no-interest loan of $450, (payable next semester) to finance Carmichael's appearance.

On Saturday, the Student Senate also approved a $400 grant to black student Bob Tinch to make a half-hour color documentary comparing Carmichael's statements to those made by Jack Wallace, brother of presidential candidate George Wallace. Jack Wallace is scheduled to speak here at approximately the same time as Carmichael.

MISS SEN said the only stipulation to the grant is that Carmichael speak on campus where students can hear him free of charge.

Hubert H. White, a writer for Ebony, a Negro magazine, and a member of N.A.A.C.P., today deplored the student government's move.

"Over the years there has been a growing arrogance of the black students on campus," White said.

"Students at the University are getting to the point where they don't want to have anything to do with the Negroes there."

"The news media on the Mainland have done a good job of telling us the sorry conditions on the Mainland. We do not need anyone coming here to preach violence."

CARMICHAEL IS prime minister of the Black Panther Party, having left the more moderate Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Earl Anthony, Black Panther minister of information, is also scheduled to speak on campus, Miss Sen said.

The Black Student Union, led by president Junius Simon, claims a membership of 50. Union spokesmen at the University said it was formed to combat antagonism and prejudice towards Negroes in Hawaii.

Miss Sen said the documentary film is sanctioned by the Department of American Studies as a project for a class studying the Negro in America.

Tinch said the films will be one of the few films ever made of Carmichael who normally "rejects white cameramen" and will not allow them to photograph him.

Two cameramen working with Tinch also are Negroes.

Tinch said he hopes to enter movie in a film contest. The student government would retain rights to the documentary after the contest.

Urges Violence To Crush Racism

By JANE EVINGER
Advertiser Staff Writer

Stokely Carmichael, who introduced the phrase "Black Power" to the language, yesterday warned that liberals and white youth are "politically naive" in believing society can be remade "without anybody being hurt."

Wearing a yellow and black African buba, black slacks and dark glasses against the afternoon sun, Carmichael spoke to a University of Hawaii audience which overflowed Andrews Amphitheatre.

Estimates of the size of the crowd range from 6,000 by University officials to 10,000 by English Bradshaw of the Black Students Union which paid $900 to sponsor Carmichael's visit to Hawaii.

Carmichael began his 45-minute address by saying he would "not hedge" on the question of violence.

His Objective

"I am stating affirmatively that we are for revolutionary violence as a way to crush racism and capitalism, to change the status quo, and to liberate black people," he said.

"We do not believe that violence is either right or wrong; it just is. Killing is a moral. It is neither right or wrong. It is a simple question of who has the power to legitimize it."

Carmichael criticized liberals because, he said, historically their role "has always been to stop the confrontation whenever society becomes polarized."

"They do not seek redress of grievances.

"They seek to stop the confrontation not by building a power base, but by appealing to morality and humanism. But they speak to the oppressed rather than the oppressor when they seek to stop the confrontation.

Raps Liberals

"The liberals appeal to blacks to be cool, be rational, be nice.

"But they never appeal to the Wallaceites, to the John Birch Society, to be cool, be rational, be nice, because they do not have the power to appeal to them, and they therefore do a disservice to the black people." The audience, which appeared to be mainly made up of white liberals, applauded.

Liberals, Carmichael said, are "politically naive because they never seek to build a power base, while the right wing builds one."

Carmichael said George Wallace, the American Independent party candidate, has long been building such a base in preparation for the 1968 Presidential election, but "the liberals, still, to this date, are flipping and flopping and they still have not created a political organization."

"They never present an alternative. It is the right wing which presents an alternative, and that is why they will get the masses of people behind them, while the liberals will fade out of sight."

White youth "of all the students in Western countries are perhaps the most political naive, because American activist youth has been imbued with this theory of liberalism which makes them think everything can be resolved, that they can remake society, without attacking, without polarizing, without anybody being hurt," he said.

Cites Error

"Their biggest error is that they do not know whom to recruit from, who their allies are. If they wanted a real change in the United States, their allies would have to be the economically insecure.

"The liberals make America and although they may feel guilty about taking the money, they are not going to fight to change it."

Carmichael said Americans are mistaken in their belief that "political equality is a necessity but that economic equality is irrelevant. That doesn't make sense.

"You can't talk about political equality unless you talk about insuring economic equality. The vote is meaningless unless you have food in your stomach. I would much rather have the full stomach, and you can have the vote!"

Carmichael also said he believes white youth in the U.S. are "masochistic."

Confrontation

"One sees them run to a confrontation to get beaten up, to get bandaged up, and then run to a confrontation again.

"No one goes to a war and brings nurses; you bring guns to a war, or you have no war."

In Chicago, he said, "a white liberal got up and told Mayor (Richard) Daley 'I disagree with your goon squad tactics,' and he yelled, and Daley said 'so what?' because he had the power."

White youth, Carmichael said, should "internationalize the struggle."

The U.S. "is a world power. It controls 60 per cent of the world's wealth. It has 2,500 military bases outside the continental border of the country. That's an awful lot of power. It means you can rule the world, and that is just what the U.S. is doing."

Revolution

If the people of South America and Asia were able to break the U.S. control in those areas, he said, it would weaken the U.S. and make it easier for a revolution to succeed within the country.

In the half hour question period which followed his address, Carmichael was asked whether a Wallace Presidential victory would mean that revolutionary forces within the U.S. would be ready to fight.

"I do not think they would be, but I do not think white America is psychologically prepared yet either. But a segment of white America is prepared, and their job is to prepare the others," he said.

He was asked if he could reconcile his philosophy with that of Mahatma Gandhi.

"Gandhi's success did not lie in non-violence, but in the threat of violence if the English refused to deal with him," Carmichael said.

King's Role

Dr. Martin Luther King also warned that failure to deal with him would mean the Establishment would have to deal with more violent leaders he said, "and when they killed Dr. King, now they know who they have to deal with!

"I do not think non-violence is effective in any situation which deals with power. If you do, that's okay—I'll bandage you.

"I believe in equality. If the police have a nightstick, I should have a nightstick. If the police have a gun, I should have a gun."

Carmichael was asked "What would you do if you had the power?"

"I'd use it to end racism and capitalism by any means necessary. Once you decide what your object is, you get it," he said.

One spectator at Carmichael speech was out to get a suntan, too.

On Kennedys: Made Promises, Did Nothing

By JOHN BILBY
Advertiser Staff Writer

From his acceptance of a pink lei and a kiss to his final words, "Thank you," Black Panther Stokely Carmichael enjoyed a friendly confrontation yesterday with the Honolulu Press Club.

His message was serious.

"I am for revolutionary violence," Carmichael said softly at the outset. "I am for killing anybody who tries to kill me."

"I do not think violence has to do with right and wrong," he added.

"My brother-in-law is in Vietnam."

"If my brother-in-law kills 30 Vietnamese, he will get a medal. If he sees a policeman push my sister and he kills him, he will get the electric chair."

In his speech and answers, Carmichael:

- Called George Wallace "more honest" than his presidential rivals.

- Said the object of Black Power is "to destroy racism and capitalism in the world."

- Criticized the U.S.S.R. for "plainly showing her hypocrisy" in Czechoslovakia.

- Said there was a "possibility" of black people and white people working together.

"Black people are going to have to fight," the Black Panther prime minister said. "The question is how many of them will we have to fight."

Suspicious

He added: "We have to be suspicious of white help because the white help we received in the past never helped us."

Carmichael said Robert Kennedy "would be the same as his brother — assured black people that everything is okay. 'I'll take care of it.'"

And then he would do nothing."

Carmichael said he saw little choice among the presidential candidates.

"Wallace said let's have the confrontation now and fight it out," he said.

"The other two candidates are incapable of posing alternatives."

Later, in answer to a question, Carmichael added: "I didn't mean to imply that I was for Wallace."

"We don't want a confrontation before our time. On the other hand, we don't want the rhetoric of Nixon or Humphrey putting our people to sleep."

What does he mean by "confrontation?"

His almost boyish tone brought soft laughter from the audience. "Oh, I think . . . an all and all fight."

If Wallace is elected, he said, "it would make my job easier. He is more honest. He would heighten the contradictions within white society. He does speak for the poor working man, taken advantage of by bureaucrats, etc., etc."

Carmichael was challenged as to what percentage of black people he represents.

"I don't know," he said. "But I will say I think every black person is a potential Rap Brown or Stokely Carmichael."

Audience Reacts

"Just as every white person is a potential Wallace?" a voice from the audience asked.

"Yes!" said Carmichael. "That's a reality. Do you disagree?"

There was a chorus of "no" from the audience.

"You don't think every black person is a potential Rap Brown?" Carmichael asked.

There was a much softer chorus in the negative, amid which a single voice piped: "Yes."

The speaker grinned. The audience laughed.

"I don't know how large the Black Panthers are," Carmichael said in answer to a question.

He compared the organization's structure to a "government in exile . . . similar to what de Gaulle did when he left Paris . . . hoping to go back."

A questioner insisted upon hearing more specific plans for the predicted confrontation, referring to Hitler whom Carmichael had previously mentioned, Alexander the Great and Napoleon. "They had plans," the questioner said.

"Hitler, Alexander the Great and Napoleon didn't unmask their plans until they were well underway," said Carmichael.

He smiled as he took a sip of water, pausing for the laughter from the audience.

He's for a speedy downfall of the capitalism. He's a proponent of revolutionary violence. He's skeptical of assistance from white men.

Yet, Black Panther Prime Minister Stokely Carmichael's "cool" approach posed no more threat to his University audience than the warmth of the afternoon sun.

Some shed their shirts to him. Others, their preconceptions of his being the racist ogre they'd heard of or read about; the man who made Black Power a household word.

His manner wasn't threatening. His cool, well-versed line had the white, middle class liberal audience at each of the four talks laughing at itself; at its presidential candidates; at the contradictions of a troubled nation and world.

For the fourth time in two days, he repeated his speech, practically verbatim by now, to his enraptured audience.

There's an aura about the man, an intensity unmistakable when he enters and when he speaks.

He makes no bones about being for revolutionary violence as the way to eliminate racism and capitalism.

Curiosity, mixed with subtle resentment greeted him at each speech.

The resentment came, not from his being a black militant, but because he was late. The predominantly white audience at all functions, though more mixed at the University amphitheatre, was tired of waiting.

"The Panthers are preparing for a confrontation," Carmichael said.

"When?" was the repeated question of the audience at each function. "When will the confrontation be?"

"For the black man, it would be best if he could name the time and place. Then he'd be ready," Carmichael said.

That not being possible, the Panther Prime Minister said that it would come when the contradictions in the American society became so apparent that one could not be avoided. He wasn't saying it was inevitable. But probable.

Here was the plea. Difficult to put your finger on, but it was there.

Dick Gregory's campaign literature for President; printed to look like American dollar bills, reads: "America is redeemable."

Perhaps, but not to Carmichael without change; rapid, radical change away from capitalism and racism. What kind of change, what direction, he doesn't know. Or wouldn't say.

"Americans are mistaken in their belief that political equality is a necessity but that economic equality is irrelevant," Carmichael said.

From the basic unjustness of superiority-inferiority relationships, comes his perspective on revolutionary violence.

Questions came from the audience, some from those obviously aware of Pantherism and its position that political power begins at the barrel of a gun.

But a white girl nearby said "Your bullets may have my name on them, but I think you're cute."

Another question was asked on what white students could do, where they fit in.

Carmichael regarded the microphone. There was a moment in which he seemed not to remember what "button" had been pushed. And when he brightened.

"I would like to point out," he said, (and you could almost see the memory disks clicking) "white, help, urban renewal, Negro removal," "that black people are skeptical of any help from the white. . ."

BLACK PANTHER PARTY, aka Black Panther Party for Self Defense

A source advised that the Black Panther Party for Self Defense (BPPSD) was formed by HUEY PERCY NEWTON, Minister of Defense, and BOBBY GEORGE SEALE, Chairman, in December, 1966, as a militant black nationalist political organization to combat police brutality, to unite militant black youth, and to determine the destiny of black communities. The political philosophy was taken from writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of Communist China and black militant writers.

In March, 1968, the name of the organization was changed to Black Panther Party (BPP).

The official BPP publication, "The Black Panther Party - Black Community News Service," states that the BPP advocates use of guns and guerrilla tactics in their violent revolutionary program to end oppression of black people.

On February 17, 1968, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, Minister of Information, announced merger of the BPP and Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and bestowed title of Minister of Justice, BPP, upon H. RAP BROWN, Chairman of SNCC.

SNCC is a militant Negro organization which preaches black supremacy.

NEWTON, aforementioned, is incarcerated in the Alameda County Jail, Oakland, California, awaiting trial on charge of murder of an Oakland police officer.

Headquarters of BPP and Huey P. Newton Defense Fund are located at 4421 Grove Street, Oakland, California.

COMMITTEE TO END THE WAR IN VIETNAM
(HONOLULU) (CEWV)

On June 9, 1968 Mr. Edward Higgins, Commission on Subversive Activities, Legislature, State of Hawaii, at Honolulu, advised as follows:

The Committee to End the War in Vietnam (CEWV) was organized in Honolulu, Hawaii in 1965 by Dr. Willis Butler, a local physician; Madalyn Murray, the nationally known atheist who formerly resided in Honolulu; Dr. Oliver Lee, University of Hawaii professor, and others.

Since its conception, the CEWV has held small weekly meetings and sponsored rallies, marches and demonstrations in protest of United States intervention in Vietnam. On April 30, 1968 a source advised that the previous day the CEWV had decided to hold bi-weekly meetings instead of weekly meetings.

On July 2, 1968 a source advised that the CEWV had suspended meetings until after the November, 1968 Presidential Elections and in the meantime, the members of the group would work within the framework of the Peace and Freedom Party.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing the United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. GUS HALL, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965 SDS National Convention, an anti-communist proviso was removed from the SDS Constitution. In the October 7, 1966 issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 13, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S. W., Atlanta, Georgia, is a nonmembership organization, which was born out of the sit-in movement that erupted across the South beginning in 1960.

Today SNCC identifies itself as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

According to SNCC the year 1967 marked a historic milestone in the struggle for the liberation of black people in the United States and the year that revolutionaries throughout the world began to understand more fully the impact of the black movement. SNCC declared that "liberation will come only when there is final destruction of this mad octopus--the capitalistic system of the United States with all its life-sucking tentacles of exploitation and racism that choke the people of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. The realities of black life, together with the recognition instilled in SNCC workers forced its members to further popularize the legitimacy of self-defense and rebellions when oppression became too great."

From May, 1966, until May, 1967, Stokely Carmichael was National Chairman of SNCC. As of July, 1968, Carmichael resided in Washington, D. C., where he was affiliated with SNCC and active as temporary chairman of a black coalition group. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced by Hubert Geroid Brown, commonly known as H. Rap Brown, who served until June, 1968.

In June, 1968, at the Staff and Central Committee meeting of SNCC held in Atlanta, Georgia, it was decided to restructure the organization by equalization of responsibility by creating ten deputy or vice chairmanships. The primary purpose for this change is to take law enforcement pressure off any single individual.

DETAILS: AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

I. BACKGROUND

A. Organization Affiliation and Residence

CARMICHAEL was previously affiliated with the Washington, D. C. office of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) as an "organizer", with national headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia. CARMICHAEL's duties at SNCC were not specifically defined. He appeared to act on his own volition and did not appear to take orders from any specific SNCC official, [redacted] Washington, D.C. office of SNCC. Similarly, the duties of SNCC are not clearly defined and the term "SNCC" representing Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee is no longer accurate as there are few actual legitimate students left in the organization.

During August, 1968, the SNCC organization announced that its relationship with STOKELY CARMICHAEL had been terminated and that he would no longer have any affiliations with that organization. Subsequently, it was announced that CARMICHAEL had become affiliated with the Black Panther Party (BPP) and that he would hold the position of Prime Minister in that organization.

CARMICHAEL is also reportedly affiliated with the Black United Front (BUF), Washington, D. C., where he is Temporary Chairman. During some of the meetings, CARMICHAEL often presides and in addition attends meetings of the Steering Committee and handles other administrative functions.

CARMICHAEL is not known to be gainfully employed. He is not known to have received any significant salary from SNCC, the BPP or the BUF.

A characterization of SNCC, the BPP and the BUF is attached herewith in the appendix.

II. PRELIMINARY ACTIVITY

Special Agents (SAs) of the FBI, at approximately 3:30 p.m., October 8, 1968, were proceeding north on 14th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., by automobile. Shortly after passing the intersection of 14th and U Streets, N.W., Washington, D.C., they noticed what appeared to be an MPD officer in trouble in that he was scuffling with an unknown Negro male on the east side of 14th Street on a sidewalk. The unknown Negro male was observed moving menacingly toward the officer, who was backing toward the curb. A revolver was observed in the officer's right hand. Momentarily a shot was heard coming from the revolver and the Negro male sagged to the sidewalk holding his abdomen, eventually falling face first toward the police officer standing near the curb. The SAs immediately alighted from their vehicle to render assistance. The police officer was walking in the direction of his motorcycle which was parked nearby. The officer appeared to be in a dazed condition walking in a wavering manner, bleeding from the nose and mouth and carrying his service revolver in his right hand with his arm partially extended. He stated, when approached by SAs, somewhat incoherently that he wanted to get to his radio. He said he thought his shoulder was broken and appeared to be favoring his left side. He acted as if he were in extreme pain. The officer, identified as [REDACTED] [REDACTED] was placed by the SAs in their vehicle and his service revolver was removed from his right hand. Additional police assistance was summoned to the scene, as well as an ambulance. A crowd of onlookers began to encircle the car and the sidewalk immediately surrounding the area where the wounded man was lying. Efforts were made to assist the wounded man and first aid was administered to him. He was unable to talk and was not conscious. A pulse count was taken which felt faint and irregular. He was bleeding profusely from the mouth, the nose and the abdomen. Efforts were made to keep the area clear for the arrival of the ambulance and medical equipment. At this point a few individuals in the crowd insisted that the Negro was dead and that there was no need to keep the area clear. The crowd was told that he was still alive and they appeared reassured.

Shortly thereafter additional officers of the MPD appeared, who began controlling the crowd which had grown to about 300 people. Soon the ambulance arrived, and after examining the wounded man, one of the ambulance attendants stated in his opinion he was dead. The ambulance moved the wounded man from the scene. About ten minutes after the arrival of the first ambulance, a second ambulance arrived for the police officer. While the officer was being placed in the ambulance, the crowd began jeering and shouting "Get the white cop" and "I hope you die." Others were heard to use abusive language toward all police officers, both white and Negro. Some individuals were yelling in the crowd that the police officer shot the Negro merely for jaywalking. Others were overheard to make comments that white police and "Uncle Toms" could shoot Negroes any time they wanted. A few members of the crowd were yelling "Let's get the white cop."

The wounded Negro was taken to Freedmen's Hospital, Washington, D.C., by the ambulance where, according to the MPD, he was pronounced dead on arrival at 3:45 p.m.

The crowd that gathered in the area of 14th and U Streets, N.W., shortly after the shooting remained there for about 45 minutes and then dispersed.

[redacted] Homicide Squad, MPD, advised on October 8, 1968, that the dead man had been identified from fingerprints as ELIJAH BENNETT, also known as ELIJAH BENNETT, Jr., a Negro male, born December 20, 1946.

Police coverage of the area of 14th and U Streets, N.W., Washington, D.C., during the evening of October 8, 1968, disclosed substantial acts of violence and vandalism erupted in the area following the shooting of ELIJAH BENNETT, Jr., by MPD officer [redacted]

"The Washington Post," a Washington, D.C. daily newspaper, contained an article dated October 9, 1968, regarding activities in the area of 14th and U Streets, N.W., Washington, D.C., on the evening of October 8, 1968, following the shooting involving ELIJAH BENNETT, Jr.

A copy of the article is attached herewith:

Brief Disorder Follows Killing By Policeman

A show of force by police put down a disturbance by several hundred young Negroes last night in the area of 14th and U Streets nw. The disturbance, which included one major fire and a number of broken windows, was triggered by a protest rally over the fatal shooting of a Negro pedestrian by a white policeman in the afternoon.

PVT. DAVID ROBERTS
... fired fatal shot

Hundreds of riot-equipped police spreading a blanket of tear gas in the area quelled the disturbance in less than two hours.

One store — U.S. Parts Co. at 2102 14th st. nw. — was burned out by fire as youths roamed north and south along 14th Street.

Police fired several canisters of tear gas into concentrations of demonstrators.

The following statement was issued by Mayor Walter E. Washington at 11:30 p.m.:

"I want to assure the citizens that I have called for a full report of the incident at 14th and U Streets this past afternoon, and that appropriate action will be taken. I urge everyone to exercise restraint so that all the facts can be gathered and evaluated.

"I intend to remain in close touch with the situation throughout the night."

Only one arrest had been reported by early today. Leroy Thompson, 22, of Roanoke, was charged with disorderly conduct after his arrest in the 1300 block of Irving Street nw., police said.

One fireman, H. W. Petsch, detailed to Engine Co. 21, was overcome by smoke at the U.S. Parts fire.

A huge, almost stationary cloud of tear gas hung over 14th Street at midnight. The bands of teenagers had scattered, but individual residents walked the streets, handkerchiefs to their mouths and noses.

At police headquarters, 300 Indiana ave. nw., hundreds of police who were called in milled about on the ground floor. They were issued gas masks, helmets and riot batons. Special Operations Division men were issued shotguns.

But with the rapid quelling of the disturbance, most of the policemen were not dispatched to the streets. They remained at headquarters, smoking and chatting.

The disturbance erupted about 9:45 p.m. after an impromptu meeting on the sidewalk in front of the New School for Afro-American Thought, 2208 14th st. nw.

The meeting—protesting the shooting at 4 p.m. of Elijah Bennett, after a policeman stopped him for an alleged jaywalking violation—included about 60 young people. They decided to protest by jaywalk.

See SHOOT, A6, Col. 1

ing en masse in the 14th and U Streets intersection.

Police and civilian versions of the shooting conflicted, but both agreed there was a struggle between Bennett, 22, and the motorcycle policeman, Pvt. David Allen Roberts, before the single shot was fired. Police listed Bennett's address at 752 Gresham pl. nw.

As the protesters poured into the intersection, 13th Precinct Capt. Shirley F. O'Neill and Insp. Tilmor B. O'Bryant, both Negroes, circulated among them, endeavoring to talk them into leaving.

Cars were stopped. Police squads remained out of sight until a brick was thrown through the window of a Safeway Store near the intersection. Several persons entered the store and started throwing cans of food onto the sidewalk. Within minutes, most of the windows of the store were broken. Some persons picked up the cans on the sidewalk and carried them away.

Three trash barrels along the street were set afire as the crowd grew to about 250. Traffic was blocked by the crowd, and several bricks, bottles and other missiles were thrown at the cars.

As a small fire erupted at Addison and Barry-Pate Chevrolet Co. at 14th Street and Florida Avenue nw. and the larger one burned out U.S. Parts, police started firing tear gas, scattering the crowd, mostly northward up 14th Street.

Several bands, each consisting of seven or eight Negro teenagers, ran ahead of the skirmish lines of police.

The entire 3100-man Metropolitan police force was called to duty at 10:24 p.m. The day shift was relieved at 1 a.m. today, leaving the other two shifts on duty.

At one point, bottles were thrown at the mesh-covered windows of the Peoples Drug Store on 14th Street just north of U.

Traffic was diverted from the area as fire trucks moved in to put out the blaze at U.S. Parts Co. Burning paper was thrown through broken windows at Addison Chevrolet, reporters said, but little burned there.

Police moved north on 14th Street, firing tear gas and warning all persons to get off the street. A few objects were thrown at them, but most persons stayed inside.

Police went north on 14th Street as far as Park Road, scattering the small groups of teenagers.

As the persons dispersed, there were scattered reports of break-ins at stores in the Mount Pleasant area, on Sherman Avenue nw., on H Street ne., and a window was reported smashed at Gartenhaus Furs, 18th Street and Columbia Road nw.

A group of about 20 persons tried to overturn a police car at 14th and V Streets but failed. They then opened the hood, threw in burning paper and set the engine afire. Later, other persons set the front seat on fire. No policemen were present at the time.

Mayor Washington made a tour of the area by car about 1 a.m. today, stopping at locations where damage had occurred.

The disturbance broke out at the same intersection where a full-scale riot broke out in April after the assassination of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and where a disturbance was put down after the closing of Resurrection City.

It was also the scene of the fatal shooting July 14 of Theodore Robert Lawson, a Negro, by a white policeman investigating the alleged theft of food from a store. A coroner's jury ruled the shooting was justifiable homicide.

Protesters at the scene last night expressed concern that if the Bennett case is handled through official channels, it, too, will be "whitewashed" and ruled a justifiable homicide.

At the 14th and U intersection after the shooting, a crowd of about 400 persons milled around. They dispersed in about an hour.

The policeman involved in the shooting is a member of the Traffic Division.

Police reported that he suffered a dislocated left shoulder and bruises of the face during the struggle with the pedestrian. He was reported to be in fair condition at Washington Hospital Center.

Roberts lay on the pavement in front of the Zanzibar Restaurant, 2017 14th st. nw., until a rescue vehicle took him to the Hospital Center.

Police and civilian versions of the shooting varied as detectives sought last night to reconstruct the incident.

Acting Chief Jerry V. Wilson gave this initial account:

At about 4 p.m. Roberts was riding his motorcycle on the way to an accident when he saw a truck which had stopped and was blowing its horn at 14th and U Streets as a man crossed in front of the truck.

Roberts motioned for the man to get out of the street. The man kept walking slowly. When he reached the sidewalk at the northeast corner of the intersection, Roberts asked him to stop. The man kept walking. Roberts parked his motorcycle and walked up, saying, "Sir, I want to talk to you."

The man said nothing, struck Roberts in the shoulder then pummeled his face and mouth. Roberts felt he was losing consciousness, drew his pistol and fired once.

An eyewitness, Leroy Marshall, an Interior Department clerk, described the incident this way:

WFO 100-43503

The man crossed the street, ignoring Roberts' signal to stop, and continued walking north on 14th Street. Roberts parked his cycle and grabbed the man by the arm. The man wrenched his arm away, slapping Roberts across the face in the process. Roberts pushed him back, stepped backwards himself, bent to one knee and fired at the man once. Several other civilian witnesses agreed with Marshall's account.

But still other civilian witnesses said that after Roberts grabbed the man, the man struck him down and "was getting the better of him" when Roberts fired from a crouching or prone position.

D.C. Morgue officials said Bennett was shot once through the left arm and the bullet penetrated the "region of the heart." An autopsy will be performed today, they said.

Roberts' .38-caliber service revolver was removed for ballistics tests.

Word quickly spread that a man had been "shot for jaywalking." At 4:50 p.m., a man appeared on the street a block south of the incident wielding a shotgun. He was talking loudly. About 200 persons gathered around him.

When police moved toward the crowd, individuals helped the man hide the weapon, first in a raincoat, later in the trunk of a parked car. The car pulled away and the crowd scattered.

Wilson was acting chief of the police force because Chief John B. Layton, as well as Public Safety Director Patrick V. Murphy, are in Hawaii attending a conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Police headquarters records show that Pvt. Roberts, who comes from Clear Lake, Iowa, joined the force in 1963, and has won four commendations for courtesy in the last year. He was originally assigned to the Fourth Precinct but was transferred to the Traffic Division in 1964.

Reports by his superiors say he is a "reliable officer with a mature attitude."

A periodic check of the area of the shooting by SAs of the FBI and members of the MPD during the day of October 9, 1968, disclosed the community appeared to have returned to normal. The Intelligence Division of the MPD reported, however, that rumors had been heard about possible demonstrations in the area of 14th and U Streets, N.W., Washington, D.C., as a result of the shooting but no positive information had been developed concerning any proposed disturbances or demonstrations.

On October 11, 1968, [redacted] affiliated with the Women Strike for Peace (WSP), reportedly stated that a meeting had been held at the home of [redacted] Center for Emergency Support (CES) on October 9, 1968.

The WSP is a national women's organization which in the past has demonstrated against nuclear testing, the draft and the war in Vietnam.

The CES was described by it's chairman, ARTHUR L. WASKOW, when he appeared before the Washington, D. C. City Council on April 3, 1968, as a "non-profit charitable, educational, and scientific organization incorporated under District of Columbia law to give emergency relief in any event of civil disorder, and to carry on research and education programs on the causes and solutions of civil disorder."

The meeting was attended by approximately 60 people and plans were made to hold a demonstration at the 13th Precinct of the MPD at 1 p.m., on October 12, 1968, accompanied by a march from the precinct to the home of Mayor WALTER WASHINGTON. "The Washington Post," mentioned previously, contained an article dated October 15, 1968, regarding the rally held at the 13th Precinct of the MPD on October 12, 1968. A copy of the article is attached herewith.

Coalition demands civilian control of police officers

A coalition of local organizations demanded community control of the police, and prosecution of policemen involved in shootings, in a rally Saturday afternoon in front of the 13th Precinct house.

About 200 people, including residents of the neighborhood, heard representatives of the D.C. Democratic Central Committee, the D.C. Lawyers' association and the Institute for Policy Studies, accuse the daily Washington papers of suppressing news about police corruption and charged that the U.S. Attorney, David Bress, is biased in favor of the police.

MONROE FREEMAN, a law professor at George Washington University, said that a Task Force Report of the President's Crime Commission on Law Enforcement in Washington reported that there are 40 acts of alleged police brutality for 1000 policemen every week. He said the report found policemen taking bribes, extortion, and carrying unlawful weapons to plant on the bodies of civilians. Freeman said, but not in the New York Times.

the Washington Post.

Channing Phillips, National Committeeman for D.C., said there was little need for civilians to be killed by policemen. In most cases, he said, a man could be wounded instead.

CAPT. Shirley O'Neil and policemen from the 13th Precinct stood on the fringes of the crowd during the rally, with the uniformed police standing on the steps of the building and plainclothesmen leaning on parked cars.

O'Neill was called to the microphone after a series of speakers. O'Neill told the crowd, "in the days to come I would let you decide on the actions of the police. I know what the relationship between the police and the community should be. I want my policemen to be professionals. I expect them to be."

He added however, "I need time."

Arthur Waskow, the coordinator of the rally and of the coalition then introduced Charles Cassell, co-chairman of the Black United Front.

Cassell told the crowd, which was about evenly integrated, that the coalition "should go out into Silver Spring, go west of Rock Creek Park where you've got the Wallace supporters." He also said that whites should demonstrate where the policemen live.

As an alternative to demonstrations, Cassell said they should "strike at the sources of power — the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Trade, these honky landlords who own the property where you live."

* * *

THE RALLY, which was primarily a reaction to the shooting of Elijah Bennett by a white traffic policeman last week on 14th and U Sts., NW, was intended to be a kick-off for a march to Mayor Walter Washington's home.

But Washington, instead, came to the rally saying that there was an 80-year-old woman, ill, in his home.

Washington was immediately attacked by Waskow. He introduced Washington as "the colonial governor, the viceroy of the District of Columbia." Waskow said that a mayor is an elected official responsible to his electorate and Washington is a presidential appointee.

Washington took the microphone and angrily accused Waskow of misleading the crowd and having them support proposals they knew nothing about.

Several organizations in the white coalition, including the D.C. Lawyers Association, have proposals similar to the Black United Fronts demands for community control of the police.

Washington opened his remarks with "you want something that I can't give you. . . . it's up to Congress." He told the crowd that he had proposals from different groups and was attempting to take some action on them. When the conversation became a shouting match between Washington and Waskow, Cornelius Brown, a member of the BUF board of conveners, stepped in and took the microphone away from Waskow.

He told the crowd "We have to give Washington respect and he's going to get it." Brown said he objected to seeing Washington attacked by white people.

The rally began to break up then with Waskow asking for a vote from the crowd about what to do next and asking them to sign up for committee to work for community control of the police.

"The Evening Star," a Washington, D.C. daily newspaper, in an article dated October 10, 1968, reported a rally sponsored by the BUF was to be held. A copy of the article is attached herewith.

BLACK FRONT SET FOR PARK RALLY

Stokely Carmichael, founder of the Washington Black United Front and prime minister of the Black Panther Party, will speak at a Front rally Saturday in Meridian Hill Park. It will be his first public speech on major topics this year, a spokesman said.

According to the spokesman, the rally, which begins at 3 p.m., will focus on the current racial "crisis in the district" and present an outline of the front's future goals in the city.

Other speakers will represent Howard University, Federal City College and the New School on Afro-American Thought.

On October 11, 1968, a rally reportedly was scheduled to be held at 3 p.m., October, 12, 1968, at Meridian Hill Park, 15th Street and Florida Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C., in order to give the citizens an opportunity to "blow off steam" as a result of the shooting of ELIJAH BENNETT, Jr., a Negro male, by [redacted] of the MPD on the afternoon of October 8, 1968. According to source, the BUF would sponsor the rally and planned to advertise through local radio and newspapers that the rally would be held. Source stated that feelings in the area, particularly around 14th and U Streets, N.W., Washington, D.C., were bad at that time and that emotions in the area could only be described as "ugly." Source stated that any incident could trigger the area into violence. The source reported that the purpose of the BUF rally was to allow people to get rid of their tension and emotion by talking about the matter.

Carmichael to take on 14th Street shooting

The Black United Front has announced a rally for Saturday, Oct. 12, at 3 p.m. in Meridian Hill Park. Stokely Carmichael, prime minister of the Black Panther Party and co-chairman of the BUF, will be the main speaker.

Other speakers are expected from Howard University, Federal City College, and BUF, according to a front spokesman. The spokesman said the rally is being held to discuss "what the black community must now do," as a result of the police shooting of a man on 14th and U Sts. NW. earlier this week.

The above source advised on October 12, 1968, that the BUF rally scheduled for 3 p.m., October 12, 1968, would take place in front of the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., rather than at the Meridian Hill Park as was originally planned. Source stated that STOKELY CARMICHAEL, a member of the BUF, and other members of the organization would speak at the rally.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL arrived at The Soul School, 522 Fremont Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, on October 3, 1968, at approximately 4 p.m. He remained in Baltimore until about 4:45 p.m., at which time he indicated he was leaving for New York City.

The Intelligence Unit, Baltimore, Maryland, Police Department, reported on October 3, 1968, that CARMICHAEL's departure from Baltimore for New York City about 5 p.m., on October 3, 1968, had been verified. The police department advised CARMICHAEL was traveling alone in a car bearing New York license 2Z940 determined previously to be a rented vehicle.

On October 3, 1968, a leaflet entitled "Congress of Black Writers," written in English and French, was made available. The leaflet related to the above congress, which was to be held from October 11 to 14, 1968, at the Students Union and Leacock Building, McGill University, Montreal, Canada. Among the participants scheduled to appear and speak was STOKELY CARMICHAEL from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon on Monday, October 14, 1968. CARMICHAEL's topic reportedly would be entitled "Black Power in the United States."

An SA of the FBI observed STOKELY CARMICHAEL shortly after 2 p.m., October 12, 1968, at his residence, 5015 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. He entered a 1968 green Rambler sedan bearing New York license 2Z940 and drove to the vicinity of the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., where a rally of the BUF protesting the shooting of ELIJAH BENNETT, JR., by a member of the MPD reportedly would be held. CARMICHAEL parked the vehicle on 14th Street heading south across from the above-mentioned school and joined a crowd mingling in the area.

Since CARMICHAEL was apparently in New York City from October 4, 1968 to the morning of October 12, 1968, the date of the BUF rally, no information was developed as to who or how the invitation to speak was communicated to him in New York.

IV. BUF RALLY AT NEW SCHOOL OF AFRO-AMERICAN THOUGHT, WDC, 3:00 P.M., OCTOBER 12, 1968

At approximately 3:05 p.m., SAs of the FBI observed a gathering of about 300 people standing on the sidewalk and street in front of the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., on October 12, 1968.

Previous information available indicated that a BUF rally protesting the shooting of ELIJAH BENNETT, Jr., by a member of the MPD would be held there. Earlier reports were that the rally was to be held at the Meridian Hill Park; however, later it was reported the rally had been changed from the Meridian Hill Park to the New School of Afro-American Thought. No reason for the change was readily available.

The crowd gathered in front of the New School of Afro-American Thought appeared to be composed primarily of male individuals in the 20-35 age bracket. All of them appeared to be Negro and some females were also observed to be present. No white persons were observed in the gathering. No television news gathering crews or other technical news media representatives were noted to be present. The crowd was facing the entrance to the New School of Afro-American Thought and appeared to be expectant about what was to take place. An unknown Negro in his early 20's had a "bull horn" and appeared to be beginning to address the crowd. The crowd increased in numbers and traffic flowing on 14th Street, particularly in the northbound lane was being affected.

Officers of the MPD were in the area directing traffic. Shortly thereafter a truck was observed being parked across 14th Street in front of the New School of Afro-American Thought, and a number of persons were attempting to get onto the rear of the vehicle. Subsequently, members of the MPD were successful in getting the truck moved because of the fact it was obstructing traffic.

The rally appeared to break up about 4 p.m., and the crowd dispersed in a peaceful manner in various directions. Some individuals appeared to linger about the area the remainder of the afternoon and into the evening. The vehicle of CARMICHAEL remained parked across from the New School of Afro-American Thought until late afternoon.

Due to the sensitive nature appearing to exist in the area and on observations made by officers of the MPD on duty there, SAs of the FBI were not able to move into the center of the crowd and attempt to cover it to any great extent. SAs remained in the perimeter of the activity due to the sensitive emotional nature apparently existing among the participants. The remarks by CARMICHAEL were not discernible to SAs present. Accordingly, no notes were made about his remarks. Due to the nature of the circumstances surrounding the speech, no tapes of CARMICHAEL's remarks were made by SAs of the FBI. A factor which complicated the matter further was the fact that CARMICHAEL attempted to use a "bull horn" but it became defective and as a result the remarks he made were not clearly audible to many members of the rally.

SAs of the FBI can testify as to the holding of the event on October 12, 1968, at 3 p.m., CARMICHAEL being present, the approximate number of additional persons present, the composition and demeanor of the crowd and the fact it appeared to disperse peacefully.

the beginning of his speech attempted to use a "bull horn" afforded him and that it did not function. CARMICHAEL discarded the "bull horn" later and did not use any amplifying devices whatever. [] advised that he was not able to move in closer to where CARMICHAEL was standing due to the sensitive nature of the area and crowded conditions prevalent. Due to this and lack of amplification, he was prohibited from recording the remarks. In addition, he advised that he did not want to be indiscreet and too obvious in his efforts because he thought he might precipitate violence if discovered due to the volatile nature of the crowd. He advised that he heard part of CARMICHAEL's remarks from a distance but not very well.

"About 3:30 p.m., October 12, 1968, STOKELY CARMICHAEL, Negro/Male, 37 years of age, born June 29, 1931, 4331 Blagden Avenue, N.W., addressed a crowd of approximately 300 people in front of the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 - 14th Street, N.W.

"CARMICHAEL stated, 'When a black brother kills in Vietnam they give him a medal. The only way we can stop the killing of our black brothers in D.C. is to see that a "Honky Cop" is killed when a black brother is killed. When the black brother kills a "Honky Cop", I think the black community should give him a medal. Now we can't give him a medal above ground because he will be arrested; we should honor him underground. If a black brother or sister speaks out against a brother who kills a "Honky Cop", he should get the same thing.

He advised that [redacted] [redacted] were also present in the crowd. He advised that no particular problems developed in connection with the rally during which STOKELY CARMICHAEL, among others, spoke about the shooting of ELIJAH BENNETT, Jr., by a member of the MPD. He stated that at one point members of the crowd pulled a truck across the northbound lane of 14th Street blocking traffic. Several members of the crowd attempted to jump on the back of the truck. Apparently they intended to use the rear of the truck as a platform for the speakers. However, officers were successful in getting the truck removed soon, alleviating the traffic problem being created. He advised that none of the officers on duty there [redacted] made a recording of CARMICHAEL's remarks. In fact, he stated, they did not hear his remarks with such clarity as to be of any use, because they were primarily concerned with traffic problems and crowd control. He also advised that to his knowledge none [redacted] officers made any notes of what transpired during the rally. [] noted that the "bull horn" used by the speakers became inoperative and it was difficult to hear the speakers unless one was up very close to the center of activity.

He advised also that after the rally broke up, approximately 4 p.m., the crowd dispersed peacefully and no incidents or outbreaks of violence developed.

[] advised that he could furnish no evidence indicating CARMICHAEL's intent in making the statements. He advised that no information had come to his attention along that line.

Confidential sources of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), who have furnished reliable information in the past, were present during the rally held at the New School of Afro-American Thought (NSAAT), 2115 14th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. (WDC), on the afternoon of October 12, 1968. These sources were not able to make notes due to the sensitive nature of the surroundings and because of the necessity to be discreet because of their personal safety. They made prompt oral reports to Special Agents of the FBI as to what had taken place at the rally. They could conceivably testify as to what CARMICHAEL said during his speech, should it become necessary at a later date to do so. They could also testify as to the composition and demeanor of the crowd at the rally as well as surrounding circumstances. These sources could not offer any facts bearing on the intent of CARMICHAEL in making his remarks during the rally.

From the oral remarks furnished to Special Agents of the FBI, subsequent written reports were prepared from the information furnished. Copies of the reports are hereinafter set forth.

"At approximately 3:00PM a rally was held in front of the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W. The rally was sponsored by the Black United Front, and approximately 150-200 persons attended. The crowd gathered on the sidewalk and street which resulted in police having to block off that section of 14th Street. The rally was held regarding the shooting of a Negro, ELIJAH BENNETT, by a white policeman on 10/8/68.

"The rally was directed by CHARLES CASSELL. Others attending included: STOKELY CARMICHAEL, [REDACTED]

"There were several speeches concerning control of the police being placed in the hands of the black community in order to prevent shootings by white policemen. Source stated that the speeches related to the five point proposal of the Black United Front which calls for black control of the police.

"In his speech, CARMICHAEL stated that when a black brother is killed by a white policeman, then someone in turn should kill a white policeman. He stated that if one could go to Vietnam, kill a Viet Cong, and get a medal, then the Negro community should give a medal to any black who kills a white policeman. According to CARMICHAEL, this would stop white cops from killing black brothers.

"STONE stated that Mayor WASHINGTON should be given seven days to get a Negro police chief for WDC, and if he does not, then he should submit his resignation. STONE also touched on the school situation in Washington, stating that all school programs should be geared for the blacks since 93% of the students are black.

"Source stated that GASTON NEAL coined the phrase, 'The cop you kill may be your own.'

"The rally ended at approximately 4:00PM. Donations were solicited for the family of ELIJAH BENNETT. There were no incidents in connection with the rally."

"The demonstration started at approximately 1:00 P.M. and ended at approximately 2:45 P.M. There were approximately 200 people attending the demonstration. Several people spoke at the demonstration including Washington Mayor Walter Washington. The demonstration ended with no incidents or arrests made.

There were approximately 300 people there. STOKELY CARMICHAEL, GASTON NEAL, C. SUMNER STONE, and CHARLES CASSELL all spoke at the demonstration. They stressed the need for the black community to have control over the police. CARMICHAEL said that when a black person is killed by a police officer, someone should kill a white cop in return and that the blacks should get medals for killing whites just as they give medals to men in Vietnam. "STOKELY CARMICHAEL was then introduced as Prime Minister. He stated that we shall not stop talking about police brutality until we kill some honky cops and control the police. When black brothers kill Vietnamese they are awarded medals. If black brothers kill honky cops they should be awarded medals also. "A rally was held on the afternoon of October 12, 1968, in front of the New School of Afro-American Thought from 3:00PM until 4:15PM. The crowd in attendance numbered between 600 and 800 persons.

"The first two speakers were Howard University students. One was light skinned with sandy hair worn in a bush. He wore a dashiki and sunglasses and was slender of build. The name BOB MALSON sounds familiar and that may be his name. He spoke for a very short period of time and the gist of his comments was 'You see how the police are, now what are you going to do about it.' The other student wore a full beard, sunglasses and a dashiki, was about 6'1" tall, and a little heavier than the other one. He spoke primarily about black control of the police and the black community.

"CHUCK STONE then spoke and stated that he was sick of white police shooting black people. He stated that Mayor WASHINGTON should come out publicly against police action of this type and speak as a black man or resign in seven days. STONE also had a list of black men who have been beaten or killed during the year. He also had the names of some of the policemen involved and how some of them had been involved in more than one incident. He said some guy named ADAMS who registered a complaint against police for beating him received no satisfaction from the system. He also mentioned that LESTER McKINNIE was beaten by the police.

"STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke last and advised that he is sick and tired of rallies. They give black brothers in Vietnam medals for killing Vietnamese. Perhaps we should give brothers medals here for killing honky cops. He stated that we could set up situations where cops could be killed and the brothers doing the killing would be heroes. It would have to be done covertly though so the brothers would not be arrested.

"Before the rally got started good a white police officer who appeared to have officers rank attempted to make the crowd disperse from the vicinity of a truck and stated also that the truck would have to be moved. He was confronted by many of the persons in the crowd and GASTON NEAL told him in no uncertain terms that the permit for the rally included the truck and NEAL removed the rotor from under the hood so the truck could not be moved. Shortly after that [redacted] came on the scene and was berated by several persons in the crowd.

"Prior to this rally, the scene at Meridian Hill Park was observed but there was no rally in progress there. Several persons were asking where the rally was to be held. There were several police cars and paddy wagons there.

"The mood of the crowd at the New School was 'ugly' and at 4:20, after the rally, it was possibly getting worse as many people were still milling around. One man was observed with a sign which said, 'I'm Jaywalking, Shoot Me.'"

"There were no arrests."

Street Blocked

Rally Protests Fatal Shooting

By Vincent Cohen and Robert C. Maynard

Washington Post Staff Writers

A rally blocked 14th Street nw. for half an hour yesterday as speakers denounced the city's police and demanded community control of them.

The roadblock was set up as a symbolic gesture, one block north of the spot at 14th and U Streets nw. where Elijah Bennett was shot and killed by a policeman in a brief struggle last Tuesday. The rally was called to protest Bennett's death.

The street was closed by a parked truck and a crowd of about 250 people. One speaker declared: "We have to show that we control our community and our streets."

Bennett, 22, was buried at 2 p.m. at Harmony Cemetery, 7601 Sheriff rd., Landover. Funeral services had been held the previous eve-ming at the Jarvis Funeral Home, 1432 U st. nw.

The fatal incident revolved around an attempt by Police Pvt. David A. Roberts to arrest Bennett for jaywalking at 14th and U Streets. Witnesses said that Bennett struck Roberts and, in the scuffle, was shot. Pvt. Roberts, who has been relieved of duty pending investigation, is white. Bennett was a Negro.

The 14th Street rally began an hour after the burial at the New School for Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th st. nw., a center for black militants.

Mayor Involved

Earlier, at a smaller rally in front of the 13th Precinct station, three blocks away at 1620 V st. nw., protesters briefly debated police policy with Mayor Walter E. Washington.

The rally at the precinct station was led by Arthur Waskow, chairman of the Center for Emergency Support. While the Center had initiated the call for the rally, representatives of several other groups that had formed into an ad hoc committee following Bennett's death participated.

The rally at the precinct station was led by Arthur Waskow, a white leader in politics here. It was attended largely by white demonstrators taking part in the Center for Emergency Support, an organization formed to protest Bennett's death.

The Rev. Channing E. Phillips, Washington's Democratic National Committeeman, earlier had been touring the city in a motorcade to drum up support for the Humphrey-Muskie ticket. At the precinct station rally, he castigated the police policy of shooting to kill.

Bruce J. Terris, the city's Democratic chairman, charged the police with a failure to "punish their own" in cases involving misuse of force.

Monroe H. Freedman, professor of law at George Washington University, declared that the "white press," and particularly The Washington Post, fails "to honestly report police suppression of ghetto residents."

Police Captain Speaks

Waskow urged Capt. Shirley O'Neill, the newly-appointed commander of the 13th Precinct, to speak.

"I expect my officers to be experts in community relations," Capt. O'Neill said, "but it will take time."

Charles Cassell, cochairman of the Black United Front, told the rally "You're dealing with lackeys here. Take your protest to the real source of power . . . the real estate brokers and the Board of Trade." He termed the police "a colonial occupying force."

Waskow introduced the Mayor as "the colonial governor and the viceroy of Washington." As Mayor Washington came to the microphone, he was jeered and booed by the crowd.

"I will work to get the Congress to do what the people want," Washington declared.

Waskow broke in and began arguing with the Mayor, who retorted: "Don't deceive the people. I understand this situation and am working to solve it."

Bantering Debate

The two men carried on a bantering debate as the crowd of about 100 grew silent. Then a wave of laughter, apparently at the futility of Waskow's effort, broke out.

off, one of them saying "These white people can't get nothing done."

Waskow then tried to take a vote to undertake a further demonstration, but he got little support and the crowd dispersed.

As it ended, the second rally of the afternoon was getting under way in front of the New School of Afro-American Thought. It stands next door to the fire-gutted hulk of U.S. Auto Parts, the store burned out in the Tuesday night disorder which started in the same block of 14th street nw. As a crowd of about 250 gathered, Gaston Neal, one of the directors of the New School, ordered a rented truck pulled across the southbound lanes of traffic. The crowd flowed out into the street.

Police Divert Traffic

Five policemen standing across the street from the New School watched, then began diverting traffic.

After a few minutes, Sgt. L. C. Hoefer of the 13th Precinct walked over to the truck and climbed behind the wheel. The crowd began moving toward him. Under a soower of epithets, Hoefer climbed down and made his way out of the crowd.

Police Insp. Tilmon B. O'Bryant and Capt. O'Neill—both Negroes—moved into the crowd, saying to demonstrators, "Hello brother, how are you today?"

"Hello, Brother O'Bryant," replied one. "Why don't you get that honky beast of yours out of here before he gets hurt?"

"We're Moving Up"

Another demonstrator told O'Bryant: "We're moving up. At least you're his boss, and he's no longer yours."

At 4:47 p.m., Cassell, of the Black United Front and acting as master of ceremonies, introduced Stokely Carmichael, the principal organizer of the Front.

Carmichael said, "There is no right or wrong about killing. If any of these young black brothers were sent to Vietnam, he would be given a medal for killing Vietnamese.

"If a black brother kills a honky cop, the black community should give him a medal . . ." The crowd cheered.

"Now, we can't give him a medal above ground, because he would be arrested, but we can honor him . . . by nobody getting upset."

Neal made an appeal for funds for the dead man's wife and children, and the rally ended. But the crowd continued to mill around the New School.

Two Rallies Protest Killings By Police

Crowds

street

By CARL L. SHEARS

The crowd was first moved inside and then when it appeared that it would be too large for the small auditorium of the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th St., NW, the crowd was moved outside again.

The rally was the second held Saturday to protest the slaying of Elijah Bennett by a white policeman on 14th St. last week not far from the New School. The man was slain as a result of jay-walking.

The crowd was all black, of all shades and hues, many dressed in African garb. They seemed angry and it appeared that something explosive was going to happen.

THE SUN was hidden behind the clouds when the crowd hit the sidewalks to listen to the speakers. At first they clustered around the small doorway of the New School and listened as Charles Casell, co-chairman of the Black United Front, introduced Julius Hobson as the first speaker.

large in the school board race, was introduced as the "man who proved that we had a racist school board." Hobson said that he was almost ashamed to make a speech because he had been making them before most of the crowd was born and they had done no good.

He said, "The man is shooting you down in the streets like dogs. How many times are you going to watch your brothers being shot down in the streets? How many rallies are we going to have How many marches?"

Then Hobson added, as if sensing the mood of the crowd, "If I weren't scared, I would have gone out shooting long ago."

He stated the shooting would go on until something is done.

He said also that the Black Front should send a truth squad around to see if all the candidates in the school board race are giving the same story everywhere because some are saying different things in different areas.

Reginald Booker, chairman of the Emergency Transportation Committee against the Freeways, asked how can we survive against the police force? He said there were only two choices and they were to kill or go along with the "honky cops".

BOOKER SAID the first step in the resolution was to strip the black man of his guns. He went further saying, "We must control the police in our community. The first battle in the revolution will be fought by cops and black brothers in the streets. Black brothers should form their own police force. The present police force is for the protection of the white community."

He said black people of the community should decide the punishment given to the policemen who shoot down black men in the streets.

Booker said white policemen who killed black men should have their pictures placed on posters as wanted for murder.

THE CROWD, growing angrier, then moved out into the streets, blocking passage as Q. T. Jackson a Howard University student came before them. He shouted "We are now waking up to the fact that we have no control over our lives. Until we do, the man will continue running the stuff on us."

"It's our own responsibility to get together to control our own police force. We must control our own education, police force and our own businesses."

"The cops every day are playing with us. We must get together and put pressure where it should be put. We have got to start now. We must think black and be black; we have no longer to wait."

A TRUCK rented by the demonstrators, blocked the street and made it impossible for traffic to pass. Some people, feeling there was going to be a police confrontation, began to gather their children and move away from the crowd. The traffic was diverted by policemen. This was due to the actions of Joseph Yeldell, a District councilman.

Two white policemen went up to the truck blocking the street and asked that it be moved. A small group nearby began to taunt them as they looked under the hood of the truck.

POLICE INSP. Tilmon B. O'Bryant and Capt. Shirley O'Neill, both colored policemen went through the crowd and told the white policemen to move on. They then moved about listening to complaints about police brutality and tried to soothe the crowd so that no trouble would break out.

Some of the people in the crowd, O'Bryant knew. He spoke, smiled, and shook hands with them. It worked. Nothing happened.

CHUCK STONE spoke giving the crowd a history of the black men killed by white policemen. He then asked, "What are we going to do?"

Stone said, "This is a black city and should be controlled by black people." This brought a huge cheer.

Stone issued a challenge to Mayor Washington: "Either Mayor Washington comes out for black control of this police force in 7 days or step down." Again the crowd cheered. He ended with, "You must not just think black, you must also act black."

Stokely Carmichael said,

"No need to get excited. In order to stop police brutality we have to kill some white cops.

"Just organize and kill; if you can't kill in the open, kill them in the night; in the back."

He then said young black men in the crowd would get medals to kill if they were in Vietnam, and that medals should be given to them here for killing "honky" cops. He said, "We must legitimize the killing of honky cops in our communities." With this the crowd went wild.

A drunken woman moved up near the speaker's platform holding a beer can shouting obscenities and, "I am black and I am beautiful." It was amusing to those who stood near her.

CARMICHAEL ENDED with, "I am tired of rallies. I am tired. We don't need any more bad speeches." With this, the crowd began to disperse. In the background, O'Bryant and O'Neill stood watching. When most had gone, traffic was again directed through that block. The truck was moved and things went on as they had before the rally.

Some people stood talking, saying that the crowd was not hepped-up enough and that maybe the crowd was tired too. One man summed it up by saying, "These things have played out. We have been made aware of our blackness. What we need now is something new.

Someone commented on the fact that the sun had come out. It came out as Carmichael finished his speech. Nothing happened. Things went on as they had before.

VII. INFORMATION REGARDING DISTURBANCES
OCCURRING IN WDC OCTOBER 13, 14 and 15, 1968

The following is being set forth regarding the disturbance that erupted at the D.C. Armory on the evening of October 13, 1968.

"During the early morning hours of October 14, 1968, [redacted] Precinct 9, Metropolitan Police Department (MPD), advised as follows: b6 b7C

"During the evening hours of Sunday, October 13, 1968, a musical program was held in the D.C. Armory, 2001 East Capitol Street. JAMES BROWN, the famous singing star, participated in the program. After the show ended, some of the people leaving the Armory at about eleven thirty began throwing rocks and other objects at MPD scout cars, causing some damage. An MPD officer was hurt by a thrown bottle and had to be sent to D.C. General Hospital for treatment. It was believed that approximately several hundred individuals participated in the disturbance near the D.C. Armory and along H Street, N.E. Five adults and approximately five juveniles were arrested in connection with the disturbance. Police from the four to midnight shift of October 13, 1968, had been held over to help the midnight shift.

"The disturbance had ended and the police, held over due to the disturbance, had been released. Windows had been broken in about twelve business places between 2nd and 15th Streets along H Street, N.E. Some places appeared to have been burglarized. b6 b7C

MPD, on October 14, 1968, at 8:30AM, advised as follows:

"The disturbance at the D.C. Armory began inside the Armory at about 11:30PM, on October 13, 1968. A fight between several spectators started the trouble, which continued outside the Armory as the people left following the conclusion of the show. Some of the people involved in the disturbance finally reached H Street, N.E. Some windows were broken in business places on H Street, N.E. and some looting occurred. The MPD used some tear gas to dispel the people near the Armory and on H Street, N.E. Four MPD officers were reportedly injured during the disturbance and were sent to D.C. General Hospital for treatment. Another MPD officer received minor injuries. It is also possible for some MPD officers to report with injuries to the Police and Firemen's Clinic. At least five MPD automobiles were damaged by persons involved in the disturbance. The disturbance was completely under police control by 1:00AM, October 14, 1968.

3 Policemen Hurt in NE Melee

At least three policemen were injured and the windows broken in at least ten businesses and as many automobiles last night and early today when a disturbance erupted following a concert by soul singer James Brown in the D.C. Armory.

All police in the area of the Armory were held over and about 50 members of the department's Civil Disturbance Unit were activated from regular shifts and armed with riot-control equipment just after midnight to snuff out the fragmentary outbursts of violence by small bands of Negro juveniles.

Asst. Chief Jerry V. Wilson said four persons were arrested in connection with the disturbance. Three were charged with burglary II, the charge for looting; and one was charged with throwing missiles, assault on a policeman and destroying public property.

The three police, all of whom were taken to D.C. General Hospital where they were listed in good condition, were injured by bottles hurled at them about 11:45 p.m. at 19th and East Capitol Streets, police said.

Most of the window breaking, both in businesses and cars, occurred on H Street ne., between 8th and 12th Streets. Police closed off H Street, between 1st and 15th Streets, just after midnight.

A D.C. Transit bus driver and a passenger were struck and robbed by a group of Negro teenagers who boarded the bus at 11:30 p.m. at 18th and East Capitol Streets se., about a block from the Armory.

Driver David Sullivan, 24, was treated and released at D.C. General Hospital, after the youths hit him and took $10. Gabriel Boyle, 39, was struck in the face and knocked to the floor of the bus, police said, and $40 was taken from him. He refused hospital treatment.

The violence apparently erupted just as the Brown concert concluded about 11:40 p.m. Witnesses said a fight in the Armory quickly turned into a bottle and chair hurling incident in which 200 of the estimated 7000 people at the concert participated.

Police quickly hastened the crowd out of the Armory, but once outside members of the crowd began hurling bottles and bricks at the 25 or so police present. After this brief confrontation, however, the crowd began breaking up and moving off in several directions.

Police said smaller groups then began hurling bricks and bottles at passing cars in the area. The windows of at least one police car were smashed, they said.

Just after midnight, windows in ten business establishments on H Street were smashed. There was only one incident of looting, at Young's Shoes, 910 H st. ne., where mannequins were overturned in the display window and stripped of clothing.

Chief Wilson said from 6 to 8 baseball-type, tear gas grenades were thrown in the troubled H Street area.

Windows were also broken at the Thompson Optical Co., 723 H st.; Edwards Shoes, 820 H st.; D.C. Appliance Co., 1014 H st.; Brother's Furniture Store, 966 H st.; Zanzibar Restaurant, 1118 H st. ne.; Phil's Food Shop, 1116 H st. ne.; an Esso Service Station at 2651 Benning rd. ne.; the Soulburger Carryout, 2507 Benning rd. ne., and the Peoples Drug Store, 806 H st. ne.

The short-lived outburst was quelled in about a half hour. At 1 a.m. today only a handful of youths were present on the streets in the area while police cars and police on foot patrolled the entire section.

By 1 a.m., the 4 p.m. to midnight shifts in all precincts except No. 9 had been released. Number nine's 4-to-12 shift was released at 2:30 a.m., but the activated CDU men were held.

Those arrested for Burglary II at 9th and H Streets ne. were Noble A. Whitehead, 22, of 3004 25th st. ne.; Arthur Rush Jr., 21, of 345 Tennessee ave. ne.; and Andre Mordecai, 20, of 1401 Girard st. nw. William David Jr., 21, of 2102 H st. ne., was arrested in the 300 block of 17th st. ne. and charged with throwing missiles, assault on a policeman and destroying public property.

The three policemen treated at D.C. General Hospital were identified as Pvt. M. P. Mood, forehead cuts; D. L. Likout, minor leg injury, and R. L. Syndor, injuries to right ear and leg.

A similar article regarding the outbreak of violence following a concert by soul singer JAMES BROWN appeared in the October 14, 1968, edition of "The Evening Star." A copy of the article is attached herewith:

Fighting Flares After Concert In D.C. Armory

Groups of rock-throwing youths roamed the H Street NE business area about midnight last night, looting one store and breaking windows at 15 others in an hour-long spree that began about a mile away at D.C. Armory following a concert by "soul" singer James Brown.

Five policemen received slight injuries and an unidentified civilian suffered an apparent broken jaw in the disorder around the Armory.

Hundreds of youths, most of them Negroes, surged out of the Armory amid scuffling that had begun inside after a firecracker was thrown. Some began pelting police cars with rocks and bottles, according to police.

Within a half-hour, about 11:45 p.m., small groups of youths and some adults had moved west on East Capitol Street and north to the H Street area to begin the window-breakings and vandalism in that area, which still bears scars of last April's major rioting.

Lt. Burtell Jefferson, acting captain of No. 9 Precinct, said the window-smashings and looting attempts, heaviest in the 800 to 1000 blocks of H Street, ended by 12:30 a.m. after two juveniles and three adults were arrested.

Six to 8 baseball-type tear gas grenades were used in dispersing the groups along H Street.

according to Asst. Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson.

Early today, police said looting was believed to have occurred at three of some 16 all on H Street between 8th and 15th Streets.

However, 9th Precinct Capt. Ernest Prete said a survey later today showed looting at only one business.

Norman Hoffman, owner of the Art Young Men's Store at 910 H St. NE, said "substantial looting" had occurred there.

About 50 members of the department's Civil Disturbance Unit, armed with riot equipment, were brought into the area to assist police, who were held over from 1 to 2½ hours past the midnight change-of-shift.

Police said the disorder apparently stemmed from the firecracker-throwing by unidentified persons in the audience of 4,000 inside the Armory at the end of the concert by Brown, who had appeared here on television during the April riot to ask youths "to cool it."

There was some chair-throwing and scuffling among a group inside the Armory, according to police. Pvt. Douglas C. Likout of No. 2 Precinct was hit on the head by a chair, officers said, and was treated at D.C. General Hospital.

As the audience filed out of the armory, the turmoil seemed to spread through the crowd and police cars became targets for rocks and bottles.

Six scout cars were damaged — three with broken windshields — and the metal side of a new patrol wagon was ripped, police said.

At the corner of 17th and C

Streets NE, several blocks from the Armory, a rock hurled against the raised window of Lt. Jefferson's car sent glass fragments into the side of his face and neck.

He leaped from the car and arrested a suspect, 20-year-old William D. Wheaton Jr. of the 2100 block of H Street NE, who was charged with destroying public property and assault on an officer.

Jefferson was treated at Washington Hospital Center and returned to duty.

At 19th and East Capitol Streets, a group of youths got on a D. C. Transit bus, overpowered the driver, robbed him and a passenger.

Elsewhere in that area of town, two citizens — both Negroes — told police they were pummeled and robbed by groups of youths around midnight.

Other injured policemen — all hurt in the vicinity of the armory and treated at D.C. General — were listed by police as Pvt. Michael P. Mood of the 5th Precinct, who required six stitches to close a head cut inflicted by a thrown bottle, Lt. Samuel Rogovsky of No. 5, also hit on the head by a bottle, and Pvt. Ronald L. Sidnor of No. 6, who suffered leg abrasions when hit by a rock.

Charged with second-degree burglary (looting) in connection with the break-in at Young's men's store were Andrea Mordecai, 20, of the 1400 block of Girard Street NW, Noble Augustus Whitehead, 22, of the 3000 block of 25th Street NE, and Arthur Rush Ja., 21, of the 300 block of Tennessee Avenue NE. Police said two juveniles also were apprehended, one in connection with the looting and another charged with loitering in the 800 block of 8th St. NE.

By 12:30 a.m. the crowds had all but disappeared from H Street, and except for shattered glass the short-lived disorder appeared to have vanished into the swirling fog. During the disorder traffic was routed off H Street.

Police commanders were authorized to release the held-over evening shift and the Civil Disturbance Unit at 1 a.m., though in the 9th Precinct, they were kept over until shortly after 2 a.m.

"The Washington Daily News," WDC, daily newspaper, also contained an article regarding the disturbance on the night of October 13, 1968, in the vicinity of the D.C. Armory. A copy of the article is attached herewith:

'Soul' Concert Aftermath

Five Policemen Injured in NE Melee

Five policemen, including two lieutenants, were injured as they fought to disperse roving bands of teen-agers who were breaking windows and looting following a soul music concert last night at the Armory.

None of the policemen was injured seriously during the hour of turmoil which followed a chair and bottle throwing melee inside the Armory just at the conclusion of the concert by singer James Brown.

Most of the teen-agers surged outside the building and broke into four or five bands of about 5-30 and cartwheeled into different directions, setting small fires and breaking at least 17 store windows in a seven-block area of H-st ne. near Benning Road.

FIVE BEATEN

Before the helmeted police could bring some order to the roiling groups, five persons were beaten and robbed, two on a crowded bus at 18th and E. Capitol streets.

Police arrested five persons, two juveniles and three adults and charged them with burglary. Another, William D. Wheaton Jr., 20, Negro, was charged with assault on police St. Burtell Jefferson, also a Negro, destroying government property and throwing a missile.

Lt. Jefferson, of the Ninth Precinct was hit with a rock which broke the window of his squad car, stepped outside and was again hit with a rock. He was in good condition at D.C. General Hospital with glass slivers in his face.

SQUAD CARD

The other injured officers are Lt. Samuel Rogovsky, Fifth Precinct, hit in the back with a bottle; Pvt. Douglas C. Likout, Second Precinct, hit with a chair; Pvt. Michael Mood, Fifth Precinct, six stitches in his head after being hit with a bottle, and Pvt. Roland Sydnor, Sixth Precinct, hit with a missile.

Police said six scout cars were slightly damaged, three with broken windshields.

Business along H-st suffered the most damage with windows being smashed and isolated cases of looting reported. Young's Shoe Store, 910 H-st ne suffered looting after the show window was broken and mannekins overturned and stripped.

Also victimized were the Thompson Optical Co., 723 H-st; Edwards Shoes, 820 H-st; DC Appliance Co., 1014 H-st; Brothers Furniture Store, 906 H-st; Zanzibar Restaurant, 1118 H-st; Phil's Food Shop, 1116 H-st; an Esso Station at 2015 Benning Road; The Soulburger Carryout, 2507 Benning Road, and the People's Drug Store, 906 H-st.

Police said the incident was the result of exuberance generated by the concert and a false rumor that the singer had been shot backstage which swept thru the crowd.

Police from the Civil Disturbance Unit were quickly assembled when the trouble started about 11:15. Several tear gas grenades were hurled at the peak of the disturbance but the helmeted officers dispersed most of the teen-agers, described as 99 percent Negro, shortly after midnight.

The following is being set forth regarding a further disturbance on the night of October 14, 1968:

"At 8:39PM, October 14, 1968, a call was received on the MPD radio that a group of juveniles was breaking windows in the vicinity of Eighth and H Streets, N.E., and that an officer needed assistance. This was the first in a series of calls which indicated that bands of juveniles were breaking windows along H Street and then moving on before police could respond. When the police left an area, the juveniles returned and some attempts at looting took place. There were numerous false fire alarms and false calls requesting police assistance in areas where no activity was taking place. Large crowds gathered in the area and it was believed that approximately five to six hundred individuals participated in the disturbance. H Street, N.E., was closed between Second and 15th Streets and the MPD Civil Disturbance Unit was called to duty at 10:40PM. Two adults and seventeen juveniles were arrested in connection with the disturbance.

"At 2:00AM, October 15, 1968, [redacted] advised that the disturbance had ceased. Police held from the 4PM to midnight shift of October 14, 1968, were released. Windows and stores in about twelve business places along H Street were broken. A few appeared to have been burglarized. No injuries were reported as a result of the disturbance.

An article appearing in "The Evening Star", WDC, mentioned previously, October 15, 1968, contained information regarding a disturbance that developed on the evening of October 14, 1968, along H Street, N.E., during which a number of store windows were broken and a number of people were arrested. Police Quell Strife in NE; Blame Rumor

By WALTER GOLD
Star Staff Writer

A rumor that "soul" singer James Brown had been shot to death by a white man touched off a second night of disorders last night along H Street NE, during which two dozen or more store windows were broken and 21 persons, 17 of them juveniles, were arrested.

The city's police Civil Disturbance Unit was called into action for the third time in six days, as police again used tear gas to break up missile-throwing and threatening crowds of youths, most of them Negroes.

No injuries were reported in last night's four-hour confrontation along Near Northeast's main shopping street, one of the three areas heavily damaged in the April rioting.

One youth at the H Street scene last night told a reporter that the rumor Brown had been shot had also been spread by youths Sunday night after a concert by Brown at D.C. Armory, as a pretext for vandalism that night which resulted in broken windows at 16 stores and the looting of a men's clothing shop on H Street.

Brown, a Negro singer, had volunteered to appear here on television during last April's riots to ask youths to refrain from violence.

Last night, one minor arson case was reported in the disturbance area and two youths suspected of attempted fire-bombing were apprehended by police at the Tops Furniture Co., 10th and H Streets NE.

There was no gunfire reported in the area, but the frequent popping sound of tear gas "baseball" grenades cleared the streets in the entire 11-block area.

Two youths were apprehended in the 700 block of H Street as suspects in looting, but police said the extent of any looting—which they said appeared to be very minor—would not be clear until merchants finished checking their stock later today.

The outbreak, which began appearing serious about 8:30 p.m., was declared "firmly under control" by Acting Police Chief Jerry Wilson shortly before midnight.

Most of the Metropolitan Police Department's 4-to-12 shift of officers was held over past midnight and the midnight shift was called in early. Those held over generally were released by 2 a.m.

At the height of the disorder, around 10:30 p.m., Wilson repeatedly ordered a crowd of about 200 to move away from the intersection of 8th and H Streets NE.

When the crowd began throwing rocks and bottles at police and breaking windows, Wilson and Lt. William G. Burchette of the 9th Precinct threw tear gas grenades, quickly dispersing the crowd.

But within minutes, the disorder spread outward along H Street in both directions from 8th Street, and then, in a few isolated cases, a few blocks to the north and south of the thoroughfare. It was at this point that Wilson ordered the activation of CDU personnel on duty throughout the city and brought some teams to the scene.

At 11:01 p.m., Deputy Police Chief Raymond Pyles reminded officers over the police radio from the scene to "arrest any and all violators."

During the outbreak, at least three young Negroes told a reporter the disturbance had been "planned."

"We started the same rumor (about Brown being shot) last night," one of the youths, who refused to be identified, said.

"And we really got things going with it again tonight," he added.

Police agreed that the outbreak was caused by the rumor and "certainly was not spontaneous or over any real issue."

"They were just spoiling for trouble . . . and I think they really knew the rumor about Brown was false," commented Lt. Burchette. It was Burchette who apprehended two youths at 10th and H Street NE as they tried, he said, to fire-bomb the furniture store.

"You don't just fire-bomb a business establishment because of a rumor," the veteran lieutenant said.

Police officials planned a strategy meeting this afternoon. Indications were that heavy police patrols—including some CDU teams—would be along H Street NE and 14th Street NW tonight. The area around 14th and U Streets NW was the scene of a disturbance a week ago tonight following the fatal shooting of a Negro pedestrian by a white traffic policeman.

Of those arrested last night, 17 were juveniles under age 18 and four were adults. Charges ranged from disorderly conduct to attempted arson. All of the youths, whose names were withheld because of their age, were turned over to juvenile authorities.

During the disorder, H Street was closed to all but police and emergency traffic. By 1:30 a.m., most of the tear gas had been carried away by a swirling fog.

The only arson case in the area was reported at 11:33 p.m. when someone set a street trash can on fire at 7th Street and Florida Avenue NE. A few false fire alarms were pulled in the immediate area, fire officials said.

Vandals broke windows at Bob White Buick, 624 H St. NE; Mabel's Beauty Salon, 728 H St.; Esquire Men's Wear, 711 H St. (where police said they caught a man in the show window throwing mannequins into the street); P & B Valet, 645 H St.; and McBride's, at 7th and H Streets NE, where armed private guards later took up positions inside and spent the night.

Windows also were broken at Page's Dress Shop, 12th and H Streets; Tops Furniture, 10th and H Streets, and a pawnbroker shop in the 1200 block of H (which also was looted) as well as Sears on Bladensburg Road near M Street NE, which was broken into.

Other scattered reports of broken windows and minor disturbances were still coming into the 9th Precinct long after daylight as the burglar alarms rang up and down the littered street.

In addition, the "Washington Afro-American", WDC, contained an article dated October 15, 1968, regarding the violence which had erupted on the night of October 13, 1968. A copy of the article is attached herewith:

Fight Follows James Brown Show

Police hit, windows smashed

A fight that broke out among the audience at the James Brown Show Sunday night spilled over into the Northeast community resulting in minor looting, window breaking, and attacks on the police.

At least three policemen were injured by rocks and bottles and four people were arrested.

ACCORDING TO police reports, there was quite a bit of damage to the Armory and the Armory's manager told a reporter that the building's board of directors would probably "examine what happened," he said he couldn't say whether Brown would be prevented from performing there again because they were "waiting to get a full police report."

"I DON'T KNOW what the board will do," he said. Brown had been barred from appearing in public halls in Baltimore in 1964 because of fights and other violence that have broken out after his shows. But the ban was lifted on Brown and other rock 'n' roll singers when the police department assured the Civic Center Commission that order would be maintained.

IN THE incident Sunday night, police say that about 200 of the 7000 people at the concert became involved in a fight inside the armory just as the show was concluding. "They started to break up chairs and throw chairs at each other," a policeman from the 5th precinct reported.

POLICE HUSTLED the crowd out of the Armory and the fight resumed outside with people in the melee throwing bottles and bricks at the 25 policemen present. As the crowd began to disperse smaller groups moving across East Capitol

St., began hurling bricks and bottles at passing cars and at least three police windshields were smashed, police said.

The fighting continued in the 8th and H Street areas where most of the window breaking occurred. The police closed off H St., between 1st and 15th just after midnight. Acting Police Chief Jerry Wilson said that 6 to 8 tear gas grenades were thrown in the H Street area to disperse the crowds.

ALL THE POLICE in the area of the Armory were held overtime and about 50 members of the Civil Disturbance Unit were activated from regular shifts and armed with riot-control equipment.

The area quieted down about 1 a.m. after windows had been broken in the businesses on H St. The only looting incident occurred at Young's Shoes, 910 St., NE where mannequins were toppled in the display window and stripped of clothing.

Windows were also broken at the Thompson Optical Co. 723 H St.; the Soulbarger Carryout, 2507 Benning Rd. NE.; Edwards Shoes, 820 H St.; D.C. Appliance Col, 1014 H St.; Brother's Furniture Store, 906 H St.; Zanzibar Restaurant, 1118 H St. NE.; Phil's Food Shop, 1116 H St. NE.; and Esso Service Station at 2651 Benning Rd. NE.

burglary II, the charge for looting, were Noble Whitehead, 22 of 3004 25th St. NE.; Arthur Rush Jr., 21 of 345 Tennessee Ave. NE.; and Adre Mordecai, 20, of 1401 Girard St. NW. William David, Jr., 21, of 2102 H. St. NE. was arrested in the 300 block of 17th St. NE. He was charged with throwing missiles, assault on a policeman and destroying public property.

The three policemen injured were admitted to D.C. General Hospital and listed in good condition.

The manager of the Armory said that this was Brown's first appearance there. He usually gives his shows at the Coliseum. But this year, the Coliseum management demanded 50 percent of the proceeds from the show. Brown told the AFRO a few weeks ago that he usually rented the B Coliseum for a thousand dollars or ten per cent of the proceeds.

After advertising for public support to force the Coliseum manager to change his mind about the 50 per cent demand, Brown rented the Armory.

"The Washington Post," WDC, on October 16, 1968, contained an article about new disorders developing in the area of H Street, N.E., WDC, on October 15, 1968. A copy of the article is attached herewith:

By Ken Feil—The Washington Post

Pedestrians on H Street ne. seek protection against tear gas.

3d Day of Violence

Youths Roam H St. In New Disorders

Disorders in the H Street ne. area broke out for the third time in as many days yesterday as young teen-agers blocked traffic, broke a number of store windows and then scattered before police tear gas.

By 8:45 p.m., Acting Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson called the situation "well under control." Traffic was reopened on H Street, and only a few pedestrians were on the sidewalks. Small groups of youths continued to roam the side streets.

Wilson said there was no arson and little looting. Police and other officials noted the extreme youth of many of the participants. Some appeared to be younger than teen-agers.

Late in the day, District officials set up an emergency center at 1326 Florida ave. ne., where neighborhood volunteers worked to discourage the youths from joining the disturbances.

Local boys club leaders marched up and down H Street, urging youths to "cool it" and go home.

Police said the trouble started yesterday when about 75 Negro youngsters met at a rally on the Spingarn High School parking lot, 24th Street and Benning Road, ne., at about 5 p.m. There, they burned a tree, then marched westward to H Street.

The youths were dispersed with tear gas at 10th and H Streets, ne., after they had formed a line across the street with their arms interlocked, blocking the rush-hour traffic, police said.

The youths retreated into side streets but remained in the area despite police warnings to go home or face arrest. Small groups ranging from two to ten persons continued to wander about after night-fall.

Windows in at least seven businesses were broken. Police arrested more than a half-dozen youths who had formed the line in H Street, charging them with pedestrian violations.

Among those arrested was Rufus (Cattfish) Mayfield, 20, flamboyant youth leader and former chairman of Pride, Inc. He was charged with jaywalking and was jailed.

Later, he was released and at 8:31 p.m., was arrested again on a pedestrian violation at 11th and H Streets ne. by Lt. W. G. Burchette. Witnesses said Mayfield had crossed the street against a red light. He was released after the second arrest and was observed as late as 11:15 p.m. walking with a group of youths in the H Street area.

Disorders Break Out For 3d Day

DISORDERS, From A1

Traffic Rerouted

Early in the disturbance, police threw up blockades at 2d and 14th Street ne., rerouting all traffic, including buses. A police helicopter whirled over the scene, observing both traffic and the movement of groups of youths. The traffic blockades were lifted at about 8:45 p.m.

High-ranking police officials held a strategy meeting during the day to discuss the Sunday and Monday disorders on H Street. A decision was made to call in the midnight shift of policemen at 8 p.m. to bolster the regular 4 p.m.-to-midnight section.

Chief Wilson estimated that 150 uniformed patrolmen, including members of the Civil Disturbance Unit, were on hand in the Ninth Precinct, which includes H Street. Normally, about 50 men patrol the precinct at night.

Mayor Walter E. Washington also met during the day with school officials and Recreation Department roving leaders in an effort to find ways of stemming a restive atmosphere reported in several schools.

The Mayor said the emergency center on Florida Avenue was established after his office received a flood of calls yesterday from H Street residents expressing the desire to curb actions of the children involved in the disorders.

The center was staffed last night by both local residents and persons from Government and private agencies. It will be open today.

The Mayor said he was pleased with the spontaneous neighborhood interest and called it "a great breakthrough" in coping with the phenomenon of sub-teen-agers on the streets.

In quelling the activity, Chief Wilson estimated only five or six baseball-type tear gas grenades were used. Because of the extreme youth of the crowds, which at times numbered 150, police used the tactic of arresting persons, rather than using gas on them, Wilson said.

Tear gas was used to disperse the initial group of 75 that blocked H Street, and it was used at least three other times later in the evening.

Window Smashed

At 7:20 p.m., about 50 youngsters poured out of the Atlas Theater, 1331 H st. ne., headed for the Safeway Store a few doors away and smashed a window there. Police scattered the group with tear gas.

About 15 minutes later, they used tear gas again when youths hurled rocks through the plate glass of McDonald's Hamburgers, 1164 Bladensburg rd. ne., and still again at 8:20 p.m. to disperse a knot of about 100 youths at 8th and D Streets ne.

Wilson said a 10 p.m. curfew ordinance, forbidding persons under 18 to be on the streets without adult supervision after that hour, would be strictly enforced.

Because of a rash of false fire alarms in recent days, police were responding to fireboxes in the Ninth Precinct to verify fires before calling in fire equipment. Between 6 and 9:30 p.m., there were eight false alarms in the precinct and one legitimate call.

Yesterday's disturbance followed two consecutive nights of disorders in the H Street area in which more than two dozen store windows were smashed and at least six stores were looted.

Assassination Rumor

Monday's disturbance was touched off, at least in part, by a false rumor that "soul" singer James Brown had been killed by a white sniper.

Policemen and City Councilman Joseph P. Yeldell, who toured H Street Monday night, said they heard numerous teen-agers repeat the rumor and announce that their purpose was to "retaliate" for Brown's reported death.

Radio station WOL, a Negro-oriented station here, repeatedly broadcast during the evening that the rumor was false.

WOL newsman Ron Pinkney telephoned Brown late yesterday in Los Angeles and made a special tape recording in which the singer said he is "in good health and alive in living black color."

Pinkney said the tape was scheduled to be played this morning about every two hours.

Seventeen juveniles and four adults were arrested during Monday's disturbance on an assortment of charges from disorderly conduct to attempted arson.

Police dropped the attempted-arson charge against one man, Kenneth N. Petty, 22, of 308 10th st. ne., but held another, Gerard A. Cosby, 24, of 806 10th st. ne., under $10,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing on Nov. 4. Police originally said the men were discovered at 10th and H Streets ne. preparing Molotov cocktails.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

An article appearing in "The Washington Post" on October 18, 1968, written by WILLIAM RASPBARRY, concerning the disturbances that were taking place, is attached herewith:

The Disorder On H Street

By William Raspberry

Many who have observed riots and disturbances around the country for the past few summers are bothered by this week's mini-disturbance on H Street.

Some things about the Northeast affair just don't ring true.

First, there has been very little real anger, usually one of the necessary ingredients.

The black militants, who seldom start disturbances but quickly show up to label them insurrections or revolts and, thus, lend them legitimacy, have stayed clear of the nightly H Street disturbances. This has been strictly a teen-age and sub-teen thing.

As a general rule, civil disturbances either grow in intensity or they die. But this one came back night after night at just about the same level of intensity, and always confined to a few blocks of H Street.

The fact that this week's disturbances have differed so markedly from the pattern has led some city officials and some seasoned observers to speculate that it may have been "programmed"—that is to say, some person or group has deliberately tried to get something going. Police, quite properly, are investigating that possibility.

RUFUS MAYFIELD

... war on "hustlers"

But if two hypotheses can be constructed to explain the same sets of facts, the simpler one is more likely to be true. Rufus (Catfish) Mayfield, an acknowledged youth leader in that part of town, offers a simpler hypothesis:

"IT ALL STARTED Sunday night with the James Brown show at the D.C. Armory," he said. "The admission was 99 cents if you were under 12, but if you were over 12, the cheapest ticket was $3. Well, these black kids didn't have that kind of money, so they were just standing around outside the Armory.

"Then somebody snatched 2200 tickets and began selling them for 50 cents apiece, so everybody was getting in."

Once inside, Mayfield said, the youngsters lost interest in the show and started horsing around. Someone in the balcony threw a chair at a policeman, and fighting broke out in the Armory, later spreading to the streets. No conspiracy here.

Monday night's resumption followed a rumor that entertainer Brown had been shot. No one is certain how the rumor started or how it spread, but Mayfield doubts that there was any real conspiracy to start trouble.

"TUESDAY, I was talking to some kids at Spingarn (High School) who told me they were tired of popping pills—half the kids in this neighborhood are running around half-high all the time—and they wanted to do something constructive. We decided to march to the Mayor's office."

They never got there. During the march, one of the youngsters was arrested for jaywalking, and when Mayfield turned back to see what was wrong, he, too, was arrested on a jaywalking charge.

"I don't know why they picked the two of us out," he said, "since all of us were in the street."

"Anyway, the kids out there respect me and they didn't like the way the police were acting, so they started throwing bricks and bottles. That's how it got going Tuesday night. Nothing much happened Wednesday.

"I don't see no conspiracy in this, although I have heard these charges. Somebody was even saying that I was being paid by Wallace supporters to get something going."

"WELL, I THINK you know me better than that. In fact, one of our main problems is that too many people are hustling off the young kids, selling them dope and pills and everything else. That's really what we want to see the Mayor about: We have a program—Dropouts, Inc.—that will put the hustlers out of business and keep the kids in school. We've got to get more dudes some academic skills and get off this old buck-sixty-an-hour thing."

Mayfield, who wouldn't guess whether the H Street trouble has run its course, also has an explanation as to why so few black hustlers and other adults were involved.

"I could see them riding up and down H Street, four or five to a car, waiting for the looting to get out of control. They won't ever start the looting—they leave that to the kids. But after things get out of hands, they come in and take stuff and make a lot of money."

"Hustlers like this are the key to the whole thing. We can get all the programs we want, but if people keep hustling off the kids it won't do any good."

"The first aim of our program is to get rid of the hustlers, and we're going to do it, too—even if I get bumped off for trying."

 MPD, WDC, on October 22, 1968, advised that   no knowledge as to where RASPBARRY had gotten his information that the Police Department was specifically investigating the disturbances on H Street, N.E., with the idea that they had been "programmed."  advised that  no communication with RASPBARRY. He stated that  is continuously seeking information concerning the racial situation and disturbances and were not specifically investigating the disturbances on H Street, N.E.  advised that they had no information indicating that these disturbances were "programmed."

 previously advised, on October 14, 1968, that the disturbances at the D.C. Armory on October 13, 1968, started as the result of a fight between several spectators. On October 22, 1968,  advised that he had no knowledge of any theft of tickets for the BROWN show, which information is set forth in the article written by RASPBERRY.

WFO 100-43503

An additional article regarding the disturbances that had been taking place beginning on the night of October 13, 1968, appeared in the "Washington Afro-American," on October 19, 1968. A copy of the article is attached herewith:

JAMES BROWN

'In good health, in living black..'

"I'd like to say thanks to all my wonderful brothers and sisters for feeling that way about me. But I assure you I'm in good health alive and in living black color, and I'm still fighting for my people and everything is all right, and I wish they would take it easy."

That is the taped message from 'soul' singer James Brown to the enraged teens, of H St., NE., who started a 4-day rioting, sporadic looting, missile-throwing and window-breaking spree for four days since Sunday night.

THE DISTURBANCE started Sunday night when a rumor spread that singer Brown was killed by a white sniper.

An angry crowd, mostly children aged between 9-17, flowed into the street immediately, pelting stones at automobiles and patrol cars, breaking windows of several businesses along H St., leading to minor looting.

Substantial damage was done to the Armory beside the D. C. Stadium, where the James Brown Show was held and broke into fist-fights among the audience, the police said.

The disturbances continued Monday and Tuesday nights. About a dozen business store windows were broken, and three of them looted. More than 100 persons were arrested by Wednesday night; 65 of them are juveniles.

RUFUS MAFIELD (Catfish), former board chairman of the Pride, Inc., appeared before several groups of youngsters, led protest rallies and got arrested four times within three days on charge of pedestrian traffic violations.

Two minor arson cases were reported in Wednesday night's disturbances. Monday night, two persons had been arrested on an alleged charge of making Molotov cocktails.

BY WEDNESDAY night every block of NE H St., was policed by patrol cars, one each to a block. Tear gas was used all the four nights along H St., to disperse crowds. About 150 members of the Civil Disturbance Unit were put on duty on the fourth straight night of disturbances in the area.

Acting Police chief Jerry Wilson said that the police have changed tactics Wednesday night. "The tactic was to make arrests rather than use tear gas," he said.

It was against such a tense atmosphere, Mayor Walter Washington launched the establishment of a Satellite City Hall at 1326 Florida Ave., NE. Administrative Assistant to Mayor, John Staggers set up about 15 command centers in the disturbed Northeast area for rumor-control and trouble-shooting.

One such command center, located at the Near Northeast Community Incorporation, 1326 Florida Ave., NE, is manned by volunteers from the community.

Robert Collins, Community Organization Specialist of the community incorporation, told the AFRO that "the command center is already in operation. We are going to check out and report the disturbances of the area to Mr. Staggers who heads the 15 command centers."

The volunteers of the center will be trained by a police official to "neutralize rabbleroising speeches. Besides, the City is going to furnish recreation centers for the youths in the area," Collins said.

He also said that his center has at present 30 active volunteers, and that the center will operate 8 a.m.

to 12 midnight, seven days a week.

DIRECTOR William Michaels of the Near Northeast Community Incorporation, who is likely to coordinate the activities of the Satellite City Hall, told the AFRO that the "purpose of the little city hall is to overcome the existing sterility between this community and the District's City Hall."

Michaels said that the little city hall possibly could step up educational, recreational and employment facilities in the area.

He condemned the present poverty program funds being spent for the adults.

[REDACTED]

Number 13 Precinct, MPD, mentioned previously, advised on October 22, 1968, that he saw no significant connection between the speech of STOKELY CARMICHAEL and subsequent outbreaks of violence in the northeast section of WDC on October 13, 14, and 15, 1968. He stated that the speech was made in the Number 13 Precinct of the MPD, and the subsequent violence on October 13, 14, and 15, 1968, occurred in the area covered by the Number 9 Precinct of the MPD, a considerable distance apart. He advised that from past experience, he has learned that usually news developing in the Number 13 Precinct, such as the rally on October 12, 1968, where CARMICHAEL spoke, does not reach the Number 9 Precinct area en masse until about two days later. He stated he feels the youth in the Number 9 Precinct may have heard of the previous activity in the Number 13 Precinct area on October 12, 1968, and decided to get in on the action also, by showing they, too, could cause as much trouble as the "boys uptown." He emphasized that this is theoretical only and he has no factual evidence there is any connection between CARMICHAEL's speech and subsequent violence in the Number 9 Precinct area on October 13, 14, and 15, 1968.

b6

[REDACTED]

MPD, advised on October 29, 1968, no significant information had been developed that the rally held at the NSAAT on October 12, 1968, during which STOKELY CARMICHAEL spoke, caused the outbreaks of violence on October 13, 14, and 15, 1968. He stated that it had been conjectured that CARMICHAEL was behind the violence that developed on October 13, 14, and 15; however, he stated that no factual evidence had been developed to corroborate this. He noted that CARMICHAEL was reported to have left Washington on the evening of October 13, 1968, and did not return until October 17, 1968, being out of Washington during the dates of the disturbances.

[REDACTED] MPD, mentioned previously, reiterated on October 30, 1968, that there was no connection between the violence that erupted in the northeast area of WDC on October 13, 14, and 15, 1968, and the speech of STOKELY CARMICHAEL at a rally held on October 12, 1968, at 3:00PM at the NSAAT. He described the events as unrelated incidents.

WFO 100-43503

[REDACTED] 9th Precinct, Metropolitan Police Department, Washington, D. C., advised on October 31, 1968, there was no information available to tie the remarks of STOKELY CARMICHAEL made on October 12, 1968, at the New School of Afro-American Thought with the subsequent acts of violence that erupted in the N.E. section of Washington, D.C., on October 13, 14, and 15, 1968. He advised that they appear to be separate events.

b6

[redacted] United States Park Police (USPP), Washington, D. C. (WDC), advised on October 31, 1968, that the USPP has jurisdiction over Meridian Hill Park, WDC, where a Black United Front rally featuring STOKELY CARMICHAEL as a speaker was to be held on October 12, 1968, at 3:00 p.m. He stated it is customary for groups to get a permit to hold a rally in the park; however, no permit was applied for and none was issued. He advised that just to be safe, he sent a number of officers to the park on that date to cover the rally in case they decided to hold it without obtaining a permit. Upon arrival at the park, the officers found a group of about 60 or 70, mostly Negroes, to be at the scene stating that they expected a rally of the Black United Front to be held there. Later after 3:00 p.m. had passed and CARMICHAEL had not appeared, the crowd became confused about whether or not the rally was to take place. Subsequently, word was received that the rally was being held at the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W., WDC. Most of the members of the crowd then left headed in the direction of the New School of Afro-American Thought. He advised that the men assigned by his department continued with the group from Meridian Hill Park to the New School of Afro-American Thought and remained in the area during part of the activity. He stated that since this is the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Police Department, his men did not cover the rally very carefully and did not stay around to hear most of the speeches. He advised that he was unable to furnish any information about what CARMICHAEL said or any information bearing on the intent of CARMICHAEL in making the remarks.

[redacted] further stated that no information had come to the attention of his department which would show a link between the remarks of CARMICHAEL on that date and the subsequent disturbances developing in the N.E. section of WDC.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquarters at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind, to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

BLACK PANTHER PARTY, aka
Black Panther Party for Self Defense

A source advised that the Black Panther Party for Self Defense (BPPSD) was formed by HUEY PERCY NEWTON, Minister of Defense, and BOBBY GEORGE SEALE, Chairman, in December, 1966, as a militant black nationalist political organization to combat police brutality, to unite militant black youth, and to determine the destiny of black communities. The political philosophy was taken from writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of Communist China and black militant writers.

In March, 1968, the name of the organization was changed to Black Panther Party (BPP).

The official BPP publication, "The Black Panther Party - Black Community News Service", states that the BPP advocates use of guns and guerrilla tactics in their violent revolutionary program to end oppression of black people.

On February 17, 1968, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, Minister of Information, announced merger of the BPP and Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and bestowed title of Minister of Justice, BPP, upon H. RAP BROWN, Chairman of SNCC.

SNCC is a militant Negro organization which preaches black supremacy.

~~NEWTON, aforementioned, is incarcerated in the Alameda County Jail, Oakland, California, awaiting trial on charge of murder of an Oakland police officer.~~

Headquarters of BPP and Huey P. Newton Defense Fund are located at 4421 Grove Street, Oakland, California.

APPENDIXBLACK UNITED FRONT (BUF)

A source advised that on January 9, 1968 a meeting was held at Washington, D. C., by Stokely Carmichael. At this meeting, the Black United Front, an organization consisting of representatives of Black organizations and individuals was formed in the District of Columbia in order to effect operational unity among and for Black people.

During June, 1968, a second source advised that the Black United Front in an official statement of purpose stated it was established for the purpose of expanding the lines of communication between, and effecting togetherness among all the Black people in the District of Columbia in order that they might obtain a rightful and proportionate share in the decision making councils of the District, and rightful and proportionate control of the economic institutions in the Black community.

The standards for qualification as a member were listed as:

1. Any Black individual who has concern and interest in the Black community.
2. Any organization whose primary involvement is for the benefit of Black people, provided it has at least a 50% Black constituency and its representative in the BUF is black.

"The Washington Post and Times Herald," a daily newspaper printed at Washington, D. C., in an article on page A-1, dated July 6, 1968, captioned "Slaying of Police Defended," stated:

"The Black United Front issued a statement yesterday describing the slaying of a District Policeman Tuesday night as a "justifiable homicide.

"The statement said in Part:

'The methods of self defense used by the family charged with the alleged slaying of the honky cop is justifiable homicide in the same sense that police are allowed to kill black people and call it justifiable homicide.'

"Several hours later, Mayor Walter E. Washington asserted that the BUF resolution with respect to the slaying of Officer (Stephen A.) Williams.....is inflammatory, irresponsible and unfortunate."

The Washington Daily News, another daily newspaper printed in Washington, D.C., in an article on Page 5, dated July 17, 1968, captioned "BUF Takes New Tact" stated in part that the BUF plans to find ways and means to take control of the police force in the District of Columbia.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. Gus Hall, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anti-communist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

DECLASSIFIED BY 60324/ANC/BAW/CB/bis
ON 08-18-2006

Copies of this memorandum are being furnished locally to the U.S. Secret Service and the Intelligence Agencies of the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force.

On November 12, 1968 [] advised that STOKELY CARMICHAEL had appeared in Morris Daily Auditorium on the San Jose State College campus, San Jose, California, at 1:30 p.m. on November 12, 1968. Approximately 700 persons were in the overflow audience. The auditorium was made up primarily of white students. b2 b7D

The audience was attentive and CARMICHAEL at the end of his speech and question and answer period received a loud ovation. He used no profanity and was extremely polite to the audience. The program lasted from 1:30 to 2:40 p.m.

CARMICHAEL's appearance was sponsored by the Experimental School, a department of San Jose State, the United Program Board of San Jose State and the United Black Students for Action (UBSA) at San Jose State College.
SAN JOSE STATE

At the beginning of his speech CARMICHAEL stated that he wanted to clarify his remarks in that he does believe in violence and killing if necessary in overcoming the oppressor. He also explained that he was addressing most of his remarks to white people since most of the audience was white.

He went on to speak on the theme that the reason that there are a few in America who are living so well is that the many are being exploited.

CARMICHAEL criticized the liberals in that the liberals tried to avoid confrontation between black and white.

At the end of CARMICHAEL's remarks there was a question and answer period. Some of the questions and answers were as follows:

Question: What is your program after the revolution?

Answer: There is no program. The taking over of power is the only program. You don't have to have a program until you gain power then you decide.

Question: "Who will you oppress if you get in power?"

Answer: "Anyone who opposes me."

Question: What did you see in Cuba you liked?

Answer: CARMICHAEL stated that this question was too general to answer unless specific questions were asked but he implied that he was very impressed with what he saw.

With reference to the UBSA, San Jose State College, San Jose, California, [redacted] advised on June 20, 1968 that this organization has also been referred to as the United Black Student Association of San Jose State College. Its membership is primarily Negro. The UBSA was formed during the fall of 1967 in order to protest the alleged discrimination involving minority students at San Jose State. It demanded reforms in college housing practice, in the addition of faculty members of minority races and the addition of courses in the college curriculum oriented to minority culture.

The UBSA is not a campus approved organization. Its membership is not fixed but varies with the cause of the moment.

On October 9, 1968 [redacted] advised that the UBSA is interested in garnering support of the San Jose black community for black students in the San Jose area to combat discrimination against them. This organization is also interested in getting more black students into San Jose State College. There are approximately 300 black students at San Jose State College and efforts are being made to enlist all in the activities of UBSA.

Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) observed that a rally sponsored by the Black United Front (BUF) was held at 3:00 p.m. on October 12, 1968, at the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W., Washington, D. GROUP 1

~~Excluded from automatic downgrading and declassification~~

Among the speakers was STOKELY CARMICHAEL, former national chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) (1966-67) and currently the Prime Minister of the Black Panther Party (BPP).

The New School of Afro-American Thought has been publicly described as the headquarters for a small group of self-supporting artists, and educators who are attempting to spread a message that black people should be proud of being black through classes given in Negro history, African languages, and arts.

A characterization of the BUF, SNCC, and the BPP is attached herewith in the appendix.

By letter dated October 17, 1968, the Honorable FRED M. VINSON, JR., Assistant Attorney General, United States Department of Justice, WDC, in a letter to the Director, FBI, requested an investigation of STOKELY CARMICHAEL's statements at the rally held in WDC on October 12, 1968.

Previous investigation was conducted regarding this matter and set forth in investigative report dated November 1, 1968, at WDC.

The additional investigation hereinafter set forth was conducted pursuant to the original request of Mr. VINSON.

II. BUF RALLY AT NEW SCHOOL OF AFRO-AMERICAN THOUGHT, WDC, 3:00 P.M., OCTOBER 12, 1968

The following confidential sources of the FBI, who have furnished reliable information in the past, were present during the BUF rally held at the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W., WDC, on the afternoon of October 12, 1968:

The above mentioned sources were not able to take notes due to the sensitive nature of the surroundings and because of the necessity to be discreet for their personal safety. They made prompt oral reports to Special Agents of the FBI as to what had taken place at the rally. They could conceivably testify as to what CARMICHAEL said during his speech should it become necessary at a later date to do so. They could also testify as to the composition and demeanor of the crowd at the rally as well as surrounding circumstances.

These sources could not offer any facts bearing on the intent of CARMICHAEL in making his remarks during the rally.

From the oral reports furnished to Special Agents of the FBI subsequent written reports were prepared from the information furnished. Copies of the reports are hereinafter set forth:

"Washington, D.C.

"There was a Black United Front meeting held in front of the New School of Afro-American, 2115 14th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., on the afternoon of 10/12/68. The meeting started about 3:15 p.m. and there were about 250 persons present. Charles Cassell presided [redacted]

D.C. "Julius Hobson spoke and said that he was tired of making bad speeches at rallies and tired of policemen killing black people without anyone saying anything about it. Hobson stated that everybody should know what they should do from now on. He then discussed the elections for the D.C. School Board and said that the Black United Front should get together a truth squad to follow the black candidates for the School Board around. He stated that some candidates are saying one thing on 14th St., N.W., and something else on Connecticut Ave., N.W. Hobson said he did not mind the squad following him around as he said the same thing wherever he went.

D.C.
"Reginald Booker mentioned honky policemen killing black people. Booker only talked briefly and said nothing of note.

D.C.
"Q.T. Jackson stated that although he was a student at Howard University, he was also a black person and whatever they decided to do he could be counted on to assist.

D.C.
"The next speaker was Robert Malson. He said that all black people are in danger of being killed. The only reason that Bennett was killed, was because he just happened to be at 14th and U Streets at a particular time. Malson said that this could have happened to anybody who happened to be walking there at that time.

D.C.
"Chuck Stone advised that Washington is 68% black and the black people should control the District politically. He suggested that the black community demand that Mayor Washington agree to community control of police within 7 days or resign.

D.C.
"Gaston Neal produced a blown-up enlarged picture of Bennett, who was shot by the policeman near 14th and U Streets, N.W., on the evening of 10/8/68. Neal said that he wanted everyone to see this picture which was one showing Bennett on the stretcher waiting for the ambulance.

"Cassell said that the next time a honky policeman kills a black citizen they should put his picture all around the District as being wanted for murder.

"Stokely Carmichael advised that he was tired of making speeches and appearing at rallies; he wants some action. There is no such thing as right or wrong when it comes to killing, it is a matter of who ordered you to do the killing. He said the young men in the audience will be in Vietnam soon killing Vietnamese which they should not be doing. If they kill enough Vietnamese they will get a medal. Carmichael stated that instead they should get a medal for killing a honky cop. He advised that you cannot kill a honky cop outright for then you will have to get arrested; you have to stab him in the back at night with a knife or any other way you can think of. Nobody is to talk about the killing of a honky cop and if this person does talk, he is taken care of also. The community should set up a system of medals by putting tin cans on the street and everyone going by drop something in it; this will be the reward for the one doing the killing.

D.C. "Calvin Rolark also spoke briefly about stopping the killing of Negroes.

"It was announced that there was a can on the speaker's table and they wanted everyone to contribute to the family of the deceased man. He is separated from his wife who is pregnant and they have four other children and are penniless.

"The meeting was over about 4:15 p.m. and the crowd was enthusiastic about Carmichael's speech. The only problem encountered was that the audience overflowed into the street but the police maintained order in directing the traffic. Among those present who was to assist in the contribution collection

We have got to get together to put a stop to the killing of our Black Brothers. In Vietnam, he said, Black men get medals for killing. Perhaps we should begin to give medals to Blacks here in the United States, and I don't have to tell you what I mean.

"Neal made an appeal for funds for the widow of Bennett.

"The rally was opened by Charles Cassell who explained that the rally concerned the killing of a black man at 14th and U Streets, N.W., on 10/8/68.

"Among the speakers was Stokely Carmichael. Carmichael said that they must do something about the honky cops killing black people. He said that murder is bad but then sometimes it is right and who can say when it is right or wrong. He said that black people cannot say as to whether it is right or wrong. It is right to murder black people but it is wrong to kill a honky cop. They send our black brothers to Vietnam to murder the Vietnamese and give them medals for this. Why cannot we give black brother or sister a medal when they kill a honky cop? We must fight these killings. If a brother or sister kills a honky cop we should just say that is good, but do not talk about it; it happened and it is good. What do we use for weapons? If we kill anyone like this above the ground, we will be arrested and so we have to stab them in the back - you know what I mean. What we try to do above ground is all right and we have tried it but what we do underground is something else. I do not have to tell you what this rally is all about. I am tired of talking and we do not need anymore rallies. You know what you have got to do and I do not have to say anymore.

"A plea for contributions was made as it was stated that Bennett's wife is pregnant and like most black people he did not have any money. The rally was over at about 3:45 p.m. and there were no problems except that the traffic was blocked by the audience on 14th Street. Among those at about 1:45 p.m., STOKELY CARMICHAEL was observed on 14th Street between V & W Street in N.W., Washington, D.C., at the New School of African Thought where he was making a speech to a crowd of about 100 to 200 persons. The gist of what CARMICHAEL said at that time was that, 'It's about time we got these 'honky' white policemen, the time for rallies is over. We must stop them from shooting black people, we must kill ourselves some white policemen. We must work for black harmony above ground and go under ground for whatever is necessary.'

the speech in question, including at least one white newspaper reporter.

III. PRESS COVERAGE OF BUF RALLY AT NEW SCHOOL OF AFRO-AMERICAN THOUGHT, WDC, 3:00 P.M., OCTOBER 12, 1968

[REDACTED] 2112 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W., WDC, [REDACTED] Radio Station WOL located at 2000 P Street, N.W., WDC, advised on November 13, 1968, that they had a "footman" on the scene during the BUF rally at which CARMICHAEL spoke on October 12, 1968, at the New School of Afro-American Thought. However, due to the circumstances, he was unable to tape CARMICHAEL's remarks. He pointed out that it is becoming increasingly more difficult to tape CARMICHAEL's remarks as his group usually tries to prevent this from being accomplished. He advised that he had several men on the scene as he recalls but they were unable to hear CARMICHAEL's remarks to any extent.

[REDACTED] WAVA Radio News, Ft. Myer Drive, Arlington, Virginia, advised on November 14, 1968, he had several men present at the BUF rally on October 12, 1968, during which CARMICHAEL spoke. He stated that they did not make a tape of CARMICHAEL's remarks due to the fact he used a "bull horn" alternately in making his remarks to a crowd assembled on the sidewalk and street.

[redacted] it appeared CARMICHAEL used the "bull horn" deliberately when uttering more acceptable aspects of his talk not of a militant nature but when he uttered comments apparently inflammatory, he would put the "bull horn" aside. He advised that neither of his men were able to get close enough to hear anything of a particular inflammatory nature uttered by CARMICHAEL.

[redacted]
[redacted] Radio Station WOOK, 5321 First Place, N.E., WDC, advised on November 14, 1968, that he did not have any coverage at the above rally. Accordingly, no tape of CARMICHAEL's speech was available.

[redacted] WUST Radio Station, 9th and U Streets, N.W., WDC, advised on November 14, 1968, that his station did not cover the rally at which CARMICHAEL spoke on October 12, 1968, and accordingly, did not have a tape.

IV. INTERVIEWS WITH PERSONS ARRESTED DURING DISTURBANCES OCCURRING IN WDC,
OCTOBER 13-14-15, 1968

[redacted]
Metropolitan Police Department, WDC, advised on November 14, 1968, that a number of juveniles and adults were arrested during the disturbances that occurred in WDC on October 13, 14 and 15, 1968. He stated that in processing and interviewing these offenders after their arrests, no information was developed that there was a significant link between their activities and comments by STOKELY CARMICHAEL on October 12, 1968, at the New School of Afro-American Thought. He stated none of those arrested were known to have had any pertinent association with CARMICHAEL in the past.

BLACK UNITED FRONT (BUF)

A source advised that on January 9, 1968 a meeting was held at Washington, D. C., by Stokely Carmichael. At this meeting, the Black United Front, an organization consisting of representatives of Black organizations and individuals was formed in the District of Columbia in order to effect operational unity among and for Black people.

During June, 1968, a second source advised that the Black United Front in an official statement of purpose stated it was established for the purpose of expanding the lines of communication between, and effecting togetherness among all the Black people in the District of Columbia in order that they might obtain a rightful and proportionate share in the decision making councils of the District, and rightful and proportionate control of the economic institutions in the Black community.

The standards for qualification as a member were listed as:

1. Any Black individual who has concern and interest in the Black community.
2. Any organization whose primary involvement is for the benefit of Black people, provided it has at least a 50% Black constituency and its representative in the BUF is black.

"The Washington Post and Times Herald," a daily newspaper printed at Washington, D. C., in an article on page A-1, dated July 6, 1968, captioned "Slaying of Police Defended," stated:

"The Black United Front issued a statement yesterday describing the slaying of a District Policeman Tuesday night as a "justifiable homicide.

"The statement said in Part:

'The methods of self defense used by the family charged with the alleged slaying of the honky cop is justifiable homicide in the same sense that police are allowed to kill black people and call it justifiable homicide.'

"Several hours later, Mayor Walter E. Washington asserted that the BUF resolution with respect to the slaying of Officer (Stephen A.) Williams.....is inflammatory, irresponsible and unfortunate."

The Washington Daily News, another daily newspaper printed in Washington, D.C., in an article on Page 5, dated July 17, 1968, captioned "BUF Takes New Tact" stated in part that the BUF plans to find ways and means to take control of the police force in the District of Columbia.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Literature distributed by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquarters at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, describes itself as not being a membership organization, but rather an agency attempting to stimulate and foster the growth of local protest movements. SNCC was born out of the sit-in movement which erupted across the South beginning on February 1, 1960. A conference at Raleigh, North Carolina, that Spring, brought together many of the demonstrating Southern students in a loose network of militant youth which was officially named SNCC in October, 1960.

A source has advised that in May, 1966, Stokely Carmichael was elected National Chairman by the Central Committee. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced as Chairman by H. Rap Brown, with Carmichael assuming the position of Recruiter and Organizer for the SNCC. In August, 1967, at the invitation of Fidel Castro, Carmichael participated in the Organization of Latin American Solidarity Conference which was held in Havana, Cuba. Subsequent thereto, Carmichael traveled to Hanoi and other sections of North Vietnam. He returned to the United States in December, 1967, at which time his passport was picked up because of travel to unauthorized countries.

A source advised that when Carmichael was elected Chairman of SNCC, the organization embarked on a program of eliminating Caucasians from its ranks. With the election of H. Rap Brown as Chairman in 1967, it embarked on a worldwide struggle for human rights and to take a firm stand against violations of these rights by the American Government and to strengthen its programs of opposition to the draft and to the United States involvement in Vietnam.

Literature distributed in February, 1968, identifies SNCC as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

On August 13, 1967, while addressing a group in the Watts area of Los Angeles, California, H. Rap Brown said "You better shape up America, or we'll burn you down." Later in February, 1968, in a publicized note Brown wrote, "America, if it takes my death to organize my people to revolt against you and to organize your jails to revolt against you and to organize your children, your God, your poor, your country, and to organize mankind, to rejoice in your destruction and ruin, then here's my life."

BLACK PANTHER PARTY, aka Black Panther Party for Self Defense

A source advised that the Black Panther Party for Self Defense (BPPSD) was formed by HUEY PERCY NEWTON, Minister of Defense, and BOBBY GEORGE SEALE, Chairman, in December, 1966, as a militant black nationalist political organization to combat police brutality, to unite militant black youth, and to determine the destiny of black communities. The political philosophy was taken from writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of Communist China and black militant writers.

In March, 1968, the name of the organization was changed to Black Panther Party (BPP).

The official BPP publication, "The Black Panther Party - Black Community News Service", states that the BPP advocates use of guns and guerrilla tactics in their violent revolutionary program to end oppression of black people.

On February 17, 1968, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, Minister of Information, announced merger of the BPP and Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and bestowed title of Minister of Justice, BPP, upon H. RAP BROWN, Chairman of SNCC.

SNCC is a militant Negro organization which preaches black supremacy.

This relationship between the BPP and SNCC was later terminated according to a public announcement.

NEWTON, aforementioned, was incarcerated in the Alameda County Jail, Oakland, California, later standing trial on a charge of murder of an Oakland police officer. He was subsequently convicted of voluntary manslaughter and is currently serving a jail sentence.

Headquarters of BPP and Huey P. Newton Defense Fund are located at 4421 Grove Street, Oakland, California.

Stokely Tells Students: Don't Talk, Start Acting

Black power activist Stokely Carmichael told some 1900 Howard University students last night to "quit talking and start acting."

Mr. Carmichael's two-hour speech — his customary "revolution message" — highlighted the opening session of a four-day conference at Howard on "Towards a Black University."

Dr. Nathan Hare, a former Howard teacher now on the faculty at San Francisco State College, declined an invitation to attend the session. He had not accepted, he said in a letter, because "unless every Howard student comes armed with a shotgun and a Molotov cocktail they are defenseless against an oppressive 'Amos 'n Andy' administration."

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

A confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past advised on November 14, 1968, that Stokely Carmichael was the keynote speaker at the Black University Conference (BUC) at 8:00 p.m. November 13, 1968, held at Cramton Auditorium, Howard University, Washington, D. C.

Source made a tape recording of Carmichael's speech and a transcription of that speech is hereinafter set forth:

The beginning of this tape is an UNID MAN introducing STOKELY CARMICHAEL..... (much applause)

CARMICHAEL:

Good evening. We want to take a lot of time tonight and go very slowly for a number of very important reasons. Number one, because the issues concerning the struggles of black people in this country and around the world are being confused, both intentionally and unintentionally. And that confusion comes from a number of things. In order for us to clear it up we have to begin today to take time to do things a little bit differently than we did then, let's say, even last year.

You are unfortunate. In the sense that as college students you are going to have a harder time than even I did. Because while for me there might have been time for some partying, for you there will be no time for any partying. That you are going to be so busy with the liberation of your people that you will have no time to party. I think that's good. That's good.

Now then, let us begin by saying that black people are a colonized people. And we are going to go through tonight a number of things. We want to first begin to talk about some concepts around which we can try and build a basic ideology. Then we want to move on with some definitions around the terms (arms) (armed) struggle, revolution and militancy, and black struggle, so we can begin in our own minds to be coming from the same point of reference. And then we want to talk about the international scene, because it is going to be very relevant to our situation, and, finally, we want to end by talking about the Black University itself.

Now if we say we're a colonized people, then one of the things about a colonized people is that they hate themselves. Now I mean the primary effect of colonization is the hatred of the victim for himself, and certainly for anyone else who resembles him, therefore his own people. I think that PHANON (very phonetic), certainly, who has become the Bible for most of us, has explained that. So that there is no need for us to waste time going over it. For those of you who have not, I would suggest that you take time out to read Brother

CARMICHAEL: ~~PHANON~~ (very phonetic). Now when a colonized people move for their liberation, they move on basically (2) two levels.

One I refer to as entertainment, for lack of a better word, but I think it describes, quite accurately, our movement in the United States. And the second is education. The entertainment level is when the victim himself begins to publicly make fun of the oppressor. Now, that is necessary because prior to that stage the victim is afraid to publicly say what he really feels about the oppressor. For example, a couple of years ago if a white policeman had shot down a brother, people would go behind doors and whisper about it. (CARMICHAEL whispers, "You know so and so got shot down here and ain't that terrible.") And today, we can publicly joke about it. I mean, you can get to the point where you can call the policemen HONKIES and PIGS.

Now that's a necessity because it's beginning to relieve a certain amount of psychological inferiority that's to be found in the victim. And it begins to make him at least feel psychologically equal to his oppressor.

Now the stage of entertainment is necessary, but as my friend COURTLAND COX reminds me, it is insufficient. And so we have to move on to another level. Perhaps the level we move on to is a level which I would like to refer to as a level of education. On this level we begin to now move in what we perceive to be the correct path, in a way to find our liberation. Now I don't want you to say that I knock entertainment. I think it certainly was a necessity. But I think too that entertainment is going to leave us laughing and calling the man names while he marches us off into gas chambers and concentration camps. So then let us today begin to try to move off of the level of entertainment and into the level of education.

Now I know for many of you that is going to be very hard, because that means we no longer yell about how bad we are and how beautiful we are. MAN, that's very good because we can all clap and feel good, but we begin now very seriously to sit down and analyze our situation, analyze our problems, define our situation, and pose solutions to those problems. And that is not easy. It

11/13/68

Page 3

CARMICHAEL: is very difficult because it calls for a certain amount of time being given which we are not apt to spend. It's much better to go and listen to someone yell and you feel good and then go home.
(Cont.)

It's a feel-good session. It's like church, you know, go to church on Sunday to feel good about the bad things you did last week, but to feel good enough so you can do them again next week. But we would hope that we would not consider conferences or political meetings where Black People get together, saying they are planning the destinies of their lives, to become a feel-good church meeting. We want to begin then with (3) three concepts.

If we say, one, that the primary effect of a colonized people is that they hate themselves, then we must begin to undo that hate. So we advocate a concept which we have been advocating for the past year, but we think it's a necessity and we think we have to keep pushing it. We say concept number one. Black People, we must have an undying love for our people. Number one, we must have an undying love for our people and we must begin to understand precisely what that means.

It does not just mean (tape blank at this point. Tape resumes with CARMICHAEL saying).... but that is not very important, especially for a lot of new people who run around wearing AFROs. Or even the super militants or so-called revolutionaries who do have guns. They arm themselves. They ah (tape goes blank. Tape resumes, and CARMICHAEL says)..... and ten 45's and a couple of carbines and they say "We ready, we ready." And we say, "All right, Brother," and they say, "We ready, but before we go we got to get that nigger across the street cause he's in the way, he UNCLE TOM. Yeah." (Tape goes blank. Tape resumes with CARMICHAEL saying).... killed five HUNKIES because they had created the UNCLE TOM. (Applause)

For he is incapable of understanding that. I think many of us are incapable of understanding that and I want to take a long time tonight and go very slowly so that we can try and discuss as many of these concepts because we are not going to be allowed to have many more rallies like this any longer. The time is soon coming when they will cut them off. When they will cut them

CARMICHAEL: off. And so what little time we have we must use to (Cont.) the fullest extent.

Now you have to understand the process of hatred. For example, if you speak before a large black audience, not of Negroes, but of black people who are super militants, if you say we're black, we're beautiful, they'll clap. (Then he taps the microphone, tap, tap.)

If you say we can do anything we want to do, they'll clap. But if you turn around and say, but there are some of them we can't trust, they jump up and yell and say yeeeeeeeeesssssss Lord. That's a fact and once again not even recognizing that we applaud loudest for the negative things about ourselves than we do for the positive things about ourselves, only because we don't understand the process of hatred as it affects our very lives. If you want an applause, just talk about UNCLE TOM, the roof will come down.

Just talk about how you can't trust your people, the roof will come down. But if you talk about having faith and trust and willing to work with your people, you are considered crazy among your own people. We must have an undying love for our people. (Applause) We must have an undying love for our people. (Applause) An undying love for our people means that we are willing to not only die for them, but, more importantly, to live, to fight and to kill for them. (Applause)

And I think you ought to understand that concept. It is to die for one's people. It is much more difficult to live, to fight, and to kill for them, especially if the forces are against that type of activity. Especially if it is against that type of activity. And it is not because they are afraid of killing. Because you can take all of the brothers who come back from Vietnam who are expert killers, and they are afraid to kill a Hunkie Cop if they see him molesting a white woman. Not out in the daytime, but even to snipe him at night. They are totally paralyzed from doing anything about it, because they do not have an undying love for their people. Undying love, undying love. It's very hard, but I think if we talk about revolution, we must understand the basic concepts around which we move, and the first concept we must build is the concept of undying love.

CARMICHAEL:
(Cont.)

Many black people are willing to fight white folks because they hate white folks. Very few are willing to fight because they love their people. It's very deep and profound and we have to understand it. I think this all the time -- I want to kill them cops, they push me around, they do this, they do that, I want to kill them. Don't you love your people, brother? I don't got to worry about that, I just want to kill cops. If you talk about a real revolution, then you have to differentiate from just fighting. What would be the difference of a black man killing in Vietnam and killing a cop, if he just did as he was told? If he didn't have something more to (tape blank)..... love for our people.

Secondly, the second concept follows very closely upon the first and it is, I think, more important for college students than perhaps anybody else in our community. The second concept says that every Negro is a potential black man. (Applause) I was a Negro, many of you were when MALCOLM X was preaching. Every Negro is a potential black man and the reasons you say that, it seems to me, are just infinite, but let us just outline a few.

Number one (tape blank at this point. CARMICHAEL resumes, saying)..... because when they captured us in Africa, they didn't capture Negroes. They captured African or black people -- that was the terminology, but once we set foot in the United States, we became Negroes. So what you have is the term Negro is synonymous with slavery. The term Negro becomes synonymous with slavery, so if one says that one is a Negro, one traces one's beginning back to slavery, not beyond the point because there are no Negroes in Africa. And that is, I think, the problem that black people who call themselves American are going to find themselves in, cause if they say that they are Americans and black Americans, or Americans first and black people second, they trace their beginning back to slavery. And if your beginning is in slavery, if the seed is a slave, the best you can have is a good slave. If you began in slavery, you can never hope to become more than a good slave; that's the best you can hope for.

But if you understood the concept and said that you were either African or black man, you could then trace your beginnings beyond the point of slavery to a place

STOKELY CARMICHAEL
11/13/68

Page 6

CARMICHAEL: where you were free and then you can aspire to be what (Cont.) your ancestors were. The greatest war is on the face of the earth, you could that. (Applause) But because people talk about Negroes, they only aspire to be Negroes.

And you could see it all the time on these soul stations, where they have Negro spot announcements, you know. "BECKMAN and BANNICKER (phonetic), a good Negro, who served and helped to build Washington, D. C., designed the country and did all of this even though he was a slave." Isn't that nice -- he was doing all this, even though he was a slave. If I was a slave, I would be trying to tear this "mammy jammer" down, rip it off, rip it off, rip it off. (Applause)

But a Negro is somebody who helps to contribute to the society in which he finds himself oppressed. A black man would be someone who would be trying to tear that thing down, rip it apart and don't even think about putting it back together, until he's ready to do it. It's a big difference.

Now then, why do we say that every Negro is a potential black man, because it is a fact that there is those people who are in the black community who are ready for guns, who are ready to shoot, who are ready to fight, are in a minority position. That is to move aggressively against violence, and we will come to a section on violence, where we will talk about self-defense and aggressive violence. But we find that those people are in the minority, even those of us who are really willing to just do any type of thing for our people, are still in the minority.

We have to recruit, and we must recruit from our people, and we must recruit from our people. We are black or we have become black because we have lived in certain given environments. And it takes different things for each of us to reach that point. But all people living in this country, who have our color, live in the same conditions; therefore, they too can come to the point where we are. Not only that, we cannot afford to alienate our own people. And if we do not think that every Negro is a potential black man, we alienate our people. Too many times I see our young sisters, who are wearing wigs a week ago and just got new Afros. And you talk to them, or sisters with a wig or pressed hair comes up to talk to her. I want to talk to a Negro. You can't get ahead. (Conversation stops - tape blank)..... That's what my eminent friend, CORTLAND COX, refers to as the neuvo-black. He went to Howard.

Page 7

CARMICHAEL:
(Cont.)

(Tape blank)..... People are so proud of their blackness that they step on other people, rather than help their own people again. (Tape blank)..... has been inculturated, impressed and has become part of us. Every Negro is a potential black man. We must, therefore, take time out to work with our people who are Negroes and help to make them black. But that responsibility is ours and only our responsibility, and we must meet it head on; we cannot run.

(Tape blank)..... revolutionary that I am, she had suffered much more than I have and she has seen my suffering. Therefore, she is much more potentially ready for revolution than even I am. Every Negro is a potential black man. We must work. (Tape blank) (Applause)

Third concept we want to talk about, which is perhaps more difficult than the preceeding two, but is as important as the other two. Number three, for black people, the question of community is not just simply a question of land, but it is a question of our people and where we are, for us, black people. The question of community is not just simply a question of land; it is a question of our color, our people and where we are. Let me give you some examples.

If you went to New York City, you would not really feel at home until you got to Harlem. If you went to Los Angeles, you would not really feel at home until you got to Watts. If you went to Chicago, the south side. Washington, D. C., the whole city. (Applause)

(Tape blank)..... If we are talking about waging a real revolution and will again get to the definition of those terms a little bit later on. If we're talking about real revolution, we ought to understand that the concept of land for Africans living inside the United States is a very difficult and not concrete concept with which we can

CARMICHAEL: deal with at this time. We're capable of dealing with that. Therefore, if we are going to talk seriously about waging a real revolutionary struggle, we must begin to do what Brother MALCOLM X was trying to do in routing our ideology (tape blank)..... only one instance (tape blank)..... if you move, you will lose and many of our people become weighted down with this feeling of minority. (Tape blank)..... that's our fight, that's our hope. Then we automatically internationalize our fight which must be done if we are to be successful.

Not only does it internationalize our fight, but what it also does is that it does put the white man in the minority position, because we are the majority, we are the majority. (Applause) But not only that, it would automatically begin to bring us together without us even realizing it. For example, (Tape blank)..... black me and you. And could be our blood brothers and sisters, we don't know. In Cuba, 60% of the people - black. In Panama, Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, Guatemala, all of the one-third of the population in each of those countries and sometimes going as high as 65 (tape blank)..... different names and, therefore, each of us fight each other under different titles, not recognizing that we're fighting the same people.

(Tape blank) It doesn't even occur to us that we must be the same people, cause the black man comes from Africa. And the white man will have black people fighting Cubans, black Cubans. He will have, as he did have, black people living in the United States invading the Dominican Republic, invading Santo Domingo and even if Puerto Rico begins to move (tape blank)..... black man against the black man, African against African (tape blank)..... Cuban one of the black American fighting a Brazilian and we do not even begin to recognize we are the same people. Therefore, this concept becomes vital because it means that our ideology must be Pan-Africanist in nature, not only for the continent, but for Africans or the continent. That means that we have to again, as my good friend CORTLAND COX reminds me, become a people deeply rooted with an African ideology. And it's a necessity, it's a necessity if we are going to survive and win the struggle.

It is also a necessity because we do not recognize that the United States not only oppresses the black man in America, but he oppresses the black man wherever he is found today, wherever he is found today. (Applause) Secondly, it becomes important because we do not allow our oppressor the boundaries on which we fight. We decide the boundaries and we will not confine ourselves to the continental boundaries imposed upon us by the white man, by the white man. It is he who imposes the boundaries; it is he who created Nigeria, he who created Ghana, he who created Algeria. The white man divided up Africa, as he saw fit, and divided up black people as he saw fit. And if we stick by those definitions, we fall into the hands of our oppressor. Wherever black people are, wherever they are oppressed, if one of our people are oppressed, all 900 million of us are oppressed.

CARMICHAEL:

For us, it is a question of color along with land. (Applause) And we have to work at that concept because if we do our role in the Nigerian conflict would become far more important than it is today. If we understood that we would be reading and understand everything in the Nigerian conflict and not be used by Zionist and other people who are worried about black man fighting black man, for their own interest, for their own interest. (Applause)

But it is because we do not take time out to understand these things that we get wasted. It is not sufficient any longer to entertain, to talk about the white man, like a dog, and just to laugh. It is time for clear analysis; let us move on. We say we have to fight. I think we do, on every level.

What is our fight? We have a two-fold fight in the United States. We must fight against racism and against capitalism. And also against imperialism. Imperialism being the highest stage of capitalism. We are fighting against racism and we are fighting against capitalism. One cannot have a capitalist society in which black people live free, that is nonsensical. It is nonsensical for black people to talk about black capitalism. It's tantamount to them talking about oppressing themselves, themselves. (Applause) We have to fight against racism and capitalism, that is our fight. And our ideology then must begin to become an ideology which deals with racism and with capitalism.

CARMICHAEL:
(Cont.)

Now let me explain something. I do not say that the mere elimination of capitalism, which is an economic system, also eliminates racism. That is to say I do not think that if one got rid of capitalism and imposed socialism or communism, that one automatically gets rid of racism. That I think has been proven by the people who came before, to be an incorrect analysis. Our ideology must be aimed against both capitalism and racism. And that becomes even more important (STOKELY asks the audience if it is getting too hard for you. Audience replies no. STOKELY says) Cause you ain't even seen nothing yet. We haven't scratched the surface.

I'm not going to yell about whitey you can have that. I see him on television all the time. The man pays the black people to entertain him on TV, pays them. (Applause) Turn on the TV all the time. He's got a new one with an African. "You a pig, you no good, ain't you a pig. Yeah, whitey, you ain't no good. Yeah, white man says that's right. I ain't no good, what's ya gonna do about it, nigger." (Applause)

And it is this type of talk which is far more important, the one we must begin to deal with. Because we are at least awake today and we must move on. We cannot continue to entertain ourselves, we cannot continue to do that, we must. Because I am getting totally dis-oriented to seeing black people get upon television and talk about black capitalism is the solution to our problem. Just as disgusted as when I see a white left radical, hippie, whatever, say that ah, socialism is the answer to our problem. And black people not even taking time out to analyze or understand what they are talking about.

And I come down most heavily upon you because you are students, you have the (blank) to think, which is not afforded many of us, and you (blank) don't take the time out to think about this. Even today you are partying, today you are partying with naturals. (Applause) I guess it is an improvement, I guess, I'm not sure. We build an ideology which must deal with racism and capitalism and capitalism and we build an ideology which talks about all of our people wherever they are found today, all of them.

Now I want to define some terms which I think are being thrown around very loosely by white people because they want to maliciously confuse us and by black people because sometime they don't take time out to listen to themselves, and because they sound good they get carried away. Many black people get up and talk about the black revolution; we are in the black revolution. We are not now nor have we ever been, in this country, in the midst of any revolution. (Applause) We are not now nor have we ever been, in this country, in the midst of any revolution, primarily because people do not know what revolution is. A revolution is the complete destruction of the old system, the implementing of the new system for meeting the needs and the desires of the masses of one's people.

CARMICHAEL:

We don't have power. How are we going to talk about revolution? A revolution does not begin until you have seized power. A revolution does not begin until you have seized power, because only after having seized power can you destroy the old system and recreate the new for yourself. We are not in a revolution, we are not in a revolution. (Applause) Must understand that, very, very important.

Let us give you some examples. FIDEL CASTRO, he fought in the Sierra Maestra for several years, he and the Cubans on the mountains. Shooting, killing, fighting BATISTA and the American Lackeys; while they were doing that they were not involved in the Cuban revolution. The Cuban revolution did not begin until FIDEL CASTRO walked into Habana, drove BATISTA and the American Lackeys out, and said this date, today, I claim this island, Cuba, for the masses of Cubans. This (blank) the revolution began because then FIDEL CASTRO had the power to redistribute the land. Before that he did not have the power.

What, then, is the period that precedes a revolution? The period that precedes a revolution must be known as armed struggle because we must understand revolution is violence. The terms are synonymous, or, well, they are not synonymous. You can have violence without revolution; you cannot have revolution without violence. I think Brother MALCOLM X said that. You can have reform without violence, and I think a lot of black people in this country who talk revolution really mean reform. They do not understand because reform means you do not have to change the basic structure of the society in which you live. Revolution means you have to change

CARMICHAEL: the system and black people talk about changing the system and then jump from that to becoming militant without even going to a revolutionary ideology. O.K., the stage that precedes revolution is known as armed struggle. Armed struggle is when the forces who are fighting for the revolution are fighting gun in hand against the oppressor.

Black people in this country have just begun to scratch the surface of armed struggle. Black people in this country have just begun to scratch the surface of armed struggle. Within the last two weeks we had the dynamiting of two police stations on either ends of the country, one in San Francisco and one in Harlem; that is just the beginning. (Applause) That's just the beginning of an armed struggle.

That's just the beginning of an armed struggle. But unless that armed struggle has a correct coercive force, it will just become violence without any direction. Unless that armed struggle has a coercive force which must become our correct perspective, ideology or what will you, that violence will just become violence. We must begin to understand very carefully where we go.

Now I do not think that today in 1968 we need to discuss violence. It just is. And I do not even think that black people ought to even defend or become defensive about it. We say very clearly we are for revolutionary violence. We are for revolutionary violence, that is, violence which we hope will lead to a revolution. There's violence, there's basically two types of violence. There is counterrevolutionary violence and there is revolutionary violence. Counterrevolutionary violence is that violence which is used to keep a people oppressed. Revolutionary violence is that violence which seeks to liberate a people.

Now counterrevolutionary violence may take different forms. Revolutionary violence unfortunately can usually take only one, that of bloodshed, gun battle. Counterrevolutionary violence takes so many forms that sometimes it becomes subtle and the oppressed accepts it as a way of life. It is violence, it is more violent to let a man live until sixty-six and never be able to pick his head up as a man, than to kill him at twenty-six with a gun in his hand.

CARMICHAEL:
(Cont.)

You get confused with violence. It is violence (inaudible)..... one of the richest countries in the world to have one black person go to bed hungry. That is violence, that is violence, that is violence. (Applause) That is even more violent than killing the person physically; that is even more violent than killing the person physically because what happens with that type of violence is that you kill the human being, dehumanize on a level where he serves you without recognizing his humanity. CHARLEY COX (phonetic) taught me that.

And what this country does is that it has completely dehumanized black people. We are on the level where we act like robots, do as we are told and do not even feel, because we have been dehumanized, and it is much better to kill somebody than to dehumanize them. So then revolutionary violence would be that violence which seeks to get rid of all of that. So I don't think anybody needs to get caught up with violence.

In order to be revolutionary, one must pick up the gun; in order to be revolutionary one must pick up the gun and be willing to kill for one's people, but merely picking up the gun does not make one revolutionary. In order to be revolutionary, one must pick up the gun and be willing to kill for one's people. But merely picking up the gun does not make one revolutionary. Lots of black people who have guns, they kill other black people. There's nothing revolutionary about that. It's counter-revolutionary violence, as a matter of fact. That's the group we talked about earlier, you know. They become super militants, bad Afros, dachikis (phonetic) and ten guns. They are ready to kill other niggers. There ain't nothing revolutionary about killing niggers. Niggers been killing niggers; nigger, there ain't nothing revolutionary about that. (Laughter)

So merely by picking up the gun doesn't make one revolutionary. Picking up the gun, willing to fight to create a system which speaks to the masses and desires of the needs of a people, that is when you have revolution, that is when you have revolution. We must understand that, got to understand that, because if we begin to understand that, we will not waste our time with a lot of the nonsenses.

Now, how do you create or move up to revolution, because you just can't have it overnight. You must heighten the contradictions and prepare for the confrontation. In order to have a revolution, one heightens the contradictions and prepares for the confrontation. Unfortunately, many black people who are entertaining today are heightening the confrontation without even preparing and, less, not even recognizing that they should heighten the contradictions. Because when you heighten the contradictions, you politically (inaudible) the masses of our people, therefore (inaudible) the necessity to prepare it for the confrontation. You cannot heighten confrontation without heightening contradictions. You lose, you lose terribly, you get wasted. We must heighten the contradictions while we work for the confrontation.

CARMICHAEL:

Must be understood, especially for college students because they like to heighten the confrontation, you know. Let's take the building, man, let's take it. That's the confrontation. They take the building. O.K. What do you want? Huh. (laughter) If they work on heightening the contradictions, when the confrontation comes everybody will know why the building was taken because the act of heightening the contradictions, that is the educational act for our people.

Notice I used the word educational. Heightening the contradictions is the educational act for our people. Very important, very important for college people because if we define heightening the contradictions as education, then we know what education is. That is, if we are preparing for a revolution, if we are preparing for a revolution. Now, unfortunately for black people, we do not have the luxury to decide whether or not we want revolution. It is a necessity for black people, not only in the United States, but all around the world. For black people we do not have the luxury of deciding whether or not we want revolution. For our survival it is a necessity. We're different from white students. They have the luxury of deciding whether or not they want revolution. We do not; for our survival it is a necessity.

Now, since I mentioned white students, I want to go off on a tangent to explain some of the differences between the poor whites in the country and blacks, and even to some degree white students and black students. Because I think the talk of coalition with poor whites and black people fighting for the same thing, and our cause is the same fight, is becoming so misleading that we are going to get carried away. Poor white people and black people are oppressed in this country. Poor white people and black people are oppressed in this country, but the oppression is different, but the oppression is different. Poor white people are exploited, black people are colonized. Poor white people are exploited, black people are colonized.

CARMICHAEL:

For an example, a poor white person who is exploited is someone who is oppressed and his labor is being used. They are taking all his money from him. They keep him poor. He got to work in the factories for forty dollars a week. That's where his oppression stops. But for black people not only do they rape us economically, that is, make us work for nothing, they have completely stripped us of our culture, our history, our self dignity, our language, our everything. They have dehumanized us. That is the difference between exploitation and colonization.

For white folks are just fighting for more money; black people, we are fighting for our humanity. There is a big difference, there is a big difference. (Applause) A poor white boy has the same culture, same history, same sense of feeling as do LYNDON BAINE JOHNSON. A black man does not, different culture, different history, different everything. Because we are completely dehumanized, the poor white boy is not. Therefore, it is nonsensical to talk about forming coalitions with these people because they are oppressed or not. We ought to understand the degree of oppression and what the fight is about.

Poor white people will be satisfied once they get more money. Black people will not. That's why you have the little small number of bourgeoisie that we have in this country joining the fight because even though they are to some degree economically secure, they are socially insecure. Because they are dehumanized and money does not buy humanity, liberation does. (Applause) BILL HALL taught me that. BILL HALL taught me that. So we must begin to clearly understand and analyze our situation and we see the difference between our people and poor whites in this country.

Colonization comes into play when the question of race comes into play. Because in race it is one race entirely subrogating the next race. Not only do they subrogate the race, but they force the race to identify with them. The master race forces the oppressed race to identity with the master, feeling he somehow can, in fact, become the master, not only mentally but physically. That's been our mistake, and that's why the straightening of the hair and all of those things we have been doing for so long, because we begin to believe that we are just like the master. Not only that, but the master defines everything for the colonized. And by defining that, he strips the colonized of anything that he has of his own. And that is why the colonized then develops the self hatred that he does, which we talked about earlier, because he is stripped completely of anything that he has produced. The master claims it all. The master claims beauty, he claims everything, everything.

CARMICHAEL:

O.K. Now I want to go back, before I move on, and talk about the difference between a black militant and a black revolutionary, and I wanted you to get all of that under your belt. There's a big difference. A black militant is an angry black man, not an angry Negro. An angry black man who is mad at white folks for keeping him out, he wants in, for himself, that's a black militant. A black militant is an angry black man who is angry at white folks because they have kept him out of the system. He wants to become part of the system. A black revolutionary is an angry black man who wants to destroy the system because it oppresses his people. He wants to destroy, burn it down, turn it up, rip it up and don't even think about starting till he's ready -- big difference.

There are a lot of black militants in this country. There are few black revolutionaries, very few. You see black militants all the time. You know they would be on the streets. Yeah, go see the mayor. Mayor, our people in the ghetto, they talk and they talk, get ready, baby. I'm telling you, baby, they might burn it down unless you come across with a poverty program, and they will be out on the streets. Yeah, brother, looks like we're going to have to do it, you know. Bad Afro, bad dachikia (phonetic). The next time you see them, they are on the mayor's committee. Things ain't so bad, brother. The mayor's all right. I have been working with him, you know. (Laughter) You know that. You know that. (Applause) Not too loudly. It's a negative characteristic. Not too loudly. It's a negative characteristic.

A black revolutionary is not satisfied until the entire system is destroyed, and a new system is

CARMICHAEL: replaced, where he can see his people live like human (Cont.) beings. And that becomes important because most of the people who are talking today of black militants, they talk about reform, not revolution, and they seem to tell us that black people can somehow live within the given society of America as it now is. That is totally ridiculous. And I don't even think we need to discuss it.
COURTLAND (phonetic) COX (phonetic) told me to be that pompous.

We want to go on and talk about the fights that are occurring around the country against the Police Department because I think they are going to increase.
And as they increase, they are going to heighten the contradictions, and we must begin to know how to move.

Or maybe you know, across the country, even though they don't print it, a lot of policemen are getting sniped. A lot of them are getting killed. I know they don't print it, and a lot of places are being dynamited and a lot of places being burned down. I know they don't print it, but it's happening. Honest (applause), you, my people, I wouldn't lie to you.

Just got back from California. Sniping people, burning down buildings, dynamiting police stations.
Police got on television and asked for protection.
(Laughter and applause) (Next sentence blurred at beginning and ended by saying)..... that's fire protection, (followed by applause).

New York City, they are getting mad. They don't know what to do, they getting dynamited in the East Harlem community. Police are getting afraid to travel. They are quitting all over the country. They don't know how to recruit them. They do not want to tell us about this, because it becomes an educational device for us. Remember when the first rebellion started in Watts? They put Watts on TV, and the commentators said, "Look at those savages.
Look at them. Look how terrible they are. Look at how ungrateful they are after all we've done for them." And all of us were sitting there saying, "Good, burn, I can't wait, burn, burn, burn," you know. And they found out they made a mistake. They not going to do it today.

Another one said, "There's RAP BROWN (next few words unintelligible).... you don't want to listen to him.

CARMICHAEL: He's an extremist." The niggers were listening to RAP BROWN (laughter and applause), so they ain't going to make that mistake no more. They not going to come on and say they killing policemen, isn't that terrible, cause they know what we going say. (Laughter)

So what the policemen are beginning to do now is that they're moving consciously to pick out from the community and to (sound distorted on about six words)..... revolutionaries, extremists or people who they think are possible of putting up masses of our people. If they are allowed to do that, our struggle will be set back. In order to stop that, we must begin to understand this process of undying love.

I always see people say, "Heh, man, what's RAP BROWN doing? Haven't seen him in a long time. He got scared, didn't he?" Nigger, where were you when RAP BROWN was fighting? Where are you now when RAP BROWN is facing five (5) years in jail? Do you even want to write a letter and send a dollar and say, "Heh, RAP, maybe this can help with the bail money." Where is he? He's so bad. He's serving five (5) years for all of us. Nigger, he getting ready to do it. Don't down the man. Praise him. It might do something for your soul. (Applause)

"Yeah, there CARMICHAEL cat. I hear he got a $70,000.00 house. Yeah, that's right." You believe him. If I had $70,000.00, I'd buy me $70,000.00 worth a guns. Guns. (Applause) I already got that house. DREW PEARSON writes it. White man. And black people say, "We don't believe anything the white man says." But they always want to believe the negative characteristics of their people because (next word blurred)....., because of self hatred.

The white man is saying that RAP BROWN is organizing guerilla activity. You won't believe it, but RAP BROWN is scared, sitting down. That's right, that's right. I know he's scared. We always want to believe the negative characteristics of our people, because of self hatred and (next word blurred)...., your (next few sentences blurred)..... and deny the negative nonsense that is going to stop us from developing a real struggle. That is your primary task. Develop the positive attributes of our people so that he can no longer work on the negative characteristics to keep us separated.

CARMICHAEL:
(Cont.)

If RAP BROWN never lifts another finger, he has done an awful lot for all of us. (Applause). And, secondly, you do not fight, because RAP BROWN tell you to fight, you fight, because you are oppressed. I ain't going to fight no more. RAP BROWN, he ain't fightin'.

If RAP BROWN becomes an Uncle TOM tomorrow, I got to fight, because I'm oppressed. When you say that, you look for an excuse not to fight which you have always been looking for. We must understand that we have to move, to raise and talk about the positive characteristics of our people so that they will not be able to play on the negative characteristics.

(Softly, CARMICHAEL asks how much time have I got? Some response softly from audience and CARMICHAEL says) No, no. FIDEL talks for five (5) hours. He's got something to say. After hours, man, I around for twenty-five (25) hours if I still around.

We want to move now and talk a little more specifically of the Police Department and the tactics. And I want to use an example which all of us were involved in. You know when a HARRY EDWARDS began the Olympic boycotts, now I'll be true, I was a nigger about it. I would be true. They ain't going to do it. Niggers ain't going to do it, I'll be honest about it. I was a nigger about it, but you know they ain't going to do it. You know they ain't going to do it. And Brother TOMMY SMITH and Brother JOHN CARLOS did what they did. I really flipped, because I recognized what a nigger I was, because I didn't have that much amount of faith in my brothers.

Cause all of us have that self hatred. All of us, you know, we just gotta constantly work at it, cause getting an undying love for one's people is a twenty-eight (28) hour a day job. It really is. It's like being black. To be really black in this country is a twenty-eight (28) hour fight. If you're not careful, you find yourself TOMMING without even knowing it. Yes we do.

Now, they did it, TOMMY and JOHN CARLOS. White man moved to (word blurred) kick them off the team. Have some more entertainment. (Laughter) Moved to kick them off the team, isolate them, make them think they were crazy niggers, extremists. If we didn't move to support them, they would today be isolated, so that we must move to support the people he tries to isolate.

Consciously, we don't have to wait for TOMMY

CARMICHAEL: and JOHN say, "Hey, look, man, I'm in a jam." They did something for us; we doing something for them. It's the least we can do. That's undying love. Now he's doing that all around the country, isolating people. HUGHIE NEWTON, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, LEROY JONES, RON KARENGA (phonetic), RAP BROWN. He moves to isolate. To isolate. And we allow the isolation, because we want to emphasize the negative characteristics; we allow for that isolation.

In Washington, D. C., he is going to isolate GASTON NEAL. Tomorrow the brother is going to be in court at 10 o'clock in the morning in General Sessions for some Jive Concealed Weapon charge. He doesn't want GASTON NEAL, cause GASTON NEAL has a concealed weapon. If he did. He really wants GASTON NEAL cause GASTON NEAL started the new School of Afro-American Thought, which has heightened the contradictions inside of Washington, D. C.

The question is, how do we now move? We have to begin to move to stop that isolation. Now we may move rhetorically at first, and then throughout rhetoric develop in our own activity, hm? We can say rhetorically that tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock a lot of us will be down there. Now if you touch GASTON, you know we're going to get you back. You know. We can say it, you know. We may not mean it now, but six (6) months from now something might happen when we'll have to mean it. Talk about something long enough you get to believing it.

So we have to understand how he moves. We cannot allow him to isolate and that could be the job of students, because you have time to write. Write about the people he is trying to isolate, analyze them and pass that material around so that other people might begin to understand what he is really doing. And, then, it will at least stop that process.

We have to understand, then, how the Police Department is moving. And we ought to understand the moves against the Police Department; for example, the sniping of police and that type of activity which is going to increase anyway, and how it will react on students. What will your reaction be to it? If, for example, for example, what would happen if a police station dynamited in your own community? What would your reaction be? Would you be willing to condemn your own CARMICHAEL: people, right off? Or would you be willing to take sides with them? Because that's really what, to really boils down to, in the final analysis. Cause MAO TSE-TUNG says, to condemn one's people is to take the side of the enemy. And if you condemn your people, you are automatically on the side of the enemy.

You see them all the time. You know a rebellion breakout. That's not our people; that's (word unintelligible) hooligans. That's the people, down burning. The majority of our people don't want to burn. They condemning their own people. They no different from the mayor, who says it's those extremists burning. What's the difference? Condemn your people, you take the stand of the enemy. You analyze the mistakes your people make and you try to correct them. You do not condemn them. You do not condemn.

Now to the international scene. (End of Side #1)
(Start Side #2) We certainly don't have the time for it.
(Applause) We don't have time for it. The black people really seek (two sentences unintelligible)..... The Black Student Unions, Black Colleges around this country is too (next word unintelligible) what they want to be white, but only with black people in it, and that is a tragic mistake. It is a tragic mistake, a tragic mistake. We do not even analyze (remainder of sentence unintelligible).

If we analyzed it, we would see they took to technical advancement over human development. They worked technical development more than they worked human development. Are we to (sentence garbled) at the price of human development. That's what you say when you seek to imitate white education. We must reverse it obviously (part of the sentence garbled) for the technical junk. Human development becomes important if we're fighting for humanity. (Applause)

UNID MALE says: Well, the only way we can get the white man is we gotta get the money and the cars he got.

CARMICHAEL: Why not? You can get it. You get it the way he got it. Find somebody to oppress or you can be more concerned with something else.

(Next paragraph very garbled)

CARMICHAEL:
(Cont.)

To talk about really being black and talking about changing that system (part of sentence garbled) methodology and different ideology if we're going to talk about a real Black University. I don't want a Black Howard. Maybe you do. I don't want a Black Howard, don't want it, don't want the structures, don't want the type of methodology, nor the ideology. We need something far more important as black students on this conference; perhaps to start off by saying, we need different ideology and different methodology. Then maybe we can get somewhere. (Following sentence garbled) It tries to structure everybody up. It says you can't be emotional, you must be intellectual, it's right. Before you do something, you got to think it out. I sit down and think for five (5) years and still do the wrong thing.

(Part of next paragraph garbled)..... and they cannot teach us about emotionalism, because that is instinctive, so, therefore, they must deny that, and it is far more important to be intellectual. We do not even seek to analyze (sentence partially garbled), we accept lock, stock and barrel the analysis white society tells us about ourselves. Do you not know that TOMMY SMITH and JOHN CARLOS doing this awoke more black people than all the speeches, television interviews and songs of freedom, and speeches MARTIN LUTHER KING, MALCOLM X, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER and everybody put together gave. If you would begin to understand that, perhaps you would begin to see that we cannot just imitate white society. Just can't talk about giving Swahili classes and, therefore, it's different.

Get a Swahili class. The verb is "Asanti" in the correct position. And when you say "Thank you," you must say "Asanti sona," (laughter in the background). If you teach within the same methodology and the same ideology, you're not creating anything new. You're only imitating the very structures which oppress us. We must seek to find a new type of methodology and a new type of ideology.

I would hope that in the thrust, black students would begin to say to themselves, we need to stress human developments and not be subject to technical developments.

(Paragraph badly garbled)

CARMICHAEL:
(Cont.)

Black Student Unions are trying to catch up with the white boy. They let the white boy set the pace, time, running hard, to catch up with the white boy. He running into hell. You gonna run wid him? Yeah, as soon as he jumps in the fire, you're going to be right behind him and unable to stop. Unable to stop. PHANON (phonetic) says we must bring about all of the things which Europe with all of its universal doctrines have found itself incapable of producing (two words garbled) man. Let us live then and march forth in the company of all men. How many students really analyzed that? They want a Black Swahili course, they want an American-African Course, they want this, they want that, same methodology, same ideology, because we get caught up on working on the specific rather than the general. That's illogical; it is invalid.

First you get the general, then you deduce the specific, then you have a valid conclusion. You do not get the specific, then run to the general and come up with a valid conclusion. Example, all black women who attend Howard University are beautiful. That's the general. MARY is a black woman, she attends Howard University; therefore, she is beautiful.

You had Logic 101, didn't you? You got to take it. Got to take it. Dr. MANNER (phonetic) here? Where is Dr. MANNER (phonetic)? Where is Dr. MANNER (phonetic)? Where is Dr. MANNER? (Laughter and applause)

You all had Logic 101. You can't say that MARY is a beautiful girl who goes to Howard; therefore, all Howard University women are beautiful. But is illogically. Dr. MANNER should tell you so. Should Should And what black students do is they work from this specific and try to deduce the general. Incorrect Incorrect If we get the methodology and the ideology, the specifics will follow. And they must be different. If, indeed, we're talking seriously about the different ideology, different people and revolution. Revolution is not easy. Very, very difficult, very hard to wait. I'm happy because black people have to be revolutionary whether we like it or not. So there we have to fight.

Now, there is a funny thing about fighting. Before you begin you are scared. But once you're in it, you think

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

11/13/68

Page 24

CARMICHAEL:

about winning. You know, you ever see a bully, getting ready to hit you, slap you, and you don't want to hit him back? Your stomach flying, you know, and you're backing up against the man, leave me alone Then he hits you again, you know. And your stomach is still (notchy?) and you think you're going to die. Finally, he hit you the third time and you can't take it no more and you jump in his chest. You forget. You want one thing his blood. You forget about that.

In revolution, says CHE GUEVARA, one wins or one dies. For us, black people, either we win or we die. Our struggle depends very, very largely, and to a great extent, upon the students. Our struggle depends very largely on students. Because they have time to analyze, when many of us do not. We are too busy struggling on the little things that they tie us up with, you know Get this one out of jail, get that one out of jail But you have the time. You must take the time to work for the betterment of your people. You have to. Really have to. You have no choice, actually. You do it now, you will save us a lot of trouble. Thank you very much.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Copies of this memorandum are being furnished locally to intelligence agencies of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Secret Service, San Francisco.

On November 13, 1968, [] advised that Stokely Carmichael spoke at De Anza College, Cupertino, California, at 8:00 PM, November 12, 1968. There were approximately 450 persons present. The audience was predominantly white and was attentive. This appearance was sponsored by the Black Student Union (BSU) at De Anza College, a newly formed group. It should be noted, however, that most Negroes present were not students at De Anza College. Representatives of the student body and the school signed a contract with Carmichael, guaranteeing him $1,000 for his appearance.

Carmichael spoke for about 25 minutes. During his speech, he stated that the Black Power Movement will continue its policy of harrassment, which would include a program of "sniping" at the nation's police departments. He spoke about political equality and economic equality for the black man.

In connection with the liberal movement, Carmichael said that liberals are seeking to maintain the status quo. They are attempting to avoid confrontations. Carmichael appeared to be "attempting to attract the disenchanted followers of Senator McCarthy who have no way to turn due to the outcome of national elections". Carmichael said that his goal is to destroy the American society as we know it. Carmichael was asked during the question and answer period whether or not he was a United States citizen. He answered, "I am a paper citizen."

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

On November 13, 1968, [] advised that Stokely Carmichael spoke at De Anza College during the evening of November 12, 1968. The predominantly white audience numbered about 400 persons and was receptive. Negro Olympic track stars John Carlos and Tommie Smith were present and were introduced. In his speech Carmichael attacked the white liberals. He said that they were too involved in the system to bring any change in it. The liberals promise that the poor man will become rich and the rich man will be even richer, but the gap is still there. The liberals will not take from the rich and give to the poor. } Calif.

Carmichael stated that he advocates the violent overthrow of the United States Government with guns. He went on to say that everyone else can overthrow the government any way they want to, but that he is going to do it with guns. He said that he is nothing more than a paper citizen, a necessity in order to get a scholarship to go to school in this country. Carmichael also said that peace is an absence of conflict, it does not mean that justice is involved, so he is not for peace.

Carmichael also pointed out that the black man should be freed from prison because they are political prisoners. The United States Government in its entirety should be put in prison because it is made up of criminals. They are killing in Vietnam, they have ravaged and raped the American Indian, and have taken his land and they have used the black man to build the country.

The tickets to this affair cost $2.00 for non-students and $1.50 for students.

ENCLOSURE

Good evening. We would like to speak this evening at length--for at least an hour--that really is a lot of time for a lot of reasons, but I think it's necessary. I think it's necessary for a number of reasons. It's necessary today because the United States Government is purposely and willfully trying to confuse the issue of black power and confuse the minds of our people. And it is necessary, secondly, because there're not going to be too many more public rallies that they're going to allow us to have. Dig it! (Applause) So that with what little time we have now, we must use very seriously. Now, before I begin, I want to explain that I think the black people of America are colonized people, and, as we move toward our liberation, there are two levels on which we move. One is, what I call for lack of a better word, entertainment. The other is education. Now, the entertainment is very necessary. That's the part where we get up and we talk about how mad we are, what we can do, and begin to call the honkie names. It is necessary--to psychologically prepare ourselves. Once having passed that stage, it's time to get to the serious stage, which is the stage of education, where we begin seriously to analyze. Now in the stage of education, it's not happy, so people won't be able to sing and clap, so you lose a lot of people, but we should expect that, because then the education stage gets the people who are serious and dedicated and will carry this struggle through. Now I think in Baltimore, we are on the verge of losing the entertainment field. I'd like to bring help, bring that death about, and begin with the field of education. So that what we'll try to do tonight is to, in essence, split the speech into two parts, the first part as being for the entertainment part, but where we hope we can throw out some good political ideology in concepts of our being, as a people, and how we, as a people, can begin together and effect the part, and try to talk more seriously about what we have to do in this country. Now then, as we begin, we ought to recognize that colonized people hate themselves. They hate themselves. And that the reason we, as a people, are so divided is because we hate ourselves, and we are forced to hate ourselves by our oppressor. Now I don't think there's need for us to spend time going into discussing how we hate ourselves, and I think there's been enough of that sort of propaganda going around today. The need for us to say that, "Black is beautiful," and that "It's so beautiful to be black"--it just shows the fact that prior to this time, we never thought that black was beautiful, and that just shows how much we hated ourselves. And I don't think we need to talk about wigs, hair straightening, and lightening creams. Now, if people are not going to love me, I don't think we should work with them.

(Applause) Now, if it was a fact that we hate ourselves, then that's the day that we begin to stay apart--then we must do the reverse of that. We must begin to see ourselves as positive images. And if we begin to see ourselves as positive images, then we will begin to accept ourselves and to accept each other, because all we are, in essence, is a reflection of each other. When we see another black face and kinky head, we want to kill it because we have been taught to hate black things with kinky heads.

(Applause) We have now, to begin to try and reverse that. So there are three concepts that we want to start with tonight. The first is going to try to counteract the concept of hatred that we have for each other. And it's very difficult. It says we must have an undying love for our people. We must have an undying love for our people. And that's very hard for us to understand because we have so much hatred for our people. But if we had an undying love for our people, we would be in the streets rather than in Vietnam fighting for our people. (Applause) If we really had an undying love for our people, we would not be wasting time attacking our people, but rather trying to love and bring our people home. We must have an undying love for our people. (Applause) If we really began to understand the concept of undying love for our people, every time they trust one black man, they would have to trust all black men. (Applause) And now, the concept does not necessarily mean that you're not concerned with people, but if you love yourself as a person, and if you love your people, then you'll love all other people who act like people. (Applause) You shouldn't get caught up with people who say that you love only yourself--you automatically hate everybody else. That's not true. If you have children, you love your children. That does not necessarily mean that because you love your children, you hate other children. But now, if you love your children, you might hate the other children who beat up your children. That concept is not an easy concept to work with and we must strive after it--the concept of organized love, because we do not understand it. Second concept: Every Negro is a potential black man! (Applause) This concept is very, very important, especially for many Black Nationalists today who are running around the streets alienating our people rather than bringing them home. (Applause) It is also necessary for many of us today who all of a sudden have become black but forgot where we were when Brother Malcolm X was preaching to us.

(Applause) But it is a valuable concept because we must recruit from Negroes. That's right, we're black men--we have to recruit from Negroes. Now, we want to talk about the concept between Negro with a small "n" and black man with a capital "B." (Applause) When we were in Africa--free--we were known as Africans or black men. We were not known as Negroes. When we were brought in chains in slavery inside this country, we became Negroes. What that means is that the concept of Negro and slavery is the same thing, because Negro begins in slavery. (Applause) There were no Negroes in Africa. Now the reason we were called Negroes was, to begin to cut our ties with Africa, not only politically, but culturally and psychologically. Because in Africa, we had warriors, but we had no warriors among Negroes. (Applause) You've got to understand that concept very clearly. I'm going to work with it some more because people get hung up in it. A Negro is a product of America. A black man is fighting against America. (Applause) Let me show you how it works. Now you take Negro history. They "do" us! You know, they're trying so hard to corrupt and brainwash and do everything. Well, lately, they have a thing--spot announcements on Negro history. Every five minutes, they tell you about Negro history. You know, they have these five minute spots with local soul stations. Well, if you listen very closely to Negro history, they say, "Mr. so-and-so, who, even though he was a slave, fought hard and helped his country, blah, blah, blah!" If you're a slave, how're you going to help fight for your country?!" (Applause) It seems to me that if you are a slave, you're fighting to get out of the country that has made you a slave, and free your brother! (Applause) So, any time they start with this junk about Negro history--"So-and-so was a slave, but even though he was a slave, he helped the country," they're saying the same thing to you, "You're a slave, but don't worry about it, you helped your brother--dumb nigger!" (Applause) So we must begin to understand the concept of Negro, and the concept of African or black man. Must understand it! Because in Africa we had warriors--Zulus, (several unintelligible tribe names) (Applause) We had warriors. We didn't have none--all we had was slavery! But let us understand the most important concept. If you say you're a Negro, you begin in slavery, is that correct? (cries of "right, right," from audience) Therefore, if you trace your ancestors back, you go back to being a slave. And if you came out as a slave, the best you can hope to be is a good slave. (Applause) And if I began my great, great, great beginning as a slave, well then, I was born to be a slave. But if you say you're an African, you can aspire to be more than a slave--you can aspire to be a warrior, an (unintelligible word) or whatever the Africans were before they were conquered. But the concept of every Negro as being a potential black man is important for us as a people if we're seriously talking about unity. It is important because I am tired of seeing young black chicks, who, two weeks ago, had their hair straightened, and you see them two weeks later with an Afro, and when another sister comes in who has her hair straightened, she says,

"I don't want to have nothing to do with you, you're a Negro." (Applause)

No! More than take time out to help that sister get her hair together, she must take time out to help other sisters get themselves together.

(Applause) And if she has undying love for her people, then she will take the abuses that her sister hands her once she tries to straighten her up, because she will remember the very abuses she gave to somebody else who was trying to straighten her up. Every Negro is a potential black man!

(Applause) Now then, the third concept, which is very difficult, but which we must begin to understand if we are going to be successful--concept number three. For us, black people, the question of community is not just simply a question of land, but also a question of color. For black people, us, we,--the Indian--, the question of community is not just simply a question of land, but the question of our people and where they are. For example, if we went to New York, we would not be home or in our community until we were in Harlem. If we went to Los Angeles, Watts, if we went to Chicago, the West Side, if you go to Philadelphia, South, if you go to Washington, D. C., all over! (General uproar from audience) What about Baltimore?! (General uproar--people indicating "the whole city!") So the concept is important just not for Baltimore, but it is important for the world, which must begin to become our prospectus. We cannot allow the white man to confine us. For example, when he stole us from Africa--and he did steal us--(Slight laughter from audience) --you tell me about Negroes steal! (Laughter) Negroes steal--black man liberates! (Applause) Negroes steal from Negroes (laughter)--but the black man liberates from the oppressor. "He" scattered us all over the Western Hemisphere. "He" dropped us in the West Indies. "He" dropped us in Brazil, Panama, Guatemala, Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic--even in Nova Scotia, Canada--and none of us had anything to say about it! After having dropped us in each of these areas, "he" said, "Now you are the Negro American. You are a Negro in Brazil. You on the Continent, you're still an African. You in the West Indies, you are a West India"--notice I said "India"--today, West "Indian." (Laughter)"and you in Nova Scotia, you are Canadian. You in Santo Domingo, you are a Santo Domingan. You in the Dominican Republic, you're a Dominican Republican." So that because I begin to believe that I am a Negro American, it is okay if America is at war for me to fight in Santo Domingo, because I'm not fighting Africans, I'm fighting a Santo Domingan, and I'm not an African--I'm a Negro! It is very important because it is that concept that allows the "man" to send black troops all over South America where our people are fighting for their liberation and others fight against them. If we were to understand that wherever our people are, they're part of our community, then we would not be fighting. But we do not understand. We are Africans, born bred, everything else, in Africa--whether you like it or not--you're African! (Applause) You just happen to be living in America (Laughter) You just happen to be existing in America. Africans. So we must begin to understand that concept, because then we will begin to say, "If I am in Brazil, fifty percent of Brazil is African, I am with my people, I am home. If I am in Cuba, sixty-five percent of Cuba is African, I am African, I am home. If I am in the West Indies, all of it is African, I am at home." And when you hit the Motherland, you know you're at home! (Applause) And why else that concept is important, it is important so that "he" cannot break us down, but not only that, that we can see our real selves. Because "he" keeps talking about ten percent. Sometimes "he" raises the figure. One time it was twenty-two. Now I think we're thirty-two. (Laughter) But anyway, "he" says we're still a minority and people get scared. But we have to broaden--we're not a minority--we're the most! (Laughter and applause) And we cannot allow the minority thinking to affect our tactical plans. We have to see ourselves as international people. Because we didn't have no choice about where we were born, how we were born, or to whom we were born. We didn't have no choices. So we don't need to let the "man" think that. We must decide the boundaries. Because the colonies are our people and there they are. You have to understand that principle. Now then, we want to move in to talk about education, politics, and poverty programs. (laughter) We've got to talk about them, because the concept is part of the things the "man" is using to break us up. Let me give you an example, because this thing education messes us up too much. Everybody's thinking you can't get nowhere unless you have you some education. That may be true--I think it is true--but it depends upon what you call education. We were taught that Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492--with his common sense! (Laughter) And when the teacher asks you on an exam, "Who discovered America?" you write down, "Christopher Columbus discovered America in 1492," and the teacher gives you an "A," because you are correct. But we know Columbus didn't discover America--Magellan did. But what you are saying is that nothing happens until the white man comes along. (Applause) We are saying history does not begin until the white man comes along. Indians weren't living until Columbus discovered them!

(Laughter and applause) (Several unintelligible words spoken in a high tone) (Laughter and applause) So we have to see that education isn't what they've given you. Education is just learning what you have been taught, and the people who do the best are the ones who answer the "master" most correctly! That's all education is! (Applause) If I ask you what makes water, you tell me two parts hydrogen, one part oxygen. You ain't never seen hydrogen, don't know how to spell oxygen, but you know what water is made of! (Applause) That's it--the "man" told you! All education is, is responding to what we have been taught. Thanks a lot for brilliant black men who say that "Education is the re-establishing and reinforcement of values and institutions in a given society." And that's all it is? If you say, "America is racist"--you're going to school in America--you're going to grow up racist. And if you say, "America is anti-black"--you're going to school in America--you're going to be anti-black! Right! That's why we're having so many contradictions in the schools today. If you go to school in America, you come out a capitalist. If you go to school in Russia, you come out a socialist--so-called revisionist! If you go to school in China, you become a Maoist. (Laughter) So that we have to understand what education is, and we have to define it. And we must use education in order for us to survive. In order for us to survive, we need three things: food, shelter, and clothing. Period. We may need other things too--luxurious--but in order to survive, we need food, shelter, and clothing. And we must say that education will be those things, that body of knowledge that will allow us to provide those things for ourselves. Then we really won't need to waste our time studying about Freud, Shakespeare, blah, blah, blah. We don't have to study those, because the minute you get out of school, you forget it anyway. (Applause) You don't learn anything until you actually get out. We must begin to define education so that it becomes a positive element in our community, because right now, it is a negative element in our community. Let me show you what I mean. An education is supposed to prepare you to live in your given environment or your given community, is that correct? Let us examine the community of any black settlement in this country. You have pimps, hustlers, dope addicts, number men, maids, porters, preachers--some of them never make it! (laughter) --teachers, cab drivers, factory workers, ditch diggers, unemployed. If I go to school in my community, they should teach me how to be a good pimp, hustler, dope addict (laughter and applause)--hustler, preacher, maid, porter, factory worker, ditch digger, unemployed. They must teach me how to fit into my community. If they don't teach me that, they should teach me how to change the community so that I can live like a human being. (Applause) And the education that we send our children to doesn't meet it. Doesn't teach them how to live in the community, or how to change the community. We're just occupying space and being white. That means we must take over complete control of the education systems in our schools. (Applause) And that does not mean merely replacing white teachers with black teachers. We do not want black carbon copies of a white ideology. (Applause) We want an education system that is going to speak to the needs of our community and is going to teach our children how to walk with their heads up in the air and their hands on the gun. (Applause) Our children are going to get back into (Several words unintelligible due to crowd noise) and you just try holding your hands in your pockets when you have to hold your gun! We must begin to understand that, because what they are doing is giving us too many tricks--these little community controls. And what they do is, they put a black man in the position of a white man and everybody wants to sit back and be happy. We are not talking about reform--we are talking about complete change! Complete change! We're not talking about black people representing white people. To do that is going to hurt us in the long run because along in our cause, we're going to have to fight those same black men. Why do that? Change it one time--you get it over with--don't prolong--(Applause) So we must begin to understand that. Complete control. And complete control means just that! No association with nobody but the people in the community! Period! (Applause) Now the second thing is this thing called politics. I don't think we have to dwell on the point about black people getting into conventional politics representing political or American independence. I don't think we need to talk about it, because it is crystal clear to us today that while neither of the three candidates actively seeks the support of black people, the entire campaign is about black people--how to defeat us! (Applause) And since that is what the campaign is about, we should not be bothered about whether Humphrey may be a little bit better. (Laughter) The campaign issue is not Humphrey, Nixon, or Wallace--the campaign issue is, "What are we going to do with these niggers," and I don't have to answer. You can (unintelligible due to tumultuous applause). Every time I see a black man talk about

Nixon's address, Humphrey's address, --ain't none of them nothing but a bunch of honkies! (Tumultuous applause) (A few phrases are unintelligible due to shouting and applause by the crowd) (Tumultuous applause) Wallace says, "Now let me tell it like it is. If I get in there, the nigger's going to (unintelligible words)" (Laughter and applause) And in the long run, it's Wallace that's going to help get us together because he's going to tighten the constitution, where Nixon and Humphrey is going to work against the constitution to put us to sleep. We've been sleeping too long! (Applause) So the only politics that black people talk about is the politics of survival, because that's what it's all about--are we going to survive in this political history called the United States of America? And you can watch 'em because as Wallace grows, they're coming closer to 'em. A week ago, Humphrey got up there and he talked about looters and shooters. He gave a whole half-an-hour speech and he says, "When I become President, When I become President, I will have a special trained riot squad. I will have the Army, the National Guard, and if you need them, just call on me and I will send them. (Applause) So that any black man running around talking about the Democratic Party or the Republican Party is certainly deceiving himself, and certainly trying to disillusion our people. If you see what they did to white people in Chicago, imagine what they're going to do to us! (Applause) It's the politics of survival. For later! Let them go and run their game! Let Wallace, Humphrey, Nixon,--let them run their game. Because that's all it is. But let us get ourselves together and not get involved in their game, for they don't even give the niggers a chance any more. You ain't seen Humphrey talking to no black people. In the beginning he used to have pictures with black babies. He's not doing that any more. Nixon ain't never worth hearing! And we know all about Wallace! (Laughter) No more talk about that, but let us talk about the politics of survival. To survive: food, shelter, and clothing--against the natural environment--nature. But if one has another opponent to combat, then one needs something else to protect oneself. For example, if we were just here in this wilderness by ourselves, we would need food, shelter, clothing. We have to fight animals and we try to get food, shelter, and clothing. But since there's something else fighting against us too, aside from the weather, the hawk, and all that, so now we got to proceed to (two unintelligible words) coat, and go out and protect ourselves against the hawk, because the hawk's trying to get us. But now somebody else is trying to get us--we got to have something else to protect ourselves against them. Right! So we need food, shelter, clothing, and guns! (Tumultuous laughter and applause) Now I know everybody's against violence and all that blah, blah, blah, bloom, but let's understand it--I am for equality. If the white man got a gun, I got to get one! (Applause) All over the country white women are getting guns and learning how to shoot. Black women got to get guns and learn how to shoot. (Tumultuous applause) And that's what you call equality. (Laughter) Now if you don't believe that black women should get guns, then you should take the guns away from white women--then we're even--seven. (Applause) And if they have guns and we don't have guns, we're not now, nor never will be thereafter, equal. Never will be! The game works not only on us, but on the international scene. You see all--Russia, France, England, the United States--they get together and say, "We will stop nuclear tests!" Who are they jassing--themselves? They got the poly bomb, hydrogen bomb! And now here come all these other little black countries-- "Don't you all get none of them bombs, you don't need 'em." (Laughter and applause) If America has an atomic bomb, every country in the world needs an atomic bomb! That's equality! (Applause) And that is the only way to insure justice--not peace! Justice! I don't care about peace--I want justice! (Applause) Because if we have justice, we'll have peace, but you can't have peace without justice. (Applause) Because if America's got the atomic bomb and they want something, like from the poor Vietnamese, the only thing they can do is fight to the death. If America decides to bomb them, they can't do nothing. Nothing! It's like when they dropped one on Hiroshima, they couldn't do nothing but run and hide. If they got one too, they could say, "You drop the bomb--we're coming!" (Applause) And that is, in fact, the only deterrent to nuclear warfare. Not this table-talk nonsense. Everybody gets in nuclear war, and we're ready. You got yours, I got mine! I'm just as crazy as you are! (Laughter and applause) You've got to understand this concept. But I want to deal with the concept of getting guns. Because it is not really the question of violence. It is the question of the black man attacking the white man. There are black men who own guns. They can shoot all the niggers in the world, ain't nothing going to happen to them! Let them shoot at one white man! Hey! (Applause) The question of violence never arises until there is a black-white confrontation. If there's a black-black confrontation, there is no question of violence or nonviolence. It is only when there is a black-white confrontation that the question of nonviolence comes up, and it's always directed towards the black man. It is a fact. It's a fact. You see people fight all the time with guns, knives, cut each other--don't say no. (Laughter) You have Ben Moore in Chicago. Eastside young simple niggers killing Westside young simple niggers, but one night, let them both get together and decide to kill a few white people and see what happens. "We cannot tolerate this violence." (Tumultuous laughter and applause) It must be crystal-clear in our minds. If you have a gun, it doesn't necessarily mean you're violent, it just means you can protect yourself. And that could mean that you survive. It is not the question of guns. It is the question of the black man protecting himself. Let us take D. C. for example. They have passed what they call a gun law. Because you see, the District is really ninety-eight percent black. They claim it's sixty-three percent, but it's really ninety-eight percent. They say, in essence, Well now, all people living inside the District cannot have guns, and if you have guns, you should register them. But now, all the suburbs is white. (Several unintelligible words) black people. They have not passed a gun law for white folks and they're not going to pass no gun law for no white folks. Because guns should be out of the hands of niggers and to let the white folks have them. And I'm going to tell you, if I die saying it, GET A GUN, GET A GUN, GET A GUN!!! (Tumultuous applause) DON'T JUST LAUGH! GET IT! GET AS MANY AS YOU CAN GET, AS BIG AS YOU CAN GET 'EM. AND THAT WILL AROUSE YOUR BROTHERS AND SISTERS TO GET SOME GUNS! (Applause) Equality should have some guns, and then you can talk about equality. You can't talk it. So you must understand that. And don't be afraid--don't even argue with 'em. "Why you need a gun?" "You got one, that's all!" (Laughter) Now as long as I'm talking about honkie goin' to got guns, they've got them all, look at them--there's three ways to get anything: work for it, beg for it, or you STEAL IT! (Applause) You don't steal it, you take it! (Laughter) America didn't steal this country from the red man--it took it! You've got to understand the concept between steal and take. You steal something when you're powerless and you relieve somebody above you. You take it when you've won it, when you strive for it and get it! (Applause) You've got to understand it. We don't have to talk about it. Work. Get you some money. Buy a gun. You can beg somebody for it or you can go take it. If you want it bad enough, you're going to get it. Let me give you an example. I'm a young man. If I were (unintelligible word) together, I might be in Vietnam, right? So honkie tells me either they beat us, or they're going to take us--one or the other. But now if you were in Vietnam, and your white lieutenant came along--cause we ain't going to be a lieutenant--he says, "Listen, gentlemen, we have surveys from headquarters and we understand that fifty yards northwest of here, three inches below blah, blah, blah, the VC has an ammunition plant hidden. We want you to go over and take that--seize that plant and bring back the ammunition." We ain't got no choice. We got to go. If we don't go, we get court-martialed for disobeying orders. You understand. AND YOU KNOW NIGGERS DIE EVERY DAY TO GET GUNS FROM THE VIETNAMESE TO GIVE IT BACK TO RUSSIA! WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE IF WE'RE IN THE STREET AND SOMEBODY SAYS, "LOOK, BROTHER, THERE'S A POLICE STATION ON THE CORNER. THEY'VE GOT GUNS. OUR PEOPLE NEED 'EM--LET'S GO GET 'EM!"

(Applause) When we have an undying love for our people, we're going to start getting the guns, but until we get that, we're going to be shuffling and jiving. (Three unintelligible words) people who follow you for one of two reasons--either they love you or they fear you. Black people peer down the barrel of the honkie because he fears us. Black people follow us because he loves us. If he wants a gun he can get 'em! Undying love, undying love! (Applause) Now then, we want to talk about poverty programs.

(Laughter) And it is important to talk about it, because it is too confusing. The Poverty Program was never designed, and will never be designed to solve the problems of the black community. Dig it! (Applause) The Poverty Program was designed to dilute and corrupt the liberation struggle that was growing in this country for more than (unintelligible) years.

(Applause) And I know all you poverty workers in here, but it's all right (A few words unintelligible due to laughter). Let me show you how it works. They started off with this grand survey by Monaghan, I think was his name (Several mumbled unintelligible words). And he wrote this program and said, "Well, the real trouble is black families. See, they ain't got no father image. Because they ain't got no father image, they do all the things they do." All right, now, I know that's not true, but if they believed it, the least they could do was say, "Well, we ought to solve their problem." So dig what the Poverty Program does: It perpetuates the problem of emasculating the father image in the black community! Now you dig this. Now say I'm a black man about forty-five or fifty. I've got some young kids about nineteen--twenty. I'm unemployed. I read Monaghan (?) (Sounds like: well maybe your daddy's black. "Come back, little Eva.") Now along comes the Poverty Program. I start putting on my shoes and going out the door, because I'm going to work. But who do they employ? Not me but my son! And what do they do? They give him more money than they give me because they want to keep him off the streets. They don't give a damn about anybody in the black community. Keep them young niggers off the street because they're getting (Applause drowned out a few words) emasculate the father. How do you feel if you're a father and your nineteen-year-old punk kid is throwing around a hundred and fifty dollars a week and walking out, and you sitting there doing nothing?! It is only for one reason. Keep the young people off the streets because they're getting together and they just might do that! That's all the Poverty Program is about. If we understand that, then explain how do we work, even if we work with the Poverty Program. Now I don't want to hear black people talk about, "But I'm moving---" You're not moving up---don't kid yourself! Stop! Stop and be serious. Is that fact or no? Before there was a Poverty Program, they were on the street hustling, making no money at all. Now if they were hustling and just getting by on the money they had, if they have a twenty-thousand-dollar-a-year job now, then they can give some money back to buy some guns. They could give some money back to support the organizations they used to work with before they went into the position they're in. But they get so caught up in the white man "individual" nonsense, that they become a black man and don't care about their people talking loud, "Black's big, black's bad, black's for stingy whites!" (Applause) So we must understand the concept of the Poverty Program. If we get involved in the Poverty Program, we should get involved in it for one reason: to bring our people together and tighten the competition. If we're not doing that, we're not just passive, but we're being used against our people.

(Applause) So nobody should say, "I'm in the Poverty Program. I'm not getting dumped, but I'm not doing nothing no more!" Once you get in and it's used against us, you're powerless. So if you got in it, you've got to work against it. For your people! I'm not getting justice. I'm not carpetbagging. I'm against the case for honkie. Once you take the gig, you are consciously being used against your people--therefore, you're part of it. Understand that? Understand that? You must understand that concept in every way. Because the Poverty Program is getting ready to run out, and the nerves of a lot of black people have already run out. And they're doing that on purpose because they know when black people get mad, they're going to start with the Poverty Program rather than the honkie policeman. That's a fact. Because we still kid ourselves, no matter how black we say we are. Now let us talk seriously about what the United States is trying to do to black people and where we are today. In order to do that, we must begin to define some terms. We should define what our fight is, what our goals are, what we want to accomplish. Now today, I'm so tired of seeing black militants on television. It's like going out of town. And I'm just sick of it. Every time I turn on my TV, there's another one. "They--a or we've got the people, and we're going to burn and--" (Several phrases are unintelligible as the crowd laughed while the speaker imitated someone speaking on television) And what they do with the concept is, they dilute it. It seems to me that black people have to fight against two things in this country: racism and capitalism. You have to understand that. You can't fight against racism and not against capitalism. You've got to fight against both--racism and capitalism. It's impossible for somebody to talk about black power meaning black capitalism. And now we've got to fight against capitalism and imperialism, which is the highest stage of capitalism. And we have to understand this, because too many of our people are fighting against white people just because they're not part of white people, you know. So we have to make some clear definitions. If that's our fight, our goal, then, is a society free of racism and free of capitalism and imperialism. You've got to understand that. Capitalism is an economic system, though we call it the democracy and the free world. (Laughter) I hope we don't have to go through that any more, because the free world is them, not us. Wherever we live, it's still them--wherever they live, they're free. Wherever we live, we aren't free--So the free world is them, and we're the other part of it. Okay. This is West. Because there is not one country in the West that did not come to power without breaking out. Not one. England, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal, Spain--every country--the Netherlands, every country in Western Europe came to power from breaking out. So we have no respect for what they call the free world. None whatsoever. We don't have to talk about this one. She was so audacious she not only took Africa's resources, she took its human people, dig it? (Applause) We have to understand that. So we have to begin to look toward other economic systems and understand what they are. There's Socialism and Communism. There's Chinese Communism. There's Fidel's Communism. There's a whole lot of 'em. So one of the things that we as a people must begin to do is to begin to try to understand those forms of economics so we can begin to see how we reorder the structures and begin to fight for them. You just can't fight against racism, and I want to show you why as we go on. I want to define the main differences between revolution, revolutionary warfare, revolutionary violence, black revolutionaries, and black militants. Now let me start off with revolution, because I'm tired of black people saying that we are in a black revolution. We are not in a revolution! Because a revolution does not begin until you have seized power. Once you have seized power, the revolution begins. Let me give you an example. Now I know this is harder, but this is the real grit. The first part is for laughs and everybody cannot tell that, but this is the real part. This defines men from boys--happy people from serious people. When Fidel Castro was fighting in the Sierra mountains in Cuba, he fought for several years---and it was not the Cuban Revolution. The Cuban Revolution did not begin until Fidel Castro walked into Havana, chased Batista and the American lackies out, and said, "This day," with his gun in his hand, Che on his side, he said, "This day, I claim Cuba for the masses of Cuban people." That's when the Cuban Revolution began. Because next, he was able to change everything--tear down, burn down, destroy, root up, and start all over again. That's when the American Revolution really began. Anything prior to that is called reform. Reform is not when you want to tear down, destroy, overturn, disrupt, and start all over again--reform is when you're just studying to be a human. A whole lot of black people are reformers. They are not revolutionaries, because they are afraid of revolution. That is understood and well it should be. But we should understand that nothing but a revolution is going to allow us to survive in the United States if we're serious. Now then, what happens before the revolution? Before the revolution, you have what is called the armed struggle. That's when the revolutionary forces are fighting against the status quo, with guns, with arms--that's an armed struggle. So, before Fidel took power and started the revolution, the Cubans were involved in armed struggle. In the black communities of this country, we are just getting into the stage of armed struggle--just getting into it; we haven't even begun to scratch the surface. So don't be no dumb nigger talking about the black revolution. It ain't funny, ain't funny. And we need to know why--because there's a difference between a black militant and a black revolutionary. A black militant is an angry black man who's yelling at white folk because he's left out--he wants in. A black revolutionary is a black man who says he wants to tear down, destroy, rip up, and overthrow the country and start over, thinking about meeting the needs of the masses of our people. Dig it! (Applause) You've seen the black militants. You see them every day. They grow a big Afro and they get out on the streets and they talk. "Yes, we'll burn down--" They look a mess! You see them on television. "If you don't do this, Mr. Mayor, I'll tell you (three unintelligible words) in the street! We'll do just like they did in Chicago! We'll do just like they did in-- we'll do just like--" They did! They argued--and running and talking and yelling and screaming! And the "man" gets scared and he calls him in and gives him a twenty-thousand-dollar-a-year job. And as soon as the nigger stamps his feet, Hoover's taking in everything he knows! (Tumultuous applause) "This is a black militant. He is angry because he is not part of the power structure. He is not concerned about his people. He does not have undying love for his people. He's a nigger who's concerned about himself. (Applause) And he is the worst kind of nigger there is, because not only does he use himself to get where he wants, but he uses his people to get where he wants! (Applause) The black revolutionary won't be nearly so foolish. BURN IT! SHOOT IT! RIP IT OUT! (Unintelligible word) KILL! STEAL! (Unintelligible word) (Tumultuous applause) The black revolutionary won't be telling all that junk. He's taking his time planning, preparing, moving strategically against the "man." He ain't never got no "cool it" looking for no twenty-thousand-dollar-a-year job so he can be telling his people to "cool it" and being a white man's dog. He ain't angry at the white man as soon as he gives him a twenty-thousand-dollar-a-year job until every last one of his people has got a decent job--he is angry! Until every last little black nappy-headed child has got shoes on his feet, he is angry! Until every little black child's stomach falls down because of hunger, he's angry! Yes sir, a black revolutionary has undying love for his people! (Applause) You have got to understand that, because this country is loaded with black militants! They produce us instantly. Instant black militants. But I ain't seeing too many black revolutionaries. I see a whole lot of black militants, yelling and screaming until they get 'em a poverty grant. Yea! You hear 'em on the street now: "Be cooling it 'cause only our people gettin' hurt!" Nigger, were you concerned about your people getting hurt when you were yelling about, "Get out in the street and fight! Shoot to kill!"? Only now, because you've got a twenty-thousand-dollar-a-year job, you're worried about only our people getting hurt. WELL, IF ONLY YOUR PEOPLE ARE GETTING HURT, NIGGER, GET

YOU SOME GUNS AND HELP BEAT UP THE "MAN" SO SOME HONKIE COPS GET HURT!

(Tumultuous cheering and applause) We've got to understand where we're going because the United States wants to lead us that way, and we have to go this way. We've got to go this way! We can't be jiving and chugging and playing anymore, because like Brother Rap Brown says, "We're going to be bugalooing on trains going to concentration camps." (Laughter and applause) We may laugh, but we will be bugalooing on trains going to those concentration camps, and won't wake up until the "man" says "It's all over now," and says, "Nigger, wake up!" That's the only time we'll wake up. Growing an Afro does not necessarily mean that one is ready, true? (Applause) Growing an Afro only shows a stage of development. Sometimes it is just the very, very beginning. It is just a scratching of the surface. Too many people think that growing an Afro is out--scratching the surface, scratching the surface. Once we've done it, then we may be ready to get into the dola (ph.). Because we got a natural, we're back. Just like because we can't assume that just because we got a gun, we're there. Ain't true! Because I see a lot of revolutionary groups across the country. They got guns and they say, "Look, man, we want to talk to you. Man, we got these guns. We're ready to go, man, but honkie wants to protect that nigger across the street because he's his man --I know he's the man, so we got to move on him!" Come on, we got a million honkie cops out here--one nigger's going to hold up your movement? There's nothing revolutionary, THERE'S NOTHING REVOLUTIONARY about niggers killing niggers. Niggers, that's been going on for years. There's nothing revolutionary about that. In order to be a revolutionary, you need a gun!

Right! You've got to have the gun, but it does not make you a revolutionary. To get the gun is necessary, but it is insufficient. You need something else with the gun. You need a clear understanding of what's happening in the country. That means a whole lot of time preparing, reading, discussing, understanding, and constantly moving against the enemy. (Applause) I know that thought scares us, because it scares me, but we have to face reality. That's what's happening. That's what's happening. They're cooling it, but they're getting together and they're going to come get us. You may laugh all you want to, but they have intelligence going on across this country every day. They got cops being shot every day. They got guerrilla activity going on, but they never say a word about it in the press any more! Any more! Annapolis has been slapped with a curfew and they didn't even mention it, hardly! (Applause) In Northeast Washington for three nights this week-- (Applause) They don't hardly mention it in San Francisco--a whole lot of honkie cops are dead! They don't mention it. They don't mention it. Because they want to do it until they have banded us together and then they are going to move. Why then, must we then take the revolutionary role? Because no matter what we do, we are going to be responsible because we are each other's brother whether we recognize it or not. Because if we don't recognize it, "he" recognizes it! (Applause) Every black man in this church tonight has got Rap Brown in him. (Applause) The black man may not recognize it, but the white man does. That's why he don't want Rap Brown talking--because Rap Brown might wake up the other Rap Brown within you. (Applause) You may laugh, but that is precisely true. He knows there's a Rap Brown in you, because he created Rap Brown. And you are living in the same type of environment that created Rap Brown and you are a potential Rap Brown! (Applause) So he doesn't want that. So he's going to do everything he can do to convince you that Rap Brown is crazy, he's an extremist, he's preaching violence, he's preaching hatred, he's preaching everything so you don't want nothing to do with Rap Brown. But that's what he wants. That's what he wants. If you're going to (unintelligible phrase) 'cause after we leave this church here tonight, if all of us go home and just one nigger goes downtown and starts to break everything up, they'll call out the National Guard for every nigger they see! It don't make a difference if you're a nice nigger, bad nigger, good nigger, sweet nigger--they're not interested--they ain't going to recognize them--(Sounds like "college niggers, Catholic niggers") black niggers, running-in-the-street niggers--man, you're all niggers! (Tumultuous applause) And a lot of people don't have an understanding. They really think that once they get rid of the extremists everything's going to be good for the honkie. Maybe because they get bit by the Rap Browns, Huey Newtons, Eric Stevenses, Carmichael--you name! (Laughter and applause) A whole lot of people think they're smart--"That nigger Carmichael--he's going to get killed!" That's right. I know I'm going to get killed! I know there's a bullet waiting for me! BUT NIGGER, THERE'S A BULLET WAITING FOR YOU, TOO!! (Applause) That doesn't bother us because we all know what the white man's got for us, but we know what he's got for you too, and the only reason we're up here is because we're worried about you. We don't have to be up here! Think! (Applause) The man uses this crutch so much that it hurts! "Come back home. There's people getting themselves together, and (several unintelligible words are

YOU ALLOW, you allow the black bourgeoisie--you allow them to speak for you, to get money off of you, and to do whatever they want to do to you when they want to do it to you, you! And no black man, who's supposed to be representing you up there in (unintelligible phrase due to crowd noise) not supposed to be down here with you. Who do you pay, Agnew? (Several words mumbled in low tone) We'd walk out on Agnew trying to lecture us. They shouldn't have walked out. If they represent the people--the people on the street--that's where they should be. That's where they should be. If they represent the people and the people are on the street, that's where they should be. If they can't be on the streets, RESIGN! (Applause) YOU allow it! There is no unity in Baltimore because you do not care about your people or about unity! Because if you cared about your people and about unity--there would be! You would want it. You would bring it about. There is no united front in Baltimore. That's why Agnew ain't worried about you. He's running all over the country and telling everyone (unintelligible phrase due to applause) I saw him on television when they walked out. Just like that! "Governor Agnew, now that all the Negroes walked out on you, and all their Negro leaders, what you going to do?" "I'd get me some more tomorrow!" (Laughter and applause) HE DOES AND YOU KNOW IT--YOU KNOW IT! He says, "I'll get me some tomorrow," and he went out and got him some tomorrow! While the blood of our people is spilling in the streets, they are sitting up, dining at the table. YOU ARE TO BLAME! You are to blame! It doesn't take much to begin to get groups together. If we're all working for the needs and concerns of our people, then we should get together. They don't have to belong to the same organization, but they can at least sit down and talk to each other. So that we're not divided. At least look like we're united. Look like we're united. Look, how else can it be? If there's going to be unity in Baltimore, you have got to bring it about. Legislative Negroes with a small "n" are not going to bring it about. Most of the Negro preachers are not going to bring it about. Ain't no Negro going to bring it about, but the black Negro must bring it about! (Applause) And don't sit and say we're waiting for Ray Brown to come, we're waiting for (Sounds like either "Ellis" or "Eldridge") to come, we're waiting for Leroy, we're waiting for Stokely! Nigger, you're waiting on YOURSELF! Ain't nothing you can't do if you want to do it! All you got to do is GET UP AND DO IT!!! GET UP!! (Applause). Now then, I'm going to end. Sorry to have kept you so long, but I just thought it was necessary. I just wanted to say two things. Number one, the Soul School needs money. I'm no preacher. Don't like to beg you to support nothing. It's for you. There'll be some buckets in the back. If you want to put it in, put it in. If you don't, see you later. I don't care. This is our movement. The buckets'll be outside. Secondly, a lot of people, probably a lot of people, think it's tomorrow and they'll probably say, "Yeah, the nigger preached hate." That's right. But I want to explain something to you. We live in a world of a tightrope of ignorance and elasticity called the world of dialectics. Meaning that for every action, there is a reaction. That there are opposites for everything. For hot there is cold. For sadness there is joy. For tears there is laughter. Everything has an opposite. Boy--girl. Everything has an opposite. The same is true about emotions. For every one emotion, there is another emotion. If you love, you must either know about hate or hatred. You must! You can't just love and not understand hate. You can't do it. You have to know what hate is so you can differentiate between hate and love. And if you have the potential to love, you have the potential to hate. That's a fact. I ain't got nothing to do with that. That's all fact and you know it. And if you have some hate, you come down. You got hate, annoy, obnoxious, he's obnoxious, dislike, don't like too much, don't care for, he's okay, I like him, I dig him, I love him. You have to do that. You have to understand that, because there are different degrees of love. If you loved everybody, you'd marry everybody. But because you can differentiate, you love one person and you marry that person. You make mistakes--(Laughter) Hate is to be loved and we have to understand that. Now, I say, that black people who say they do not hate the things that white people have done to us say that because they do not love black people. (Applause) To give you an example, when Dr. King was (unintelligible word), murder hit the street. I'm not kidding! Serious! I'm not lying, they killed him! Not mine, theirs! Like an old man said, "Brother, where are you going?" I said, "Look here, man, they just killed Dr. King. I HATE 'EM!" "No, no, don't talk about hate!" I said, "I HATE 'EM!!" He said, "No, no, you can't talk about hate!" I said, "I hate 'em 'cause I loved him!" He said, "I don't hate 'em." I said, "Yeah, cause you don't love him!" (Applause) If you love something, you are going to hate that which is trying to destroy that which you love. (Applause) If you love a woman and you say you love that woman, if someone tries to harm that woman, you are going to try and stop that somebody because you love that woman!

(Applause) If you have children and you love your children and somebody tries to attack your children, you're going to kill that person because you love your children. (Applause) If you see your brother knocked down on the street, you fight the person who knocked him down, because you love your brother. If you see another black man knocked down on the street and you walk by, you don't love him. If you see your people mowed down in the street by policemen and you can't even say, "I hate them!" you don't love your people! (Applause) If you loved your people, you would hate that which is trying to destroy your people! But worse than that, you do not even love yourself because you are your enemy! (Applause) We do not preach hate--we preach an undying love for our people because if you love your people, you will hate the enemy! Thank you.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

On November 15, 1968, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Stokely Carmichael appeared as a guest speaker at Tufts University, Medford, Massachusetts on that date. Carmichael represented the Black Panther Party (BPP).

The source advised that Carmichael arrived at the college at 8 p.m. and began to speak shortly thereafter. He was accompanied by [REDACTED]

b6 b7C

An audience of approximately 1,400 students and faculty members from Tufts and surrounding Boston area colleges were present. The source noted that the group in attendance fell considerably short of the 3,000 to 4,000 who were expected for Carmichael's appearance.

Several members of the BPP, whose identity was not known to the source, accompanied Carmichael during the talk and provided security for him.

Carmichael told the audience that he was for revolutionary violence to solve the problems of blacks in the United States. He stated that after his talk he would answer questions but that he would not be dissuaded from his stand concerning revolutionary violence. He told the audience that they and other white people might consider this posture fatalistic or suicidal but that he was committed to it. He indicated that Negroes in the United States were oppressed by violence and that it would take violence to relieve this oppression.

Carmichael scorned the liberals in the United States and Leftists groups. He stated that the liberals were ineffective and that Leftists groups, many of which follow the Moscow line, are often against capitalism but not against racism. He predicted there would be a violent conflict in the United States and that the Negroes should be prepared for it. He noted that the first step for Negro improvement must be the obtaining of a seat of power and he indicated that this might take violence to obtain. Carmichael stated he did not wish to receive assistance from the white "hippy" groups or the white radical groups. He stated that the students who demonstrated in Chicago at the Democratic National Convention in August, 1968, achieved little except to be brutalized by the Chicago Police while the whole world watched. He told the audience that if a "cop" were to try to strike him on the head, he would kill the cop and all the other cops nearby.

Carmichael stated that no serious coalition could exist between Negroes and any white groups with the possible exception of poor whites, but he noted that while they also are oppressed they do not seem to be able to organize. Carmichael stated he would use any form of violence to liberate himself and the black people living in the United States.

A characterization of the BPP is found in the appendix.

BLACK PANTHER PARTY, aka
Black Panther Party for Self Defense

A source advised that the Black Panther Party for Self Defense (BPPSD) was formed by HUEY PERCY NEWTON, Minister of Defense, [redacted] in December, 1966, as a militant black nationalist political organization to combat "police brutality," to unite militant black youth, and to determine the destiny of black communities. The political philosophy was taken from writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of Communist China and black militant writers.

b6 b7C

In March, 1968, the name of the organization was changed to Black Panther Party (BPP).

The official BPP publication, "The Black Panther Party - Black Community News Service," states that the BPP advocates use of guns and guerrilla tactics in their violent revolutionary program to end oppression of black people.

On February 17, 1968, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, Minister of Information, announced merger of the BPP and Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) [redacted]

b6 b7C

SNCC is a militant Negro organization which preaches black supremacy.

Headquarters of BPP and Huey P. Newton Defense Fund are located at 4421 Grove Street, Oakland, California.

Dear Sir,

It is very difficult to understand why Stokely Carmichael is allowed to go free preaching this sort of thing. North Carolina has tried so hard to help the Negro -- and now this nonsense in our Midst.

It reminds me of what Harry Truman said about Martin Luther King. When asked his opinion he quipped, "He's a troublemaker."

One can only assume that Stokely Carmichael is in the pay of the Communist Government of Russia -- trying to breed disorder & discontent. Why is he allowed to do so?

Negroes Told To Be Ready, Get Guns Now

RALEIGH (AP) — Black militant Stokely Carmichael, warning that "white America is preparing to commit genocide on black America," told about 1,000 Negro students at St. Augustine College Thursday to "get guns—now."

"I want to make one thing clear," Carmichael told the generally enthusiastic collegiate audience, "I am for violence. It is the only way in which black people can liberate ourselves from our oppressors."

"That is not to say that you should go out and mow white people down," the rangy radical said. "I just saying that, like good boy scouts, we should be prepared."

Carmichael urged Negro Americans to have "undying love for one another and one another alone."

"You see, I don't agree with Dr. Martin Luther King," he said. "If a white man slaps you, don't turn the other cheek; tear his arm off."

"But if a black man slaps you, turn the other cheek," he went on. "Black people are more violent with each other than they are with whites. That's got to stop, because we need each other for the struggle ahead."

Strict security measures were in effect at the auditorium where Carmichael spoke. Reporters and photographers, both white and black, were frisked by a group of red arm band wearing Negro students who said they were St. Augustine students "protecting Stokely."

Carmichael, who was accompanied by his wife, folk singer Miriam Makeba, got a standing ovation as he entered the hall. His address was interrupted several times by applause.

Carmichael said he doesn't care if people accuse him of preaching hatred. "Hate is the opposite of love; you cannot love if you don't hate."

"If you do not hate the white society that killed Dr. King, then you did not love Dr. King," he said.

as above.

By letter postmarked 11/9/68, the enclosed November, 1968 issue, No. 6 of "Hammer & Steel Newsletter" was recently received by the Boston Office.

By routing slip, the Central Research Division has been furnished copies of the above described newsletter since that unit instructed that each issue of "Hammer & Steel" be obtained and forwarded for review.

CHASE in this issue disagrees with statements made by STOKELY CARMICHAEL in a speech at Oakland, Calif. to the effect that "Communism is not an ideology suited for Black people." CHASE states, "We disagree with Mr. CARMICHAEL'S negative attitude toward geography and Black liberation."

Hammer & Steel's answer to STOKELY CARMICHAEL CHASE says "Would not include a defense of the temporary leaders of the Marxist movement especially those in state power. They are not Internationalists, not Marxists, in the tradition of LENIN and STALIN. They cannot develop or defend socialism". CHASE points out however that "A new Marxist-Leninist movement will be built which will raise high the standard of liberation for the Afro-American people and all oppressed people. A new Marxist-Leninist movement in both theory and practice will lead the fight towards white and great-power chauvinism among the white workers and the white middle class. Without this struggle, without large numbers of whites backing the right to self-determination for the Black people in the Black Belt, a Socialist revolution in the US is impossible."

On Page 9 of Issue #6, CHASE mentioned the fact that he received an invitation to participate in National Day celebrations 10/1/68 in the People's Republic of China and in "organized conferences of national and world representatives for the purpose of coordinating world-wide struggle." CHASE indicated that he considered the possibility that this invitation was a fraud, however he decided "that our obligations to the Afro-American people, to the revolutionary movement in our country and the world outweighed all other factors."

In view of the above, CHASE indicates in this issue, "We sent one of our members to Hong Kong as requested." CHASE points out that upon arrival the "representative" discovered there was no meeting and that Hammer & Steel was not the only one received by such an invitation.

As a result of this trip CHASE says Hammer & Steel spent a great deal of money and it has left "United States" in bad shape financially. CHASE then requested his readers to send any and all contributions they can to assist the news letter.

SOUL SCHOOL

Also Known As the Society of United Liberators, Incorporated

On July 19, 1968, a source advised that the Soul School located at 522 North Fremont Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, is not connected with any other institution in Baltimore City. All Soul School members have Arabic or African names and are forbidden to drink alcoholic beverages, use dope, or eat pork.

The source advised that the aim of the members is to teach the Negro about himself and build a nation for black men in America separate from the white race. Obtaining all land below the 40 degree parallel line of the United States for a black nation is the goal of the members, at any cost. The school is militant and it preaches militancy to black people. The uniting of all black people is the top theme. The members include both sexes, and courses in African culture are a major requirement of the school.

On July 19, 1968, the source furnished a pamphlet called "The Black Liberator," published by the Soul School, Baltimore, Maryland, and dated June 21, 1968. The pamphlet states, "The Soul School is a non-profit educational institution set up by black people. Its purpose is to enlighten black people through education and action. Students are urged to come to the school regularly and participate on any committee or work shop in which they have an interest. The black community both here in Baltimore and in the far-reaching corners of the black world is a thing in which we involve ourselves and study."

On July 10, 1968, [redacted] advised that

Reference LA Memorandum to SAC of SA [redacted] [redacted] dated 11/5/68 entitled: "BLACK PANTHER PARTY (BPP), RACIAL MATTERS".

Above referenced memorandum set forth intelligence report regarding the arrest of [redacted] a student at UCLA, on 9/26/68, by members of the UCLA campus Police. Among the possessions of [redacted] was a tape recorded part speech of STOKELY CARMICHAEL taken from a Craig tape recorder, model number 2106, serial number 623-2487. The statements by CARMICHAEL reportedly were highly militant and quoted as follows: 'We are at war with our leaders. We will kill them by any means necessary. If we cannot cure them (leaders) then we must retaliate. We are going to free our country of imperialism and capitalism until this system is changed. We must continue the struggle. The Police Department is a counter-revolutionary power. A revolutionary is one who is willing to kill to bring about a change for the working people'.

If not already done LA requested to attempt to obtain tape of the above statements of CARMICHAEL for possible future use. Attempt to ascertain when and where the statements were made and the identity of the person preparing the tape.

Disturbances by high school youths were reported in two separate subway incidents, one occurring on an IND subway train, Brooklyn-bound. Some 70 Negro youths home-ward bound from the Washington Square rally terrorized passengers and unscrewed light bulbs from the cars. A BMT subway train at Crescent Street and Fulton Avenue, Brooklyn, New York, was delayed 45 minutes as a result of a band of youths pulling the emergency cord and interfering with normal transportation of the train.

Detective [redacted] BSS, NYCPD, furnished the following information on December 3, 1968:

As of 3:20 PM, December 3, 1968, about 400 youths had arrived at CCNY, Convent Avenue and 138th Street, New York City, from an earlier demonstration at Washington Square Park, New York City. These youths joined others at CCNY to hear a scheduled speech by Stokely Carmichael sponsored by the Onyx Society, CCNY. The estimated number in attendance at Great Hall, CCNY, was 1,500.

Confidential source [redacted] furnished the following information on December 3, 1968:

Stokely Carmichael arrived late and commenced his speech at 4:15 PM. The meeting was scheduled to commence at 3:00 PM. Carmichael said the black man should love himself first; Blacks are too split up among themselves; the black militant is angry at the white man for not letting him into his society. The black revolutionist is distinguished from the black militant in that the former advocates overthrowing the present power structure by any means available. Stokely Carmichael finished his speech at 5:00 PM.

Confidential source [] supplied the following details concerning Stokely Carmichael's appearance at CCNY on December 3, 1968. The audience was approximately 60% Black and 40% white, the majority being high school students. Stokely Carmichael was introduced as Prime Minister of the BPP. Carmichael stated that a revolution must take place within this country in order that the Negroes might gain their rights.

He said the Negroes should not depend on white liberals for support and that Socialism and Communism are not the answer for the Blacks; neither is the ideology of the "New Left" or any assistance to the black revolution. He said he had visited both Cuba and Russia and that there is evidence of racism in both these countries. It is necessary for the blacks to love one another and not fight among themselves. With reference to firearms, he said that the blacks have to get arms as long as the whites have armed themselves; when speaking of violence, it is necessary to answer violence with violence. Stokely Carmichael was well received and also was given a standing ovation.

BLACK PANTHER PARTY

According to its official newspaper, the Black Panther Party (BPP) was started during December, 1966, in Oakland, California, to organize black people so they can take control of the life, politics, and the destiny of the black community. It was organized by Bobby George Seale, BPP Chairman, and Huey P. Newton, BPP Minister of Defense. Newton is presently serving a sentence of 2 to 15 years on a conviction of manslaughter in connection with the killing of an Oakland police officer.

The official newspaper, "The Black Panther," which further describes itself as the "Black Community News Service," states that the BPP advocates the use of guns and guerrilla tactics in its revolutionary program to end oppression of the black people. Residents of the black community are urged to arm themselves against the police who are consistently referred to in the publication as "pigs" who should be killed.

"The Black Panther" issue of September 7, 1968, contains an editorial by BPP Minister of Education, George Mason Murray, which ends with the following:

"Black men. Black people, colored persons of America, revolt everywhere! Arm yourselves. The only culture worth keeping is a revolutionary culture. Change. Freedom everywhere. Dynamite! Black Power. Use the gun. Kill the pigs everywhere."

Included in the introduction to an article appearing in the October 5, 1968, edition of "The Black Panther" is the statement, "...we will not dissent from American Government. We will overthrow it."

Issues of "The Black Panther" regularly contain quotations from the writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of the People's Republic of China and feature MAO's statement that "political

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE
(SNCC)

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, is a nonmembership organization, which was born out of the sit-in movement that erupted across the South beginning in 1960.

Today SNCC identifies itself as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

According to SNCC the year 1967 marked a historic milestone in the struggle for the liberation of black people in the United States and the year that revolutionaries throughout the world began to understand more fully the impact of the black movement. SNCC declared that "liberation will come only when there is final destruction of this mad octopus -- the capitalistic system of the United States with all its life-sucking tentacles of exploitation and racism that choke the people of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. The realities of black life, together with the recognition instilled in SNCC workers forced its members to further popularize the legitimacy of self-defense and rebellions when oppression became too great."

From May, 1966, until May, 1967, Stokely Carmichael was National Chairman of SNCC. As of July, 1968, Carmichael resided in Washington, D. C., where he was affiliated with SNCC and active as temporary chairman of a black coalition group. In May, 1967, Carmichael [REDACTED]

In June, 1968, at the Staff and Central Committee meeting of SNCC held in Atlanta, Georgia, it was decided to restructure the organization by equalization of responsibility by creating ten deputy or vice chairmanships. The primary purpose for this change is to take law enforcement pressure off any single individual.

Black Power Advocate Cries For Confrontation Of Races

By STACIE STEELE
Herald Correspondent

CHAPEL HILL — Black power advocate Stokely Carmichael, speaking to over 5,000 students at the University of North Carolina Thursday night, cried out for a confrontation between black and white America and called for revolutionary violence.

"We are for revolutionary violence. I won't hedge. We are for it," Carmichael declared.

Criticizing a desire by white liberals to stop confrontation, the prime minister of the Black Panther party accused liberals of wishing to maintain the status quo "to protect their own economic stability."

"Liberals are just one step up the ladder from law and order types," Carmichael told his audience in Carmichael Auditorium.

"The liberal does not offer a redress of grievances. He wants to say 'granted there have been problems between blacks and whites but let's settle everything peaceably.'"

"Liberals want to hold hands without punishing the guilty," Carmichael charged. "They want a change but they do not want to endanger their economic stability."

To back up his argument for confrontation, the militant said psychologists advocate clashes to settle personal conflicts. "Confrontation is good," he said.

"Confrontation between the allied forces and Nazi Germany in World War II was good,"

Carmichael said. "It stopped Nazism."

He also pointed to the clash between the British and American colonists which brought about freedom for the United States.

"Violence is not right or wrong," Carmichael said. "It is simply a question of who has the power to legitimize violence."

"In Vietnam, I could kill 30 North Vietnamese and become a hero. In Washington, I could kill 30 white policemen who have been brutalizing my people and I would get the electric chair."

Carmichael said "liberals do not understand power. If the oppressed listened to liberals, they could get into the same spot as the Jews who listened to them in 1930."

Speaking on third party candidate George Wallace, Carmichael said that while Democrat Eugene McCarthy remained wishy-washy and tried to gain influence, Wallace worked with power and formed the basis for a third party in the U.S.

He said liberals don't understand the difference between influence and power. "They feel it is important to influence legislation but then they lack the power to implement it."

Earlier in Raleigh, Carmichael warned that "white America is preparing to commit genocide on black America," and told about 1,000 Negro students at St. Augustine College to "get guns—now."

"I want to make one thing clear," Carmichael told the generally enthusiastic collegiate audience. "I am for violence. It is the only way in which black people can liberate ourselves from our oppressors."

"That is not to say that you should go out and mow white people down," the rangy radical continued. "I'm just saying that, like good boy scouts, we should be prepared."

Carmichael urged Negro Americans to have "undying love for one another and one another alone."

CARMICHAEL

... 'Get Guns Now'

"You see, I don't agree with Dr. Martin Luther King," he said. "If a white man slaps you, don't turn the other cheek; tear his arm off."

"But if a black man slaps you, turn the other cheek," he went on. "Black people are more violent with each other than they are with whites. That's got to stop, because we need each other for the struggle ahead."

Strict security measures were in effect at the auditorium where Carmichael spoke. Reporters and photographers, both white and black, were frisked by a group of red arm band wearing Negro students who said they were St. Augustine students "protecting Stokely."

Carmichael, who was accompanied by his wife, folk singer Miriam Makeba, got a standing ovation as he entered the hall. His address was interrupted several times by applause.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

The honorable brother Stokely Carmichael.

Good evening brothers and sisters and a special good evening (UNINTELLIGIBLE). We have an awful lot of things to talk about tonight. I don't usually talk very long, but if you will excuse me because there is some specific reasons why we have to talk at length.

The first is that the repressive agency of the fascist government is stepping up which means that we are going to have less and less public rights. So that while we can have them now, we ought to take advantage of them.

Number two, the news media is not going to carry any news of any activity of any black man who's really doing something for his people so that the only time we will have a chance is when there is face to face contact with those people who do not work consciously on a day to day basis. For those two reason specifically, I would like to take some time now to speak with you tonight.

Before I do, I would like to introduce two brothers traveling with me of the Black Panther Party. One is the Field Marshal for the West Coast; the other is the Field Marshal from the East Coast. Respectively, they are Don Cox and Chico Neblett. You should probably know that Chico Neblett hails from C-Dale, otherwise known as Carbondale. The only way I know it's Carbondale is because I know (UNINTELLIGIBLE).

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Now we want to discuss a lot of things tonight, and we want to discuss specifically how a colonized people move for their liberation, how a colonized people move towards revolution and prepare their tactics so that they win. While in doing that we want to define a lot of terms, terms such as revolution, arms struggle, revolutionary violence, colonization, exploitation, so that from now on when we speak there will be some basic ground words, and we will all be working from the same frame of mind.

We want to deal in the first part of the talk with some concepts that we have to lay down that can become a cohesive force for us. Now the one thing all of us learn when we are small is about the disunity of all people of our skin. We learn to have no confidence or no respect for ourselves. The slogan we learn from the time we are small is that Niggers are shit. The second statement is that Niggers can't get together. You can't help the Nigger. Look at them, they don't care about anybody but themselves. All the terms that we first learn they are embedded in our minds are terms which are made to destroy us, to disunite us, to keep us apart and to build up a hatred that we have for each other, so that we learn to hate each other subconsciously without knowing it. So much is our hatred for each other that if someone stepping on one of our toes or our new shined shoes we are ready to cut and kill, whereas a hunky policeman can slap us around and all we do is bow and say yes sir.

But that is because a colonized people are trained to hate themselves. That is the way they are moved. If you can keep them hating and fighting themselves, than they are too busy to organize and fight the major enemy.

Now in order to counteract that feeling we must begin to deal concretely with it by advocating concepts which we can all grasp.

The first concept that we advocate is that we, black people, must have an undying love for each other. We must have an undying love for each other. That concept is going to be the hardest concept that we can deal with because we hate each other and ourselves so much, that concept. But if we can grasp and understand the concept of undying love, there is nothing stands in our way, and that love means that we will do anything for our people, not only die for them but kill for them.

Undying love means that we are willing to forgive our people even though we are working for them. We must develop a concept of undying love for our people. Undying love means that if a hunky cop attacks a brother, he is dead. Undying love means that if we have a loaf of bread and our brother has none, we have a half and he has a half - undying love. Undying love means that if one of our brothers does not see the way we take time out with him and patience and teach him the way. Undying love means that we can be non-violent towards our brothers, and that concept is going to be very hard for us to deal with because of the hatred that we have been taught all these years for each other and the hatred that we have for ourselves. So let us suffice to say the concept of undying love is the most important.

Let us move on to the second concept which is just as important and flows from the person. The second concept states that every Negro is a potential Black Man, and that concept is very important for us as a people, and it is very, very important because people overlook it all the time you know. Let me give you some examples. I know a young lady who went to college with me. While in college I was going with a girl who wore a natural. She was the first girl at the school where she went to wear a natural, Howard University. The young lady attacked my girl friend for wearing a natural and wanted to disspell her. My girl friend was mixed up at the time as she wanted to pledge some sorority. After she got herself together, she decided it wasn't worthwhile. The young lady attacked her viciously. A couple of years later I saw this same young lady who was now wearing a natural. As we were talking and I was laughing about how childish she was in college, and at that time another young lady came up to me who had her hair pressed, and the young lady with the natural turned around and started to attack her viciously.

You laught but you read every day that the (UNINTELLIGIBLE) always attacks the Negroes because the Negro (UNINTELLIGIBLE) . And just as it took time for that young lady to wake up and wear a natural so that it will take time for the other ladies to wake up. But if the lady with the natural emanates the lady with the pressed hair, it will take a longer time. She should work with her in a concept of undying love and bring her home. And we have to do that because when Brother Malcolm X was preaching to us all of us was falling into crazy Nigger preaching hate and violence. And just like it took time for us to wake up, it will take time for other brothers and sisters to wake up, but they will wake up faster if we help them rather than condemn them, and that is as political as you can get and as revolutionary as you can get. Martin King says in the little red book that to condemn one's people is to take the side of the enemy, so that on any level we work with it we come out. Not only that but if we say we're black our recruits must come from Negroes, they can't come from white folk. And while there are thousands more people in the City of St. Louis and East St. Louis there are only a handful here tonight, and if we are to be successful, it is our job to make sure the next time that every black person in St. Louis and East St. Louis is in here. So, we must understand this concept.

The third concept is perhaps a little bit harder to grasp and understand. That's because we have been living inside the continental borders of the United States and we have allowed white people to define us, not only the country, the geography, the atmosphere, but they have also defined us. Now the third concept. For black people the question of community is not just simply a question of mind, it is a question of our people and where they are. For black people the question of community is not just simply a question of land, it is a question of our people and where they are. That means to say that if we understand the concept if we have people in American, anywhere in America where we go where the people are we are home. For example, if we went to Chicago. Well, that's a bad example. Let me take another one. I'll tell you why, I'll come back to it. If you went to Los Angeles, you would not be at home until you were in Watts. If you went to New York, you would not be at home until you were in Harlem. If you went to Chicago, since the whole city is just about black, then you could be at home there, the south side and the west side; and if you went to Washington, D. C., the whole city is black people, then you're home, anywhere you go is home. Now if we understood that concept, then we could do the thing that Brother Malcolm X was trying to do, we could understand in our minds that wherever black people are, we are at home. That means if you go to Haiti, you're home. If you go to the island of Puerto Rico where 60% of the people are African, you're home, home, home. If you go to Cuba, the prettiest little island on the face of the earth, 65% of the population is African, the outcome being you're home. If you go to Brazil, 50% of the population is black, Guatamala 65%, Venezuela 45%, Santa Domingo 65%, Panama 45%, Dominican Republic 47%. The stretch all along the northeastern portion of South America is populated with Africans. You leave there you go to the West Indies. The entire West Indies is populated with people of African descent, you're home and baby when you touch the motherland you know you're home for sure.

But in order to understand that concept we have to redefine ourselves. We cannot call ourselves American Negroes, which are different from Cuban Negroes, which are different from Puerto Rican Negroes, which are different from Brazilian Negroes. No, we are people of African descent, all of us. We come from Africa, all of us. We had absolutely nothing to say about where we would be born. The white man stole us from Africa, dropped us in the West Indies, dropped us in Brazil, dropped us in Panama, dropped us in the United States and even took some to Canada, those that didn't make it. Nobody of African descent sitting in this room knows who his ancestors are, nobody does. So for you to see a black man from Brazil and start to talk about fighting him, you might be fighting your own blood brother for real.

And we must develop rapidly because the United States is going to do what it's always done to fight black people against black people. When the Dominican Republic had its uprising, it was black soldiers that the United States sent into the Dominican Republic to suppress black people. Black man fighting black man, but the Nigger was against fighting with the American Negro. He ain't nothing but a Nigger.

And until we begin to understand those concepts in our mind, more and more we will be used against our own people. Just like they are using the South Vietnamese against their brother North Vietnam, they will be using black people in American against black people in South America, the West Indies and in Africa. And when most of the (UNINTELLIGIBLE) if they ever invade a black country, we'll burn their city down to the ground.

So we have to understand those three concepts realistically because it depends upon our very survival.

Nowthen, let me just make a slight differentiation between Negroes and Africans because it's important. Brother Chico writes this down very well. He says when the white man went to Africa and stole us, he didn't steal any Negroes, he stole Africans or black people. He didn't steal no Negroes. When they came to Africa, we were free Africans or black people. When they brought us here, we were slaves and we became Negroes. So that means that slavery and Negro is the same. You've got to understand that concept as Brother Chico says it took the white man 300 and some odd years to make us Negroes, but understand deeply the concept of Negroes versus Africans. If you say you are Negro, you trace your ancestry back to the United States, and what that means is that you trace your ancestry back to slavery so that no matter what you do you begin in slavery, and like everything else if you beginning is slavery you can hope to be nothing but a slave. The best you can do is hope to be a good slave.

If you say that you are African, you trace your ancestry back not to people who were free, but people who gave civilization to the world, you are African, and then you can aspire to be as great as your ancestors were, Shackagulu (PHONETIC), Umzuligazzi (PHONETIC), Hannibal, all of the mighty warriors of this country. Then you can (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

. I mean, if you don't know that, you could never aspire to be like Hannibal and Shackagulu (PHONETIC) and Jazzah (PHONETIC), you could only aspire to be a Benjamin Banaker. Don't laugh, because that's what they're write down on you now as Negro history. Benjamin Banaker, even though he was a slave, served his masters well. Crispus Attucks, even though he was a slave and his brothers were in chains, died for white folk fighting the British. No concept, you can't deal with that. You can't fight for anybody if you're a slave. If I'm a slave, I'm gonna fight to kill my master and set my people free. That's the only job I got, and unless we consciously understand that, they are gonna run this Negro education stuff down our children's throats, and they will come out singing praises to slaves, who even though they were slaves, served their country well. If I'm a slave and the country is at war, I'm helping the enemy whoop them to death.

We can educate our people with a man like Crispus Attucks to show that black people have always been loyal, but we don't emanate Crispus Attucks. He was a fool. He was a fool. While the English from England were fighting the English from this country, he should have teamed up with the Indians and whooped them both.

So then, we have to understand very clearly the difference between Negro, African and black man. No Negro, we're African or we're black people. Must be. Can't be nothing like a Negro. There ain't no such thing.

Now then, having used those concepts we must begin to move forward and we must begin to move forward in an organizational manner. And don't let anybody tell you that we can't get organized. We the most organized of the peoples in the world. Look what we are; Masons, (UNINTELLIGIBLE), Eastern Stars and Muslims (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

We just organizing, organizing. The only problem with our organizing in the past is that we organized to accommodate the white man. Today we must organize to fight the white man. You don't have to be scared when I say fight the white man. I'm not even scared because I know you won't have to fight him anyway. It don't bother me. I know you gonna have to fight him cause he's gonna fight you. Just for our survival we are going to have to fight. For we must stop kidding ourselves, we must stop playing games and we must say black people got to get, to get, to get some guns. We have to get guns. Get guns of any kind to (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

. Negro, get some guns. Get some guns. The same type of guns the police got, the same type of guns the National Guard got, the same type of guns the Army got, that's the type of guns we gotta get because they are gonna supply us our ammunition for us (UNINTELLIGIBLE). I learned that from my Field Marshal Don Cox. It's very important. He said don't go out there and get no fancy pearl handle, Spanish beretta gun, the only one that got nine bullets. Get you a gun like the pig got so when you kill him you got a bullet (UNINTELLIGIBLE) . I know that many of our people get afraid of this talk of guns, but I'm preaching equality. You see white woman on television getting instructions on how to shoot don't you, but if you believe in equality if a white woman got a gun, black woman should have a gun.

You're talking about Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael, ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, HUEY Everett (UNINTELLIGIBLE), LOUIE NEWTON, or all these other Niggers running around the country talking about get guns, starting trouble. (UNINTELLIGIBLE) you see on television, you read in the papers, white folk getting guns. If you believe in equality, then you get the same thing the white man does.

You cannot talk about equality if I got an M-16 under my arm and you got a switchblade. That is not equality. That's why when the brothers get one on the street they call it an equalizer. So I don't think we need to talk much longer about guns.

Now I know the questions that black people always ask. (UNINTELLIGIBLE). Alright, I'll tell you. There are three fair ways to get anything you want. You work for it, you beg for it, or you take it. Now you can either work for a gun, beg for a gun, or take a gun. Don't get scared. The white man didn't work for America, you work for America. The white man didn't beg for America, he took America. The white man didn't work for you or beg for you, he took you from Africa. So don't raise with me any moral issues. Black people don't have time for morality. We're fighting for our lives. We have no moral responsibility to white people, only moral responsibility to each other. We can totally disrespect the white man because not only has he never had any force, he still doesn't have any force. So those black people who raise questions about getting guns, it is not that they don't know how to get them, they are afraid to get them, and we should work with them and tell them why it is necessary for them to have a gun.

But now we have to go back to the concept of undying love to understand that getting guns alone don't get people where they at. We'll discuss that a little bit later on. Let us talk a little bit more about organization.

There are three levels basically on which we can organize ourselves, politically, educationally and economically. Politically speaking neither of the parties, conventional parties of the United States, speak to the needs of black people. The Republican Party and the Democratic Party, is totally irrelevant to the lives of black people. (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

But what happens is that my mother gives her labor and sweat to this white woman who then pays my mother about $30 a week, and because my mother stays home, she's able to go out and make some more money so she is (UNINTELLIGIBLE). Let me give you another example. My father is a carpenter, or was a carpenter, a very good carpenter, an excellent carpenter.
My father was (UNINTELLIGIBLE) because he didn't have any money to buy the materials to build a house. A white man would have the capital so he would employ my father to build a house. My father would build the best house for about $30, $40, $50, maybe $60 a week when it was good season. When my father finished the house, the white man sell the house for about $25,000, $30,000 or $35,000. The white man would then get all the profit. What happened was that my father, who had the labor and skill, had to give all of his sweat to this white man who just had capital, money. Because the white man had the money he could make my father work for him for money.
We live in a capitalist society. Now the white man must at some point stole money somewhere, because he and my great, great, great grandfather came into the world owning nothing.
So somewhere the white man stole money somewhere. I know that he stole the United States of America. I know that.
I know he stole Africa. I know he stole Asia. I know he stole Latin America. I'm not sure how he stole Europe, or as some people say, I'm not sure how he came out of the caves.

Now imperialism is where the country that exploits another country, and let me try to give a example of that. In Cuba before the mighty and great Fidel Castro took over and beat America, the Cuban people were forced to pick sugar cane for 40¢ a week. When they picked sugar cane for 40¢ a week, the United States would bring the sugar cane here, manufacture it into sugar, sell it to the rest of the world and sell it back to Cuba at a profit. So while Cuba had the resources and the labor, all the United States provided was the capital and took everything and did not divide the profits with the laborers. That basically is an imperialist country. The United States today is the leader of world imperialism. She exploits Africa, Asia and Latin America. So we have to understand that our (UNINTELLIGIBLE). What are we fighting for (UNINTELLIGIBLE). A society free of capitalism and exploitation. That's what we have to fight for. Of course, we could become black imperialists, and then the world would hate us too, just like they hate them. But we're not going to become (UNINTELLIGIBLE). We cannot imitate (UNINTELLIGIBLE) and create. Besides, we couldn't be imperialistic capitalists, we would be exploiting Africa. Why should our flesh and blood (UNINTELLIGIBLE)? We can't exploit our own people. So we have to understand that. (UNINTELLIGIBLE) as being thrown around too loosely. Everyone is talking about (UNINTELLIGIBLE) the black stage of revolution. So don't say such a thing as the black revolution. A revolution does not begin until someone seizes power and over throws and changes the system for the masses of people. That's where the revolution begins. A revolution does not begin until you seize power. Black people ain't seized the gun, let alone power.

Let me give you an example. Fidel Castro fought in the Sierra (UNINTELLIGIBLE) for several years but that was not the Cuban revolution. The Cuban revolution did not begin until Fidel Castro walked into Havanna, Cuba, kicked Batista and the American lackies out and said this day I claim this island for the masses of the people of Cuba. Then the revolution began. Then the revolution began, because then Fidel was able to do with the system what he wanted. He had the power. He could make the system fight and work for the masses of people. Before that point he couldn't do anything.

So what stage preceeds a revolution? The ^{stage} ~~state~~ that preceeds a revolution is called arms struggle. That's when the forces, the revolutionary forces, are fighting against the counter-revolutionary forces. Black people in this country are beginning to go into the stage of arms struggle. We have to declare it in our terms. So we understand arms struggle and we understand revolution.

Now what is a revolutionary. In order to be a revolutionary, one must pick up a gun. But merely picking up the gun does not make one a revolutionary. You must understand that. In order to be a revolutionary, one must pick up the gun. So we can say that picking up the gun to be a revolutionary picking up the gun is necessary, but it is not sufficient. Once one has the gun one must be armed with the political ideology that speaks for the masses of our people. Must. Must. Those two things combined makes one a revolutionary. There are a whole lot of Niggers that got guns. They are not revolutionaries. There are a lot of brothers with guns in Vietnam. They are not revolutionaries. They are not revolutionaries. There are a lot of brothers who get guns and shoot each other. They are not revolutionaries. There is nothing revolutionary about shooting a Nigger. Niggers been doing that, Nigger. So that we say that a revolutionary is someone who has picked up the gun, is willing to kill for his people, not die. Anybody can die. Kill for his people. Kill for his people. Anybody can die for his people. Kill for his people and armed with a political ideology that speaks to the masses (UNINTELLIGIBLE).

Now then what is a black militant, because there is a difference between a black militant and a black revolutionary. A revolutionary seeks to change the entire system of America, over throw the racists and capitalist system.

A black militant is a Nigger who is angry that he has been kept out of the United States. He just yelling to become part of the United States. That's a black militant. And you see a lot of black militants. I see them on TV all the time. If you don't give us a positive program, we'll burn your city down. A man comes along and gives him $20,000 a year. Cool it baby. Cool it. Cool it. Cool it baby. Cool it. Cool it. Cool it.

So we must understand the difference between a black militant and a black revolutionary. A black militant wants in. A black revolutionary wants to over throw, destroy, over turn, disrupt, tear down and beat up.

Then we must talk about revolutionary violence and counter-revolutionary violence. Killing is a political act. Killing is a political act when it is involved with armed forces. It is always a political act when involved in armed forces. A black soldier killing a yellow man in Vietnam today is committing a political act. That's a fact. A white policeman shooting a Nigger in the street is committing a political act. A black man shooting a cop, a hunky racist cop, is committing a political act. A black man snipping at a policeman is committing a political act. Black people mean to become political.

Counter-revolutionary violence is violence that's used to keep the status quo. That's counter-revolutionary violence. Revolutionary violence is violence that is aimed to overthrow the status quo. The police force is involved in counter-revolutionary violence because they aim to maintain the status quo. The brothers who are snipping policemen are a revolutionary force aimed to overthrow the counter-revolutionary force because they are engaged in arms struggle (UNINTELLIGIBLE). It makes sense.

Now then, why the police force? We have to talk about that at some length. I didn't know it would take this long. When a people begin to fight, there are three levels they learn on when they begin to fight revolutionary warfare. The first is that they attack the symbols of oppression, which are not always human. That is are things, objects. Secondly, they attack the tools of oppression. These are human and non-human. That is to say, they may be men and they may be things, objects, and finally to attack the oppressor himself. That's always human. Our people, black people in this country, have showed and demonstrated a revolutionary consciousness. We have moved against the symbols of oppression. That's the stores. They represented the first blatant symbol of oppression for us. You go into a store, hunky owns it, he insults you, he charges you high prices for rotten goods, blah, blah, blah, blah. See he goes. His store is burned. That's the first level.

The second leved is the tool of the oppressor. The tool of the oppressor represents the occupied force, the police force; and that's why there is more and more snipping incidents and there will be more and more snipping incidents in our community. They cannot print them. They will not print them, but baby it's going on. They're snipping left and right, morning, noon and night. And the policemen represent the forces that come into the community to keep our people, to control our people, and to make sure our people do not move out of the boxes that we have been put in by the oppressor himself. The occupied forces may be the same color as we are. They may be. They will have to define on which side they stand on the fence by their actions.

Because of the effects of colonization on us, the oppressed usually tries to identify with the oppressor in the means where he can oppress the oppressed more brutally than the oppressor. That's a black cop trying to be more hunky on a black man than a white man. And we must try and understand why he does these things, and if we understand, perhaps we can deal with them. We can say to him the first time, dig it brother, or you don't have to come down so hard on the brother. I mean it ain't your store, really you don't get nothing for it but a hard way to go. The second time around, look it brother. You don't have to hit him so hard,

I mean like you did brother. (UNINTELLIGIBLE) covers you. We're down her catching the aches. Ain't no reason for you to jump on him so hard brother (UNINTELLIGIBLE). The third time we say, look brother, this is our fight, all of us. The man using you against us and he wants us to get mad with you and we start fighting each other. Now we trying to stop that brother. We come to you slack three times, next time you die. For we gave him time because we have undying love. I'm very serious about that because a colonized people begin to fight they are so anxious to fight each other, that they don't get a chance to get to the enemy. That's right and unless we are conscious of the fact that we shouldn't always jump to kill somebody else who is our color and dressed as we are, we're going to be in trouble. So we should not always want to fight, and if we really have undying love, if you have undying love, it's gonna hurt you when you have to punish your own. So if we have to kill one of our own, we should really be hurt about it. I mean sincerely hurt about it. As hurt as we would be if we had to commit one of our children to a youth reformatory school. That's how hurt we must be. Once we get like that, then we're moving in the right path. But we have to understand that undying love because I'm deadly serious about that. The police force represents them breaking our forces of our community and we have to actively engage in ware against them.

Now let me explain something about self defense and aggressive violence. Of course, I'm not teaching aggressive violence because that's against the law, and I ain't going to jail for what I say. That's a fight for white folk. They fighting for free speech. I'm fighting for my rights. I ain't going to jail for what I say. If I go to jail, it's gonna be for what I do.

Well now, let me explain to you vaguely without concrete terms about self defense and aggressive violence. Chico Neblett says, and he's correct, that in self defense you never ever change anything. Things remains the same. All you do is stay in your little rat hole, and when they come to get you, you shoot it out, but you never get out of the rat hole. Let me give you an example, just an example. This is not concrete. It's abstract. If the United States was a racist country and if they weren't democratic, of course, we know they're democratic, and if they had black people chained up in ghettos all over this country, and if they had white policemen beating up black people indiscriminately and if black people decided to arm themselves and everytime a policeman shot one, they shot a policeman, things would never change. They would always stay in the ghetto. The only difference is that the policeman may not overtly move against them. But if the black people wanted to change things, they would have to aggressively move against the police force, only theoretical. Only theoretical. So that in order to change, those people who want, theoretically speaking, must move against the oppressor. They must move against them. They just cannot stand and defend themselves. Self defense will never change anything. It will just keep them alive. Brother Malcolm X (UNINTELLIGIBLE) theoretically speaking that if black people in this country wanted revolutionary change then we would have to move aggressively. How then would we move aggressively? How then would we move aggressively? Brother Malcolm X used to talk, but unfortunately a lot of us wasn't listening when he was serious. We wanted to listen to when he was bad. You know when he was militant: Beat up the white man. Go shoot him down. Yeh man, go get him now. Go get him now. (UNINTELLIGIBLE) but when the brother was serious, we were waiting for the (UNINTELLIGIBLE), you know (UNINTELLIGIBLE). We got to get out of there. We got to get serious. There's a quote that Brother Malcolm has and I repeat the quote to you. I paraphrase it because I cannot remember it correctly. He says show me a Frenchman who has fought in Indochina, and I will show you a white man who has the shakes. Show me a Frenchman who has fought in Algeria, and I will show you a white man who has the shakes. He continues by saying show me any white man who has faced a guerrilla, and I will show you a white man who has the shakes. (UNINTELLIGIBLE). Brother Malcolm X said we need to go into guerrilla warfare because he said in guerrilla warfare after-dark evens the score. We have to understand the concept of the guerrilla. We have to know

We have to know how to move as a guerrilla. You never had a confrontation with a force superior to you. You never had a confrontation with a force superior to you. A guerrilla picks his ground to fight his battle and wins--and wins--and wins. A guerrilla is not a martyr. He's not concerned with dying. He's concerned with killing and living to kill again. A guerrilla is not wild. He's wise. He's deathly. He's like a panther. You never see him. He strikes and before you know you dead, he's gone. But there are a lot of things we need to know about guerrillas. A guerrilla has the respect and admiration of his people. A guerrilla has the respect and admiration of his people. He works to bring his people together so that if he is in trouble, he can run to any place and be assured of a hiding place. A guerrilla works for respect and the uplifting of his entire community. A guerrilla don't walk around cursing, showing guns, being bad, militant. A guerrilla is a gentleman at all times, a leader in the community helping any way he can all peoples in the community, and a guerrilla never attacks his own people, except in self defense. This was revolutionary. Whenever you see the news, you hear 17,000 North Vietnamese killed today, 100 American soldiers. You never hear South Vietnamese being killed do you. That's because when I was in Hanoi the liberation forces of Vietnma told me they never attack the South Vietnames unless it is in self defense. As a matter of fact, they run from the South Vietnamese even though they could kill them because they recognize the South Vietnamese's minds are mixed up and the real enemy is the imperialists of the United States of America.

The South Vietnamese are puppets. The North Vietnamese know that. If they shoot a puppet, the white man gonna put another puppet there, and if they shoot the white man, there ain't no more puppets. We must understand this about the Uncle Toms in our people. Don't be shooting them, unless he moves against us. Make him irrelevant. This is the one we're after. Because if you shoot one Uncle Tom, they're gonna get another. If you shoot him, then they gonna get another, but if you shoot him, Uncle Tom won't come home.

The guerrilla can never loud mouth. The guerrilla can never say what he has done, what he can do and who he is going to do it too. The guerrilla is known only to his small group of people. In the cities they tell me it should be no more than three. No more than three. That protects the guerrilla organization. If one guerrilla is picked up before he knows his two other people that's all they can get. If the guerrilla moves in a group of ten and they pick up one, and he talks that's ten gone. And don't say you won't talk because you don't know how much punishment you can take. If you know only two, you can't tell no more than two. The guerrilla is never hot tempered. If he's walking the street and a white policeman and another white policeman there, he's outnumbered jacking up some brother, he doesn't loud mouth. He checks out the badge numbers and move away. Leave the loudmouthing to the people who are top ground. That's not the job of the guerrilla because those on top ain't got but so much more time to go anyhow. Let the guerrilla pick the badge number he wants. His job is to live to fight. His job is not to educate the masses. His job at this point is to fight, to let the masses to organize, to be the bulk grounds to educate. If they're not educating the masses correctly, the guerrilla should visit them.

If we're talking about revolution if we shock you (UNINTELLIGIBLE) and being black militants, then we don't talk about this. But if we're talking about sure enough blood bath revolution, this is what we got to get into. I'm not worried because black people got to fight. Got to fight.

Now we have in St. Louis some brave warriors. We have WAYMON THORNTON on the Zulu's, CHARLES KOHN of the Black Liberators. Young, strong men but they begin to direct, educate and lead our people. They will make mistakes. We all do. We all will. But if the masses of people are moving consciously with them, they can help direct them in the proper path. It is our job to do that, not to criticize them for the sake of criticizing but so to criticize them constructively and warding out alternatives for incorrect paths they have taken. They need our help. All of them. They need your help specifically on a day-to-day basis. They need your help specifically on a day-to-day basis. (UNINTELLIGIBLE) they can't develop into true leaders of our people. We need leaders. We desperately need leaders because we don't have none, and that's the worst thing you can say for a people. Ain't got, and those that we got teach us (UNINTELLIGIBLE). Everytime you turn around and when they get snatched and try to organize, and the Negro has to be militant, (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

Well, he's only facing fact that he's in jail for saying things that made you feel good. That's all. May be too much (UNINTELLIGIBLE). So the white man wants to isolate him so the white man puts a restriction on him. Of course, he can break restriction and face three more years or five years. That ain't too long to lose in jail. (UNINTELLIGIBLE) nothing that ain't worth it. It ain't worth it. The brother should stay where he is and he should have our support and we should let him know when they touch him, someone gonna go down. Nobody has to doubt it (UNINTELLIGIBLE) Nobody else gonna talk bad about the hunky Niggers (UNINTELLIGIBLE). Might make some mistakes. But he was doing what he thought was best. Everybody who (UNINTELLIGIBLE) him or (UNINTELLIGIBLE). We have many political prisoners in jail today. The jails are overflowing with them. There's Huey P. NEWTON. We are not worried about the brothers really because our decision is made. When they make their decision if that decision is guilty, the sky is the limit. That's already done so we don't have to talk about that.

Now you have people in jail here. How many? Thousands. You have a lieutenant from the black warriors picked up for protecting ADAM CLAYTON POWELL (UNINTELLIGIBLE) because someone had threatened ADAM CLAYTON POWELL's life. He was doing what he thought was correct, whether right or wrong, he was doing what he thought was correct and moving in the fashion which he thought was accurate. Can't let him sleep in jail. Got to get him out. At this stage we need our people on the streets with us, not in jail. If they can cut off the leadership before the movement develops, the struggle is set back.

(UNINTELLIGIBLE)

All them other Niggers say you can't do that man. Don't do that. Here, he's our people. He's good. The Nigger got to go, Nigger. And all the protestation and demonstrations would not stop them from putting ADAM CLAYTON POWELL out of office. The vote is total government because power does not come from the vote. Power as Mao Tse Sung says, comes from the barrel of the gun. Because if we had understood that just imagine all those black people who came to the Capitol to demonstrate for Brother POWELL. If we all walked up there with guns and said Nigger is staying.

I will give you another example of power with the gun, among white folk. You've been watching the Democratic Convention. Did you check it out last night? All those white folk up there that (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

That's what he says is that when you go to school you only learn what people think you should learn, what they think is good, what they believe in and what their society has been brought up in. In other words, you help perpetuate a system when you become educated in that system. So you've got to understand education is not truth. Education is propaganda. Let me give you an example. Young lady, who discovered America? Young lady, who discovered America? No Christopher Columbus did not discover America. But all of us thinks he did. Christopher Columbus didn't discover America. America was here when the hunky came. I want to use that example in another (UNINTELLIGIBLE). Because just as everybody believes that Christopher Columbus discovered America so you believe in America, (UNINTELLIGIBLE) and motherhood. Yes, because it has been drummed down on all of our minds. All of us believe that Christopher Columbus discovered America, and when we say Christopher Columbus discovered America (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

That is not to say that we shouldn't fight because the white man controls everything. That should be more of a stimulus to fight because he controls everything.

Now (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

the poverty program down our throats, and the poverty program is aimed to do two things and only two things. Number one, divide and split the black community, and number two, control the leadership of the black community. And I do not think there is any need for us to go into an explanation of that. The poverty program has been around this country long enough for all of us to know what they are doing and will continue to do. Therefore, if we become involved in the poverty program, it should be used for one reason and one reason only to bring our people together. (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

Now we want to talk especially for this community about two things. It's going to be long. Are you people tired? That's good, because we got armed men guarding the back. If you said yes, you couldn't get out anyhow.

We want to talk about the difference between colonization and exploitation, and then move into the need for unity and the formation of a black united front in this area, specifically talking about the destruction and position of the black community but without specifically talking about those in this area because while I know they exist, I cannot speak on them because I do not live here on a day-to-day basis. It is up to the people who are involved in those division and (UNINTELLIGIBLE) to sit down and work them out for the benefit of our people, for the benefit of the masses of our people.

There are two types of oppression we want to deal with basically, exploitation and colonization. Exploitation is when one person oppresses another person economically. Therefore, the only form of oppression is taking money from them, using the (UNINTELLIGIBLE) to get another person rich. That's exploitation. That's all we have to consider. The oppression just has to do with money. Colonization on the other hand is different. It does not only have to do with oppression for the sake of monetary wealth, it has to do with oppression for the sake of dehumanizing the individual.

Now let me show you why there is a differentiation. In exploitation is when same race are involved. For example, if a white person is oppressing another white person, that's exploitation. He's just taking money from that person, just money. For example, you got rich white people and poor white people. Poor white people are exploited. They have the same values, the same systems, the same way of life, the same history, the same language as rich white people. All they need is money. Having once obtained that money they can melt into a system. That's different from someone who is colonized. When you're colonized, the question of race comes into play. Colonization is when one race totally oppresses another race solely because of their race. We are a colonized people. That is to say not only are we striped of moeny, we are striped of our culture, our values, our language, our history, our total way of life. Poor white people are not dehumanized. They try to (UNINTELLIGIBLE) poor white people, and poor black people have the same problem. We do not have the same problem. If you had all the money in the world when you walk down the street you would still be a Nigger. If you had all the money in the world, you still do not have the same values, the same culture, the same system, or the same way of life as an European because you're basically African. And I'll find you out everytime. I'll see you sitting up there with white folk and I'll go in there and slip an Uretha and we must begin to understand that because as we move our allies must be not people who are exploited necessarily but people who are also colonized. Because the fight of colonized people is for humanity. The fight for exploited people is for more money. You've got to understand that. We, black people, in this country are not only fighting for economic security we are fighting for our very humanity. That means we fight and the forces of the world will fight for humanity. That's very, very important. Because we're really a dehumanized people. We are so dehumanized we cannot hate our oppressor. That's how dehumanized we are because all human people hate their oppressors, but dehumanized people cannot even hate their oppressor, and because we are dehumanized, we do not function on emotions because if we did we would know that emotions operate in opposites. For every action there is a reaction. That is a fact of life. For hot, there's cold. For joy, there is sorrow. For laughter, there is tears. For love, there is hate, and if you love you got to hate, or you at least got to know about hate. But when we say we do not hate our oppressors, it is because we do not love our people. We do not love our people. Because if we loved our people, we would have to hate our oppressor for what they are doing to our people. If you have a child, you love that child, but if somebody comes to attack and kill that child, what would you do to that somebody? You'd kill him. But it's because we do not have that undying love for our people that when a Nigger gets show we can turn our heads and walk away. Ah, I don't hat the white man. I don't hate the rich white man. If it was your child lying in the street, you'd kill him. Kill him. That's all you'd talk about. Until we have an undying love for our people, we ain't going no where. Don't let the white man tell you there ain't no such thing as hate. You tell him hunky, we don't hate you, we love our people and its love that motivates us to ruin you when you oppress against our people. If we can understand that motivation, then it's positive. I love my mother. I love my wife. I love my sisters. I don't want nobody laying their filthy hands on them. If anybody does, then either I die or they die. Now if we were to fill that way about all our people, there would be no problem in this country. If we felt that way about all our people, there would be no problem in this country. I don't care if my sister is a prostitute on the corner, I don't want nobody putting their hands on her because she's my flesh and my blood. So that if she was a prostitute and somebody tried to slap her and I saw it, I'd kill him. Undying love. Undying love. Not hate, undying love because we love we must surrive and perpetuate, and because we love, we will fight to surrive and perpetuate.

No then to a black united front. There is need for a black united front I think specifically in this area. That decision again would depend upon the organizations as they came together and see how to work out those problems, but they need to get together so that we can stop the infighting and inbickering that's going on inside the people that say they getting themselves together, because the infighting in little organizations never benefits the masses of our people. The masses of black people in this country today are unorganized. Nobody speaks for the masses of black people in this country today. They are totally unorganized. That's a fact. That's a fact. The people who are most organized happen to be people from the bourgeoisie. That is always a fact of any colonized people. The people who do the organizing are the bourgeoisie who have been closest to the oppressor. They've learned the means of making isms of organizing and the structure of the oppressor, and they do the organizing. Today more and more we see the masses of people beginning to organize, but they are still not organized and nobody speaks for them. No organization speaks for them. Any Nigger who jumps up and says he speaks for them is jiving himself and the white man, but he ain't jiving us. If we want to organize the masses of our people, we have to form a black united front for a number of reasons. Number one, our people are tired of black people fighting black people. They're tired of it. If we say we're concerned about our people, we have to begin to show them that at least the organizational structures can come together and not fight each other. That sets a tone for unity in our community and begins to make the masses of our people more consciously aware to the need for organization. But until that organization of organizations comes about, black people on the street they don't care. Yeh, I see him fighting you, him cutting. They're not concerned. They're not concerned.

Now when you form a black united front, it does not mean that you give up your identity or your ideology. Each group maintains its ideology, maintains its identity, but comes together for the purpose of working out programs, establishing an atmosphere of unite and allowing those people who are going to organize to begin to organize the masses of our people as we move out, as we move out. That means you don't say, NAACP you come on and you got to become a Zulu or a Warrior or a Black Liberator. No, all these groups can sit down together. Zulus, Warriors, the NAACP, the Urban League, everybody can sight down together inside a black united front and work concretely towards uniform goals for the community. And no group should ever publicly attack another group, never. If I do not agree with Roy Wilkins, I will never get up and say Roy Wilkins he ain't got no followers but the white man. I'll never say that. I will say my program is a, b, c, d, e, f, g. Mr. Wilkins, you tell us what your program is. Let the people decide and that you should force all the organization sin your community to do the same. Anytime one attacks the other, he's jiving because there's no need for him to be attacking another black man. Just work positively and (UNINTELLIGIBLE), no matter how treacherous the other black man is. But the fact that a black man attacks another black man shows the weakness of his program. His only program is to attack everybody else and that's not a program. That's not a program. So we have to understand consciously the need for uniting, the need for a black united front, for our very survival we need a black united front, for our very survival because a man can isolate the so-called extremist groups. If he gets rid of the, then he move on the entire community. But if the entire community is organized and united for survival, he has to move against the entire community, and he's not ready for that yet, yet. We're fighting time. It's a question of whether we can organize before he's ready. So there isn't very much time.

Okay, then to try and organize very quickly. I didn't know it would take this long (UNINTELLIGIBLE). We want to try and move programmatically by defining some of the terms that are thrown around loosely. Now black people are fighting two evils in this society. We're fighting racism and capitalism, and we must understand that because too many times we see black people talk about they gonna be a black capitalist, and when they say that they do not understand what they're fighting. We're also fighting capitalism and to make it black capitalism is just gonna make it more treacherous. It's gonna mean we're gonna be fighting black people because today there are not black capitalists. There are some aspiring people to be black capitalists, but capitalists is a producer of goods. Don't know no black person in this country can do nothing with cosmetics. That's (UNINTELLIGIBLE) and what they're going to try to do is to build factories and put black people in those positions so that we will now have black people exploiting us. It's the same thing America does wherever she goes. She divides people against people and that's how she fights the wars. North Korea against South Korea. North Vietnam against South Vietnam, and today the western powers have Niafra fighting Algeria, and if we're not careful, we'll have black people fighting black people with guns and arms in this country. So we have to understand our fight is against racism and capitalism or imperialism, which is the highest stage of capitalism. Now then we should define racism, capitalism and imperialism very quickly because time is running out. Racism is one race deciding to subjugate another race solely because of its race. While people have decided to subjugate black people because we're black. If we decide to fight white people because they are racists, that does not make us racists. It makes us anti-racists. Because if we are not clearly in our minds, they will say we are reverse racists or we're just like them and we will be confused. We cannot be confused. We are not fighting white people because they are white, we are fighting them because they think they are better than us because they are white. That's racism. So we have to be crystal clear in our minds. Now capitalism we talked about the producer of goods. I'll give you some examples. Essentially capitalism is where (UNINTELLIGIBLE)

We must begin to develop our scope internationally because we never do. We just talk about it. We (UNINTELLIGIBLE) in the United States. This man is stretched out all over the world. He's like an octopus. He's got a leg in several countries, and if they can chop all the legs in all the other countries, we can stab the eye right here because (UNINTELLIGIBLE). (UNINTELLIGIBLE) We must understand which people are fighting to cut off the legs of the octopus so we can support them. We should not always say that we're not going to go to Vietnam, but we should say the North Vietnamese are our comrades in arms. The North Vietnamese are fighting against the United States of America. That's who we fighting against.

A blow for the North Vietnames against the United States makes us stronger because it makes the United States weaker. Now we can always be conscious of the brotherhood especially with this war program they gonna be throwing people in jail, so we can develop new tactics. When a bunch of brothers gonna get drafted, don't say hell no, you won't get drafted. March down, volunteer. Tell the man look here I want to kill the enemy. I want to wipe my enemy out everytime I see him. Traim me good (UNINTELLIGIBLE) . I'll kill my enemy everytime I get a chance. Give me a gun. I want to kill my enemy, and If they draft you, kill our enemy everywhere you see him. Kill him. On the streets of New York, in the jungles of Vietnam, wherever you see our enemy, kill the beast. I'm supporting the United States. I want to kill the enemy. I'm imploring to all the young black people to go into the Army, learn how to kill, learn guerrilla tactics, use it and practice it on the enemy and then come home with it and teach.

We have to understand the role that China plays, what China is today in the world. China is stopping the United States. That's why she don't (UNINTELLIGIBLE). Mao Tse-tung has one million armed Chinese people to the teeth ready to fight, die and kill for Mao and their people. Can't nobody dispute it. So we don't have to worry about China. Whatever the Chinese do is good. We don't care.

They ain't doing nothing to us. Really, they doing it to them, and we must differentiate them from us and us from them. Sometime we get mixed up. Someone of us thinks we're them.

Let me help you clarify the issue about Cuba. We should support Fidel Castro. 65% of Cuba is black. They never tell us this because they don't want us to identify with them. But aside from that what can a little island like Cuba do to the United States of America? What could they do? Cuba is good. If you get a passport, you go to Cuba. So you get a passport, you go any place you want to go. Tell Lyndon Baines Johnson he's not your father. He can't tell you where to go, who to talk to. He ain't nothing but a hunky. I went to China. I went to North Vietnam. I went to Cuba. I went to Algeria. I went to Syria. I went to Egypt. I got my passport back, and I'm going again. They want to stop us from going to these places because when you go there, you learn. They don't want you to learn. They want to educate us.

We must understand the conflict in the Middle East between the so-called State of Israel and the Arabs, and we must say that we stand fullpack behind the Arab world. And don't be afraid when you say that the Jews gonna say you anti-Semitic. You gonna get scared? Did you know the Arabs were also a Semitic people? Did you know that? Yes, and when the Jews tell you you're anti-Semitic they are racists because they are saying the Arabs who are dark-skinned people are not also Semitic. Not only that, what do you know about the history of the so-called State of Israel? Did you know that in 1917, an Englishman by the name of Lord Belfor gave Palestine to the Zionists. He just gave it to them. He said here you can have it. There were thousands of Arabs living there, and the Zionists went into there and bombed there, murdered them using terrorist activity, drove them out, and then they said this country belongs to us. We have to understand politically what's going on in the world. We stand with the Arabs. Not only that, Africa is our former land. The so-called State of Israel right now is occupying Egypt. Egypt is in Africa. Don't tell me they ain't because that issue is gonna become very important when the United States of America starts sending troops to the so-called State of Israel and all the liberal Jewish people in this country will tell us to be on their side. We're gonna tell him wherever we find a Zionist we gonna tear him out, be it in the ghettos of our country or in the Middle East.

We have been asleep too long. We have been asleep too long. They have been taking our mothers, sisters, brothers, uncles aunts and grandmas, and we have been sleeping through it. We've got to wake up. We've got to wake up. We've got to wake up. We got to wake up. Our struggle is not going to be a small or easy struggle. It's going to be hard, long and bloody. It's going to be hard, long and bloody. What we have seen in the past two years is going to be a picnic compared to what we have to see. There are times when we have to step into each others blood to run to get away to fight another day. We must be prepared for that day. Now I'm not worried about that people fighting because a revolutionary state is here because revolution is there when the contradictions are heightened. Fair talking people don't make revolutions. The heightening of contradictions and the people at the right time create revolution. The contradictions are heightened. We are the people whether we like it or not, and the historic time is here. We've got to fight. We've got to fight. There's no place for us to run. Asia is on fire. Latin America thank God for a maligning move against them is on fire, and Africa is going to be burning very swiftly. We may as well know where to fight. We got to fight. We may want to run and hide but our color is gonna make us visible. We got to fight. The law has listened to us well for the past two years while he's preparing. The slightest hope today and he comes down because he knows that there are some of us who gonna fight and all of us got to fight. Because tonight if I go (UNINTELLIGIBLE) he's gonna put (UNINTELLIGIBLE) on the entire black community. We've got to fight. We've got to fight.

If we're armed with an undying love for our people and all of the other concepts, victory is ours. Victory is ours. There is no where for us to go but the gun. There is nothing for us to do but to fight, and we have to prepare ourselves physically and mentally. We have to understand culture, but we can't stop there. Being black and being beautiful doesn't save anybody or make anybody victorious. It just prepares them for the fight. Too many people become black and beautiful but think they can stop there. You say I'm black and I'm beautiful right now. Let me get the gun and move where I'm supposed to. Because our cultural programs are not a threat to the man's system so he can allow for cultural programs. He's got the best in the country. a black American, can't nothing be more beautiful than a beautiful (UNINTELLIGIBLE) because that a cultural program. It is the political and economic programs that effects them and it's that program that he wants to cut out in this country, but those are the only programs that's gonna save us so we must work on all three programs, political, economic and cultural. All three of them combined is going to lead us where we have to go. If not for ourselves for our ancestors who took all they took so that we could live, we've got to fight. If not for ourselves for our mothers who scrubbed floors and were spat upon, we got to fight. If not for ourselves for our children who will come after us, we can't let them live like me and you.

We are fighting for our humanity. We are fighting for humanity of the world, and if our lives are the price that we have to pay to restore humanity, it is not too great a price.

Thank you and good night.

The article also quoted CARMICHAEL as saying "This country is crawling with black militants, but there are very few black revolutionaries. We need more black revolutionaries and less black militants." The article continued that CARMICHAEL had said black revolutionaries must be willing not only to die for their people but to kill for them as well. "I don't want to die so I'm going to kill," CARMICHAEL said. He was further quoted as saying "I'd rather see a brother kill a white cop than to kill a Vietnamese. It's better to kill with passion than to kill passionless," CARMICHAEL said.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover
Director of Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I wish to bring to your attention the attached photocopy from a recent newspaper. Why do the authorities in this grand country of ours tolerate this preaching of revolution and subversion?

The entire purpose, obviously, is not the improvement of the black people, but rather the promotion of armed conflict between black and white.

Preaching of this nature only provokes hate on each side, and if allowed, it will inevitably lead to armed conflict. If a situation like this should occur, no American could win -- the only winner would be the Communist Party.

I would appreciate your comment.

Yours very truly,

Carmichael Asks Black Revolution

ATLANTA. (AP) — "We are for revolution and violence. Yes, I mean killing. Whatever it takes to get our liberation, I'm for that."

Black power advocate Stokely Carmichael made the statement at Emory University here yesterday as he outlined his plans for a new society in America.

He said he wanted a society free of racism and capitalism, but "that does not mean it would be communism or socialism. That would be a problem of economics."

He declined to be more specific.

An advocate of armed revolution by Negroes, Carmichael, 27, said the biggest question in the world today is whether his "revolution" should be exclusively Black.

"I have a proclivity for the former all-Black," he said in answer to question. "I think the color conflict transcends."

He said he thought sympathetic Whites should try to soften the White majority's attitude as the two groups move "toward a physical confrontation."

Carmichael described color consciousness and identification of Negroes with other non-White races as absolutely necessary to his revolutionary aims.

How would he get power?

FT. LAUDERDALE NEWS-
Thurs., Dec. 12, 1968 21A

"You take it with guns," he said.

What would he do if he gained power? "Redistribute the wealth."

Where does the sympathetic White fit in?

"That depends," Carmichael said. "To the victor belongs the spoils. If he fights with me, he shares the spoils."

Stokely Carmichael Speaks At A&T

Herald For 'Wallaces'

Nixon Using Blacks, Carmichael Asserts

BY KENT POLLOCK
Daily News Staff Writer

Black revolutionary Stokely Carmichael told several thousand students at A&T State University Monday night that President-elect Richard Nixon is going to "set the stage for the Wallaces of this country."

Carmichael made the statement while speaking at Moore Gymnasium in a program sponsored by the Student Government Association and the University's Center for African Afro-American Studies.

"Richard Nixon is going to polarize the white community of this country by using the black community. He has already started this . . . He is going to set the stage for the Wallaces of this country," he said.

Asked whom he voted for in the 1968 general election, Carmichael replied, "I didn't vote, I stayed home and cleaned my guns."

HE ALSO criticized the recent black Christmas march in Durham, saying, "I don't see anything black about Christmas. Instead of buying all those Christmas trees and spending all that money on presents, buy your brother a gun."

He wore a conservative light tan suit. His speech was interrupted numerous times with applause and he received standing ovations upon his arrival and departure.

Carmichael said there was a definite difference between black militants and black revolutionaries. He calls himself a black revolutionary.

A black militant, he said is an angry black man who is angry with the whites for keeping him out of their society. "A black revolutionary is an angry black man who wants to tear up and destroy an entire system that is oppressing his people and replace it with a new system where his people can live like human beings," he said.

HE CONTINUED, "This country is crawling with black militants, but there are very few black revolutionaries. We need more black revolutionaries and less black militants."

Carmichael said there was a general misconception about new programs instigated by a white system and said, "Black folks be careful. White folks haven't improved, they're getting smarter."

Carmichael said that black revolutionaries must be willing not only to die for their people, but to kill for them as well. "I don't want to die, so I'm going to kill," he said.

He said his movement was one that believed in "revolutionary violence" which he defined as violence which seeks to overthrow a system that serves a few and replace it with one that serves the masses.

"It is more violent for a child to go to bed hungry than it is for a black man to kill a pig . . . I'd rather see a brother kill a white cop than to kill a Vietnamese. It's better to kill with passion than it is to kill passionless," Carmichael said.

A&T Student Asks Boycott Of Classes

A&T State University student government president Calvin Matthews called Monday night for a two-day boycott of classes at the university beginning Wednesday.

Matthews issued the surprise call at the close of a speech by Stokely Carmichael in the university gymnasium. Students cheered his announcement. It was estimated that as much as 90 per cent of the student body attended the Carmichael speech.

Matthews did not give any reason for calling the boycott when he made the announcement.

A&T president Dr. Lewis Dowdy said the announcement was made "without my knowledge of it." He said he planned to talk with student government leaders today. "I'd prefer to wait until . . . I've talked with them to give you a statement," he said.

Matthews could not be reached for further comment Monday night, but student government vice president Willie Drake said the purpose of the boycott was "to investigate some of the problems students are having on campus."

He said two-hour workshops would be held in the Student

Sen. Neilson Protests Carmichael's Visits

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — State Sen. Geraldine Nielson of Forsyth County protested Tuesday the appearance of Negro militant Stokely Carmichael at two state-supported universities, where he called for a black revolution.

In a letter to Gov. Dan Moore, the senator said she would like to have the Governor's office look into whether taxpayers' money was used for Carmichael's appearances at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte and A&T State University in Greensboro Monday.

Following Carmichael's speech, the president of the Student Government Association at A&T, Calvin Matthews, called for a student boycott on the campus for Wednesday and Thursday.

The president of the school, Dr. L. C. Dowdy, said he understood the call was not for disruptive purposes, but that the students wanted to present recommendations for improvements on the campus.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

[redacted] Washington,
D.C. (WDC), advised on December 19, 1968, that he is a member of [redacted]

b6
b7C
WDC. In connection with his church membership, several months ago he became interested in an organization known as the People's Involvement Corporation (PIC) which he described as a social action group working in racial problems and with race relations. In connection with the PIC, other groups within the organization known as Coordinating Councils are operating, holding active meetings on problems in which the PIC has an interest. The PIC and the Coordinating Councils are biracial and he believes they are funded by one of the United States Government sponsored anti-poverty agencies, the exact agency he does not know. [redacted] attends meetings of the Coordinating Council from time to time.

b6
b7C
[redacted] While at a meeting of a Coordinating Council on December 3, 1968, a discussion was being held about riots and looting, their causes and what the age group is usually of the participants. A lady in the audience asked the question as to who exactly starts the riots and looting and if they were mostly young people? A staff member of the PIC who was present then, [redacted] described as a young Negro in his 20's, stood up and said that young people were not only involved but that riots and lootings included all age groups.
As an example, he related an incident that took place in the vicinity of 14th and U Streets, N.W., WDC, following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King. He stated that about April 5, 1968, during the evening when Dr. King was killed, he heard looting was beginning to take place around 14th and U Streets, N.W., WDC. He walked over to the vicinity and saw people of various ages looting a store. Stokely Carmichael was in the area and called out to the looters "Take your time boys, then we'll burn it down." [redacted] thought this a rather incriminating statement on the part of Carmichael and later he [redacted] home from the meeting. While on the way home, he asked [redacted] about the incident involving Carmichael and the looters and [redacted] reiterated the incident substantially as previously told at the meeting. [redacted] did not know where [redacted] worked or that he was [redacted] then asked [redacted] if he would testify to what he heard uttered by Carmichael or appear before a Grand Jury. [redacted] indicated he was not sure but that he would be inclined to give the matter serious consideration. Conversely, he indicated he might not want to get involved. [redacted] he would mention it to a friend of his working in law enforcement but would go no further.

Subsequently [redacted] contacted Harold Sullivan, Assistant United States Attorney, District of Columbia, and related the matter to him. Sullivan indicated he would look into the matter.

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised that [redacted] could be located at the PIC Office, 651 Florida Avenue, N.W., WDC.

[redacted] PIC, 651 Florida, N.W., WDC, and who resides at [redacted] WDC, [redacted] advised on December 19, 1968, as hereinafter set forth:

He is employed as set forth above and occasionally meets with local civic groups in the WDC area about social and racial problems. Recently, he had a meeting in which [redacted] was present. He related to the group at the meeting in the presence of [redacted] an incident that he observed concerning Stokely Carmichael during the April, 1968 riots. He stated that he did not recall precisely what he told [] and the group but that he was general in nature. He added he does not want to become involved and would have to ponder the matter a long time before deciding to testify before a Grand Jury or other court hearings.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

b6
b7C

b6

He restated the matter in more detail regarding Carmichael as he had told it to [] and the group at the meeting previously. He stated that on the night of April 4, 1968, at about 8:30 p.m., after having heard of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, he also heard there was some looting beginning to take place in the area of 14th and U Streets, N.W., WDC. He does not normally frequent that area but decided to walk over that way to see what was happening. He walked west on U Street and upon arriving at 13th and U Streets, N.W., WDC, he saw a crowd in front of London Custom Shop. The crowd was composed of various ages and they appeared to be pushing and shoving to get inside the shop to loot it. Other looters had already gone inside and were removing the merchandise. He did not recognize anyone in the crowd. About that time, a car passed by going east on U Street but he is not able to recall the make, model, license number, color, or year. As the car passed, he observed a Negro male wearing a bush hair cut stick his head out the rear window of the car and upon observing the crowd pushing and shoving to get in the store hollered out "Take your time, there is enough for everybody. After you loot it, burn it down." The car continued east on U Street without stopping. [] did not recognize any of the occupants of the car. Upon hearing the remarks from the passing car, some members of the crowd commented that "That was Stokely Carmichael." [] had never met Carmichael or seen him before that time so he did not actually know who the person was other than from the identifying remarks made by the crowd. He was unable to furnish any further description of the individual that had made the remarks from the vehicle.

Several months later while in the vicinity of 14th and U Streets, N.W., WDC, a crowd had gathered and a meeting was apparently taking place at a Safeway Store concerning a shooting of an individual by a member of the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) who had been reportedly caught walking out of the store with some merchandise. In connection with the meeting, a number of people were present and several persons pointed out to him an individual in the crowd who was wearing boots and said that is Stokely Carmichael. He then recalled the incident that had taken place on the night of April 4, 1968 and then was reasonably sure that Carmichael was the same individual that had made the remarks about looting and burning from the passing car.

He stated that he was not otherwise familiar with Carmichael or his activities. He stated that he had not seen him since that time and did not know where he was residing in WDC. He also advised that he had never visited the New School of Afro-American Thought, 2115 14th Street, N.W., WDC, and the headquarters of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), 2208 14th Street, N.W., places frequented occasionally by Stokely Carmichael.

[] further advised that the PIC is funded he believes through the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). He stated that he is married but that he is separated from his wife and that he has three kids. He currently resides at the above address with his girl friend. He continued that he served in the United States Navy for about one year having received a honorable discharge somewhat earlier because of the fact he had a double hernia rendering him medically inactive for service so they discharged him before his normal time was up. He was asked to furnish a description of Carmichael and he stated that he was a Negro male, about 30 years of age, that he had sharp features, wearing a bush hair cut, and about 6 feet 2 inches. Upon being pointed out to him that Carmichael had not been known to wear a bush hair cut and that he was not as tall as [] thought he was, he stated that he could not be certain that the person occupying the car on the night of April 4, 1968, making the comments about the looting and burning was Carmichael. He reiterated that he did not want to become involved unless he had thought the matter out thoroughly and also had received competent advice. He added he did not desire to jeopardize his job and his family. In addition, he was not sure it was Carmichael who had made the statements.

b7C

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

The New School of Afro-American Thought has been publicly described as the headquarters for a small group of self-supporting artists and educators who are attempting to spread a message that black people should be proud of being black in classes given in Negro history, African languages and arts.

A characterization of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) is attached herewith in the appendix.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, is a nonmembership organization, which was born out of the sit-in movement that erupted across the South beginning in 1960.

Today SNCC identifies itself as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

According to SNCC, the year 1967 marked a historic milestone in the struggle for the liberation of black people in the United States and the year that revolutionaries throughout the world began to understand more fully the impact of the black movement. SNCC declared that "liberation will come only when there is final destruction of this mad octopus--the capitalistic system of the United States with all its life-sucking tentacles of exploitation and racism that choke the people of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. The realities of black life, together with the recognition instilled in SNCC workers forced its members to further popularize the legitimacy of self-defense and rebellions when oppression became too great."

From May, 1966, until May, 1967, Stokely Carmichael was National Chairman of SNCC. As of July, 1968, Carmichael resided in Washington, D.C., where he was affiliated with SNCC and active as temporary chairman of a black coalition group. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced [redacted] who served [redacted] until June, 1968.

b6
b7C

In June, 1968, at the Staff and Central Committee meeting of SNCC held in Atlanta, Georgia, it was decided to restructure the organization by equalization of responsibility by creating ten deputy or vice chairmanships. The primary purpose for this change is to take law enforcement pressure off any single individual.

[redacted]
[redacted]
Washington, D.C., advised on December 17, 1968, he represents radio station WOL, Washington, D.C., on legal matters. He advised that [redacted] made a tape of a speech by Stokely Carmichael delivered at the First Congress of Black Writers held at McGill University, Montreal, Canada, during the period October 11 - 14, 1968, which he, [redacted] personally attended. [redacted] advised that WOL broadcast the speech over its Washington, D.C. station, and he expressed disappointment that this had been done.

Carmichael was the keynote speaker and the theme of the conference was "Black International Unity."

During the course of the speech, as disclosed by the tape, Carmichael made the comments, among others, hereinafter set forth:

Black people are increasingly moving together now to solve their problems. There are ideological problems involved as discussed by previous speakers at the conference. Several problems which black people are involved in concern oppression, which is of two types; they are exploitation and colonization. However, under exploitation the problem is only economic, whereas under colonization the question of race comes up, meaning one race against another. Therefore, black people are a colonized people in the countries they inhabit. The black man is on the bottom everywhere and he is fighting racism produced by white western civilization. His problem is not just social, economic or political, it is ingrained racism. The white man raped Africa and spread the black man as slaves all over South America, the Caribbean, the United States, parts of Europe and Canada. He has been colonized everywhere he has been living. He is not only exploited, but by being colonized, he has been stripped of his language, his culture, his history and his complete way of life. All African culture was plundered by the white man. These are the effects of colonization and they do not happen under mere exploitation. So, the black man is fighting for his humanity. These problems are pointed out in Fanon's book entitled "The Wretched of the Earth." He continued, why did the white man do this to the black man? It was not merely economic, and the black man should not delude himself thinking that it was. The white man is for money, but he had plenty of other peoples he could have enslaved, such as the Indians. He enslaved the black man because of racism. As a result, the black people are a colonized people seeking to re-establish their culture. Once a person is colonized, he is directly affected by the colonization. He seeks to identify himself with his master who he thinks is all good, and later begins to hate his own people. He then begins to hate himself and is taught to love and adore his master. In view of this, the black man must be liberated, which becomes an absolute necessity because he is colonized and oppressed. The black man must move against the colonizer and ~~de~~-humanizer by "education." Black people must speak concretely about oppression. When this is done, this becomes dangerous for the oppressor. Negroes are moving in positive areas toward their liberation. Black people previously were critical of their masters but were silent about it, and would whisper ugly names about him from time to time. Now they are becoming more open as they are being "educated" since they are moving toward liberation. When the black man seeks to liberate himself, initially the white man reacts by being very nice, then he develops poverty programs to assist him. Later he sends agent provocateurs and later the Armed Forces.

100-446050-2167
ENCLOSURE

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Carmichael stated that he thinks of the white man in relation to the three M's; he first sends the missionaries to black people, then money, and then the marines. So being a colonized people with Africans scattered without any nationalism as they seek liberation, they must work for undying love for each other. Not having any nationalistic ties, they control nothing in the countries they inhabit; however, there are a few black puppets around. Black people must begin to get to the roots of racism. The fight is against racism, capitalism and imperialism. There must be a revolution free of racism and imperialism.

In speaking of types of government systems to be considered by black people, Carmichael mentioned communism and socialism. He stated, however, there are many types of communism and socialism and as an example of different forms of communism he mentioned the governments of Russia and China. He then added the Russians are racists. He said that Russia completely compromised on colonization in Africa and that one only has to ask an African student studying in Russia about the Russians being racists and "he will tell you about racism there."

He continued that the black man has no country to call his own, and he must build a base to liberate himself. In considering liberation, one must define several terms, such as revolution and black militant. A revolution is a total destruction of the old system and replacing it with a new system. In revolution one must seize power before it begins. For example, the Cuban Revolution did not begin until Fidel Castro got into Havana and announced that he was taking over the country for the benefit of his people.

The period preceding revolution is called "armed struggle." He added that Fidel Castro had this in Cuba prior to the revolution but actually had to seize power before the revolution was underway. He said that there are three ways to get things; you can ask for it, you can beg for it, or you can take it. "You don't steal it, you take it. You only steal if you have no power. If you have power, you take." These must be taken through revolutionary violence. Murder is not right or wrong, but who has power to legitimize it. For example, if a soldier in Vietnam kills thirty Vietnamese, he will get a medal. This highlights the problem. The Africans have never been able to legitimize because they have always had this done for them by white people. Africans must start to legitimize as they struggle. Revolutionary violence is necessary. Self-defense only protects the status quo. Aggressive violence is needed to change this. The system in the United States will never change without aggressive violence. The africans must begin to define violence for themselves. Violence is not just use of guns. It is violence to rape and steal African copper and gold.. It is violence to see black children go hungry, poverty is violence and violence must be met with violence.

There is a difference between a black revolutionary and a black militant. There are many black militants but few black revolutionaries. A black militant is an angry black man not in the system. He wants to get in; a revolutionary wants to destroy the old system and start anew. Carmichael stated that he was a revolutionary. He added that when a black militant gets a $20,000 poverty job he says, "Cool it, brother, everything will be all right." He continued that there are a lot of black militants in the United States trying to get into the system.

Black people must be concerned with revolutionary black power in the world. H. Rap Brown, Leroy Jones and Eldridge Cleaver were not permitted to leave the United States to attend the Black Writers' Conference. The United States does not want them to leave because it does not want black people to have any international ties. He stated he spent nine months just trying to get his passport back. He added he went to China, Cuba and Vietnam to see the world as a free person. He then stated that black people must learn of other oppressed peoples in the world. The United States creates added friction among black people by their world-wide imperialism. The United States promotes factions and guerrilla groups in black countries. Black people must de-emphasize factions and begin to present a united front. They must not be colonized in their minds and want to take each other. The North Vietnamese will not fight the South Vietnamese now unless absolutely necessary. The North Vietnamese know the real enemy is the United States. Mao in China did not fight Chiang Kai-chek in 1929. He added that "You cannot fight two at once, you must fight the major enemy first."

He continued that the problems of Africa have been caused by the white man. If the blacks in South Africa today tried to start a revolt, the United States would not stand idle and permit it. They are part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) which supplies arms. He stated that the international area is very important to black people, and their struggle is an international one. In the dispute between Nigeria and Biafra, white people are just waiting to get the Biafran oil. Black people must understand this situation because World War III is right around the corner. He stated, "When you move, you must move culturally, politically, economically and militarily. There must be a balance of power." He continued that the United States will never let anyone endanger its system but force along or technological power will not win. "It's the will of the people that win." He commented that Ho Chi Minh and the Vietnamese people proved this to be true. The United States cannot win in Vietnam because of the will of the people. He said that black people must learn to be offensive not just defensive, and that black writers can instill this into black people. He continued that the contradictions must be heightened and that this must be done for the Mother Continent. The forces must be polarized as the contradictions are heightened. Black writers can do this, and things must be redefined by Africans. He stated that the black people need black heroes and that black writers should see that this is accomplished. He criticized what he called "intellectual games" that were played in the United States by the case of W. E. DuBois, which postponed the black movement considerably. He continued that the United States, when it moved, it did not take things non-violently, but went with what they called "pioneering spirit." Black people must move with "pioneering spirit" which includes the international arena. Black people must talk about black power internationally because the problems of black people are international. As black people move into the international arena, they must remember the North Vietnamese are "our comrades in arms and the United States is the aggressor in Vietnam." Regarding the Arab-Israeli conflict, he called the Arabs "our friends" and that the Arab war is a "just war." To the Cubans he commented we should say, "We are with you, Fidel." He added the Sino-Soviet split will grow and in that dispute black people should "check Mao out." He then criticized the Organization of American States for its hold on black people in South America and the Caribbean area. He also criticized DeGaulle and stated that "French interventionist forces are at work."

He concluded by stating that black people must get guns and prepare. "Get all the guns you can," he stated. "We believe in equality. White people have guns; then black people should get them also. The U. S. and allies has atomic bombs and then they don't want anyone else to get it. Force must be balanced and equalized. Black people must be liberated. They must work and continue their struggle."

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Copies of this memorandum are being furnished locally to intelligence agencies of the Army, Navy, and Air Force and to Secret Service.

Reference is made to memorandum of November 15, 1968, concerning Carmichael's speech at De Anza College in Cupertino, California, on November 12, 1968.

A source advised on November 19, 1968, that he was present when Stokely Carmichael spoke on the evening of November 12, 1968, at De Anza College. The program started at about 8:15 p.m. and ended at 9:30 p.m. Carmichael gave about a 10 to 15 minute speech then answered questions for the rest of the time.

Carmichael started his speech by saying that he wanted to make it very clear at the beginning that he believes in violence to relieve the oppression of the Black man.

Carmichael's discussion was aimed at the Liberal. Carmichael pointed out that they have not been effective. The Liberal has failed. Carmichael implied that "radicalism" has to be the answer to the Black man's plight. Destruction of the system has to be the answer.

ENCLOSURE

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

No specific comments per se about the overthrow of the Government were remembered. Instead of referring to the Government he would say instead "destroy the system." He said this on one or more occasions during his appearance.

A [] source advised he also attended Carmichael's speech at De Anza College on November 12, 1968. This source could not recall any specific statements by Carmichael in which he advocated the overthrow of the U. S. Government by force or with guns, although he could see how someone could read implications of this into some of Carmichael's statements. Carmichael did state he believes in violence and killing if necessary in overcoming the oppressor.

A [] source, who is the same source mentioned in referenced memorandum, after transcribing notes taken on Carmichael's speech at De Anza College, advised on December 6, 1968, that a close review of the notes does not substantiate the source's earlier statement to the effect that Carmichael specifically stated he advocates the overthrow of the U. S. Government with guns. The following statement was provided by this source:

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Stokeley Carmichael started his speech by saying: "I want to make it clear right now as I know people are going to ask are you really serious about this violence you talk about, do you really mean it? I want it understood clearly right now, that I mean it. I am very serious about this"

He mainly attacked the white liberals and right wingers, as being a part of this society so they couldn't do anything to change this society. They went ahead to influence changes, but lacked the power to see that the changes they influenced were carried out. He also said that they lacked alternatives. Even Gov. Wallace had alternatives and power, but the liberals just stayed on the fence. They told the poor people they can become rich, and the rich that they can become richer, but the gap between the poor & rich remained the same. They don't take from the rich to give to the poor. He said there were two kinds of freedoms - economic and political. The economic was the only one that means anything, because it doesn't mean anything to a man to be able to vote if he has an empty stomach. In Cuba, they may not be able to vote for their choice, but they have a full stomach and this is what is important to people who have been suppressed, and the land in Cuba was also divided among the people. This is important.

He said that the entire United States Government should be put into jail, as they are criminals by killing in Viet Nam and by ravaging and raping the American Indians and keeping Negroes oppressed in order to build their imperialistic country. Every black man should be freed immediately from prison no matter what the charge, as they are all political prisoners. (He received applause here.)

He was asked if he was a Communist? He struck back by saying "What is a Communist?" -- The boy that asked the question said that he wasn't sure all that they stood for, but that he knew that they stood for the violent overthrow of the government. To this Carmichael said-- "If they stand for violent overthrow of this government, then I stand for that, and I am working on it." He was asked again if he was a Communist. And he said "I stand on the 5th & 14th Amendments." Then someone asked him why, if he hated all this government stood for so much, did he use part of its Constitution to defend himself. He replied "Because I am smart - that is why."

When asked about the violent overthrow of the government again, he said "How do you feel about the take-over of Czechoslovakia? Are you for the overthrow of the imperialism there?" "I am against imperialism wherever it is and plan to do something about it as it has kept my people oppressed too long." Martin Luther King was brought up, and a lot of laughter came from the Panthers in the audience. They said "Yeh, and he's dead now." Carmichael said there would be no more movements like King's as they didn't work, and also that the white man has never produced a Martin Luther King, whereas there were at least 10,000 black Martin Luther Kings. To this some of the audience brought up Bertrand Russell, Sweitzer, and Kennedy. He got very violent when Kennedy was mentioned, and said he was in office when Cuba was fighting for freedom and also Viet Nam and he didn't give a damn about being non-violent.

He said that peace is nothing more than the absence of conflict. It does not mean that justice is involved. He was asked why he intends on using guns and violence. He said that it was guns that makes the U.S. the most powerful nation in the world, and only guns, and that guns mean power. He said everyone else can do it their own way, but "I am going to use guns."

A man from South Africa who said that he could no longer return there without being arrested, asked him why he felt only the black people were being oppressed. He got violent and also made fun of the fellow. He said "Are you trying to make me believe that you, a white man, can possibly tell me you and your father and family were oppressed in Africa? The fellow shot back that his family had escaped from Russia to Africa because they were Jews and they were not accepted there either. Carmichael said "Yeh, just how many black men did your family have working for them? Don't you ever try to put yourself in a black man's shoes, as you can't. Right now, you have proved it. You got a passport and came over here. No black man could ever do that or ever escape."

There was a white boy who pleaded with him to try and help him with his plans, but it was evident that there was no place in their movement for white people no matter how anxious they were to help out. Absolutely none.

Before his speech he introduced Tommy Smith and Johnny Carlos who were in the audience, they got a round of applause.

..... start off by eliminating many of the questions that will be.... (Opening remarks of speech are unintelligible).

..... because it is necessary to end suppression.... so we don't have to waste time asking, "Are you really mean you(are)for violence now?" Yes, just like the United States is using violence in Vietnam, just like they use violence to get everything they acquire, just so we are for violence to end our oppression, period. And that's the infinitive scale of violence. Whatever we have at our disposal we will use to end our oppression, period. And I think if we can get that out of the way we won't have to waste time with it.

I think that white people get, uh, disturbed about violence only when it deals with the oppressed picking up the guns. They are quite used to violence, but they are not used to seeing the oppressed use violence against them. They are used to violence by the oppressed against other oppressed. For example, they are very proud to see a black man with a gun in his hand fighting in Vietnam. (If) he killed thirty Vietnamese they'll give him a purple, gold, yellow, blue, all kinds of medals, you know. So, they are used to violence, but they just don't want to see that black man with that gun shooting the ir policemen, or disrupting their system. And I don't think we should waste time discussing that, because that is really irrelevant, especially since the question is moot. There's going to be violence anyway, so why waste time discussing it. They are already dynamiting police stations across the country; there's already the sniping on policemen. So, it's a moot, moot question. Violence is, period.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Now then, let us discuss the important issues.

We want to talk about the break-down of the conventional political system in the United States, and it is basically the two-party system. We want to exclude Mr. WALLACE's party for awhile. (Echo's terrible, isn't it?). Can you hear me? We want to exclude Mr. WALLACE's party for awhile, because we want to bring Mr. WALLACE's party in a little bit later to show how the conservatives or the right wing, moves to consolidate power as opposed to what the liberals usually do. We want to point out some of the failures of the liberal movement in the United States, in the sixties, in the thirties, and in general, the failures of most liberal movements around the World, and why, because of the failure of the liberal movement that violence then becomes a necessity. (Isn't it bad?).

Let us talk about the conventional political parties. It is clear that in terms of conventional politics the United States of America is concerned with political equality, but is not concerned with economic equality; that is to say, opportunity for economic equality. The United States would go all out to grant opportunity for political equality, but it would not do that for economic equality. So that you have a situation where you have at least the opportunity for political equality, but you do not have the opportunity for economic equality. And I think that contradiction is beginning to catch up with America, that people are now beginning to move beyond political equality and to begin to become more concerned with economic equality.

Now, each time I make a point I would like to refer back to the liberals, especially because I think the white liberal movement in the United States today finds itself in a sort of limbo, as with most liberal movements when they are forced to make a decision one way or the other.

I think the tragedy of the liberal movement in this respect is that they themselves concentrate on political equality and neglect economic equality, or opportunity for economic equality. And when they do that they themselves allow themselves to be used as a pawn in the game to heighten the contradictions.

It is more important for someone to have a full stomach than to have the vote. The vote with an empty stomach really doesn't mean anything. I would much rather have economic equality than political equality. And I think this becomes crystal clear, especially after the Chicago convention where people begin to see clearly that the vote really doesn't mean anything, because if we accept the polls for whatever they are the real choice is of the people within those conventions were never realized, and so people had to vote on what other people had picked for them.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

So, I think the new issue today, and the issue which more people are going to move, is going to be the issue of economic equality. The question then for the liberal movement in the United States is whether or not they can move towards creating any type of atmosphere that will become conducive to discussing opportunity for economic equality.

I don't understand that around the World many people seize the opportunity for economic equality as far more important than opportunity for political equality. And the United States recognizes this. With its propaganda it always emphasizes political equality. For example, they will attack Cuba and say, "In Cuba they don't have the freedom of the press, they don't have freedom of speech, they don't have political freedom". But they will not deny nor can they deny the fact that in Cuba there is an equal distribution of land, there is an equal distribution of resources, which is far more important after all than freedom of the speech or freedom of the press. But what the United States does is that in its priority it assumes political equality is far more important than economic equality. And the liberals fall into that trick-bag, because they do not even analyze. They assume that political equality is more important than economic equality.

Now I want to move on more particularly and talk about the liberal movement and keep touching on the conventional political system with the general outline that we have.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

There are several, it seems to me, failures of liberal movements in the country, in the liberal movement in the country. But perhaps the major failure of all the liberal movements is that their primary task is to stop confrontation. The primary task of liberal movements is to stop confrontation. If they see a polarization occurring on the right and polarization occurring on the left; if they see whites becoming polarized, and they see the blacks becoming polarized; if they see the rich becoming polarized and the poor becoming polarized, their main job is to stop confrontation. Their primary task, I remind you, is not the readjustment of injustices but rather stopping the confrontation. They want to be able to stop the confrontation. I think that that is failure because in stopping the confrontation one does not necessarily solve the problem, and in many cases there is need to be a confrontation so that the problem can be resolved. And that is, I think, the greatest tragedy of the liberal movement.

Now, following from that comes what I think is also the second reason why the liberal movement in the United States makes mistakes, and that is the liberal movement in the United States is afraid to alienate. They do not want to alienate anybody. They are afraid to alienate. They want to tell everybody that they can be their friends. They can be friends with rich people; they can be friends with poor people; they can be friends with black people, they can be friends with white people; they can be friends with people on the left and they can be friends with people on the right. They are afraid to alienate any of these groups. And this again becomes another, seems to me, a failure of the liberal movement because of its fear to alienate it can never really solve problems. It can never really solve problems.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Let us say, for example, the reason why you find the liberal, uh, set the stage for the fascists, or for the conservative or the right wing take-over. GEORGE WALLACE, for example, is not afraid to alienate, because GEORGE WALLACE, unlike the liberal, says, he starts off with his basic assumption: There have been troubles in this country. And whatever he lists his troubles are, but his basic assumption is that there are troubles. Then he said: To readjust the troubles or problems we must get rid of the people who caused those problems. And then he finds the people who caused the problems. To him the people who caused the problems are the Federal Judges, the bureaucrat briefcase toting people, etc., etc. But he seeks out the people who he says are responsible for causing the problem. The liberal does the opposite.

The liberal says, "Yes, there are problems, but we can resolve these problems without blaming anybody". So that they do not blame anyone for the problems and they keep assuring everybody "these problems just developed", I imagine metaphysically, and so they will be solved metaphysically, rather than saying that these problems have developed (for) human error and we must resolve these human error, either through punishment or through correction. But whatever the liberal never ever seems to grasp the idea that he must point out who caused the problem. He cannot just assume it's a happy, merry world and just somehow something went wrong but we can all readjust and everybody will live happily ever after. You know, the remarks usually are, "Well, it's true that black and white didn't get along, but why can't we all just sit down now and sing "We Shall Overcome" and enjoy life", and they just dismiss the problem. I think that one of the reasons for that is because the liberals have to seek to maintain the status quo.

Third point: They have to seek to maintain the status quo because the liberals benefit from the status quo. Liberalist groups in the United States are economically secure. They are an economically secure group, and their economic security depends upon the status quo.

Poor white people are economically insecure. They are not liberals. They are not liberals. Their positions are not liberal, because the economically insecure seeks to change the situation as he sees fit. But since the liberal is already economically secure he does not want to threaten his economic security. So, what he hopes to do is to reform the system while maintaining his economic security, and that is the basic failure of the liberal movement in the United States.

Witness, for example, McCARTHY. The wishy-washiness of McCARTHY led to his complete failure. His failure to take a stand and to go for power to develop a third party shows the complete dismal of the liberal movement in the United States, the white liberal movement in the United States.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Unstand how the right wing moves. GEORGE WALLACE consolidates power. He moves to build a third party. The liberal does not, because the liberal does not really want to change the system, because his economic security depends upon that system. And from that hinges the second reason that we mentioned before, that the liberal really cannot afford to alienate, because if he has to alienate he would have to alienate the people who are in the system, and since the liberal is part of the system he cannot alienate those people. So, he must seek to talk some niceties about how everything can happen without doing anything, you can have everything okay. He would say to poor people, "You are poor", and he would say to rich people, "You are rich", and then he would say to the poor people, "You can become rich". But he doesn't say to the rich people in order for them to become rich you must become less rich. He assumes that poor people can become rich, and rich people can be or become richer. Usually he assures them they can become richer. But while he assures them they can become richer the gap between rich and poor still remains the same. The variable is still there. It is no longer a question of amount. That is another failure of the liberal movement in the United States. Because if poor people are going to become rich they must either take money from rich people, and rich people become less rich, or they must find money elsewhere. Are the liberals telling us that there is an inexhaustable sources of resources in the World and that we continually keep dragging and getting it and we don't have to worry about the rich people? Is the liberal saying to us that rich people are rich not because they exploit us but just because the World is that few are rich and many are poor? We do not understand precisely what questions liberals are posing, precisely because the liberals themselves does not understand what question he or she is posing.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

And I think we have to understand very clearly the failures of the liberal movement, because it becomes clearer since the rise and consolidation of power by the right (wing), and since the absolute abysmal failure of Chicago.

Now the last--Well, there are two--next to last, is that the liberals themselves do not seek power. Liberals never seek power to implement the changes they work for. The liberals are satisfied to exert a certain amount of influence over the society, but they do not really care about having the power to implement those changes because the changes they seek are really reform changes which do not alter the basic structure of the society in which they find themselves.

For example, you had during the civil rights movement a liberal coalition made up of labor movements, church groups, uh, people on the left, religious groups and students. They worked to influence legislature to pass certain legislation concerning race relations in the country. Let's say they worked precisely for the voting right act, okey? Once the liberal exerted their influence and the influence was felt (in) the country, and the country passed those legislation, the liberals did not have enough power to implement the legislation or even see that the legislation was implemented, showing again a short coming of the liberal movement because they do not seek power. It seems to me that if I were fighting for something when I get it I wouldn't turn it loose. I would hold it and do with it as I will, 'cause I fought for it. It seems to me that if the liberal movement was serious in the United States having once grabbed power they would be able to control whatever gains they have made. But, because they do not understand power, because they are afraid of power, because they do not really want to change the basic structure of the system, they are satisfied to let the affluence fly around and to mouth all sorts of humanistic ideals which never change anything.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Finally, the problem with the liberal is that he does not offer alternatives. he does not offer alternatives. And because the liberal does not offer alternatives he sets the stage for the conservative right wing or fascist takeover which does offer an alternative. Witness again the last campaign. Witness HUMPHREY's answer to the war in Vietnam. Well, we will (solve) the war in Vietnam by honorable peace negotiations, whatever that means. But witness GEORGE WALLACE's solution, if you will. It's an alternative, whether or not you agree with this. Mr. WALLACE said, "We will try to solve the problems peace negotiations. If we do not, we will (end) the war with every kind of power we can get our hands on within conventional (system). That is an alternative. You may not agree with this but it is an alternative. And because he presents a (fair) alternative, the people begin to see clearly where there is a choice.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

So, the basic failure, ah, so many, of the liberal movement is that they do not offer clear alternatives to the problems that they find themselves in, and, therefore, they allow, they allow for setting the stage and for the breeding of fascism in the society.

I don't know if I'm coming around clear. I just keep hearing echos back and forth. Okey.

Then, finally, the liberal movement, because it does not consolidate power, seeks to talk to the oppressed rather than the oppressors in terms of resolving the problems. For example, the liberals, since they do not amass power, are incapable of dealing with WALLACE who is amassing power. But they would talk to the oppressed black people who are not powerful and try to tell them, "Do not try to get power". For example, they would say to the oppressors, "Don't get excited; don't do this, don't do that; you're going to cause WALLACE to do this or that". But the oppressed works from a different assumption. The oppressed assumes that GEORGE WALLACE is going to do what he is going to do anyway. Therefore, they must move to insure their protection. The liberal tries to convince them that GEORGE WALLACE is not going to do what he is going to do. So, the final solution is that the oppressed must accept the status quo, 'cause the only way you won't have GEORGE WALLACE is if the oppressed do not push. But if the oppressed pushes for change, then they say to the oppressed, "You are causing a GEORGE WALLACE". But, in fact, it is the failure of the liberal movement that forces and causes a GEORGE WALLACE.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

I think maybe if we stopped now we could have a lot of questions. (Applause).

I bet you thought we were going to talk about white folk .

I think it would be best if we had questions.

Unintelligible question.... something about "seize black power". CARMICHAEL comments: Now you know how he feels. (The 'question' is a lengthy one, all unintelligible with the exception of the above few words.)

CARMICHAEL:

I have some, too. So we can get on it. Or was it contingent on the... (not finished).

You can't pick it up from this one? (This is apparently in reference to a microphone pickup).

CARMICHAEL:

Anyone raise a question?

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Unintelligible question.

CARMICHAEL:

Uh, I think that our first program is to get that black power. Once ~~having~~ gotten the power we will use that power to meet the needs and the desires of the masses of our people. I mean, I don't know if you expect a planned program. Caint give you the five-year plan.

Unintelligible question.

CARMICHAEL:

Black people. No, when I say 'our people' I mean black people. We are fighting for power for black people. Therefore, when I say 'our people' I mean black people.

Unintelligible question.

CARMICHAEL:

You know, if it isn't too inconvenient, maybe the people who want to ask questions could maybe just line up and use the mike as a favor.

Unintelligible question. (Rather lengthy).

CARMICHAEL also makes a few unintelligible remarks.

CARMICHAEL:

Right. I didn't want to make any person/^{al}questions but rather political. I feel more comfortable on the political level than the personal level. I think, that I, I think the only thing that you could do to help us
..... that's why there is no black power. There's clearly no black power, because black people are oppressed. Then you find out who is oppressing black people. Once having found that

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

out, you move against those people. (Applause).

Unintelligible question.

CARMICHAEL:

You want an answer on how to move against them?

UNMAN: Yeah.

CARMICHAEL:

Well, you move against them as you see fit. I would move against them..... (CARMICHAEL apparently moves away from the microphone).people move against their own level Some people feel that they will move against those structures, not violently; others say they will move against it with the gun. I say you move against it with a gun. If you.... I beg your pardon. You want to ask a question?

Unintelligible question.

CARMICHAEL:

(He moves away from the microphone and is unintelligible).

.... black power.... Investigate it and see. ...

I am not..... nor have I ever thought to oppress you. The question is irrelevant, because I'm not concerned with white people. I'm only concerned with them stop oppressing me, and that's where I stop. (Applause) That's a question for white people. They continually oppress black people, so that's their problem. They are hung up on black people. Black people are not hung up on white people. (Applause).

Now to get back to your question, I'm sorry he just....

Unintelligible question.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CARMICHAEL:

Once I get in power, am I going to oppress white people? (Carmichael moves away from the microphone and is unintelligible)..... and I'm not afraid to say that. White people are afraid to say it. White people are..... we can..... black power because it will mess up our life. And so what they say is, "Well, when you take it you're going to fight us". Why should I want to fight you if you're not bothering me? I'm not going to go to Europe to fight you. I got no time for Europe. It's too cold. I like warm climate. That's the problem of the white people. Not my problem. No. White people talk about peace. Peace just means that absence of conflict. It does not necessarily mean.... Peace and Freedom Party. Peace (openly) means absence from conflict. It does not necessarily mean justice. Right?

Unintelligible question.

CARMICHAEL:

Black people never do what?

(Carmichael moved away from the microphone and is unintelligible). Hope I answered

Unintelligible question.

CARMICHAEL is unintelligible.

UNMAN:

..... firearms is not the way, because you don't have the power to obtain weapons, you don't have to train the people. You said, "Every man that walks around and carries a flame equalizer... Don't shoot. When you burn you destroy and then people start.....

CARMICHAEL:

..... Number one, you are not from South Africa,

.... (Applause). You had your chance.

Let's see if.... You are not from South Africa.

You are the son of a settler who raped and killed...(shouts loudly and is unintelligible).

He doesn't make very much sense to me, because I see South Africa still standing. I see Black people still oppressed, side in/(~~fact~~) our own country. We have to have permission from the settlers who have hung and raped..... both natural and human, and human. And I donot see you resolving the prospect unless you get the gun.

UNMAN:

(Unman speaks of his grandparents and something about South Africa, not sufficiently clear to be intelligible).

CARMICHAEL:

In South Africa? (UNMAN: In South Africa).

CARMICHAEL:

You need a pass in South Africa?

UNMAN: Unintelligible.

CARMICHAEL:

On the contrary. You are a white man. You have the choice of being revolutionary. Black man has to (accept to be revolutionary. The white man.....

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~
UNMAN:

.... they were given equal treatment and they were given higher wages than anybody else. My father pulled my mother out of there because of the treatment they were getting because...

CARMICHAEL: interrupts

That's all well and good. Unintelligible.
Look at me. big deal..... I gotta fight. Right? ...

UNWOMAN:

.... I was wondering what you thought of using....
article in the National Guardian.

CARMICHAEL:

I didn't read it.

UNWOMAN:

Oh, okey. He's telling us not to be so... that FIDEL in Cuba went... got the guns near.... They treated them and took care of the wounds, because they are potential revolutionaries, this enemy of theirs, and that we should all look, even.... all the people as potential revolutionaries. And we don't know/what made us revolutionaries, the secret of and we have to look for the things in people, and we have to be very subtle about it, (but) we have to constantly look for it. And this.....

CARMICHAEL:

I think this is very humanistic but not at all political.

UNWOMAN: Not at all what?

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~
CARMICHAEL:

Political. Despite political. Let us say, for example, we've said the same thing about HITLER. See, you may look... I would say that you may look and hope that you can change them, but you must insure that you are really able to change them in case you don't--

UNWOMAN: (cutting in)

Yeah, yeah. With your eyes wide open.

CARMICHAEL:

Oh, yes. that's....

UNWOMAN:

Yeah, but all the time I hope.... keep this in mind.

CARMICHAEL:

I'm keeping it in mind. (laughter)

UNMAN:

Once you achieve this power, black power, and you gain it through violence wherever you (noise covered last word), do you plan, as one of the leaders of the black power movement, to set up a new Africa within this country, or exist within the white society as long as they respect the power you will achieve?

CARMICHAEL:

.....do not know..... but I think that once the white people stop oppressing....

UNMAN:

You'll be able to live within the white community integrated as a body?

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CARMICHAEL:

No, no, no. I'm sure that we want be able to do that. I just want us to have the power to find our destinies as we see fit, and I do not think that that necessarily.. I do not think necessarily means running counter to white people. White people mean.... No, I do not think I want to integrate into America. Absolutely not. Because you're asking me to integrate into a war in Vietnam. I do not want that. You are asking me to integrate into a system that oppresses sixty percent of the World. I do not want that. So, I could not want to integrate with (that system). I seek to destroy that system.

UNMAN:

I got one other question. Uh, I'm curious, as I've read a little bit about ELDRIDGE CLEAVER in the Play Boy, the new Play Boy issue, and he, uh, he brought up the point that he doesn't believe the blacks should serve in the military. Is this strictly because of Vietnam or is there other reasons (for that)?

CARMICHAEL:

No, there are other reasons that I would I would... fight. Do not, and I think Mr. CLEAVER.... does not believe in compulsory drafting. First of all it should be and it should be his own individual act. He should not be forced to (applause).

UNMAN:

You stated earlier that you didn't see-what-you-feel that you had equality in economic . Seems to me that you do have equality or the opportunity is not being taken advantage of. I wonder if you could tell me why?

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CARMICHAEL:

You're very clever. I could tell you why I agree with your assumption, but since I do not, I cannot tell you why. I could tell you why if I agreed with your assumption.

UNMAN:

What is my assumption?

CARMICHAEL:

Your assumption is that there is opportunity but it is not being taken advantage of. That is your assumption, is it not? That's what you stated. I do not agree with that so I can't tell you why. (Laughter) Or I should tell you why I do not agree with your assumption, yes. I can tell you your assumption is absolutely incorrect. (laughter).

UNMAN: Unintelligible.

CARMICHAEL:

We have a chance.

UNMAN: Unintelligible.

CARMICHAEL:

I was born in Trinidad in the West Indies, after having been maliciously across the Western Hemisphere by the powers of white.... (Applause). My name is CARMICHAEL. The Irish were sent to Trinidad to get me. Everybody has his chance at the black man.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

UNMAN: Unintelligible.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CARMICHAEL:

I have a paper (citizenship) from the country.

UNMAN: You actually want equality or superiority?

CARMICHAEL:

I think I stated clearly that we were fighting for equality. I think that is what I said. I do not even recall saying superiority, but..... I might have said it and not recognized it. (Laughter).

UNMAN:

a few things
Now, I heard you say quite/about our system... various systems, our two party system and our so-called third party...
how come or why you have not yet set down ... an alternative for this..... society we live in?

CARMICHAEL:

Well, I have.... (unintelligible).. (laughter).
That's what I'm working on. (Applause).

UNMAN:

..... how do you explain.... JULIAN BOND is. He's a very good man. He seems to be...

CARMICHAEL: (cutting in)

He's very intelligent, quite articulate. Could you tell....

UNMAN:

..... Well, JULIAN BOND... But he has created a very favorable impression on people of this country, of your people. He's very brilliant and astute man.

CARMICHAEL:

What are his successes?

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

UNMAN: Unintelligible.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CARMICHAEL:

What are his successes? You still haven't mentioned...

All you said is that JULIAN BOND has created an atmosphere where white people now begin to think favorably of black people. You shouldn't stereotype. Not all of us are JULIAN BONDS.

UNMAN:

Well, JULIAN BOND has made more progress in creating favorable impressions of black men.

CARMICHAEL:

Okey, let's say that he has created that favorable impression. What successes have come about from it?

UNMAN:

That's a success in itself...

CARMICHAEL:

Okey, then I think we'd better (go) a little more. Beyond that, it seems that Mr. JULIAN BOND is a very impressive ... We worked together for several years and created a success by creating an atmosphere which allows white people to look favorably on black people. Is that correct?

I do not think that that is success. I think that JULIAN BOND, according to your interpretation, is saying that as long as white people pat me on the head and say you are good, and they look on you with favorable condition, and that's ... I do not need white people to look on me favorably. I don't give a damn how ^{they look on me.} ~~(they regard me)~~. (Applause).

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

White people are not my God. White people are not my judges; they are incapable of judging me. So, I do not them to pass any judgement I don't care what they think of me. That's.... The only people..... in this country who can judge me are black people, and they will decide whether or not what I am doing is really progress.

UNMAN:

You stated earlier, I think this is what you stated, that you believed in, it's your duty to get every black man out of jail, put the (government) in jail, and then, finally, to get every white man out of jail. Right?

CARMICHAEL:

..... Black Panther Party (ten) point program... we want all black people.... political institutions turned free, because they are kept there... according to the United States Constitution because they did not have (trials) by their peers.

UNMAN:

Yes. Uh, are you a Communist? support Communist platform? (Laughter)

CARMICHAEL:

I would like to answer ^{your} ~~that~~ question, but before I do, I will have to ask you.... define for me what a Communist is.

UNMAN:

I asked if you are a member of the Communist Party...

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

... Are you a member of the Communist Party?

CARMICHAEL: (Unintelligible).

UNMAN:

Well, I can't tell you the complete of the Communist Party platform, but I could tell you that.....

CARMICHAEL:

The young man said he does not know.. he does not know... platform of the Communist Party... not all of them.. but he knows one, he names one. He may know more. We'll get to that later. Right? He knows that the Communists are for violent overthrow of the Imperialist countries, and he wants to know if I am for the violent overthrow of Imperialist countries. Now, before I answer the question I want to make something clear. If my answer is yes, it does not mean that I am a Communist. That should be clear. Now, I am for the overthrow of Imperialist countries violently. Now, Let me ask you a question. You know the Russians, by invading Czechoslovakia
~~Czechoslovakia~~, have taken on a position of Imperialism. Do you agree?

UNMAN:

Yes sir. Absolutely.

CARMICHAEL:

Yes sir. Are you for the overthrow, then...
Czechoslovakia?

UNMAN:

No, I....

(Laughter).

CARMICHAEL:

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CARMICHAEL:

Number one, you'll agree that the intervention of Russia into Czechořlovakia--that's an act of Imperialism, act of Imperialism, is it not?

UNMAN:

Unless it's a complete act of dictatorship... I mean, it shows that Russia can't even stand a little bit of freedom.

CARMICHAEL:

Right, that's, that's an act of Imperialism. An act of Imperialism (is) once occupied... is it not?

UNMAN:

Not necessarily.

CARMICHAEL:

..... define imperialism.

(UNMAN from ~~an~~ another part of the audience yells out: Answer the question).

CARMICHAEL:

I have to get definitions before I answer it. Would you like to define Imperialism? I do not answer labels, I answer reasons. Now would you define imperialism, and I will answer very clearly. What is an imperialist nation?

UNMAN:

Are you a Communist? Are you a Communist?

CA MICHAEL:

You have to define for me. Are you a shabagabow (ph)?

UNMAN:

I don't know it.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~
CARMICHAEL:

Well, I don't know what Communism is. (Laughter).

Now then the young... (interrupted by UNMAN).

UNMAN:

We can assume that you're a Communist, by not answering our question.

CARMICHAEL:

You can assume that I am a Communist by my not answering your question. That only shows me how ignorant you are. (Laughter and applause). Because, by constitutional rights, I can refuse to answer your question and stand on my constitutional rights. The first and the fifth. So, then if you assume that I'm a Communist, you assume that anyone who opposes the constitution is a Communist.

UNMAN:

Okey, so I'll support the constitution...

(Do) the constitution by using violent means to overthrow our government?

CARMICHAEL:

We're not getting there yet. We are fighting out imperialism. Young men... Would you define... for me what an Imperialist country is?

UNMAN:

I would think that rape of Czechoslovakia, for one thing, and the divergence of national resources from Warsaw Pack members to Soviet Russia were not given even the slightest chance for the Eastern European countries to engage in free trade with other nations as they saw(chose) would be an act of imperialism.

CARMICHAEL:

Okey, then, do you agree that the Russian intervention in Czechoslovakia is an act of Imperialism?

UNMAN:

Yes.

CARMICHAEL:

Then, are you for the violent overthrow of the Russian troops in Czechoslovakia? Let the man answer. Are you for the violent overthrow of the imperialist forces in South Vietnam?

UNMAN: No.

CARMICHAEL:

Oh, then you're not against imperialism.

UNMAN: No. (Laughter)

CARMICHAEL:

He's honest. He's honest...

UNMAN: Unintelligible.

CARMICHAEL:

Oh, no. Answer the question. Are you for the violent overthrow of the Russian troops who are now in Czechoslovakia, which is a first act of imperialism, by your definition. Are you for the violent overthrow of those troops?

UNMAN:

At this point, because of a

I would say

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

no, but I tell you this much, there gonna be a.....

CARMICHAEL: (Interrupts)

You don't have to do it. I know you're the policeman of the World, but would you be for it if somebody else did it? If the Czechoslovakia people did it, would you be for it?

UNMAN:

(If)

(The) Czechoslovakia people did it, I think that would be fine.

CARMICHAEL:

Then you are for the violent overthrow of imperialist countries? Watch out, ~~xxx~~ you might be a (Communist) (commie now). (Laughter).

Next point. You'd better come on and give him some help. Come on, help him.

Point number two of the Communist platform. Now, so far, you agree with the first platform of the Communist Party. Point number two, let's go on.

UNMAN: I also North Vietnam's aggression against the South is naturally imperialist. If they want to trade with (national) resources they can do so, but they don't have to do it by (war). Just like any other country can trade with any other country as they please.

CARMICHAEL:

I agree with that. That's why the United States shouldn't be there. (Laughter) What's the next question? What's point two of the Communist Platform?

UNMAN:

Unintelligible.yes or no, are you a

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~
member of the Communist Party? (Laughter)

CARMICHAEL:

I refuse to answer the question on the grounds
it may tend to incriminate me. (Loud laughter and applause).
Are you a member of the Chabazzkaboo Party? (ph).

UNMAN: Unintelligible.

CARMICHAEL:

Communist Party. I'll tell you a secret. You would be happy and you'd be lucky if black people were members of the Communist Party, because the Communist Party in the United States follows the Moscow line which pushes peaceful co-exist-ance. Black people are pushing armed struggle. You should hope they run to the Communist Party. That's too deep. You don't even understand that... (laughter and applause).
Your trouble is the trouble of all Americans. You allow your government to define for you your enemy by calling him a Communist, and then all they have to do is 'oink' and say he's a communist and you're ready to kill. If they told you your father was a communist you'd shot her. That's how stupid you are. (Applause). Stupid. You ought to know. You ought to know for yourself whom your enemies are so you will know who to fight, and don't throw labels around. Throwing labels around shows ones incapacity to deal with an intellectual position. (Applause).

UNMAN: Unintelligible.

CARMICHAEL:

I cantdefine Communism, so I/ know whether or not dont

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

I am or I am not one. You do not know any of the positions of the Communist Party, but you are willing to fight against Communism. It might be good for you, really.

UNMAN:

I fight against Communism, because of my political freedom.

CARMICHAEL:

You don't know what your political freedom is.

How's that?

UNMAN: ... I do, yes sir.

CARMICHAEL: You do.

ANOTHER UNMAN:

Mr. CARMICHAEL, will you criticize an opinion of mine for me, please. Uh, (it refers) to the so-called localized or circumscribed black state.... and wonder if it is likely that the minute this is created ~~it~~ might not every highway patrolman in the continental United States ring around this area and attempt to wipe it out?

CARMICHAEL:

I think (that) would be a mistake. I think that tactically speaking it's best to be where we are, because the United States power does not result in man to man power, it results in superior fire power, the dropping of bombs, and if we went to one state they could just drop bombs. But, if we lived right in the heart of their cities they couldn't drop bombs, because they would destroy their cities. (Applause).

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

UNMAN: (unintelligible).

CARMICHAEL:

I have to agree with this; however, I think that white people must define (unintelligible few words) and move against that oppression. I think.. What's the name of that (dame) that started womens rights...

(CONVERSATION between UNMAN and CARMICHAEL unintelligible).

UNMAN:

Let me, uh... Do you see any place for members of the liberals?

CARMICHAEL: (Unintelligible).

UNMAN:

I'd like to ask you.. (unintelligible).

CARMICHAEL:

I'm not a (unintelligible word).

UNMAN continues his question:

.... Are you for the democratic government throughout the United States today?

CARMICHAEL:

Kells: Hell no. (Applause). I want you to define for me that democratic government.... (unintelligible).

UNMAN:

If you don't believe in the government we have today (use) how can you stand up there and (abuse) the system (unintelligible few words) use our government, you said yourself. (Applause) I don't think that that.. (unintelligible).

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CARMICHAEL:

Well, obviously, that's because I'm doing it. (Applause).
I don't understand your question. I don't understand your question. I do not believe in the government. Do you believe in free speech? Do you believe in free speech?

UNMAN: (Makes few unintelligible remarks about free speech).

CARMICHAEL:

No, your government doesn't have a monopoly on free speech.

UNMAN: (unintelligible).

CARMICHAEL:

Yes, it's your government.

UNMAN: (says something unintelligible about it being "your government").

CARMICHAEL: (unintelligible).

Let me ask you a question. In order to be a citizen of the United States one must enjoy all the rights and privileges of the (unintelligible word) country. For example, you (unintelligible), uh, this principle that says, uh, all of the parts, the sum parts of the... all of the parts equal the whole, right? In order to have the whole you must have the sum total of the parts, is that the correct wording? The sum total of the parts equal the whole. If you do not have the sum total of the parts, do you have a functional whole?
W-h-o-l-e (spelled). (Laughter). The sum total of the parts equal the whole. For example, you have an automobile.
In order to have an automobile you must have wheels, you must have a steering wheel, you must have brakes. All of those things equal an automobile. Now if you have an automobile without a steering wheel you do not have a functional automobile. That correct? Can you call it an automobile?

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

UNMAN:

You can call it a part of one.

CARMICHAEL:

You can call it part of one. That's what you call me. (laughter).

UNMAN:

Okey. I want to ask you, then, if you didn't like our government, if you didn't like the way it was run, why did you want to become a so-called paper citizen?

CARMICHAEL:

Because when I became a paper citizen I believed the (rise or rights) of the country.

UNMAN:

Throw away your paper.

CARMICHAEL:

No, no, no, (unintelligible) throw away the paper, but throw away the government. (laughter and applause). (more comments unintelligible).

UNMAN:

Mr. CARMICHAEL, I'd like to say first of all that I respect you for your views and I cannot (unintelligible) your argument you (identified) for your people and what you stand for. But, as a white man and as a citizen of the United

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

States, I'd like to just make a two part statement and then just have you comment on it. First of all, the only reason you have given me for your use of violence is condemn the United States as animals for being in Vietnam and saying, "Look, they're using violence, so I can use violence". What I'm asking you right now is does that justify you ~~xxx~~ using violence?

.....(unintelligible).

As I see it, it is a heck of a lot easier for you to stand up to people and to tell your own people to go get a gun and to stand up to a white man with a gun and hold the white gun in his face, not as Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING would do, so I have...(unintelligible). He took his time about things--it was going to take time. (Some male member of the audience comments: And he got (unintelligible). UNMAN continues: I know he did. Alright! He took his time and he's dead. I'm not saying he's not dead. I agree with you on that. (laughter).

CARMICHAEL:

Very liberal of you. (laughter).

UNMAN continues:

Dr. KING is dead, but he is dead because he stood for something that he believed in. And he's not dead because he did not respect man. He's dead because he respected every single man alive. And I would just like to ask, if I can get my thoughts back again, is that the only thing that I see as an alternative that you offer is a state that exists like the United States and Russia are in right now, that the black man gets his power, the only alternative for the white society is

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

to either lock out the black community (at) all, or it is (unintelligible) submit to them and to let them be superior.
And, so what I would like to ask you now ^{is} /that this not the black power that you talked about in your first book, I think.
It is not a black power...(outside interference)...

END.

[] Denmark, South Carolina, advised on December 11, 1968 that at approximately 12:30 a.m., December 11, 1968, Carmichael left Denmark, South Carolina in the above described Oldsmobile and was allegedly going to Atlanta, Georgia via Augusta, Georgia.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

A [] confidential source advised on December 10, 1968 that he had received information that Carmichael would speak at Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia on December 11, 1968, and his visit was sponsored jointly by a militant Negro group known as the Black Student Alliance at that college and also by a white group known as the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

All sources mentioned above in this communication advised that Carmichael told his audience at the above schools that he was definitely in favor of revolutionary violence. He encouraged all Negroes to obtain guns and that in retaliation for the three Negro students killed at Orangeburg, South Carolina in February 1968, the people should kill white policemen. He stated that they should kill these policemen during the nighttime. Carmichael also encouraged the black man to unite and stated that the young Negro male should avoid the draft in the United States because he should stay in the United States and fight his real enemy in this country and not go to Vietnam and fight the white man's enemy. Carmichael also encouraged his audience to form local BPP groups.

The [] confidential source, mentioned previously, stated that he attended the speech of Carmichael at SCSC and at Benedict College. He advised that the speech was practically identical at both schools. This source stated that the main theme of Carmichael's talk was that the black man had to become violent if he was to achieve equality in this country. This source further stated that the crowds at both of these schools received Carmichael's comments enthusiastically and applauded Carmichael frequently.

The above source advised there were no incidents and no arrests made by local law enforcement officers.

Pertinent portions of the above information was furnished to the 111th Military Intelligence Group, Columbia, South Carolina; United States Secret Service, Columbia, South Carolina; and the local authorities in Columbia, Denmark and Orangeburg, South Carolina on December 10 and December 11, 1968.

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), headquartered at 360-362 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia, is a nonmembership organization, which was born out of the sit-in movement that erupted across the South beginning in 1960.

Today SNCC identifies itself as an organization in the revolutionary vanguard. It advocates that to be successful it is necessary to develop a revolutionary ideology and revolutionary program.

According to SNCC the year 1967 marked a historic milestone in the struggle for the liberation of black people in the United States and the year that revolutionaries throughout the world began to understand more fully the impact of the black movement. SNCC declared that "liberation will come only when there is final destruction of this mad octopus-- the capitalistic system of the United States with all its life-sucking tentacles of exploitation and racism that choke the people of Africa, Asia, and Latin America. The realities of black life, together with the recognition instilled in SNCC workers forced its members to further popularize the legitimacy of self-defense and rebellions when oppression became too great."

From May, 1966, until May, 1967, Stokely Carmichael was National Chairman of SNCC. As of July, 1968, Carmichael resided in Washington, D.C., where he was affiliated with SNCC and active as temporary chairman of a black coalition group. In May, 1967, Carmichael was replaced [REDACTED]

In June, 1968, at the Staff and Central Committee meeting of SNCC held in Atlanta, Georgia, it was decided to restructure the organization by equalization of responsibility by creating ten deputy or vice chairmanships. The primary purpose for this change is to take law enforcement pressure off any single individual.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam, and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. Gus Hall, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of the United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us". At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anticommunist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of July 24, 1968, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

APPENDIXBLACK PANTHER PARTY

According to its official newspaper, the Black Panther Party (BPP) was started during December, 1966, in Oakland, California, to organize black people so they can take control of the life, politics, and the destiny of the black community. It was organized by [redacted] Huey P. Newton, BPP Minister of Defense. Newton is presently serving a sentence of 2 to 15 years on a conviction of manslaughter in connection with the killing of an Oakland police officer.

b6
b7C

The official newspaper, "The Black Panther," which further describes itself as the "Black Community News Service," states that the BPP advocates the use of guns and guerrilla tactics in its revolutionary program to end oppression of the black people. Residents of the black community are urged to arm themselves against the police who are consistently referred to in the publication as "pigs" who should be killed.

"The Black Panther" issue of September 7, 1968, contains an editorial by BPP [redacted] which ends with the following:

b6
b7C

"Black men. Black people, colored persons of America, revolt everywhere! Arm yourselves. The only culture worth keeping is a revolutionary culture. Change. Freedom everywhere. Dynamite! Black Power. Use the gun. Kill the pigs everywhere."

Included in the introduction to an article appearing in the October 5, 1968, edition of "The Black Panther" is the statement, "...we will not dissent from American Government. We will overthrow it."

Issues of "The Black Panther" regularly contain quotations from the writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of the People's Republic of China and feature MAO's statement that "political power grows out of the barrel of a gun."

The national headquarters of the BPP is located at 3106 Shattuck Avenue, Berkeley, California. Branches have been established at various locations throughout the United States.

NY 100-161993

On 12/7/68, [] who has furnished reliable information in the past telephonically advised an informal meeting was held in Queens, NYC, on 12/6/68, between affiliates of the Black Nationalist Movement and several white representatives of SDS.

b7D

According to this source, [] described as a former BPP officials, from Los Angeles, California, initially met with several members of SDS at the NYC office of SNCC, 100 5th Avenue, NYC. Source related this meeting was initiated by the SDS representatives, who had called [] at NYC, SNCC, suggesting they would like to meet with some affiliates of SNCC to illustrate what contribution they were making to the "revolution."

b6
b7D

This source stated the meeting moved to an unrecalled location in Queens, NYC, and during same, the SDS representatives enumerated the various student/campus disturbances throughout the academic community of the country and credited their organization with this contribution to the overall "revolution."

During the course of this meeting [] made critical remarks of the Black Panther, and ELDRIDGE CLEAVER in particular, as he had done in past public statements, and he was also highly critical of the way the Black Panthers conducted their operation in both NY and NJ. These remarks prompted a general discussion of the difficulty the Panthers were having with NJ authorities.

b6
b7D

The topic of "SNCC Going Underground", was originally introduced 2 years ago by [] a former SNCC official and whenever a particular Black Militant group encounters difficulty with the police, this topic presents itself. At the time the Revolutionary Action Movement encountered difficulty with the New York City Police, the idea of SNCC going underground was evidently discussed but never carried out.

b6
b7C

BEST COPY AVAILABLE

NY 100-161993

This source related the officials of SNCC do not have the fortitude to function in an "underground" capacity, and presently their critical financial situation does not even permit them to operate openly, much less "underground". In addition, source related the friction that exists between SNCC and the Panthers would prevent any mutual underground operation, should it be financially possible.

With respect to STOKELY CARMICHAEL attending a conference in NYC, the weekend of 12/7-9/68, source related CARMICHAEL spoke at a rally of sorts in the Newark, NJ area, which was regarded among the local NYC militants as just another CARMICHAEL speech, wherein he would advocate a particular course of action, and then "flee" if anyone followed his suggestions. Source stated CARMICHAEL is regarded among leading militants as an egotistical revolutionary, who believes in nothing he's preached.

[redacted] was accompanied to this meeting by a Negro female, named [redacted] who is employed at the [redacted] NYC, and who resides at [redacted] NYC. According to this source, [redacted] of STOKELY CARMICHAEL and as a result of [redacted]

[redacted] Source stated [redacted] at the time she was associating with CARMICHAEL deliberately planned [redacted]

[redacted] Reportedly, CARMICHAEL and his family have acknowledged [redacted]

Source further reiterated this meeting with SDS representatives was not to formulate any type of future plan of action but merely one in which the SDS representative wanted an opportunity to blow their "revolutionary horn" to SNCC officials. This is illustrated by the fact [redacted] no longer function within SNCC and [redacted] has been dismissed by the Panthers.

NY 100-161993

This source further stated it is the general opinion among the "militants" that CLEAVER has fled to Cuba, although no one has been able to offer concrete information to support this theory. It is based solely on fact Negro militants as a whole have enjoyed a friendly relationship with the Cuban Government, and have traveled to that country in the past as guests of the Cuban Government.

STOKELEY CARMICHAEL

Unidentified Male: Brother STOKELEY CARMICHAEL!

The Field Marshal of the Boston Black Panthers will speak very shortly before brother STOKELEY will speak.
~~CHICO NEBLETT.~~ MASS MICH CALIF

CALIF MASS CHICO: Thank you. I'm not going to speak. I'm just going to introduce a couple of people that I work with across the country. The San Francisco Field Marshal MASS MICH DONALD COX. From Detroit, Field Marshal ~~GEORGE SAMS~~, and the Black Panther Party's Minister of Information for the Boston area - Mr. T. D. ~~MURLEY~~. We just want MASS to say that we're sorry the newsmen had to go through such an experience, but that's tough (or Tufts). Thank you.

STOKELEY CARMICHAEL!

STOKELEY: Good evening. What we wanted to do tonight was to just give a short little talk and leave most of the time open for questions. We wanted to do was to outline some of the areas that help us to form our ideology, dealing only with and primarily with the white community, simply because I do not think it is necessary for black people to waste time talking about their struggles in front of white people. So that maybe we could open some analyses and examine the white community politically since the white community is always examining the black community, not only politically, but economically, socially, and every other way out. But since we're not concerned very much with the black community's - the white community except politically, politically and as it deals within a political arena, therefore economically also, we want to discuss that and the trends in the country so that we could see how we will have to relate and then, of course, once having outlined our analysis, it would be up to white groups - activists, liberals, conservatives, right-wings, fascists, what have you, to then decide which way they move.

Now, before we begin talking though, I'd like to say very briefly so that we do not have a lot of haggling and waste a lot of time during the question and answer period about violence, we stated that we are for revolutionary violence. We are affirmative about that.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

(C)

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

So that if you have questions, you may ask your questions, but please don't try to convince me that our decision to use violence is a silly, or whatever. Please, just so that we can move on. We have decided that. Even if it's fatalistic and if it is suicidal, please allow us that mistake. We have decided to use violence.

And we have decided to use revolutionary violence because we are oppressed by violence - by violence. And therefore, we have run the gamut and there is nothing left. I think that white students get hung up on violence because when they see black people move with a gun, that's the only type of violence they see, or with a match. But they never try to understand other types of violence in the society. For example, they never take time out to consider that it is violence for a child to go to bed hungry in the most wealthy country in the world. That's violence. But they do not recognize that as violence. It is violence for a man to live to age 67, die with his head bowed, been bowed all of his 67 years, never been able to stand up straight, and to see his children die of hunger. That's violence. So that there are all forms of violence. But when the oppressed retaliates, the only way the oppressed can retaliate is with the guns, with the overt violence because the oppressed does not have the power to institutionalize and legitimize his violence. The oppressor does. So that the oppressor's violence is not as overt as is the oppressed. So we are for revolutionary violence.

Now, we want to talk a little about the conventional, political arena of the United States and why it is that we assume that that political, conventional system as it now is must be totally destroyed in order for black people, if they are able to ever live as human beings in this country, we must destroy the conventional political system - the two-party system, for a number of reasons. I think that what white America has done is that it's allowed people to believe that political equality is more important than economic equality, or let me say, opportunity for political equality is more important than opportunity for economic equality. And it's allowed everyone to assume that if you do have opportunity for political equality, you can by that alone also move to a position where you can help develop your economic sense of stability. That's totally incorrect. As a matter of fact, I think it would be more important if there was opportunity for economic equality and not opportunity for political equality. That is, if one had a choice. I think it would be more important if I had food in my stomach than to vote. I think that's more important. And if there was re-distribution of the wealth in this country, if every man had an acre and a mule, then you could have all the votes you want, or if every man had a gun, then you could have all the votes you want. But what the United States stresses is political democracy as being the key issue to re-structuring the system of the United States, and many white students, white leftists and activists, have fallen for that. They have not begun to concentrate on raising the issues of really opportunity for economic equality. And I think then that the group we could deal with most logically would be liberals, especially liberals in the United States. But we could talk about not only liberals in the United States, but liberals around the world, because I think they have certain characteristics that we can point out and learn from them and see where their failures are. Because they do have a lot of failures.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

I think the major failures of liberals in this country is that aside from deep analysis of the situation, their primary purpose is always to stop the confrontation. That is, they're not really concerned with readjusting grievances. The primary role of a liberal is always to stop the confrontation. If the liberal sees polarization to the right and polarization to the left, he or she seeks to stop the confrontation. If the liberal sees polarization from blacks and polarizations from whites, they seek to stop the confrontation. If the liberal sees polarization from the rich and polarization from the poor, they seek to stop the confrontation. That is their primary purpose. They're not concerned at that point, they say, with re-adjusting the grievances. But they say that they are (unintelligible word) a priority that violence or a conflict will not, in fact, resolve the conflict. And that is an incorrect assumption on the part of liberals. Sometimes it is necessary for conflict in order to solve solutions. And they know it well. But because they are in a position where they have a certain amount of influence - not power, influence, they try to talk about stopping the confrontation. I think then that it would be the job of black people to understand that we must decide if, in fact, there is to be a confrontation and we cannot allow the liberals to make the decision for us that a confrontation is not to anybody's benefit. We have to decide whether or not a confrontation is desirable, if it is desirable, when and how. And that must be our decision. So that it seems to me that the first thing the liberals must do is that they must make sure that if they stop the confrontation, they can redress the problems. Because if they cannot, people will be angry at them. That's No. 1.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

And I think secondly, the dilemma that the liberals find themselves in is that they usually come from an economically stable group. Liberals have economic stability. And they have economic stability depending upon the very status quo. The people who are economically unstable - the poor whites, happen not to be liberals in this country and in most countries. Because the economically unstable is fighting for the hope that he or she can become economically stable. Therefore, he wants a change in the system. But the economically stable is not going to fight for a chance or hope to change the situation because he may, or she may, end up economically unstable. And that doesn't make very much sense. So what the liberal does really is that the liberal tries to say that he or she is sure you do not have to change the basic structure, but that everyone can become economically stable. And that is insanity - that is insanity. And that leads, I think, to the third failure, it seems to me, of liberals is their fear of alienation.

The liberals are afraid to alienate anyone. So what they have then is a broad, humanistic program where they say, "Well, it's true that for 400 years there have been these grievances; therefore, things aren't right". But they say we can adjust this without readjusting or punishing anyone. For example, the liberals will say, Yes, there are a lot of rich people in the country; and yes, there are a lot of poor people in the country, and they will tell the poor people, well, just take time and you'll become as rich as the other guy without explaining to the poor people that in order for them to get rich, one of two things must happen: Either they must take money from the rich and divide it up amongst themselves, or they must find another group to exploit from which the money comes. But the liberals assures us that there is another alternative without pointing it out. They just say that we're sure that everybody can get along well, you know. Yes, it is a fact that white and blacks have been having trouble in the past, but there's no need for that now. We can sit down and hold hands.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

They're afraid to alienate. Afraid to alienate because they're not really concerned with changing the system, but really, with maintaining the status quo. Again, because of their own economic stability. I think that that's going to be the major hang-up or major - that's an SDS word, isn't it? Hang-up! The major, all right SDS, the major hang-up. We'll give it (laughter). . . it's the major hang-up of liberal movements in the country. And I think all of these problems stem from the fact that liberals never tend to consolidate power, but rather what they tend to do is to influence the society. And in many cases, while they can influence the society to a desired end, they never have enough power to implement the decision. For example, it is a fact that during the Civil Rights era in this country, there was a broad coalition of what would be called liberals - labor movements, churches, groups on the left and student groups. And all of these liberals got together and urged and agitated for the passage of certain civil rights legislation. Yet when such legislation did come about, they were completely incapable of carrying out the decisions, that is, of enforcing the laws that they had fought for. And it seems to me that again is ridiculous. You do not fight for a law against somebody who's refused to give it to you and then once he's admitted he's wrong, just sit. It seems to me that the job of the liberal would be if you fight for a civil rights legislation, or if you fight for the voting rights legislation, once you get it you wouldn't stop, you would try to make sure it is implemented. But again, because the liberal does not really seek change, but just some sort of reform, he is able to make it pretend that he is really working for the benefit of the oppressed when in fact he is working for his own interests, which conflicts with the interests of the oppressed, because the oppressed is, again, economically unstable.

Now then, I think finally, and this is perhaps the dilemma within the political ideology of liberals, is that liberals expound a humanism, they expound a humanism. But they say that this humanism, if expounded and if believed by everyone, can create the type of political state which would then define the behavior of people. And that is absurd. One first must create the political state and the political state will define - will define, and will be able to tell you what kind of behavior each individual has. So what the liberal says is, well, if we all stop fighting, and if we all get together, and we spread the word about love and love power and flower power and all this nonsense, everything will be all right. But while they're doing this nonsense, the people who are consolidating the power are really the fascists. So that the fascists will have consolidated the power, and they will decide the atmosphere for the society. The liberals then do not seek power. They do not seek power. And that is perhaps their biggest fallacy. And it's clear. You can see it even in politics in 1968. It was GEORGE WALLACE who built a third party. It was GEORGE WALLACE who built a third party. It was GEORGE WALLACE who began to consolidate his power; the liberals who were wishy-washy, MC CARTHY - wishy-washy, because they're afraid to make the decision for real change. WALLACE is not afraid to make it for change. The liberal may disagree with the alternatives, but WALLACE is not afraid. He does in fact, and will, make those decisions and move to consolidate power - to consolidate power, and that is a drawback, I think, of the liberal movement. It does not seek to consolidate for power. It does not seek to consolidate for power.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

And the final drawback, then, is how we view it in the black community. Since they do not seek to consolidate power, it seems to us that those who are now seeking to consolidate power will be able to overrun the liberals. For example, if WALLACE does get power, and begins to consolidate his power, the liberals who are not building a power base will not be able to stop WALLACE and if we do not seek to build a power base, WALLACE will run over us. Therefore, we have to build a power base. If the liberals were building any type of a power base, we could at least say, well, perhaps they are and therefore. . . But they do not seek to build a real power base because again, they just want to reform and to keep everyone happy.

Now I think that, finally, this is the last statement - we can open up for questions - the white leftists are making a big mistake when they assume that black people can make coalitions with or work along with poor whites, solely because they are both oppressed. I think the assumption is incorrect. Because the oppression is entirely different. For white people, there is just the question of exploitation; for black people, there's the question of colonization. And that has a lot to do with the grief. White people are economically exploited in the society, but they have the same values, the same systems, the same culture, the same way of life as the white people who are oppressing them. But for black people, that's not true. We have been stripped, or at least the oppressor's tried to strip us, of our culture. They've tried to strip us of our value systems; strip us of our language; and strip us of our history. So that what they've tried to produce is someone who is completely de-humanized. So that the white person, the poor white person, usually is fighting for more money, or for better economic ways of life, and the black person is usually fighting for his humanity, for his humanity.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Witness then, the militancy, if you will, of the black bourgeoisie, who are economically stable and who do not protest against what white liberals protest against, that is a sense of humanity, that is of - if you will, the black bourgeoisie, whose movement more and more to the ranks of the more militant groups because, even though they are economically stable they feel the oppression which again white liberals do not feel, because while economically stable, I think that in Esquire Magazine there's an article this month on Tom Hayden, and the writer says that Tom Hayden and the others have a need - they have a need to identify with those who are suffering. That is to say, that they want to sort of inflict suffering or cast their lots with those who suffer. So that their fight then is not that they themselves are threatened, or at least, they have not defined their position as being threatened, and perhaps it is because in the final analysis, their position is not threatened. The difference then is that black people's positions and their very lives are threatened so that they have no alternative but to move to fight for change of the system.

Perhaps if we stop there we could get more questions which I think would open up a better floor for dialogue.

Question: If there is an existence of a black American in a black American (words unintelligible) community (words unintelligible) I can't doubt (unintelligible) and I can understand your line (unintelligible), but if I'm to grant you the existence of a black American in a black community, why can't you grant me the non-existence of a white American in a white community. Why can't you grant me the non-fellowship that we feel (unintelligible) oppressors, but the fellowship that you feel (unintelligible)?

Answer: Well, I'm not sure. Could you outline concretely in terms of your oppression?

Question: Yes. In other words, you talk about black America and you say that you can turn to a black man and call him (unintelligible) brother.

Answer: Correct.

Question: I can't understand that because I'm not black. I can't understand that because I'm not oppressed. But why can't you grant me because you can't understand me, because you are not the oppressor, that I cannot turn to another white man and call him brother?

Answer: I understand that.

Question: O. K. Then, if you grant me that, then why can you not why do you blame me for what my non-brother may be doing?

Answer: I blame you because you enjoy part of the system that your non-brother is in. Is not that correct? You enjoy the economic stability of that system of your non-brother.

Question: That's your point of. . .

Answer: No! No, no. Then, therefore, since your non-brother is moving to attack me, I have to now prepare to attack your non-brother. Is that correct? If you now get in the middle and say to me, "Do not attack my non-brother", because you never turn to your non-brother and say, "Do not attack the blacks", you always turn to me and say, "Do not attack" or "Do not fight my non-brothers", it seems to me that you're really brothers. (Applause). Because if you were non-brothers, you would say to him, since you admit a priority before you began that he is oppressing me, you would say to him "Look, you're wrong. Stop it!"

Question: (Inaudible reply)

Answer: Well, that's fine. And then, to the victor belongs the spoils.

Question: Tell us something about SNCC. Why you feel you are opposed (rest of question inaudible).

Answer: Oh, I never publicly discuss internal disputes. The Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee expelled me so that you should write them or ask them for that information. I will not help to increase those political contradictions. (Applause)

Question: You've spoken about liberals. I wonder if you could turn your attention for a minute to the white liberals that call themselves revolutionaries. I have (inaudible)

Answer: Alliance? (Laughter)

Question (Cont'd): (Inaudible)

Answer: O. K. I think that for black people we have two systems against which we fight. Racism and capitalism. All right? I think for the groups on the left - the white groups on the left, PL, YSA, or what have you, they are concerned primarily with capitalism. They say that if you eradicate capitalism, you will also eradicate racism. We say that the mere elimination of capitalism does not safeguard the elimination of racism. Understand? And that, I think, is the political difference. Now, along with some other petty thing, like for example, most of the groups you name, with the exception of PL, which we'll deal with separately, but the YSA, SWP, and YIPS (phonetic) and all these other groups, they follow the Moscow line. And the Moscow line is a line of peaceful co-existence. Obviously for black people, there can be no peaceful co-existence. So that, the line, then, that black people either consciously or unconsciously push is obviously a line of armed struggle. Have to push it. The armed struggle line is the line being raised by MAO and by FIDEL. So that PL follows the line of MAO. So that there's no argument there. But for the other two groups, there's the argument of peaceful co-existence versus armed struggle. Witness their own dilemma when the Soviet Union invaded Czechoslovakia. The dilemma was that the Soviet Union has been telling all the liberation forces in the third world to - urging them for peaceful co-existence. They urged the Arabs to accept peaceful co-existence, yet when their borders are threatened, when their borders are threatened politically, they use armed intervention to secure their own political states. And so I think those groups would fall under that criticism. Along with the fact that I do not think they think that - that you have to fight racism consciously. They think the mere elimination of capitalism will produce the elimination of racism. And they cannot prove that to me. As a matter of fact, on the contrary, we have more information to prove that that's not true. For example, George Badmon (phonetic) was a black man who served on the COMINTERM in 1934 under STALIN, left, and wrote a book entitled "Pan-Africanism of Communism", where he said that the United - the USSR was denouncing or going soft on colonialism for its favoritism among the west. And we see that being clearly true today. That the USSR is trying to win favor in the eyes of the West at the price of the third world. And because of that we have to be conscious. We also have to be conscious that while people mention class conflict, that there has been race conflict, and that race conflict is more instinctive than class conflict. So that they're asking us to op out on racism and follow their line on capitalism. And notice, if you will, that those very people, PL, SWP and YSA, come from the middle class and are incapable of getting a base among the working class, so that they're really paper machineries and theoretical machineries. They do not have the force to even start a match to burn one police station down. So you don't have to deal with them.

Question: Recently, there was published in a national magazine an interview with Brother ELDRIDGE CLEAVER, where he said a couple of things about violence, and a couple of things about coalition between blacks and whites. He said the words that time is running out on - that time is running out towards the black people waiting for some kind - some physical confrontation, some physical violence, and that if the system doesn't move to make the necessary changes without physical violence, then physical violence will take place. He also said that the people involved in this physical violence will be blacks doing their duty as blacks and the people that they form coalitions with, the whites that they form coalitions with, will be doing their duties as whites. Can you say anything about that or about (inaudible words)?

Answer: O. K. What I do not deny there will be violence within the white community. I am not sure that that violence will be geared behind a - anyone type of political ideology. I mean, I notice already the beginning of violence inside the white community. But I'm not sure that since white people grown up in this country are so prone to violence, that that's not just something that's been imbedded in them. For example, I witnessed confrontations with the hippies and the police. I have yet to find out what is the political position of the hippies on anything other than pot. Other than pot. (Applause)

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~
- 11 -

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

So that I do not see those groups are saying that I can't - I couldn't see myself forming a coalition with a group that's fighting for pot. I mean, I imagine pot is important and a basic necessity for the life of people who have already eaten dinner and are watching television, but for the man who's trying to get dinner, I don't think that pot is really essentially the point (?). So that I don't see how there could be a coalition, but I think that they will have - they will, as they say using their own quotes, they will do their thing and whatever that is, and probably help to create some more chaos which, of course, will work for the benefit of those who are fighting at the same time. And I. . .

Question: Do you think time will run out before the system really changes (rest of question inaudible)?

Answer: No. I think that there is going to be violent conflict in the United States. And I think the best we can do is to begin to prepare for it.

Question: Can you describe the economic system that you would like to see (inaudible word, sounds like adopted)? (Rest of question inaudible).

Answer: Well, the first program one has before one begins a revolution is a program of seizing power because you cannot create a revolution until you've seized power. I think that's a mistake even of a lot of the white left in its rhetoric. They talk about they are in a revolution. They are not in any revolution. There is no revolution going on in the United States. A revolution begins only after you've seized power. For example, witness Fidel Castro. He fought in the Sierra Madres (phonetic) a long time struggling against Battista. After he kicked Battista and the American lackeys out of Cuba, when he walked into Havana with CHE at his side, on that day when he said "Today, I claim this land Cuba for the masses of Cuban people", then the revolution begun. Because then he had the power to implement programs. Now, I want to deal with your question because I don't think it's just a straight question. It's really very subtly meant to misdirect black people. Because all they keep saying is what is your program. You want change, but what is your program? But you cannot put out a program until you have power to implement it. So our only program now is a program for the power. Once having seized the power, then we will begin to decide how to distribute the land. But we have certain guidelines. And we can say that one of them we know we do not want is capitalism. We do not want capitalism.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

So then, the two economic systems in the world that we know about from western society, since they're the ones that have been doing the writing since they've burnt the other records, is communism and socialism. So that if we allow our thinking to be structured according to western society, and it's very hard for us to be free of it since we've been brought up in western society, we have to look to either communism or socialism. That does not necessarily mean that one of those two will be the real thing. 'Cause there may be others. That answer your question?

Question: But there must be some program where you can gain this power. . . .that part of the question (inaudible).

Answer: Well, there is a program to gain power.

Question: What's that?

Answer: I don't think NAPOLEON told you what his was. (Laughter - applause)

Question: (Inaudible)

Answer: I'm sorry. Could you repeat the question, please?

Question: You very frequently use the terms "Afro-American society" and I (inaudible) find it difficult to understand the relationship between the black (inaudible) and the black national (inaudible).

Answer: You asked the right man. The relationship is sometimes marital. (Laughter) But more importantly, the relationship is the same people who have been divided by the malicious will of western society. We do not know whom our brothers are. We do not know where we've come from. And we cannot trace our roots back beyond two or three generations. But we do know one thing. We do come from Africa. That is a fact. We do come from Africa. And, I'm going to explain. . .

Question: Then you (inaudible) a cultural relationship rather than an economic relationship?

Answer: No. It is cultural, economic, political and social because once Africa becomes united, it will be the most powerful continent on the face of the earth. And that would give us something. And that what white people would have us believe is that there is no relationship between Africa; it is a backward nation, et cetera, because they know that the black man in America has the technical skills needed in Africa. Also,

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

because he's lived so close to western society, he understands very clearly the moves of western society. So that a hook-up with a man who has that type of political knowledge and technical knowledge - with a man who has the resources, since they are all one men, means the certain defeat of western society, wouldn't you say? And I think that's why the question is asked. But just like in - you know, have you ever heard the saying that blood is thicker than water. Yes, well see, we're all the same people, the same blood. And when the white folk came and scattered us in South America, the West Indies, all over the Western Hemisphere, well they put bodies of water between us but they forgot that blood is thicker than water. (Applause)

Question: Do you know now of any economic oppressors left, and if so, how do you reconcile (inaudible)?

Answer: The economic what?

Question: Oppressor.

Answer: Am I part of the economic oppressor?

Question: You made it.

Answer: I have? No. Unhuh! Oh this! (Laughter) San Francisco. San Francisco. They knocked off a store (Laughter) But even if I did make it, I'm still part of the oppressed because I had to fight oppression in order to make it. Even twice as hard as the poor white person. I know there are some poor whites. But his chances are, you know, much better than me, wouldn't you say? And I had to fight. And I'm not really part of the oppressor, because I do not define the oppression. Nor do I even enjoy that system. It's a constant fight just to get a dollar from them. Anybody. For example, if you knew anything about the entertainment world, you would know that before most of those black singers open their mouths, thirty percent of the money is gone - gross. They have to pay the net. That on every record they make, they only get three cents. The rest of it goes to the industrialists, I imagine is what you'd call them. So on every level, there is oppression. Only when I control and I'm in the power to produce do I then become part of the oppressor.

Question: (Inaudible).

Answer: I beg your pardon.

Question: You don't really (inaudible).

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Answer: No. I don't think so, man. When I was on the blocks, I was always dressing good. (Laughter). That is, see, I think, that is the nonsensical statement of the white left. They are proletariat chauvinists. Everybody's running away from poverty. They're running to poverty. And I'll never understand that. Black people are trying their best to find decent jobs and get good clothes and white kids are going out in dungarees and trying to buy rat-infested houses. I do not understand that. I do not understand that. (Applause) And I see that also - see, 'cause that's the liberals. They do that. They don't give up any money. But they come and join you because they want to show again that this humanism can exist without changing the political realities. See, if they were really concerned, well, let them divide up their money, divide up the apartment and then we could move. But I'm not running to poverty. I'm trying to get out of it. And I'm going to do that, one way or the other. Really! As long as there's money out there. Ummhmm! We're going to survive until we come to the final confrontation.

Question: Well, I would certainly agree that the primary purpose (inaudible) before the (words inaudible) inter-colonial or neo-colonial U. S. policy in the third (inaudible) in Vietnam. I would (inaudible) that in order to achieve that goal, Brother Stokely, (inaudible) would you form coalition (inaudible) War Resistance League which are aware of the the French in the third (inaudible). (Laughter)

Answer: Wait, wait. I'm sorry. I didn't hear the last part. If I understand you correctly, is not the War Resistance League a non-violent organization? And is not the International League also non-violent? Yes, that would be my opposition. My opposition clearly because they do not take a realistic position.

Question: (Inaudible).

Answer: I don't see how. If I see tanks coming at me, I wouldn't form a coalition with somebody who sits there with flowers in their hands. I need another tank. I mean, speaking realistically, I need a tank. If I can't get a tank, I need some men who are willing to help stop that tank. I don't need people singing love songs and sitting in the streets, 'cause when the tank rolls over them, they roll over me. And misery loves company, not me. I don't know that their misery will do me any good. Unless their misery is going to alleviate my misery, there's no need for me to join coalition. I'm neither sadistic or masochistic. (Laughter). (Then the whispered sentence, "Do I look mad?"

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Question: I'd like to get some. . .

Answer: I beg your pardon?

Question: (Inaudible) of society and place (inaudible) community in which you can build (inaudible). Now it seems to me about the only place power is right now in the university and beyond that our only alternatives are ineffectual habitat efforts or bog yourselves down in ineffectual third party (inaudible).

Answer: Okay. I think that that would have to come from white people when they are really forced in a position where they feel threatened. See, white people do not, at this point, really feel threatened. They hear the grumblings and the mumblings, but to them it's still entertainment. The natives are restless tonight. They'll be okay tomorrow night. And until they really see the natives before their tents with spears in their hands ready to cut their throats, they will not become serious about the analysis they want. That's my own personal feeling. And I think that you could witness even the very things you talked about. A university. They want control of the university. The job of the university is to perpetuate the system, the values in the institutions of a given system. Is it not? How could you change the university without changing the system? I do not understand that contradiction. Do not understand it. And I think unless the students begin to grapple with it, they're just going to find themselves wasting points on confrontations without analyzing or even trying to heighten contradictions. It seems to me what the black movement is doing today is beginning to heighten contradictions, to prepare for confrontations. And again, that would be the point why there is a disruption between PL and SWP and the other groups. Because those groups have been incapable of heightening the contradictions on capitalism in this country. But black groups have been capable of heightening the contradictions around racism in this country. And if what they - what they say is correct, it seems to me they should be able to heighten the contradictions around capitalism to politically awaken the masses, to give - 'cause when you heighten the contradictions, you give political education to the masses of the people. Yet it is through heightening the contradictions around racism that the black masses have become politically awake, not through the heightening of the contradictions of capitalism because those groups are incapable of heightening the contradictions around capitalism. Does that answer your question? I thought, you know, I was going to come up here and yell at you and talk, you know, those kind of things. You get tired of that?

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Unintelligible comment in background.

Answer: Me? I'm not sure of a lot of things. Don't feel bad.

Question: (Mostly unintelligible.) How do you feel about a black capitalist trying to (rest of question inaudible).

Answer: Okay. The possibility is that you recognize the black capitalist as a threat, but that you do not fight two people at the same time. You concentrate always on the major enemy, which is very revolutionary. Witness, if you will, FIDEL CASTRO. Bourgeoisie were backing FIDEL, giving him money. They wanted him to overthrow BATTISTA. He did. When he got the power, he said "This is a Marxist-Leninist state. Up against the wall. Make up your mind. Either you're with me or you go to the home of imperialism."

Question: Are you saying that the black capitalist is a threat to (inaudible)?

Answer: It's a threat to the black liberation struggle. Clearly.

Question: What about - you're fighting for economic (inaudible). I mean, you're having your difficulties. What about the black man that wants - who feels that by capitalism (inaudible) through this he can go on and bring himself out? Why are you trying to (inaudible) against capitalism?

Answer: I'm sorry. I have problems understanding your question. Could you repeat it?

Question: You don't have power. You're trying to get (inaudible).

Answer: Fact.

Question: Why (inaudible) you're not getting anything done (inaudible). (Laughter)

Answer: You might. You might. You might. 'Cause you're right.

Question: (Inaudible). How can you say that it's wrong for black capitalism? If it is wrong for you to get yourself out of problems, do you have an answer now (Inaudible)?

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Answer: No, it's not, because I said that we recognize in the black struggle two evils - racism and capitalism. So, for fighting against it, it would be silly for us to encourage it.

Question: You said you wouldn't form a coalition with a white flower power (inaudible). Would you form a coalition with a white who was there fighting for the same goal as you were? Witness Chicago, when there were whites and there were blacks (inaudible) who came to Grant Park and they were both fighting against a form of oppression, namely society, the establishments, (inaudible), the community. When you were standing there in Grant Park, there was a black (inaudible) and you were a white, both fighting for some sort of same goal, it didn't matter what color you was, but there was an oppressor as (inaudible) representing this establishment. Now would you form a coalition for (inaudible)?

Answer: Were they fighting for the same goals? See, I think the mistake you make is when you see parallel activity, you automatically assume that the goals are the same. Just because you have two men running don't mean they're running the same place. Right? The man may turn right at the next block and you have to go on alone.

Question: (Inaudible).

Answer: Oh yes. Oh yes. They're Chicago students and because again, they didn't make their goals clear. I think they're only, and I'm convinced that I'm correct, especially after reading Mr. HAYDEN's remarks in Esquire Magazine, this issue, I'm especially convinced that the whites wanted to have the whole world see them with bloody heads. That was their only end, that's what HAYDEN said. We're coming for a confrontation. That's what all the leaders said. We're coming to Chicago for a confrontation. And they had confrontations. It seems to me that goals were met. My goal would not be confrontation. If a cop came to hit me with a billy stick, I'd try to kill him, and then kill every other cop that I saw next to him, you know? Until I just got rid of all the cops who at least began to build power to shake up the structure enough to then begin to bargain for other grounds. I would not just have a cop beat my head and sit there and say "The whole world is watching. Yeah, the whole world is watching me. Yeah!" (Laughter). And so, again, I don't understand that. I don't think the goals are the same. I think their activity will continue anyhow, and it may or may not help us, but that we should not depend on that.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

Question: First, is it your opinion that it is possible for a serious black (inaudible) or a way that both races (inaudible) and second of all (inaudible) see any seriousness in the platforms or the actions (inaudible).

Answer: Okay. No. 1. I think that there cannot be any serious coalition between the whites that are now active. If there can't be any serious - if there can be any serious coalition, it would have to come from poor whites, if you can even begin to maintain the thought, because they are the ones who would fight for the break-up of the economic system as it is now structured. Right? I don't think the economically stable are going to fight. Now, there are few of them who will fight. Make no doubt about it. Because history's always given us examples of people who have left the bourgeoisie to join the oppressed, or who have left the class of the oppressor to fight. There's no doubt about that. But I do not think the number is going to be that significant where one bases one's whole strategy or one's political ideology around that issue. So, I think unless poor whites begin to develop a revolutionary perspective, that will not happen. And notice that poor whites are developing a fascist perspective rather than a revolutionary perspective.

Now, on the second question, I'm not sure, because I'm not quite sure - because the students of SDS are not quite sure they've decided what they want yet either, other than confrontations. I think the mistake of SDS is that they push for confrontation without heightening the contradictions to politically awaken the masses of Americans - white Americans. And because they are always pushing for confrontations, they find themselves in the inevitable bind. And because they do not analyze the society, but they accept, really, you know, (unintelligible word) society. It was SDS people who were urging people to vote for MC CARTHY, and then some of them were quibbling about whether or not one should support HUMPHREY. The liberals never put forth an alternative. They wait for other people and then they grab onto it. That's because again they don't seek power, I think.

Question: (Inaudible) but it seems to me the great psychological problem, and I can't really see how violence is (inaudible).

Answer: Well, certainly we could say that violence institutes racism, does it not? Wouldn't you say that violence helps to maintain and perpetuate racism?

Question: I believe that racism is a state of mind and (inaudible) have the state of mind to perpetuate violence (Inaudible).

Answer: Well, let us be specific, for example, JIM CLARK. Is he a racist in the way of his mind? JIM CLARK, Sheriff of Sumterville (Phonetic), Alabama. Huh?

Question: (Inaudible).

Answer: Yes. I have faced him once and his mind is very active. It really is. I mean, it generates his entire body. And I think that what I have to do is to get my mind that active to generate my body against his mind. So then, if we can do that, I could understand your question. If we couldn't do that, I'm not sure I understand it. His mind uses his hands to get a billy club to come down on top of my head. And my mind must do the same thing. Get a billy club or - my mind should be smarter than his. When he gets a billy club, I get a gun.

Question: (Inaudible).

Answer: I beg your pardon.

Question: How do you (inaudible) of having you reach for a gun? How do you get him to stop using it?

Answer: That's not my problem. That's the problem of white society. They've been incapable of doing that. It's not my job to treat the victim. I did not produce him. It's my job to kill. My problem - my problem is him. I do not think see - see, that's the question, because white people, especially white western society pushes half the time. They now have the fire power. So they use all types of philosophies and reasonings why other people should not get more fire power. Witness the nuclear test peace ban treaty. Russia, the United States, England, France. They've got the atomic bomb, the hydrogen bomb, the cobalt bomb. So they say, okay, we want to have a nuclear peace treaty. Nobody should have a nuclear bomb. So they've got the bombs. They're telling all these other countries, you all don't need the bomb. Don't experiment. We've got it. That's equality, isn't it? Their racism is so subtle that they do not even see it. And the same thing is true. You are now telling me how do I stop from getting beyond the point of the gun. I face the gun. I don't have time to think about it. I want to get the gun out of his hand. Then after I get the gun out of his hand, maybe I can deal with that question. Fortunately for you, you have the luxury of dealing with the question because the gun is not in your face. If the gun was in your face, you wouldn't have time to think about, well, if I got the gun away from him then what I would do. No. You want to get the gun out then you could decide. Makes sense to me.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Question: (Inaudible) suggestion (inaudible) the white universities of how they might be able to (inaudible) the entire problem?

Answer: Why, I'm not sure that I can. I'm not sure that I can. Because I think first the white student has to really consciously decide in his mind whether or not he really wants to change the system at his sacrifice - at his sacrifice, where he may come out the loser. Not the winner. You see, everybody else who's oppressed, when they fight, the chances are that they will come out the winner. They can't come out any worse than they are already. But for the college - the white college student especially, he has a luxury to deciding. Because while he might win the war, he might himself come out on a lower economic level or lower status level in the society. Understand what I'm saying. So, I think that's the first decision that they have to consciously make. And I don't think that I can make that decision for them. I am much more fortunate than they are. My decision has been already made. I have to fight.

Question: (Inaudible)

Answer: No. Well, then, it seems to me they have to begin to build an organizational base of other people who share the same interests. See, you fight with people who share the same interests - political, economic - the basic interests. You don't usually fight with people who may have the same ideals. But it's really interests. 'Cause everybody has the same ideals. JOHNSON is for peace. I'm for peace. MAO TSE-TUNG is for peace. FIDEL is for peace. HUMPHREY is for peace. NIXON is for peace. WALLACE is for peace. Those are ideals. But the question is the specific interests. While JOHNSON is for peace, is it in his interests to stop the war in Vietnam or to prolong the war in Vietnam? While WALLACE is for peace, is it his job to get justice in Vietnam, to bomb the Vietnamese out, or to stop the Vietnamese? Because you can have peace if you bomb - if you bomb them into the Stone Age, you certainly will have peace because they won't bother you anymore. At least you can take the country and do with it as you will. But it is the specific interests and that means that the person who has come to that must see if he can find people who share and are willing to fight for those specific interests.

Question: At the beginning of your talk, you spoke about (inaudible) revolution and you asked us not to wait for time (inaudible). Now if I were revolution (inaudible) you'd say. . .

Voice close to microphone "That's the one I'm talking about".

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

. Question continued (Inaudible).

Answer: I am talking about violence. Using it from NAPOLEON to the Vietnamese. Any form of it that is necessary for liberation. Now do you want me to draw out a battle plan? (Laughter)

Question: (Inaudible)

Answer: Oh. You forgot one other. As the American Revolution did. You forgot one the American Revolution did. That form of violence led to tyranny - slavery, dictatorship. So maybe ours will too. Your basic question is really, if we win the power, if we conquer, will we then do the same things to whites as they do to us. Is that your basic question?

Question: (Inaudible).

Answer: I beg your pardon?

Question: (Inaudible) (Laughter)

Answer: I'm sorry. Could you repeat the question please?

Question: (Inaudible)

Answer: I would propose to do it any way that got me my liberation. See, I am not opposed to the use of power. I am not opposed to it. I wish I had some chance.

Question: (Inaudible)

Answer: I beg your pardon?

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

[redacted] advised that he attended the speech given by CARMICHAEL at Davage Auditorium and CARMICHAEL spoke from about 1:00 p.m. to approximately 2:05 p.m. CARMICHAEL spoke on the theory of black unity and included in his speech a lecture to the black community for violence by black on black. CARMICHAEL urged Negro inductees to refuse to submit to the draft, but that if the black man had to participate in the Viet Nam war, he should endeavor to kill his white counterpart. After lecturing for a while praising Castro and the purposes of Communist countries for their efforts to overcome Capitalism, he opened the meeting for a question and answer period; however, instead of giving intelligent answers to questions asked, he attempted to embarrass individuals who may have asked a negative-type of question, that is, one that would not be in keeping with the Black Power theory.

[redacted] observed that CARMICHAEL had spoken at this same location approximately one year ago and that his speech on this particular occasion was not as well received as it was on the previous occasion.

[redacted] Atlanta, Georgia, advised that an organization on the Emory campus known as the Student Center Board invited STOKELY CARMICHAEL to speak on the campus on December 11, 1968, for which he was to receive a fee of $300.

[redacted] advised that CARMICHAEL was to speak at 4:00 p.m. in the alumni hall, but at 4:00 p.m., an unidentified white male told the audience, numbering approximately 1,000 persons, that CARMICHAEL's appearance at Emory had been confirmed the previous day by telegram and telephone calls and that he should appear shortly. At approximately 4:15 p.m., it was announced that CARMICHAEL was in the area and would speak as soon as parking facilities could be located. At approximately 4:20 p.m., a Negro male, identifying himself as [redacted] a student at Emory University and a member of the Black Student Alliance, introduced CARMICHAEL to the audience.

b7C
b7D

CARMICHAEL opened his speech by stating since there are going to be questions regarding violence, and before we go into the basic discussion, we must state affirmatively, "that we are for revolutionary violence. Do you mean violence? Yes, I mean violence. Do you mean killing? Yes, I mean killing. Whatever it takes to get our liberation. Now please do not tell me that violence never accomplished anything."

Violence is only good where one has the product to make it good. He then cited examples of institutionalized violence such as the United States participation in the war in Viet Nam.

As regards to the violence of CARMICHAEL's speech, [redacted] advised that CARMICHAEL attempted to justify actions on the part of Negroes, or any other minority group, to participate in violence to achieve what they want.

Other remarks attributed by CARMICHAEL at Emory University appeared in articles published in the public press. Copies of these articles are as follows:

Carmichael Chides Liberals

By PHILIP GAILEY

Black Power advocate-at-large Stokely Carmichael told Emory University students Wednesday the "great liberal mistake" has been the expounding of humanitarian goals they cannot deliver.

"The liberal is caught in the middle," Carmichael said. "While the oppressed and the oppressors are arming, the liberals are standing between them yelling but no one is listening."

He said liberals are in trouble because they have influences but no power.

WIFE AND BODY GUARDS

Carmichael, accompanied by his wife, African singer Miriam Makeba, and an entourage of body guards and others, spoke to approximately 1,000 students and faculty members at Emory's Alumni Memorial Building. His speech was interrupted several times by applause and several hundred stood and cheered when he entered the auditorium.

His Emory appearance was one of several on college campuses in Georgia and South Carolina. He spoke earlier at the predominantly Negro Clark College in Atlanta.

Nattily dressed in a tan, double-breasted suit and brown leather boots, Carmichael said the primary role of the liberal has been "to stop confrontations."

"He (the liberal) decides that

ATTACKS LIBERALS
Stokely Carmichael

confrontation is not good for either side," the Negro militant said. "So his primary role has been not to insure justice, but to avoid confrontations."

"That's why the liberal is caught in the middle of a polarization in this country and is being attacked from both sides," Carmichael declared.

"Liberals influenced the passage of civil rights legislation but they have been powerless to implement it," he said.

Carmichael said he wants to create in this country a new society "free of racism and capitalism."

"That does not mean it would be communism or socialism," he said. "That would be a problem of economics. We need a system that goes beyond that and addresses itself to racism."

FORMER SNCC LEADER

Carmichael, 27, who now lives in Washington, D.C., is the former leader of the militant Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

An advocate of an armed Negro revolution, Carmichael said it is primarily a black revolution which he advocates.

He said a "color conflict" transcends a "class conflict."

During the question-and-answer session several white students verbally tangled with the former leader of the Student

Non-violent Coordinating Committee from which he was expelled after his marriage to the wealthy singing star from Africa.

When Carmichael called for a redistribution of this country's wealth, a student, speculating Carmichael's suit cost about $100, challenged him to start the redistribution by "coming down to South Georgia where I'm from and redistributing your wealth with us."

FLASHES SMILE

After the applause and laughter, Carmichael flashed a smile and snapped: "Fact No. 1. This suit cost more than a hundred dollars."

He added: "When you go into a revolution you approach in terms of institutions and not individuals."

Asked how Negroes can get power, he said: "You take it with guns."

A Negro student asked if racial conflicts in this nation are leading to "all-out war between black and white?"

"As the contradictions heighten, the possibility of conflict becomes more discernible," Carmichael said.

Where does the white liberal and sympathizer fit into his revolutionary scheme? "It all depends," Carmichael smiled. "To the victor belongs the spoils. If he fights with me, he shares the spoils."

AT EMORY

Kill, Be Killed, Carmichael Says

By DAVID NORDAN

A very cool Stokely Carmichael exorcised an amalgamation of about 1,000 Emory University students and professors and left no doubt he would as soon nail their Methodist hides to the barn door—if that's what it takes.

"There can be no ethical judgment on violence," the tall, young revolutionary broadcast across the college hall Wednesday—"Kill or be killed—a hard, cold reality."

Carmichael stunned his audience with a studied denunciation of the white liberal and left the whites present—the vast majority of his audience—wondering exactly what he has in mind for them.

More than one listener of that description was prompted to ask during a question-and-answer session: "So where do we fit in?"

The 27-year-old firebrand, immaculately and fashionably dressed in a tan suit and brown boots, responded: "To those who fight with me—well, to the victors go the spoils."

"To those who don't—well..." and he stretched his arms outward and shrugged.

"YOU KILL THEM..." a youth volunteered from the back of the room.

"I'm not afraid of that," Carmichael shot back immediately. "You are. At least I have a reason for killing. You'll be going to Vietnam soon, and you won't even know why you're killing."

The speaker strolled into the Alumni Hall late for the afternoon meeting (he couldn't find a parking place) surrounded by young toughs uniformed in Black Panther garb. His wife, South African singer Miriam Makeba, smiled admiringly at her husband from the front row.

Carmichael hit his Emory audience right in the gut by telling them they—if they consider themselves white liberals—are his enemies as much or more so than anybody else.

"The liberal's role is to stop confrontations," he said. "... maybe at times you need a confrontation... the liberal seeks to stop it by addressing himself to the oppressed. ... You be cool. ... 'You be reasonable'."

HE CHARGED that "liberals don't know the difference between influence and power," pointing out that the liberals were able through influence to get civil rights laws passed, but powerless to enforce them.

"How do you get power?" he was asked.

"You get a gun and take it," he responded. "After all, that's how the whites got this country in the first place—they killed the Indians."

One of the 50 or so Negro students in the audience wanted to know if an all-out war between blacks and whites would be the result of racial conflict.

"As the contradictions heighten," the speaker answered, "the possibility of conflict becomes more discernible."

HE SAID the biggest question today is whether his "revolution" should be all-black. Explaining that color conflict transcends class conflict, Carmichael said he tends to lean towards "a black revolution."

Carmichael, the guest of several campus groups Wednesday, said his ultimate goal is "a society free of racism and free of capitalism."

"This doesn't mean that it would be Communist or Socialist. That would be a problem of economics," he said, without further classification.

The Atlanta, Georgia
Journal
December 12, 1968

STOKELY CARMICHAEL

[] advised that CARMICHAEL returned to the campus of Morehouse College at approximately 7:15 to 7:30 p.m. on December 11, 1968, for the purpose of again addressing a group of students. The group, numbering approximately 1,000, went to the gymnasium at Morehouse College and found that it was locked and the administration would not acquiesce to their requests that it be opened and set up for use by CARMICHAEL. The crowd milled around until approximately 8:15 p.m. when they were finally admitted to utilize Archer Hall, located on the campus of Spelman College.

[] advised that an individual introduced CARMICHAEL as a 'prime minister of the Black Panther Party. At the beginning of the speech by CARMICHAEL, he asked how many people in the audience had heard him earlier in the day when he had spoken at Davage Auditorium on the Clark College campus. A number of those in attendance raised their hands and CARMICHAEL commented that he would more or less reiterate what he had said on the previous occasion.

CARMICHAEL stated that the white people had been persecuting the black people for many years and that the black people must rise up and take control. He cited the confusion over his securing a place to speak as an example of how the Negro should take control of a given situation. The speech was interrupted by someone in the audience stating that several white persons were in attendance and that they should be requested to leave the gathering. Several white persons did leave the auditorium; however, an individual later identified as

b7D

[] was observed standing in the center of the auditorium. [] a white man, was requested to leave but he made statements to the effect that this was his university and he expected to remain there as long as anyone. At this point, an unidentified Negro hit [] and the guards located near the exit to the auditorium assisted him from the building. Considerable confusion existed after this action on the part of the audience and CARMICHAEL became disgusted with the activities, stating that "they were all acting like children," and he left the building.

According to [redacted] CARMICHAEL went to the restaurant located at [redacted] where he had supper.

A characterization of the Black Panther Party is attached hereto.

BLACK PANTHER PARTY (BPP)

According to its official newspaper, the Black Panther Party (BPP) was started during December, 1966, in Oakland, California, to organize black people so they can take control of the life, politics, and the destiny of the black community. It was organized by [REDACTED]

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] Huey P. Newton, BPP Minister of Defense. Newton is presently serving a sentence of 2 to 15 years on a conviction of manslaughter in connection with the killing of an Oakland police officer.

The official newspaper, "The Black Panther," which further describes itself as the "Black Community News Service," states that the BPP advocates the use of guns and guerrilla tactics in its revolutionary program to end oppression of the black people. Residents of the black community are urged to arm themselves against the police who are consistently referred to in the publication as "pigs" who should be killed.

"The Black Panther" issue of September 7, 1968, contains an editorial by BPP [REDACTED] which ends with the following:

b6
b7C

"Black men. Black people, colored persons of American, revolt everywhere! Arm yourselves. The only culture worth keeping is a revolutionary culture. Change. Freedom everywhere. Dynamite! Black Power. Use the gun. Kill the pigs everywhere."

Included in the introduction to an article appearing in the October 5, 1968, edition of "The Black Panther" is the statement, "... we will not dissent from American Government. We will overthrow it."

Issues of "The Black Panther" regularly contain quotations from the writings of Chairman MAO Tse-tung of the People's Republic of China and feature MAO's statement that "political power grows out of the barrel of a gun."

The national headquarters of the BPP is located at 3106 Shattuck Avenue, Berkeley, California. Branches have been established at various locations throughout the United States.

In the course of a conversation with [redacted] on other matters December 27, 1968, I mentioned that the U.S. press was carrying stories to the effect that [redacted] Stokely Carmichael planned to establish residence in Guinea.

He replied that they were indeed and that it was on that very subject that he had consulted me last summer (see Conakry 2145 of September 9, 1968). I said that I had apparently misunderstood the inquiry, thinking he was referring only to a visit in Guinea. I added that my same comments about Carmichael's political activity still applied.

[redacted] said that [redacted]

[redacted] and that Stokely himself felt his luck might run out some day soon and he might wind up in the clink.

Comment: It is hard to imagine limelight-loving Stokely vegetating for long in their villa at Dalaba in the Guinean Fouta Djallon highlands a couple hundred miles from even Conakry.

This is to recommend item about the amount of funds received by black extremist Stokely Carmichael be furnished a cooperative news source on a confidential basis by the Crime Records Division.

In the past two years Carmichael has spoken on over fifty college campuses advocating a black revolution by violence and guerrilla warfare. His speaking fees have ranged from $400 to as high as $1,800. Assuming he received an average fee of $800 for each appearance on a college campus, he would have obtained over $40,000. Carmichael has also received revenue from speeches at public halls and churches, as well as from a book he co-authored. The value Carmichael puts upon his services is indicated by the fact that he attempted in December, 1967, to sell an exclusive interview to a major news media for $70,000.

Carmichael directs his doctrine of hate and violence to the Negroes in the ghetto but he does not linger there. Instead, he travels first class, dresses in the latest fashion and has been living in a $50,000 home in Washington, D. C.

IS CARMICHAEL A CAPITALIST?

In the past two years black extremist Stokely Carmichael has spoken on over fifty college campuses advocating a black revolution by violence and guerrilla warfare. His speaking fees have ranged from $400 to as high as $1,800. Assuming he received an average fee of $800 for each appearance on a college campus, he would have obtained at least $40,000. However, Carmichael has also made many speeches in churches and public halls where in most instances an admission price was charged or a collection was taken. In addition, the funds received from a book Carmichael co-authored is believed to be substantial. The value Carmichael puts upon his services can be illustrated by the fact that when he returned to the United States in December, 1967, after an extensive trip abroad, he endeavored to sell an exclusive interview to a major news media for $70,000.

Carmichael may direct his doctrine of hate and violence to the Negroes of the ghetto but he never lingers there. He is developing a reputation among leading black extremists as a person who makes a speech advocating a particular violent action to the blacks and then "fleeing" if anyone follows his suggestion.

Carmichael travels first class all the way. He dresses in the latest fashion, eats in the better restaurants and has been living in a $50,000 house in Washington, D. C.

[REDACTED] STOKELY CARMICHAEL

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Washington, D. C. (WDC), advised on December 11, 1968, he had been previously engaged to handle the shipment of household furnishings belonging to Stokely Carmichael [REDACTED]

b6

[REDACTED] to Conakry, Guinea. He advised the furnishings, amounting to about twelve thousand pounds, had been removed from their WDC residence during mid-November, 1968, preparatory to shipment by boat to Conakry from Baltimore, Maryland, during the early part of December, 1968. Prior to actual shipment, they were stored temporarily in WDC at an overseas shipping company warehouse.

[REDACTED] advised that as of December 11, 1968, half of the furnishings belonging to Carmichael [REDACTED] had been put on board the boat "African Rainbow" in Baltimore, being handled by the Farrell Lines, Incorporated.
He related that prior to departure from WDC, Carmichael [REDACTED] purchased a new household refrigerator, two washing machines and a range stove, which they also desired included with the shipment to Conakry. As of December 11, 1968, all of these ordered appliances had not arrived for shipment. Consequently, [REDACTED] advised when the remainder of the appliances arrived for shipment, they would be included with the other half of the remaining furnishings and taken to New York City. Upon arrival in New York City, they would be loaded onto the "African Rainbow" then due in New York City at about that time. The "African Rainbow" was expected to sail from New York City on December 17, 1968.

On January 9, 1969, [] advised the "African Rainbow" departed Baltimore on December 12, 1968, with the first half of the Carmichael shipment, en route to Africa. The "African Rainbow" did not return to New York City as planned to pick up the second half of the shipment in view of the fact a longshoremen strike was in progress there and the loading of the shipment could not be accomplished.

b6
b7C
The second half of the shipment was sent to New York City for delivery to Africa on a vessel sailing at a date later than the "African Rainbow." As of January 9, 1969, the shipment was reported to be in the possession of the United States Customs and the Farrell Lines, Incorporated in New York City. [] stated the longshoremen strike is still existing in New York City and there is talk it will not be settled until February, 1969. However, as soon as the strike is over and the shipment can be handled, it will be loaded for transport to Africa on the first boat available.

b6
[] advised [] last contacted him on December 22, 1968, telephonically from New York City inquiring about the status of the shipment and he informed her as set forth above. He advised payment for the shipment of the goods has been made. He added he has gotten the definite impression the Carmichaels plan to live in Guinea but in the future will visit the United States occasionally either for pleasure or business.

STOKELY CARMICHAEL - SPEECH AT ST. AUGUSTINE COLLEGE

(Introduction of those with him)

"Next is a young man who works. He is known around the country as the world's biggest agitator. Mr. ~~WILLIE~~ RITZ (phonetic). NC

Next to Mr. RITZ is a young man whom everybody here should know; he is from South Carolina. He is just out of jail. He is one of the young men who has refused to go to the armed services. He is out on appeal for that. He is also out on appeal for federal cases. He was shot in the Orangeburg Massacre. He was one of the young men who helped organize it. He has been the program secretary for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, and he now serves as the director of the project for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee. (could not hear name).

Next is Mr. ~~JAN~~ BAILEY, a young man from Washington, D. C., who is out on bail. He has also refused to go into the army. Mr. BAILEY. NC

On my right on the stage is the master of culture for the Black Panther Party from the west coast, Mr. EMERY DOUGLAS. Mr. DOUGLAS is an artist. His works were just displayed at Howard University, and he came down to the south to see what the scene looked like in Mississippi. (Unable to hear the rest because of clapping, etc.) NC

(context of speech)

Now what we would like to do today is to go through the concepts that would enable you to put together a philosophy for black people living in this country and black people living in other countries, and to allow us to survive. I want to begin by saying that my major assumption is that white people are prepared to commit genocide against black people. And that is my basic assumption.

Many people disagree. White people don't agree. But that is not the truth. Don't let them fool you. They told the Indian the same thing. Don't let them fool you. Even if it's not true it wouldn't hurt if we were prepared, right? So we want to talk about being prepared for number one, fighting for our liberation, not only in this country but in the world; and I have to keep stressing the world, because as people living in the United States we get carried away with just thinking about ourselves as black Americans and not thinking of ourselves as Africans, which we are.

You aren't ashamed to be Africans today are you? I don't like it, watching TV and seeing Tarzan beating us up all the time . . . you want to be like Tarzan, right? Africans, we are Africans, and we have been scattered all over the Western Hemisphere by the malicious desire of the powers of white western society . . . and because in our unity we will be the strength that will divide white western society. And they understand this very clearly, so they have scattered us all over the Western Hemisphere. Did you know that in Brazil in South America that 45 per cent of the population is African, black, just like you and me? Did you know that in the entire northeast section of South America it is heavily populated with Africans, black, just like you and me, all the way up to Panama. You know, even in Nova Scotia today there is a large number of Africans, just like you and me.

We have been scattered all over the Western Hemisphere, in the West Indies, Cuba, Haiti, Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, Guatamala, Vienna, Panama, you name it, we have been scattered by the white man.

And if we are to fight today, our adhesive force and use of our black power, you understand our black power is not limited to black people in the United States, but it talks about black people wherever they are--from South Africa to Nova Scotia, we are one and the same. Because we really don't know who our ancestors are. Some of the people in Brazil might be our own brothers and sisters, and we know the way brothers and sisters fight, Okay.

Now the second assumption is black people in the United States are a colonized people. We are a colonized people. We form a colony within the United States. Now, the main characteristics of a colonized people . . . and rather than go into it, I would hope that your history professors and your social science professors and your sociology professors would begin to discuss the characteristics of a colonized people. But the most important characteristic that we want to determine and deal with today is the characteristic which separates a colonized people from other oppressed people, and that is the characteristic of self-hatred. A colonized people more than anything else hates themselves. And because they hate themselves, they hate any image that reflects themselves. Therefore, they hate each other.

So this is a hatred for each other and for oneself by the colonized people, so that they try to imitate the ways of the master and try to identify with the oppressor rather than to identify with their brothers and their sisters. Everything is so destroyed having a colonized people, even the standard of beauty is severed by the oppressor.

You know, we don't have to discuss the magnolia creams of today, but that's just an example of self-hatred. So much do we hate ourselves and our color, that we would spend three hours a night using magnolia cream trying to be white, or burning out our hair, frying it, as we try all these other things, trying to imitate white society, and when we pick someone who is beautiful in our race, it was always someone who was light, bright, and fair-haired white, right?

And the reason for this was because of the self-hatred that we had for ourselves. And the self-hatred goes very, very deep. We sometimes cannot even analyze it. But let us view some examples.

You know black people who fight black people much quicker than they will fight white people. And it's not because we are afraid of white people. It is only the hatred which we have for ourselves, that we let it show in each other. For example, if you tell a black man to pick up a gun and shoot a rookie cop, they'll say, "I don't want to do that, I don't want no part of that, I don't believe in that." But let that same black man shine his shoes on Saturday night, and another nigger steps on them. Because of the hatred manifested for himself when his brother steps on his shoe, he is ready to kill his brother just to keep his shoes. He'll stomp him into the ground. And if a white man does it, what does he do then? Yes, sir, boy-- because of the hatred that we have for ourselves.

Now, we have to begin to counteract this hatred. Now we can just go on and list characteristics, but I think you should do that in your own discussion classes. Now, to counteract hatred, you counteract an opposite with an opposite. The opposite of hatred is love. So, you see, we must counteract the hatred we have with love, but now love that I'm talking about must be appreciated from a lot of other people. I say that we, black people, must have an undying love for each other, for each other.

Now would I say, for example, as Dr. KING did, that if a white man slapped you to turn the other cheek? No, if a white man slaps you, rip his arm off! But if a black man slaps you, I would say turn the other cheek. Because the hatred that we have for each other is destruction. We have a feeling of destruction, to destroy ourselves. We must begin to counteract that with love.

And so, we say that our first concept is to begin to build a sort of ideology that will present a cohesive force for black people inside the United States and around the world, is that we must have an undying love for each other, an undying love for each other. That means we are willing to die for each other. Not only are we willing to die for each other, our people should be willing to kill for each other. I know you don't like to hear the word "kill," and I know they will say this is violence. But you take a look at all the young men in this audience and when they are graduated from college, I'll tell you what they will be. They will be hired killers, killing yellow people in Vietnam. So, it's not a question of killing. It is a question of being able to feel that you can kill for something worthwhile.

What would the young men sitting in this audience be killing in Vietnam for? They would be killing to stop Communism, when the majority of them can't spell the word Communism, let alone know what it means. So, they would be fighting to stop Communism, they would be fighting for democracy, and living in North Carolina, we know what a joke that is! They would be fighting for the free world (laughter), the free world. For real, that's what they would be fighting for, the free world. They've never smelled freedom and they don't understand the word "free" but they're fighting to maintain the free world.

It seems to me clearly that the three things they're fighting for does not have any substance to black people. Number one, Communism. If Communism were a kind of force with black people, we would know what it's all about. We do not know what Communism is all about. So our people may define Communism as something trying to overthrow the United States and America. Well, we should all be trying to overthrow the United States and America. We'll talk about that later. Don't let it scare you; just relax.

Now why are we trying to overthrow the United States? They just got us to be slaves. They went out and did it. We must have an undying love for each other. When a policeman shoots a rifle in one of the major cities of this country, and our brothers pick up bricks, stones, and anything they can find to throw back at that policeman, they are demonstrating an undying love for their people, because they are facing tanks with bricks and bottles and that is heroic. It is. You have studied the Boston Tea Party, and how they went out there throwing bricks and bottles. Do they ever call them vagabonds and rioters? They were called heroes, right? They were fighting the British with bricks and bottles. They were pouring and dumping tea in the ocean. They were committing acts of vandalism but they were doing it for a purpose, the purpose being for their own liberation, white liberation. Now, to the British they were committing acts of vandalism. And the British told them they would shoot them, so we're in the same position, the United States and the British. If they catch us they shoot us, but for us we can never define those acts as bad acts or say that they don't get you anywhere at all. Don't believe that, oh please don't believe that, because you'll really sound stupid. You cannot tell me that stealing don't get you anywhere; look where the United States is today!

Don't say that killing doesn't get you anywhere, look where the United States is today. The white man got this country--he killed the Indians and stole it. So he can't say anything about killing and stealing. Not only did he steal the country, but he stole us, you and me. He stole black people. He cannot talk about stealing to us. When he tells you you can't steal, tell him, look at the same thing, you stole my father.

We must decide for ourselves what our actions will be. We must decide what our actions will be. It is not a question of violence. Violence is not either right or wrong. It is a moral. It is he who has the power to legitimize the violence that counts.

If I were in Vietnam with a gun and I shot thirty yellow people with slanted eyes who some white man told me were my enemy, the Viet Cong, I would get a medal. Did you see that a black man was decorated the other day? He was decorated for what? For being a cold-blooded killer. That's what he was getting decorated for. What are they decorating them for? For being cold-blooded killers. But JOHNSON has the power to legitimatize killing. It is the white man's privilege. When a white man shoots a nigger in the ghetto he becomes a sergeant, because they have the power to legitimatize killing. But since we are the powerless, if we kill one of our enemies and we get caught, we go to jail.

But it is neither right or wrong. It is just a question of power. That's all. If we were running this country we would be in power and it would be okay. We could kill who ever we defined as our enemies. And that's because if it is important for you as college students because you are going to have to move to define the action of our people, and you cannot define those actions as white western society defines them. You cannot, because they always condemn our acts. They have to because in the long run black power will move to destroy white western society, and if we stand up it is going to kill them, so we must not stand.

Our concept, one more time, as black people, we must have undying love for our people, undying love.

The second concept, which is very close: Every Negro is a potential black man. Every Negro is a potential black man. Because I'm going to take time out and explain the concept of a Negro and the concept of a black man.

When we were in Africa, and you know all of us were before they stole us, so don't believe what you have in your history book, that our brothers sold each other out. Don't believe that. They tell us that so we will mistrust each other. Don't believe that. When the white man told me that, he said they did not steal us, your people sold you. I said, well what did you use to buy us with, what did you give them? You did not have no money, you didn't have no property, you didn't have no gold. You didn't have nothing. You came to Africa to steal everything. So what we gave was a slave. What did you give us in return? He couldn't answer. What did they give us in return. We turned over slaves. If I'm selling you something I give you something and you must give something in return. What did the white man have to offer Africa? Tobacco? He didn't have any. We had to come and pick in in Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina.

He didn't know anything about it. We had the best tobacco in Africa. We didn't need the tobacco.

Cotton? They didn't have the cotton. We were the ones who picked the cotton. We invented the cotton gin. That would produce cotton. So he certainly didn't have cotton, and that was his cash product.

What else did he have, money? He didn't have any paper money because he didn't develop a monetary system until his economy was stable. His economy was not stable while he was employing slaves. It did not develop a real sense of stability until after the Civil War.

What else did he have, gold? We know where the gold comes from. Diamonds? Copper? Zinc? It's a lie. It was time for the distribution of guilt. The white man doesn't want to feel bad if he has to admit that he stole us. So what he does is distribute the guilt. He gives everybody a little piece of it. He said I didn't do it all, your father sold you to me. So now, your father is guilty. It is called distribution of guilt. That's a new term for you psychology teachers. So, white man, we don't want the distribution of guilt. You keep it, you did it all. You did it all. We didn't do nothing. You stole us.

Now then, we say that when we were in Africa, we were Africans or black men. But when we came to America, we became Negroes. Because there were no Negroes in Africa; Africans are black men. When we came here, we were slaves, so that the term slavery and Negro is synonymous, is it not? Because when we were Africans, or black men, we were free. But once captured, we became Negroes. So Negro and slavery really means the same thing. And if you say that you are a Negro you say that your beginning is in this country; but if you say you are an African or a black man, then your beginnings go back to a time way beyond the development of white western society. It goes back to the beginnings of culture in the Mesopotamia Valley or Egypt. It goes back to the great warriors we had in our time.

And that's why we must extend our thinking beyond calling ourselves Negroes. Now, you watch what they do all the time on radio, not like they have in North Carolina, but across the country on the so-called soul stations. They have the spots in Negro history. They play a JAMES BROWN record and say "Even though he was slave in the District of Columbia . . . CHRISTOPHER ADAMS was the first good Negro. He died, so glad to die for the American Revolution." And everybody feels proud. We shouldn't feel proud. CHRISTOPHER ADAMS was a fool, man, he was a fool. Are you going to fight for a man who sold your people to slavery? If my people were in slavery, I would fight them. But because they are around us, we keep calling ourselves Negroes. Because what Negro really means is being a good nigger. That's all it means. Because even though you aren't a slave, you're still working to help the country. Even though you have been a slaver, you're still supposed to help the country. That's junk, that's junk. If I can't sit at the table nobody can sit at the table, and if the table is to my back, I'm not going to kneel down there with my back to the crowd and them sitting on top of me eating steak. Junk! Nobody eats steak on my back. Kill me, but I'm not going to be under the table. And that's the position some of us take.

We must understand, then, what it means to be black. It means the process of moving to what is a feeling of total liberation where we are committed to do anything necessary for liberation of our people. So, a lot of people could become black that are not black. We were not black; until a while ago, all of us were Negroes. We were running high. "I don't like that nigger. He is going to cause trouble, always preaching hate." The white man says that.

They know what education is, right? They believe what the teacher tells them, right? Of course it is. That's education, correct? And so the white man says this guy is not going to make a speech of hatred. Did you ever see a teacher with a wig on? A wig she got in Africa, black. . . .

Every Negro is a potential black man, and those of us who claim we're black must help Negroes become black. We must take time with our people, and if we have an undying love for our people, then it becomes easy. Every Negro is a potential black man, second concept. Very important. We have to take time with our people and help them to be black.

A couple of years ago you talked about black power and people jumped under their seats. You know, now everybody is talking about black power. A few years later, you talked about guns and everybody was jumping under their seats. But now, everybody is beginning to see the necessity of guns. And we have to take time with our people; we cannot afford to alienate our people further because we need every single black man, woman, and child for the price that is coming ahead of us. We cannot alienate one, not one. We must bring them home. Especially on campus, because the kids on college campuses come from the bourgesdie, except maybe your first generation college. And therefore, sometimes because they have been grouped like that, it is sometimes difficult for them to understand the concept of being black.

The third concept, and perhaps the most important and the most difficult is the question of community, a question of our color, our people, and where we are. I'll restate that because it's very difficult, for us black people. the question of community is not just simply a question of land but the question of our people, our color, and where we are. Let me give you some examples.

If you went to New York City you would not be home until you went to Harlem. That's where our people are. If you went to Harlem, then you would really feel relaxed. If you went to Los Angeles--Washington; Chicago--South Side, West Side. You wouldn't feel relaxed until you are with our people. If you go to Washington, D. C., you're home.

Now we must begin to understand that concept more fully. Because then we begin to break down the barriers that the white man has pushed in front of us. If we say that, then we say if we go to Brazil, 50 per cent of the people in Brazil are African, and we will be home. If we go to Cuba, 65 per cent of the people in Cuba are African, we're home. If we go to the West Indies, we're home. And when we get to Motherland, we know we're home. And we must begin to understand that concept because for black power to have any reality or any substance, it must be international. It must be international. And we must begin to understand that what they do to one black man affects every black man, wherever we are, from South Africa to Nova Scotia. If they touch one they've got to touch all.

And that concept must become a reality because the Western Power is a move and a threat. When they want a country they divide the country. Look at North Korea. They have North Korea fighting and South Korea. They've got North Vietnam fighting South Vietnam. And today they are trying to do the same thing in Africa.

They have Nigeria fighting Biafra. And if that concept grows, we will fight ourselves, each fighting each other. And we cannot allow them to do that to us. I'm sorry when I see a black man stand up on television and say "I'm for Biafra," or "I'm for Nigeria." How can he take a position when his brothers are fighting their brothers? If your brother is killing your brother, the first thing you want to do is get the weapon out of their hand. Then you can sit them down and talk. If you are in the house and your little brother is fighting your big brother, and they have guns, you're not going to take sides with either one of them. You're going to try to get them to put down the gun. And it becomes even more important because they don't even manufacture the guns. The guns are given to both sides by white folks. There ain't no white folks going to give niggers no guns without they're going to kill each other or his enemies. Ain't no white man going to give a black man a gun. The only time he is going to give a nigger a gun is when he is killing somebody who is threatening them or when he is killing his enemy. That's all.

So we can't afford to take sides. And we must begin to understand that we have to work for the unity of our people, and we must become more politically about what's going on in this world. We have to, we have to.

Therefore, being students, you don't have no time for parties. You are less fortunate than my generation in college was. When I was in college we had some time to party. But you don't have nothing. You don't have no time to party. You have to know about the schools in Africa, and what happened in Zanzibar yesterday. There is a state of emergency . . . we have to understand what's going on. The students in Jamaica are burning down the _____ company that belongs to the United States. We ought to know why. We have to know why. And it is your responsibility to be able to analyze these situations and after analyzing them read them back to our people. Are you prepared to do that? No. You are not prepared to do that because you really do not know what education is.

Education is fine for the white man. What is education? Education, really breaking down numerically, the e is for the Latin word meaning "out of." DUC means . . . comes from the Latin "dos duces," which means "to lead." And then of course you have ACTION. You learned that in your vocabulary building course, didn't you? Isn't it required here? Is it required? (the audience answered "no.") That's good. I hope they require reading.

Does the education we get in our schools help us to solve our problems? No. Let me define education for you, about a theory of education from FRANTZ FANON. I keep quoting FRANTZ FANON. Is everybody familiar with FRANTZ FANON? Oh, I'm sorry, you should be. FRANTZ FANON - don't get lost by the name. He is a black man, a black man from Martinique, who is a psychiatrist who was educated in France and was sent to Algeria to support the French Government in their fight against the Algerian rebels. FANON went there and began to fight with the young left, which was the national cause of liberation for the Algerians during the Algerian Revolution. And he wrote book . . . (sets out names of books, unable to hear). One book deals with colonialism and with the effect of colonialism on the victim. He has another book, "White Against the Black Mass" the story of a black man in a white society, and a little pamphlet called "Studies in _____ Colonialism."

This reading should be a must. Students just don't read. They think too much. They talk about so and so going with so and so. They talk about who was where and what they wore. They talk all that junk which doesn't do anything at all but satisfy their own selves and selfish needs rather than take time to talk about, Hey, man, was I correct? Which way should we be going? Is MARTIN LUTHER KING correct? Is RAP BROWN correct? Is WICKLEY (phonetic) YOUNG CORRECT? Should we try separate? Should we try guns? Should we try non-violence? No, it seems to me that this should become your everyday topic. That is better than junk because that ain't nothing but a weak imitation of white folk.

If we look at society, hate society, broken society, there is no white in the world who can keep order in his society better than black people. Why did they imitate the Greek? They thought he was dangerous. A poor imitation for white folks. That is what they said.

You know why they formed fraternities don't you? Oh, I meant to tell you. It showed their hatred. When black people first started to go to school and they got a chance to go to white schools, these white boys had their fraternities and they wouldn't let the niggers in. So the niggers got drunk. So the light-skinned niggers formed a fraternity. Funny thing about that. They imitated the white man. Because when they formed their's, only light-skinned brothers could get into their's. So the others, not to be outdone, they formed their's for brown-skinned brothers, and the black brothers had to go and do the same thing. If you don't believe me, you just look at the sororities and see which sisters are full-blooded and which sororities are not. You know the blue brothers. A blue brother is light, bright, and damn near white.

You know the sorority where they have light-skinned girls? Even today, when I was in Howard they had it. If you were dark, you couldn't get into it. Now you can laugh about that, but I think you ought to recognize the seriousness of it. I think you ought to recognize how fully dehumanized we are as the Negro.

Now we have tried to imitate the white man, but what they used to bar us out is the same thing we used to bar others out. The color of skin, the complexion. So we automatically assume that what is white is right. So if you are not white but you are near white, then you are Okay. Because anything black, we have been taught, is evil, and we must hate it. And we have tried so hard not to be black, that we have become whiter than the white man. We're whiter than snow. And there again I just pointed that out to show you, this is fact; it's documented and you can read it, that the fraternities were set up that would only let the black-skinned people in. I hope that none of it is still continuing, but it is always wise to at least mention it so that if it isn't, perhaps we could try and correct it. I hope it is not true at St. Augustine College.

Okay, for a definition of education. Fanon says that education is the reinforcement and re-establishment of values and institutions of a given society. I want to repeat that because we've got to do a lot of work with this. Fanon says that education is the re-establishment and the re-instituting of values and institutions in a given society.

All it means is that whatever society says is right, that's what your education is going to be. Now, if we agree, and I think we all can, that America is a racist society, does it not fall that if we get educated at an American University, we will also grow up to be racists? Yes, it does, yes, it does. And we grow up to be racists without even being conscious of it.

Let us go back to the example of COLUMBUS.. Who discovered America? COLUMBUS discovered America in 1492. If you said that you get an A. You would be an excellent student because you were saying actually what the teacher said. But now, we know that CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS did not discover America. The red man was here before he came. As a matter of fact, CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS thought he was in India and he was right there in America.

But now where would we be if we say CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS discovered America? Let's see. CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS discovered America. VASCO DA GAMA discovered something else. Who was the guy who discovered China - MARCO POLO? No. Who discovered China? MARCO POLO, yes. Somebody else discovered the North Pole--some other white man. What they are saying to us is that the world did not begin with us, but that some white man discovered us. Who discovered you? Have you ever asked yourself what happened before COLUMBUS? You never think about that because they tell you that COLUMBUS discovered America. Now when you discover something, it just becomes yours. And all of the discoveries are made by white men. So the only reality we have is white reality, and we don't even know it. We are sure COLUMBUS discovered America in 1492; and MARCO POLO, he discovered China. Ha, Ha, Ha. No, it wasn't them that discovered it. It was there before they came along.

But now, if your teacher says to you, who discovered America, you say the Indians were here before COLUMBUS came along. And I used COLUMBUS only as an example. We can go along here willing to willing to bet that what we learn from white society is really a lie . . . a big white lie. But then we are so used to that, we consider it to be education. And what is education? Education is the way to better white philosophy. Man, I could tell you about Plato . . .

Why is the white man doing everything. Do you think there were no niggers around? No niggers nowhere, nowhere. And the only time they let a nigger in is when he was for white society. If he is for white society, he is not to be considered in reality.

Do you want to know what black power is? Black power is opening the truth to the white lies; it is declaring our position to the white lies. Does that scare you? It should. It should scare you, because if you knew what you were talking about you would be scared. Because that means that what's coming is nothing but bloodshed. And if you were serious you
